FOREWORD

The time must come in the life of everyone with a high school education, that he looks back through the years and wishes that he could live over again those happy experiences of his high school days. Should a graduate turn these pages and see in them his own high school days personified in our portrayal of N. H. S. school life then the Rosennial staff will feel amply honored and repaid for the work and effort required in publishing this book.

DEDICATION

*Thomas A. Edison

Youth is the joyous period in one's life, but during this time each one must realize that his time is about to come when he must meet the world and leave his imprint upon it. The Youth desires to create, develop, and achieve a memorial greater than the one left by his father, and out of respect for this idea, so prominent among young people, the Rosennial staff of 1930 dedicates this book to those physical and mental leaders among the student body of our high school who have best exemplified this Spirit of Achievement in Youth.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES

The New Castle school system has been very fortunate in securing the services of three fine business men as members of the Board of School Trustees. Mr. Ray Davis is president of the board and Mr. E. G. McQuinn is secretary and Mr. Martin L. Koons is treasurer.

These three men are the final authority on school expenditures. Only by their economy, tact, and fine business administration has New Castle been able to maintain its splendid system of schools. The wisdom and economy of these men are manifest in the substantial buildings and splendid corps of teachers that each individual school enjoys.

These men were great factors in the erection of our fine high school building, which will accommodate the student body for years to come. They have left an imprint on the local school system which can never be erased and every graduate of New Castle High School is a tribute to the work of these men.

SUPERINTENDENT LLEWELYN

Mr. E. J. Llewelyn, our much respected Superintendent, came to us thirteen years ago. In all this time he has never failed to serve us in every way possible. His wonderful executive ability has produced results even in the face of adverse circumstances.

His enthusiasm for anything that will better the school has won for him the admiration of all. Unusual will power, an excellent education, a keen mind, and willingness to serve have made him a leader in both school and community affairs.

Too much can not be said of this man who has been such an important factor in our school life.

PRINCIPAL VALENTINE

Everybody knows and likes our principal, Mr. R. H. Valentine. The school couldn't get along without Mr. Valentine. In his capable hands is placed the administration of the high school. For this work, it is necessary to have one who is striving for the best results.

Only those who have worked with him can understand the tremendous effort he puts forth to carry out his duties as principal of New Castle High School. His fairness and consideration for every one arouse in the students a feeling of loyalty to him.

The administration of high school affairs could not be more ably handled than it is now under the direction of Mr. Valentine.

Primarily the word "dean" comes from the Latin word "decanus," meaning ten. Formerly this board was the officiating body in the church. Gradually the schools have adopted the idea but have changed the number of members from ten to four. The high school is a large organization and must have its board of directors, which is made up of two deans of girls, Miss Chambers and Miss Westhafer, and two deans of boys, Mr. Bronson and Mr. Greenstreet.

New Castle High School has been unusually fortunate in having four teachers as deans who are very versatile persons and whose foremost interests are in the activities of the students.

Like the deans of the church the deans of the school have certain specific duties which they must perform and oftentimes must act as an advisory committee to the principal. The high school has and hopes to continue to enjoy the advantage of having as its deans the four teachers who adequately appreciate their responsibilities and who are steadfast in their efforts to assist each student of New Castle High School.

CLASS OF 1930

The Senior Class is ready to graduate. After four years of working together the friendships formed earlier in our course have been cemented. During our senior year our course has been guided by Walter C. Van Nuys, Jr., President; Stafford Zerr, Vice-President; Ruth Marley, Secretary, and Lillian Burk, Treasurer. These officers have been very efficient and each one of them has tried hard to inspire the members of the class by his example.

In athletics and school activities this class has been well represented by some very outstanding athletes and scholars who have brought honor not only to themselves and to the class but to the entire school. The Class of 1930 has also furnished leaders for the Phoenix, the Pep'ers, the Science Society, the Dramatic Club, and the Leather Lungs.

The Rosennial has been ably edited by James Pence and capably managed by Edward Clift, who, with the aid of their associates, have endeavored to make this year-book a success.

Our successful class play, "Mary Jane's Pa," was ably coached by Miss Atha A. Pinnick. All characters interpreted their parts not as amateurs, but as real actors and actresses.

The Seniors are now ready to go their several ways. If each member of the class keeps the motto of the class as an ideal, a successful life will be the result. The class goes forth "Conquering Ever."

CLASS HISTORY

Four years, minus three months, ago, our fathers brought forth to this high school a new freshman class, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all students are created equal. They then became engaged in a great war testing whether that class or any class so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure the threats and taunts of the upperclassmen. The first year of the war was the most severe. The freshmen were handicapped in many ways. We had a very meager knowledge of the battle-grounds. Our ranks numbered only two hundred and seventy-nine, as compared to some five hundred upperclassmen. The freshmen worked to overbalance these adverse conditions. The faculty remained neutral and became advisers of both armies. We studied diligently to put ourselves on an intellectual parity with the upperclassmen. We realized that knowledge and intellectual ability had won more battles than pomp ever had. We also realized that we could defeat our so-called superiors more easily than we had expected. However, seniors never seemed so sophisticated, nor so overbearing as they did to that class of freshmen.

By the end of the first semester, taking our great odds into consideration, the Freshmen seemed to really be getting the best of the fray. We became active in all organizations, and even became leaders. Freshmen headed the honor roll. Martha Llewelyn and Mary Chambers won the Banking Contest. The faculty as well as the students looked upon us as strong contenders for the following year.

About the first of June hostilities were set aside to be forgotten for three months.

In the following September the war was renewed with much vigor. Two hundred and eighteen Freshmen sustained the terrible onslaughts of the upperclassmen, to return as Sophomores. Much to our liking the dreaded senior class of the previous year had been replaced by one much less sophisticated and authoritative. Our position as Sophomores was very different from the one as Freshmen. We were now between two firing lines. The Juniors and Seniors were on one side of us and the Freshmen were on the other. We soon found, however, that the former were not very persistent, so we turned our attention to the Freshmen. The Sophomores were now more or less the oppressors rather than the oppressed. We tried hard to set a standard for the Freshmen and to be recognized by the faculty and the upperclassmen. In basketball the Malloy twins were strong contenders for the first team. Tully, Van Nuys and Miles were classed as regulars on the football team, and were supported by some half dozen other Sophomores as reserves. Bersinger, Mercer, Sumpter, Tully, and Van Nuys were important members of the track squad. We were represented on the golf team by Pence and Farthing. Leona Hinkel, James Pence, and Josephine Sutton distinguished themselves in the Latin Contest. Richard Goodwin won third place in the "Way to Peace" contest. The Sophomores held their own and even came out victorious at the end of the year.

When this class took up arms the following September as Juniors our ranks numbered only one hundred and sixty-eight. However, we were still determined. As the Seniors barely noticed us, we now became almost entirely oppressors. We were beginning to realize the fruits of victory.

At last we were looked up to. But we were not content with such meager results. We desired still more fame and proceeded to obtain it. In athletics, Van Nuys, Ford, Mercer, Miles, Renegar, the Malloys, Moore, Wright, McGinnis, Birsinger, Sumpter, Pence, Tully, Netz, Farthing, and Shaffer, were prominent. Richard Goodwin received second place and Frank Wallace won third place in the Oratorical Contest. The former also received second place in the Discussion League Contest. The Juniors were active in all organizations.

Near the end of the year the Juniors held a reception for the Seniors. This was in reality more or less of a peace conference. We were rejoicing over the fact that another Senior Class was retiring. As the Seniors, for once, lowered themselves enough to associate with the Juniors, the reception was a big success.

The class returned in September, 1929, very excited and confident. Although our number had been reduced to one hundred and thirty-two during the three years' struggle, we were at last Seniors in command. We decided early in the year to make our presence felt. We have succeeded. Walter Van Nuys was elected our commander and Stafford Zerr, Ruth Marley and Lillian Burke as his aides. A banner of medium blue and ivory, and the slogan, "Conquering Ever," were chosen. James Pence and Edward Clift were reported managers of the yearly report. "Mary Jane's Pa" was selected as our play. The same group of boys was active in athletics this year as last.

We are closing now this four-year struggle. We are met today on a great battlefield of this war. We have come to dedicate a portion of our time to those who gave their labor that this class might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. We highly resolve that these shall not have labored in vain; that this school, under Superintendent Llewelyn shall have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the Seniors, by the Seniors, and for the Seniors, shall not perish from this school.

ON GIFTS

Many kinds of gifts do we receive,
Of these the flower is comonest of all.
Because it eases heart-ache's deadly pall,
And seeks grief-stricken mortals to relieve.
Such gifts as rings and jewels do deceive,
And often make vain the wearer all-in-all,
But cannot mortal happiness retrieve.
The gifts straight from the heart are ones we prize.
Those that by an artist's dreams are wrought,
Or by a poet's flowery lyric sought,
Or an offering purchased at the price of eyes
Or some fond mother who by half-light sews
To help assuage the burden of another's woes.

Mary Pickering

CLASS OF 1931

Upon entering N. H. S. the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-one numbered two hundred and forty. We were, like all freshmen, inexperienced, green and perhaps a trifle "dumb." But three years have now elapsed and we, these selfsame students, have by observation, adaptability and willingness to follow in the footsteps of our superiors overcome many of our shortcomings and have risen to that position which is coveted by all sophomores. We are Juniors. In the course of these years a few have fallen by the wayside and our ranks have now dwindled to one hundred and fifty-four.

In the past we have wholeheartedly supported all school activities, and we are proud to say that our services were freely given to any project for the betterment of the school.

In scholastic attainments we are proud to claim such students as Eva Kassen, Betty MacDonald, Ruth Fletcher, and Jane Patrick.

While in athletics we are fortunately endowed with such men as Roller Rowe, "Bobby" White and Lloyd Holloway, who were members of the first ten in basketball and who helped carry the "Trojans" through successful seasons for the last three years and have engraved their names in the history of the school by playing on the team that beat Muncie for the first time in seven years. And in football again appear the names of Rowe and White and also Ikey Miller, Wilbur Conway, Fred Good and others. These players will always be remembered as playing on one of the best teams that this school has ever produced and which had the distinction of playing a whole season without defeat. Also in track we are represented by Rowe, B. Farthing, K. Farthing, Harvey, and Mark Mercer.

We have now, much to our regret, only one more year in N. H. S., in which time with such students as these in the lead we hope to rise to honors never before attained by a graduating class of this school.

CLASS OF 1932

The Sophomore Class of N. H. S. is justly proud of its members and record. Students of this class have distinguished themselves as scholars and athletes.

In athletics, we are proud to say that the only player on the basketball team to win a place on the All-Conference team was Vernon Huffman, of whom not only the class but also the school is justly proud. Huffman made quite a name for himself through the way he played his position as back-guard.

Another well-known sophomore is Dale Dakins, a forward on the Trojan Colts and a substitute forward on the varsity. The school would not let us forget, if we would, Merritt Kersey who, by his timely field goal in the Muncie-New Castle game, literally "saved the day" for New Castle. Other members of the Colts who are Sophomores are Locker, McDorman, Selke, and Wildman.

The football squad of 1929 had its best season this year when it was undefeated, and its record marred only by a 6-6 tie with Muncie. We are glad to say that several members of our class were on this successful team.

Also, when the girls' swimming team went to the state swimming meet at Columbus we were represented by Betty Swain and Ellen Jane Davis, both members of the Class of '32.

In our lessons we have really made quite a record, many pupils having their names on the honor roll, and several sophomores' names have been posted on the Cum Laude list. This group of names and averages belongs to those having the ten highest averages in the school.

On the Phoenix staff are Mary Bunch and Naomi Emmert, both members of the Sophomore class. We hope that our class has left behind it as good a record as any Sophomore class that has preceded us.

CLASS OF 1933

The Freshman class begs leave to say its little say in the Rosennial. We think that we have been good freshmen. Our class has had to endure the patronizing airs of the upperclassmen and absorb a generous amount of their ridicule, but, recognizing that this has ever been the dose prescribed to freshmen, we have taken our medicine with a smile. Someday it may occur to them that there must be freshmen if there are to be sophomores, juniors, or seniors.

Our class, which we hope to see the graduating class of 1933, has made a good start toward the realization of that happy event. Our instructors, we hope, will testify that we have been as proficient in our studies as were our upperclassmen friends when they occupied our lowly station.

The proficiency of our class in scholarship can be judged by the number of names of freshmen that can be found on the Honor Roll and the Cum Laude-roll of names.

The number of freshman athletes that have been developed this year is small. The only freshman that has gained recognition thus far in any sport is Bill Thoman who was a regular forward on the second team in basketball, and during the early part of the season was a substitute forward on the first team.

There was a freshman football squad that consisted of about twenty boys. Those that received numerals were: Shirk, Clift, Elliot, Carpenter, Ditton, McGinnis, Reeves, Worthington, Kidd, Carmichael, Livezey, Thompson, Lockhart, Parker, and Wilhoite.

We will enter upon our sophomore year eager to make ourselves still better students and, profiting from the fine record made by the present sophomore class, we will endeavor to make ourselves worthy to be their successors. We pledge our best to N. H. S.

JAMES PENCE
Editor-in-Chief

The task of building an annual which would serve as a record for the Class of 1930 and surpass the excellent year books that had been published in previous years was delegated to a competent staff headed by James Pence, Editor, and Edward Clift, Business Manager. The selection was made by Miss Lillian Chambers, Faculty Adviser, at the beginning of the second semester. Several new features were added to the book. Chief among these features is the use of color prints that were made in France for the 1930 Rosennial. A modern theme carried out by pen sketches drawn by Donn Nicholson, art editor, exemplified the Spirit of Achievement in Youth.

EDWARD CLIFT

The time and effort devoted by the staff to the publication of this year book has been a valuable investment to them all. The staff hopes that the 1930 Rosennial will be among the cherished possessions of every senior.

THE N. H. S. PHOENIX

The Phoenix is a five column, four page newspaper published by the students of New Castle High School, on the last school day of every week. This publication covers completely every phase of student activities including news, editorials, social events, jokes and from time to time the literary efforts of the students such as essays, short stories, poems, and humorous bits.

The regular weekly editions and the special editions issued at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Sectional Tournament time are edited under the supervision of the Journalism 32 Class. This class, which meets every day to study the finer points of journalism, is conducted by Mr. Greenstreet, who has had experience as a newspaper writer. During the second semester an elementary class in journalism was organized to train students for staff service in the future.

Twelve delegates were sent to the Indiana High School Press Association Convention held at Franklin October 17th, 18th, and 19th. From the classroom lectures and round table discussion of matters pertaining to the publishing of a high school newspaper the delegates secured much valuable information to assist them in their publication work.

Through the courtesy of several large metropolitan newspapers, the Phoenix was able to secure the style books that are used in the offices of large newspapers. These books contain complete instructions for reporters, copy readers, and proof readers.

This year the Phoenix has secured membership in two national press societies. Quill and Scroll, National Honorary High School Journalistic Society, has chartered the Phoenix as a member of their organization. The Phoenix is also a newspaper member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

Those who participated in the publication of the Phoenix for 1929-30 are as follows:

FIRST SEMESTER

SECOND SEMESTER

Leota Flora, Editor; Ralph Renegar, Business Manager; Eleanor Burns, Elizabeth Black, Esther Hall, Jeanette Brown, Mary Payne, Marlyn Lowery, William Laboyteaux, Lucille True, Leona Hinkle, Lucille Woodward, Ruth Morrison, Betty Ratliff, Irene Hilbert, Mary L. Fegley, Frederick Byers, Naomi Emmert, William Malloy, Mildred Leisure, Willard McGuire, James Ford, Eunice Ann Laughlin, Harold Reeves, Logan Sumpter, Carroll Malloy, Roller Rowe, Wayne Mercer, and Cleo Campbell.

“MARY JANE’S PA”

On May 8th and 9th the senior class presented the play, “Mary Jane’s Pa,” in three acts. The play was very ably presented by the cast to a highly appreciative audience.

The scene of the play is laid in Clarksburg, Indiana, and the time is so early in the present century that the town is still outside those phases of social evolution which are now named the Labor Question, Feminism, Trial Marriage, Linotyping, Direct Primaries, The Crematorium, The Montessori Method, and The House Beautiful. The whole atmosphere reflects homely comfort, an absence of luxury, and a pastoral innocence, of the William Morris influence.

The story of the play goes: Portia Perkins took her two children, Lucille and Mary Jane, and traveled up state to Clarksburg from Medairyville when Hiram Perkins, whom she had rashly married, left her. She had brought the children up to believe that their father was very unusual and intellectual. In order to make a living she ran a printing office and published a small paper, “The Clarion.” After she had lived eleven years in Clarksburg, Rome Preston, a highly respected citizen wanted to marry her.

When the story opens Lucille Perkins, who is now a girl of sixteen, is in love with an actor, Barrett Sheridan, who played in Clarksburg. Her mother does not approve of this. Star Skinner, a local youth, pays much attention to Lucille, in spite of Lucille’s distaste. Ivy Wilcox, who thinks she is quite the village flapper, is jealous of Lucille’s lovers.

Third Row: W. Bettner, S. Zerr, J. Minnick, M. Chambers, M. Pickering, M. Tully, C. Netz.
Fourth Row: W. McGuire, M. Lowery, L. Sumpter, G. Parker, R. Renegar, C. Copeland, D. Moore.

Mrs. Perkins has many friends, among whom were Miss Faxon, a very affected old maid, a milliner, and the leader of the Sons and Daughters of Freedom, and Claude Whitcomb, a very amicable middle aged man. Linc Watkins drives the bus and brings Mrs. Perkins news for the paper. Lewellyn Green and Eugene Merryfield work in the printing office.

Just when everything is going nicely for Portia, her husband, Hiram Perkins, comes home tired of wandering. He agrees to work for her and be her cook in order to stay.

Rome Preston and Joel Skinner are running for office. Even if most people are for Skinner, Portia is for Preston and she tries to influence her readers to be for him. She has gained the upper hand and is going to print a story about Skinner that will ruin him. He and John Whipple try to bribe her into not printing the story, but she refuses. People talk about Portia because of the strange hired man who works for her. Everyone makes it very hard for Lucille and Mary Jane. Lucille is determined to quit school because she can't stand the cruel taunts of the other students. She is determined to run off with Barrett Sheridan. To make matters worse Ivy Wilcox has a party and does not invite Lucille or Mary Jane.

Lucille finds that Barrett's name is Tillotson and he is really very wealthy. Hiram fixes matters with Mrs. Perkins and she consents to their marriage. Hiram has written a book and given Mary Jane the money to give to her mother to pay off the bank notes.

In the meantime Clarksburg has appointed a committee, among whom were Miss Faxon, Claude Whitcomb, and Old Skinner to tar and feather the hired man. Portia in a frenzy of excitement confesses he is her husband. The crowd subdued leaves and Portia confesses she needs Hiram. He also wants to stay, so every thing ends happily for the Perkins family.

The stage managers are Ruth Marley, Lillian Burke, Ramah Gorman, Marlyn Lowery, Ralph Renegar, and Logan Sumpter.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Every year Miss May Dorsey, Head of the Music and Art Department, organizes the Girl's Glee Club.

There has always been a large response to this call and this year there were forty-nine girls who joined this organization and forty-nine voices blended together to reproduce such lovely melodies as "Beautiful Blue Danube" by Johann Strauss and selections from the operetta "Feast of the Red Corn" by Paul Bliss.

A great honor was conferred upon N. H. S. when it was permitted to send two girls to the All State Chorus during the State Teachers' Association this year in Indianapolis, Indiana. The two New Castle High School representatives were Evelyn Davis and Lauretta Pinkerton.

This year has been one of the most successful that Miss Dorsey has ever had with the glee club.

We hope many of the girls in this year's glee club will join again next year and that new freshman girls may follow their example.

Hyacinth Swazy, a senior, was pianist this year for the glee club.

The glee club sings every year for the Class Day exercises and their selections are greatly appreciated by the audience.

The club meets every Thursday evening for rehearsal at 3:17 in room 101 and one-tenth credit is given for each public appearance.

The girls have all cooperated with Miss Dorsey to make this year's glee club enjoy a very successful season.

First Row: F. Circle, A. Chew, L. O'Brien, M. Morris, L. Sellars, M. Kinnett, J. Stotemyer, M. Mullenix, M. E. Kennedy, A. K. Wallace, M. O. Cox, L. Glazer, J. Swazee.

Third Row: O. Eilar, O. M. Wilkinson, B. Lyon, V. Trobaugh, S. M. Sanders, L. Pfenninger, V. Kirby, M. J. Altemyer, M. Laisure, E. Hutson, Miss Dorsey.

Fourth Row: F. E. Edwards, L. Pinkerton, K. Applegate, R. Rodenbeck, B. Willett.

Fifth Row: M. Gebhart, B. Ratliff, M. McQuinn, E. Davis, M. A. Tapscott, R. Reece, R. Morrison.

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

Once again Miss May Dorsey, Head of the Music and Art Department, has banded together our musically talented students of high school and has very capably molded their talents into an orchestra of which N. H. S. is exceedingly proud.

The orchestra meets under the direction of Miss Dorsey in Room 101 every Wednesday during the eighth period for rehearsal.

New Castle High School was greatly honored this year when it was allowed to send two of the members of the orchestra to Indianapolis, Indiana, during State Teachers' Association to represent our high school in the All State Orchestra. The two honored were Orville Woodward and Irvin Taylor.

The orchestra plays annually for the Class Day Exercises, Commencement Exercises and the Class Play.

The members of the orchestra and the instruments that they play are: Violin—Madonna Mullenix, Mary Vollett, Laila Basicker, Mara Vernon, Nell Lunsford, Ruth Fletcher, Doris Fant, Dorothy Morrell, Vernon Hill, Paul Hastings, Joe Tapscott, Gordon Barratt; Flute—Marian Roberts; Clarinet—Irvin Taylor, Frederick Davis, Frederick Byers; Cornet—Orville Woodward, Ruth Johnson, Lois Anderson, Robert Markley, Warren Morris, Gayle Harold Loer; Trombone—Martha French; Saxophone—Thelma Steffy, Gayle Duckworth; Tuba—Sylvester Tower; Drums—LeRoy Woodward; Piano—Carrie Duckworth.

First: G. Loer, N. Lunsford, M. Vollett, W. Morris, G. Barrett, L. Anderson, D. Morrell, M. Mullenix, J. Tapscott.

Second Row: V. Hill, R. Markley, O. Woodward, R. Fletcher, G. Duckworth, T. Steffy, R. Johnson, D. Fant.

Third Row: P. Hastings, M. French, M. Vernon, M. Roberts, C. Duckworth, F. Byers, L. Basicker.
Last Row: F. Davis, S. Tower, L. Woodward, Miss Dorsey.

PEP'ERS

A more loyal and enthusiastic group of girls can not be found in any high school than the N. H. S. girls' boosting organization known as the Pep'ers. The members are known for their loyalty to all forms of athletics, their fine school spirit and for their pep in singing school songs and for their admirable spirit in cheering for the team. When anything is to be done, the Pep'ers are recommended for the task. If these one hundred and fifty loyal boosters undertake to do anything they do it.

The faculty sponsor is Mrs. Harriet C. Eden, who has directed all the activities of this organization. Mrs. Eden has proven herself to be very capable by her efficient handling of the club's affairs during 1929-1930.

At the last club meeting of the year 1928-1929 an election of officers for the forthcoming year was held. The officers chosen by the club were: Mary McDorman, President; Esther Hall, Vice-President, and Martha Llewelyn, Secretary-Treasurer.

It was largely through the initiative and effort of the faculty sponsor and officers of the club that cries of "Ice Cold Pop," "Hot Dogs," and "Candy" rent the air at each home football game. The profit from the sale of these appeasers of the appetite and thirst made it possible to hold a theatre party in honor of the highly successful Trojan football team later in the year.

A Pep'er Box, painted green and white with the names of the team printed on the front, was kindly donated to the club by Mr. Charles L.

First Row: V. Hopper, A. Chew, E. McQuinn, H. Moffett, L. True, M. Llewelyn, M. McDorman, E. Hall, J. Patrick, D. Jones, J. Swazy, M. Kennedy, M. Barnard, J. Browning.

PEP'ERS

McDorman. His thoughtfulness and liberality were sincerely appreciated by the members of the club. This Pep'er Box served as a headquarters for the girls who sold the "Hot Dogs" at the various football games. The season proved to be very profitable to the club. All fans were most generous in buying of the members.

A theatre party was given by this organization in honor of the coaches and members of the New Castle High School undefeated football squad, who by their courage, training, and sportsmanship had made the football season a success. Following the theatre party, refreshments were served at Elliot's Coffee Shop. This social event was very successful and the Pep'ers feel very grateful to all who aided in any way to make it an enjoyable evening. In being host to the football team the club was following the precedent of the club in former years.

At all New Castle High School athletic encounters a Pep'er girl can be recognized because of her enthusiasm, sportsmanship and support of the and yell for the team until the last gun has sounded.

The girls in their work and fun this year have entered into everything and it is believed that each one has come a little closer to reaching the highest goal—that of being a real Pep'er.

LEATHER LUNGS

With the beginning of each first semester there comes the organizing of the Leather Lungs, a club established to back the Trojans in all sports, a club that is considered one of the outstanding activities of the school.

The club was first organized in 1926 with Robert Baker as president, Walter French as vice-president, Robert Hunter as secretary, and Frank Bolser as treasurer. The name Leather Lungs was selected as most fitting for a boy's organization. During the time up to and including the present year it has earned a name for itself and for the school it represents.

The purpose of the club is to group the boys together, to create better and more pep in the school and to promote the spirit for better and cleaner athletics. This group of boys with their ever-lasting and ever-increasing energy and enthusiasm have done much toward aiding the school spirit.

During the basketball season the club attended the games in a body and attracted much favorable criticism with their pep and snappy yelling.

At the first meeting of the club this year, Glen Anderson was elected president. No other officers were considered necessary at that time. Mr. Hodson and Mr. Harrel are faculty advisers of the organization.

Although the activities of the club have been limited during the past year, plans are being made for an even bigger and better organization next year.

HI-Y CLUB

The Hi-Y Club, which is one of the most active of our high school organizations, is composed of about fifty high school boys. The purpose of this organization is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the high school and the community high standards of Christian character. This organization meets every Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A. under the sponsorship of Mr. Jones, a high school teacher, and Mr. Thorn, the boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Probably the greatest work done by the boys within the last year was in the collection and distribution of toys last Christmas. This was done through the co-operation of the local Fire Department. Broken toys that had been donated were collected by the boys and were repaired by the members of the Fire Department at odd times. The Hi-Y boys distributed the toys on Christmas Eve to the children whose Christmas would have otherwise been toyless. Approximately one thousand toys were repaired and distributed in this manner. Plans have been made already to repeat this kind act next Christmas. The members have enjoyed some half-dozen socials this year, all of which have been big successes. A banquet in honor of the Trojan basketball team was given by the club on March 18th.

The officers for the first semester were: Harry Joyner, President; Nick Sarantos, Vice-President; Joe Chew, Secretary; Wayne Harvey, Treasurer. Officers for the second semester were: Joe Chew, President; John Kepner, Vice-President; Robert Simmons, Secretary; Harold Hickman, Treasurer.

First Row: H. Bavender, F. Bavender, H. Hickman, J. Rhode, C. Orchard, F. Wallace, F. Cluggish.
Second Row: R. Simmons, J. Lynch, H. McCord, M. Steffy, W. Bettner, C. Davis.

Fourth Row: J. Chew, A. Harlow, D. Birsinger, G. Anderson, J. Thorn.

SENATE

The purpose of the Senate is to give the students a better and more complete understanding of the United States Senate and its workings, and to teach them the application of parliamentary law. The Senate is a facsimile of the U. S. Senate.

The Senate was organized about the middle of the first semester. Membership this year was opened to any student interested, whereas in former years only students of Civics could join. As a result of this ruling about twenty-five students responded, all Juniors and Seniors. Officers were elected immediately and senatorial names were assigned by Mr. Leslie, faculty sponsor.

When the members had chosen their party, it was found that the Democrats held a slight majority and that two Republican Senators were insurgents. This made Democratic victory look inevitable. One of the most important Democratic bills was one to limit the number of dates per week that a Freshman girl might have. This bill was defeated by the president of the Senate following a tie vote. A Republican measure, a bill to prohibit the use of yo-yos in high school, was defeated by the Democratic majority.

Through all of its discussion and debate the Senate adhered to parliamentary law. It also followed the national Senate's rules and resolutions to a great extent.

The officers for the year were: President, Granville Parker; President Pro-tem, Stafford Zerr; Secretary, Louise Lester; Sergeant-at-arms, Frank Wallace.

First Row: K. Hall, M. Chambers, H. Locker, E. Hall, L. Lester, G. Parker, F. Wallace, S. Zerr.
Second Row: J. Brown, M. Pickering, D. Cooper, E. Davis, J. Sutton, J. Pence, K. Holwager.
Third Row: R. Meeks, E. Laughlin, R. Murray, J. Myers.
Fourth Row: R. Goodwin, M. Lowery, W. Laboyteaux, Mr. Leslie, F. Shaffer.

FOREIGN RELATIONS CLUB

The Foreign Relations Club was founded this year, through the work of Miss Feryl Sipe and Richard Goodwin. Miss Sipe brought the idea of this club from DePauw University, where she graduated last year. In most of the larger schools of the United States can be found clubs of this kind which deal with the relations of foreign nations and the United States in their meetings. Miss Sipe tried to found here a club similar to that very interesting organization of which she was an outstanding member while at DePauw.

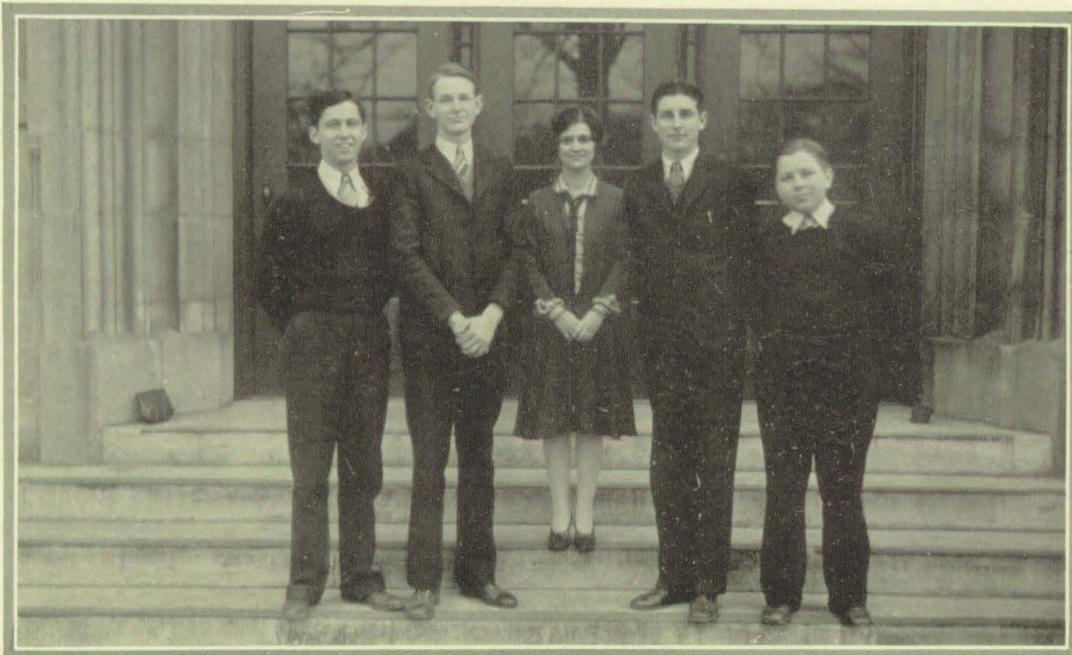

This club was unique enough for a high school that it received considerable mention in a Chicago high school newspaper. While the club was unique even for the members, they learned many things of practical value to them.

At one meeting the recent Disarmament Conference was reenacted by each member of the club taking the part of one of the nations which was represented at London. In this manner the club was able to gain an accurate picture of the way the great Conference proceeded.

Miss Sipe should be complimented for her excellent work and it is hoped that the membership will be larger next year so that a larger number of interested students may gain a clearer idea of the international relations of the United States.

Through the knowledge gained from his work in this club Richard Goodwin was better able to write an essay on the Paris Peace Pact, and to participate in several oratorical contests on questions of international relations. He wrote in the fourth competitive examination on the work of the League of Nations during the last ten years. This was a very difficult test and the preparation was gained through the work in this club.

Edward Clift, R. Goodwin, Miss Sipe, J. Pence, F. Wallace.

SCIENCE SOCIETY

Did you ever hear Mr. Bronson's revelations, Mr. Jones' wit, and Mr. Hodson's sincere expressions all in one meeting? No? Then you never attended a Science Society meeting.

The above mentioned well known teachers and also Miss Pinnick, Miss Fern Hodson, Mr. Harrel, Mr. Logan, and Mr. Gross, equally interesting speakers, are sponsors of this society of which New Castle High School is justly proud.

The many interesting facts revealed, the many mysterious experiments made, the many engaging lectures held the members so spellbound that they were indeed sorry when 4:00 o'clock, the time for adjournment had come.

Much credit should be given this society for the interest and enthusiasm it has created and maintained in sciences throughout the year.

Many educational as well as entertaining science magazines were recommended to the members during the year.

At each meeting a committee was appointed and this committee arranged a program for the following meeting. These committees responded in a fine manner and produced many very interesting programs which have attracted wide attention to the Science Society.

The society boasted of an enrollment of twenty-two members. The meetings were held in room 315 every two weeks on Wednesdays.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club is one of the oldest organizations in New Castle High School. It was organized in 1924 under the name of The Pro and Con Club. The purpose of the original organization was oratory and debate. With this as its aim the club aroused much interest in public speaking which has since largely died out.

The purpose of the present body is to further dramatic art and public speaking among its membership as well as the student body. Through the meetings whose programs are largely made up of student talent has this club intended to carry out its purpose. The club received its present name when it was changed by the will of the majority of the membership in 1926. The Dramatic Club has proven to be the workshop in which much of the material for recent class plays has been molded.

N. H. S. is fortunate in having as the head of its Public Speaking Department, Miss Margaret Bryan who has been a very able adviser for the Dramatic Club. Miss Feryl Sipe, a new member of the faculty, having enjoyed an extensive trip through Europe last summer was in a position to speak authoritatively in the few interesting speeches that she gave before the membership.

The activities of this year's club were carried on under the guidance of James Pence, President; Leota Flora, Vice-President; Stafford Zerr, Secretary, and Mary McDorman, Treasurer.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year perhaps the most active organization in school was the Student Council. The Council consists of twenty-two students, one representing every fifty students.

Every year the Student Council publishes the Handbook, a small paper-backed book of some eighty pages which contain enough information that if one knew it all he would know practically everything that there is to be learned about N. H. S. This year's edition was larger than the one published by last year's Council and sold for ten cents per copy or practically at cost. The volume was very attractively bound with a black and orange back designed by Donn Nicholson, a council member from Room 218.

One of the biggest projects undertaken by this Council was a student self-government study hall. At the beginning of the second semester this system was tried out in Room 218, during the second period. From the first this study hall was a success. Under the able guidance of Mr. Jones, faculty sponsor, and Richard Goodwin, President, plans were formulated to make the Council a continuous body.

The third Tuesday in the first semester the members were elected according to the constitution of the body. Those elected were: Edward Clift, Mary Bunch, June Cook, Lillian Cornwall, Walter Van Nuys, Evelyn Davis, Logan Sumpter, Ruth Rowles, Amelia Powell, James Pence, Donn Nicholson, James Minnick, Richard Goodwin, Mary McDorman, William Malloy, Leota Flora, Robert Kemper, Louise Johnson, Marjorie Hinshaw, Stafford Zerr, Frank Wallace, and Walter Sweigart.

The officers elected for the year were: Richard Goodwin, President; James Pence, Vice-President, and Louise Johnson, Secretary.

Seated: F. Wallace, J. Cook, L. Cornwall, D. Nicholson, J. Minnick, A. Powell, W. Swiegart, L. Sumpter, E. Clift, E. Davis, M. McDorman, L. Flora, L. Johnson, S. Zerr, M. Hinshaw.
Standing: R. Goodwin, J. Pence, W. Van Nuys, Mr. Jones.

CHEMISTRY ESSAY CONTEST

New Castle High School for the sixth time, entered the Chemistry Essay Contest this year. This contest, sponsored by the American Chemical Society, is open to all high school students. The contestants write on one of six subjects selected by the Society. The essays are first sent to the state contest. The first prize here is $20, the second $5, and the third $2.50. The first prize here in each of the six divisions is a scholarship of $3200 to any approved college or university in the United States, $2000 of which is in cash. These prizes are given by Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Garvin of New York.

The entrants this year and the subjects on which they wrote are: Maxine Carpenter, "Chemistry in Its Relation to the Enrichment of Life"; Stafford Zerr, "Chemistry in Its Relation to the Enrichment of Life"; Elizabeth Black, "Chemistry in Its Relation to Health and Disease"; Orville Woodward, "Chemistry in Its Relation to the Development of the Automobile Industry"; Richard Goodwin, "Chemistry in Its Relation to the Development of Our Coal Industry"; Frederick Shaffer, "Chemistry in Its Relation to the Development of the Gas Industry," and Frank Wallace, "Chemistry in Its Relation to the Enrichment of Life, Through Industry."

The writers began early in the year to collect material and as a result there were some exceptional essays this year. Winners will be announced near the close of school.

Too much credit can not be given Mr. Bronson and the various English teachers for their assistance in the formulation of these essays.

Second Row: O. Woodward, S. Zerr, R. Goodwin, F. Shaffer.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

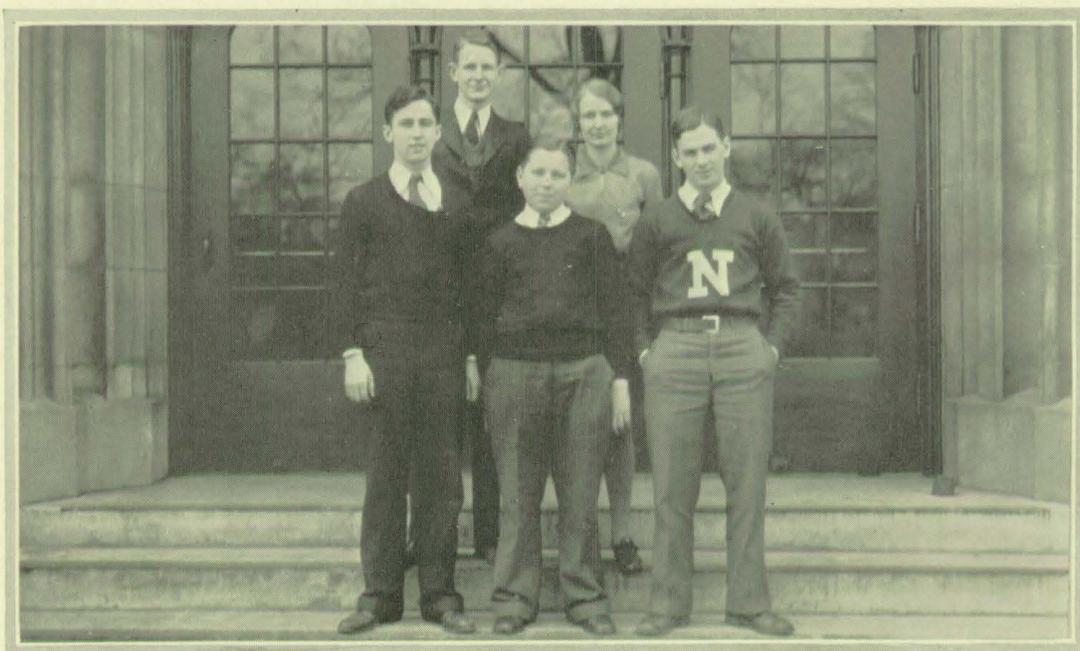

The Constitutional Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the American Bar Association, is held each year in order to arouse interest in the national constitution and also to promote public speaking among the high school students. Frank Wallace, '30, won first place in the local contest after tying with Edward Clift in a preliminary contest. On March 21, Wallace won the right to represent Henry County in the Sixth Congressional District Contest by defeating the entrant from Sulphur Springs, the only other entrant in the county contest.

The Constitutional Contest is an international contest in which New Castle High School has had entrants since 1925. The entrants and their subjects this year were: Frank Wallace, "The Constitution, a Guarantee to the Individual"; Edward Clift, "Our Constitution"; Richard Goodwin, "The Constitution and the Supreme Court," and Wilbur Conway, "The Origin of the Constitution." Following the deliverance of these six minute constructive speeches each contestant was required to give a four minute extemporaneous speech assigned by the judges.

Last year New Castle High School was represented in the Eastern Zone Contest by Tom Millikan, '29, who had gained this honor by winning first place in the local, county, district, and state contests. Millikan lost in the zone contest due to a technicality in the grading system used. This is a goal for present and future orators and debaters of New Castle High School.

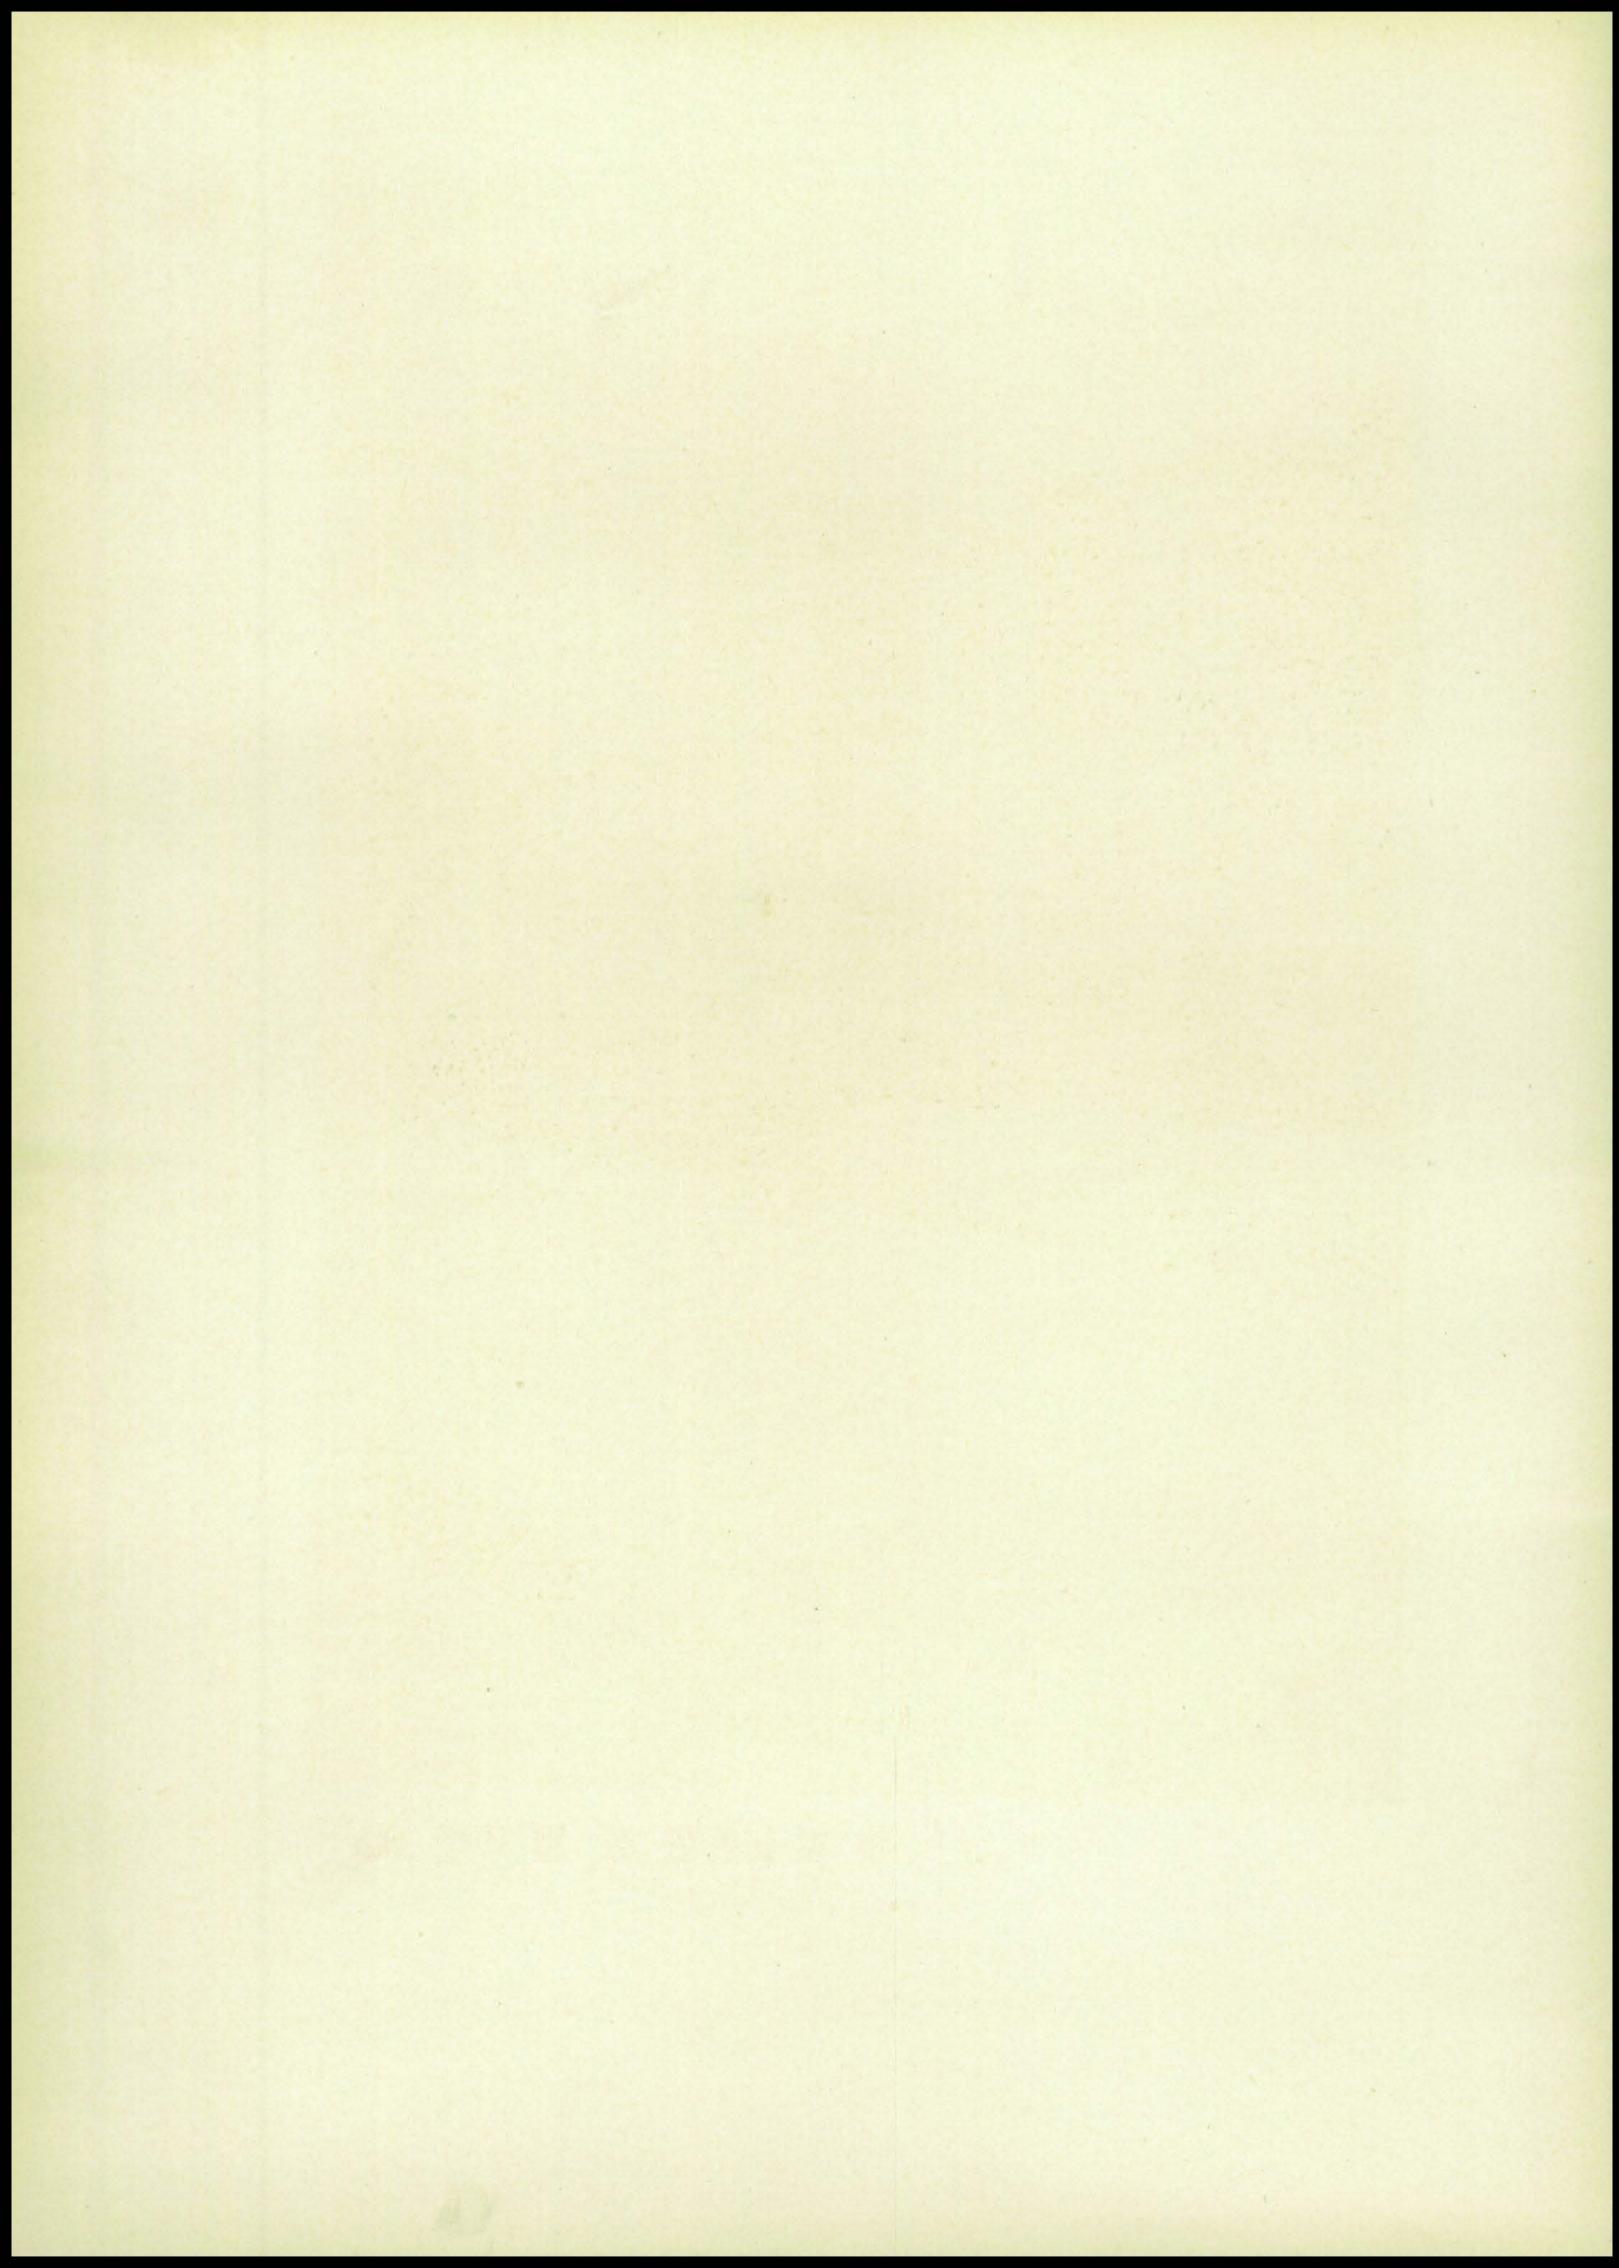

There is another oratorical contest which arouses much interest. That is the Discussion League Contest, which Edward Clift won. Last year Millikan won his way to the finals in this contest and we hope that Clift follows his example.

ATHLETICS

COACHES

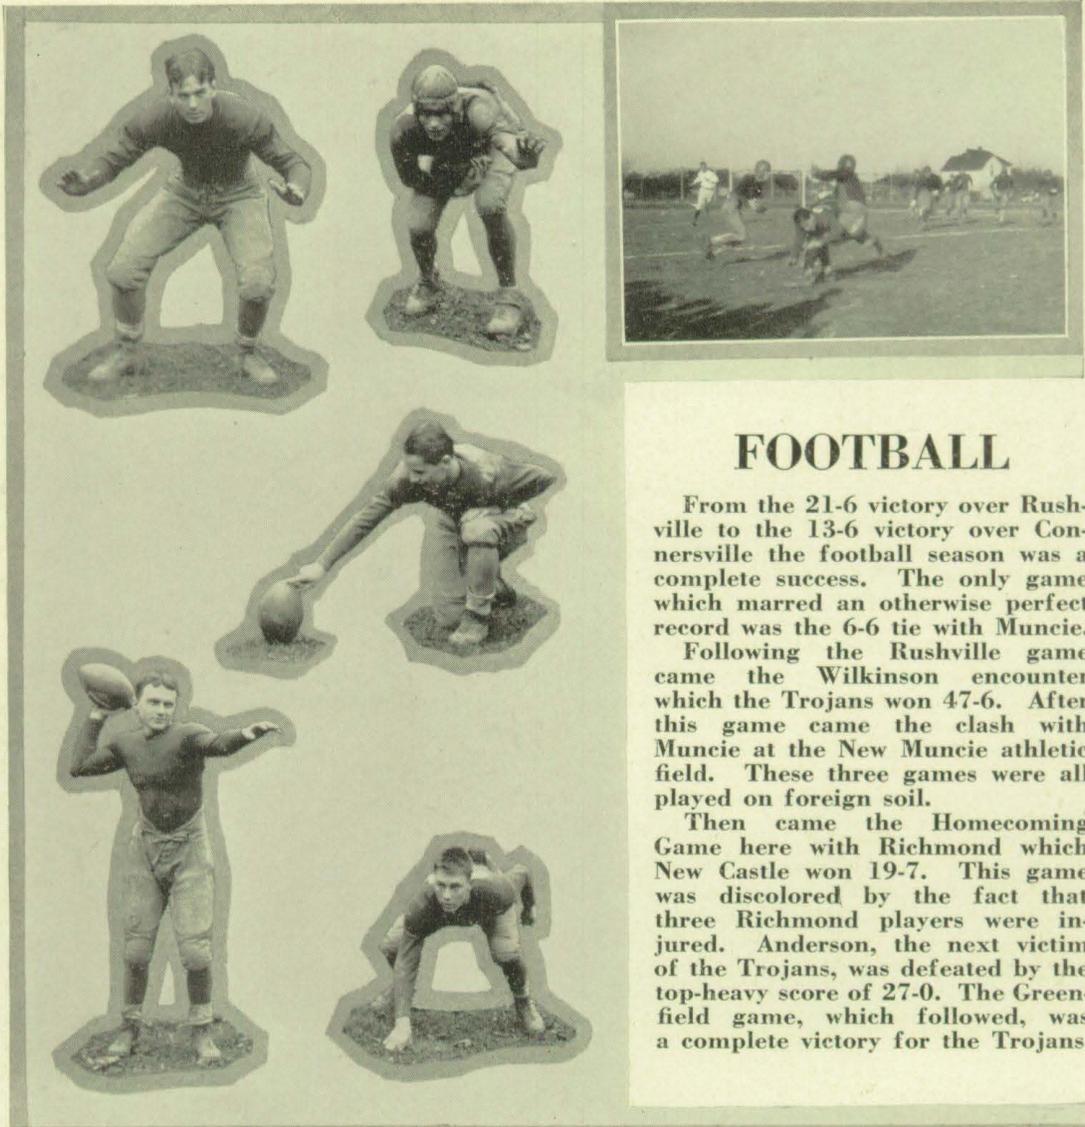

Orville J. Hooker, head coach of New Castle High School athletics, has been instrumental in raising the standards of sport in this school. Well versed in all branches of sport Hooker possesses that invaluable knack of communicating his knowledge to others in a simple straightforward manner which has been used to an advantage in the training of his athletes whose success has gained for Mr. Hooker state-wide recognition as a coach of basketball, football, and baseball. New Castle is indeed fortunate in securing the services of such a splendid man as Mr. O. J. Hooker.

Harry C. Reid, serving his first year as assistant coach of football and basketball in N. H. S., has proven himself to be dependable not only as an athletic coach but also as a teacher. Reid had charge of the Freshman football squad in which a great deal of interest was aroused.

Fred Goar, head track coach, has produced some of the best track teams in the state, during his five years in N. H. S. Mr. Goar is well liked by the boys who have gone out for track due to his pleasing personality and the consideration that he gives every one who tries for a place on the Track team.

Glen O. Harrell was made tennis coach last year. The untiring effort of Mr. Harrell gave New Castle High School last year a very successful tennis season. Mr. Harrell in his work has gained the respect of the boys through his patience and good nature.

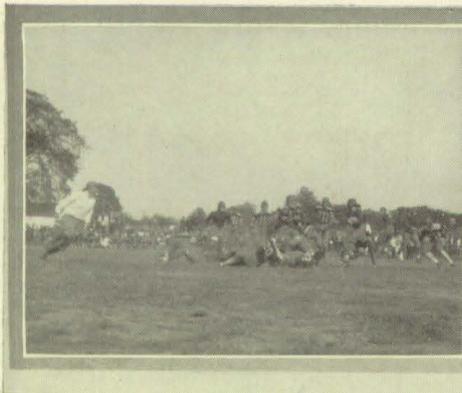

FOOTBALL

From the 21-6 victory over Rushville to the 13-6 victory over Connersville the football season was a complete success. The only game which marred an otherwise perfect record was the 6-6 tie with Muncie.

Following the Rushville game came the Wilkinson encounter which the Trojans won 47-6. After this game came the clash with Muncie at the New Muncie athletic field. These three games were all played on foreign soil.

Then came the Homecoming Game here with Richmond which New Castle won 19-7. This game was discolored by the fact that three Richmond players were injured. Anderson, the next victim of the Trojans, was defeated by the top-heavy score of 27-0. The Greenfield game, which followed, was a complete victory for the Trojans.

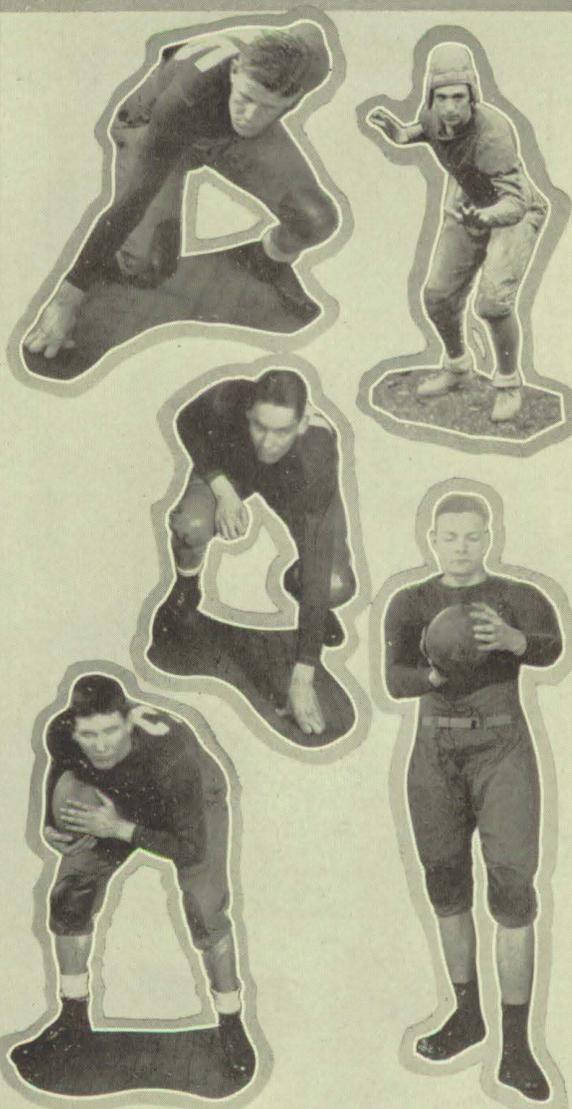

Behind at the half, the Trojans came back strong and won 31-7. The Trojans played hosts to the strong Lebanon team on October 25, and continued their string of victories by a 6-0 score.

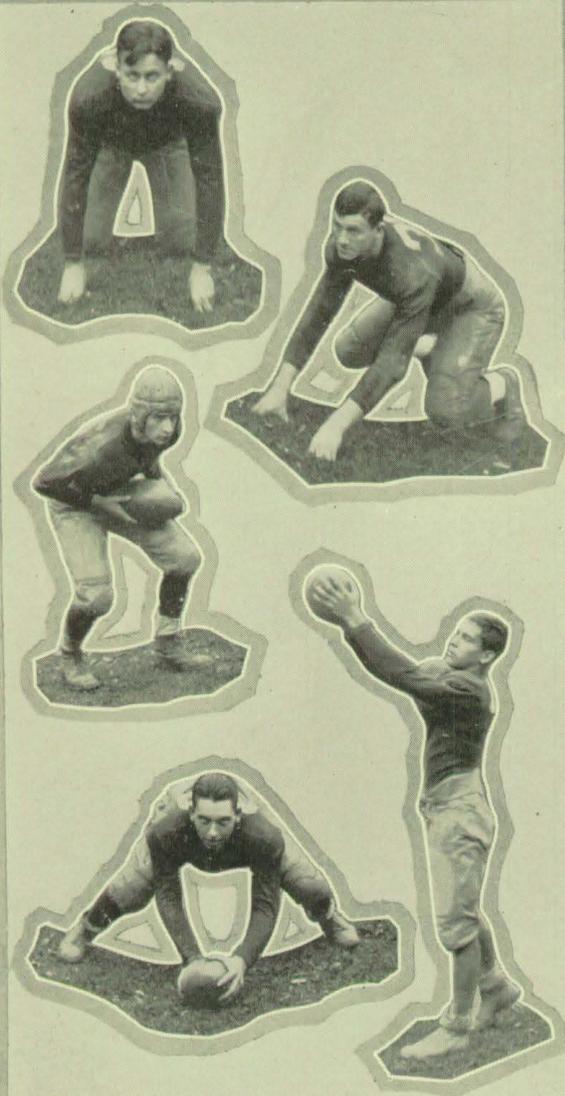

Connersville came to the Trojan playground on November 2, only to return home defeated 13-6. This game completed the most successful season that a Trojan football team ever enjoyed.

On panel one are grouped two seniors, and three juniors. The seniors, Van Nuys and Tully have both played four years. Tully has always displayed that old Trojan fight that has won for him the respect and admiration of friend and foe alike.

Van Nuys was a consistent ground gainer for the Green and White. His splendid attitude both on and off the field has earned him many friends.

The three juniors, Conway, White, and Lawson, are certain to prove valuable to Coach Hooker next year. Conway is a guard, White is a good half-back, and Lawson in his first season as a regular has proved to be one of the best full-backs to ever wear a Trojan uniform.

On the second panel are Renegar, Netz, Ford, Rowe, and Moore. Of these five men all but Rowe are seniors. Renegar in his first year as a football man was a tower of strength in the line. Netz, playing as a reserve end, showed his ability many times when he was inserted into the line-up. Roller Rowe, a junior, is one of the best all-round athletes that New Castle ever produced. Roller played a brilliant game as half-back. Don Moore played his first year as regular end. Don was equally strong on offense and defense.

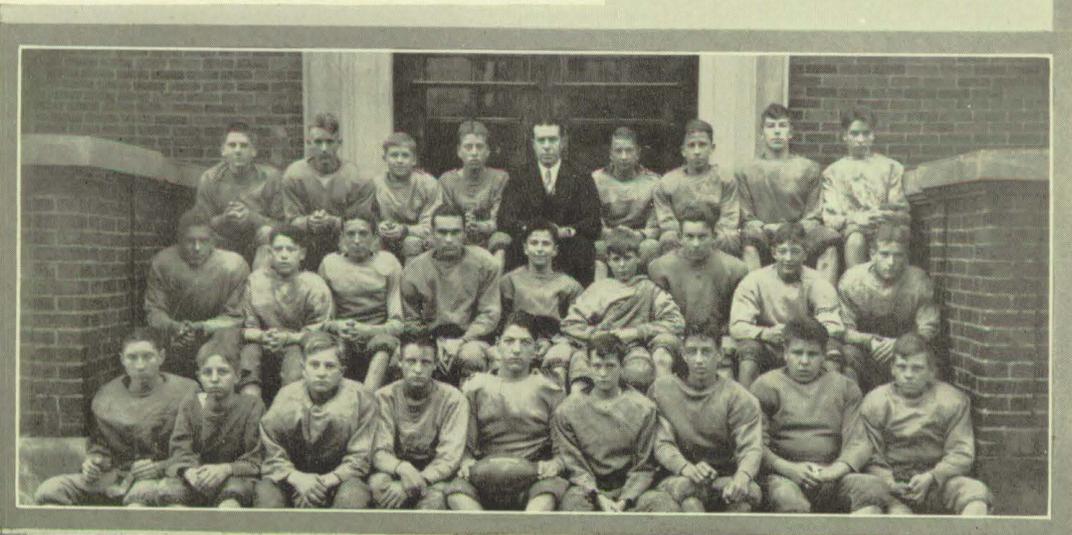

Sweigart, Miller, McGinnis, Miles, and Good complete the list of letter men. Sweigart played his last game against Connersville. "Woo-Woo" made the right side of the New Castle line very formidable to opponents. Miller has one more year in which to repeat the stellar performance that he gave this year. McGinnis has another year to play. He always displayed plenty of fight at left end. Joe Miles was co-captain with Tully. Joe is a senior and played center. About the middle of the season Joe received an injury to his knee which kept him from playing the remainder of the season. Fred Good is following in the footsteps of his brother as a plucky fighter.

These fifteen boys are the ones to whom the school awarded sweaters. On the last panel are the group pictures of the first and second squads.

"A" SQUAD

The man directly responsible for athletics in New Castle High School is Coach Orville Hooker. During his regime as head of the athletic department, sport has reached a high level in N. H. S. Mr. Hooker has instilled in his boys a thorough knowledge of sport and an appreciation of the qualities of fine manhood through his own example.

The five seniors who with five underclassmen comprised the 1929-30 basketball squad were:

Walter Van Nuys, Jr., who has given his best to N. H. S. athletics for four years, will be hard to forget,

Ralph Renegar, who has been with us but two years and has won many friends among New Castle people,

James Ford, who has been on the first team two years and played his first great game at Logansport last year,

The tow-headed Malloys—who can tell them apart?—so why separate them? They will be remembered for their cleverness and fight, and

That great Roller Rowe who has been on the first team for three years and we wish that next year was not his last,

Then there is Vernon Huffman, one of the outstanding backguards in the state this year, who has two more years to play,

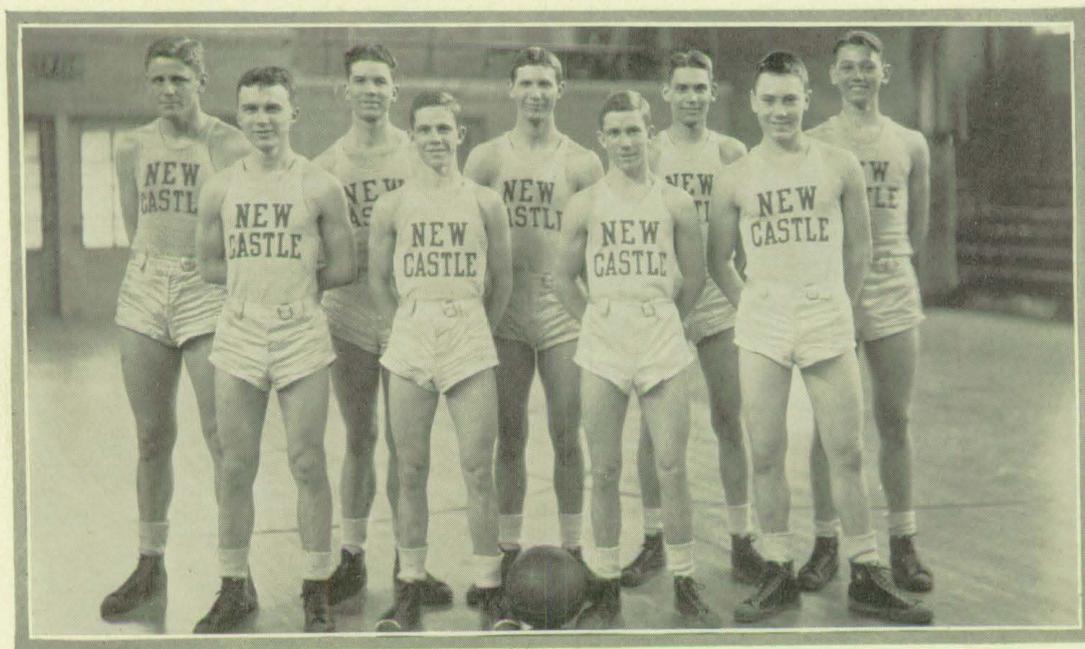

Robert White came up from the second team and developed into one of the most feared players on the whole squad, and has another year,

Lloyd Holloway is a junior who can play a great game when he feels inclined, and will be of great use to Hooker next year, and Merritt Kersey won "his stripes" in the Muncie game by his sterling shots. He is a sophomore and should become a regular soon.

The Trojan Colts under the direction of Assistant Coach Reid had a mediocre season, winning about fifty per cent. of their games. This team, composed of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, displayed the fighting spirit that has always prevailed in our teams.

The team was essential to the development of the first team. The greatest handicap that a second team always faces is the fact that as soon as a player is sufficiently well developed by his competition with the second team he graduates to the first squad. This however is the main reason for the existence of a second squad, for on this team there is always valuable material for the coming year's team.

The squad had no outstanding victories, although it played and defeated such "A" teams as Kennard, and Hagerstown, and lost to Eaton, Ohio, which was supposed to be one of the best teams in Ohio. This Eaton team defeated our Colts by the slender margin of one point, 16-15.

The following men made up the "B" squad: Mercer, Harvey, Lawson, Thoman, Dakins, and Kersey. This group carried on for N. H. S. and since they are all underclassmen they are all good material for next year's squad.

Of this group Thoman, Dakins, and Kersey had experience on the first team. Kersey by his consistent fight earned for himself a berth on the first team as well as a first team award, a sweater which is coveted by every boy who enters high school whether he is an athlete or not.

Coach Reid is to be complimented for the splendid work done by his team this last season.

BASKETBALL

The 1929-30 basketball season opened on November 8, against the Hagerstown Tigers. The team that faced the Tigers was a team that was composed of boys that later were on the reserve squad. The football men had not yet reported for practice. This group of boys won a thrilling game from Hagerstown by the score of 21-20.

Then the highly touted Rushville Lions came to the Goodwin Gym to growl and scratch at the Trojans. They went home with the short end of a 20-21 score.

On November 22 the Trojans donned their travelling togs and journeyed to Richmond where they met and defeated the Morton Red Devils, 28-20. This was a blow to Richmond and a source of great satisfaction to New Castle boosters. New Castle's Conference record was still 1.000 per cent.

Connersville brought Ridge and his boys to the Rose City on November 29, and carried home the bacon 24-19. The first team had begun to take definite form by this time with Rowe and Renegar alternating as forwards and center, Holloway and Ford fighting for the other forward post and VanNuys and Huffman pretty well settled as guards.

Following the disastrous Connersville game the Trojans went to Lebanon where they were defeated by a team that had "gone wild."

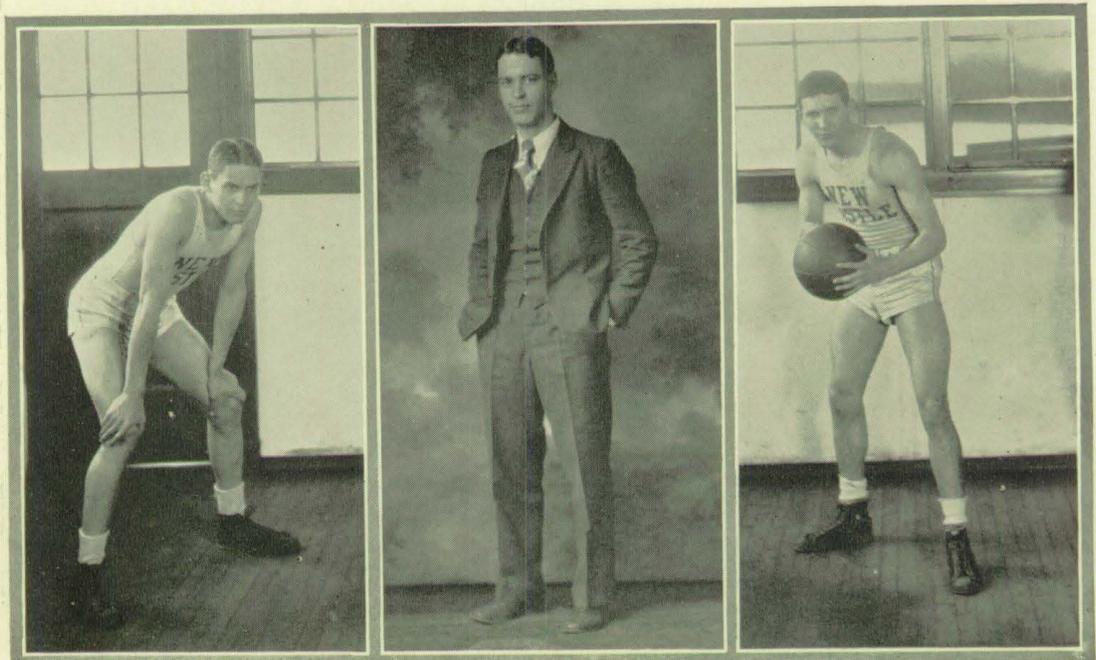

On December 13, Logansport visited us thirsting to avenge the defeat handed them last year by the Trojans. This they did with neatness and dispatch to the tune of 38-27.

New Castle sent a large crowd to Muncie on the 20th of December to witness the first Trojan-Bearcat encounter of the year. A total of sixteen points was all that was scored—nine for Muncie and seven for New Castle. This score might have been different had “Doc” Van Nuys been in the Trojan line-up. “Doc” had suffered a serious injury to his knee in the Logansport game.

J. FORD

Following the Muncie game an entirely new opponent faced the Trojans. Wiley of Terre Haute came to New Castle with a fine reputation and sustained it when they forced our boys to display their best brand of basketball to win 26-24.

On December 27, Connersville was our hosts. The team tried to avenge the defeat that they had suffered at home, but failed as the Spartans won 28-20.

January 3, the team went to Anderson to indulge in one of those pupil-teacher affairs. In explanation, we had better say that when Hooker had played at Anderson, Stagg had been his coach. The Indians had one of the best teams in the state this year and came out of this fracas with their scalps intact.

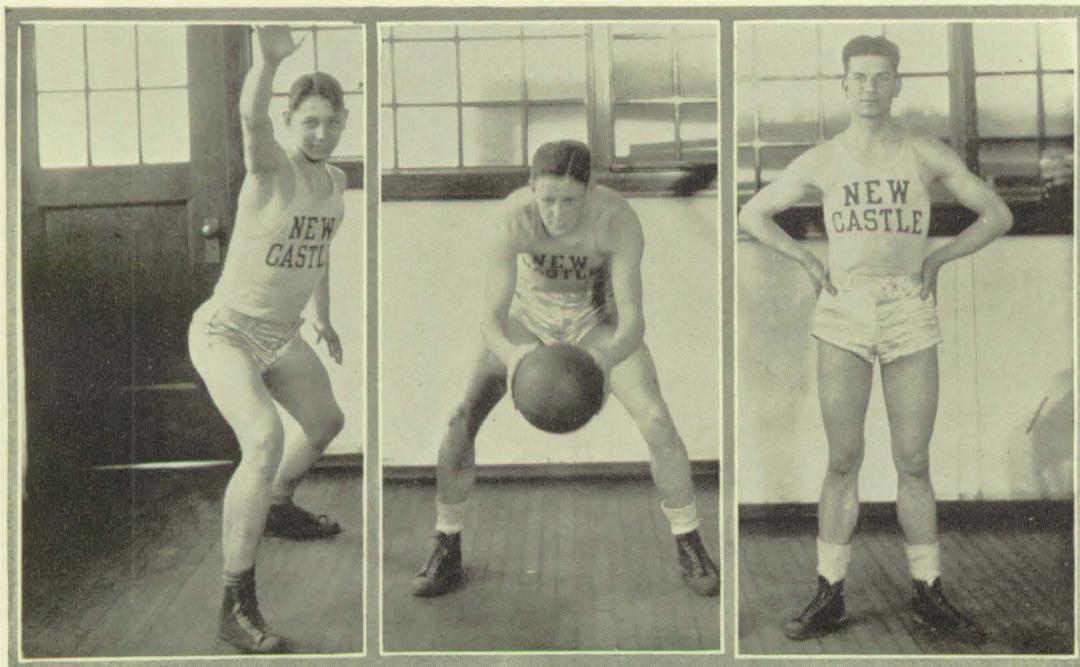

Though the Technical game was postponed due to the fact that at the time there was an epidemic in Indianapolis, we will give our account of the game in its regular place despite the fact that there are epidemics and things of that sort. The team that Coach Campbell brought to New Castle was practically the same team that had gone to the finals in the state tournament in 1929. Roller Rowe and a few other basket tossers from New Castle disregarded the fact that they were entertaining one of the best teams in the state and trampled on them 17-9.

January 11 the Trojans journeyed to Gary to take on the Horsemen from Horace Mann. The Gary team won 35-20.

V. HUFFMAN

L. HOLLOWAY

By this time "Bobbie" White had begun to play an important part in the Green and White machine that had been assembled by Coach Hooker.

After the Horace Mann defeat Richmond ambled over to the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium looking for new worlds to conquer. Finding that New Castle was not a world but a populous city with a population of 22,000 people, Richmond went back on the short end of a 39-26 score.

After Richmond came and saw, there came down out of the north the Rochester Zebras, who looked rather tough during the first few minutes of play but the Trojans showed a last half rally that completely smothered our visitors and they went home defeated.

The game with Greenfield was postponed to March 19, because of the blind tourney to be held in Anderson. This Anderson won, the Trojans falling before Marion.

On January 31 we engaged the Kokomo Wildcats in their lair. After a hard battle they won 39-36.

Anderson came to town on February 1, and beat the Trojans again.

February 7, the Trojans went to Frankfort and were again defeated by a narrow margin, 39-37.

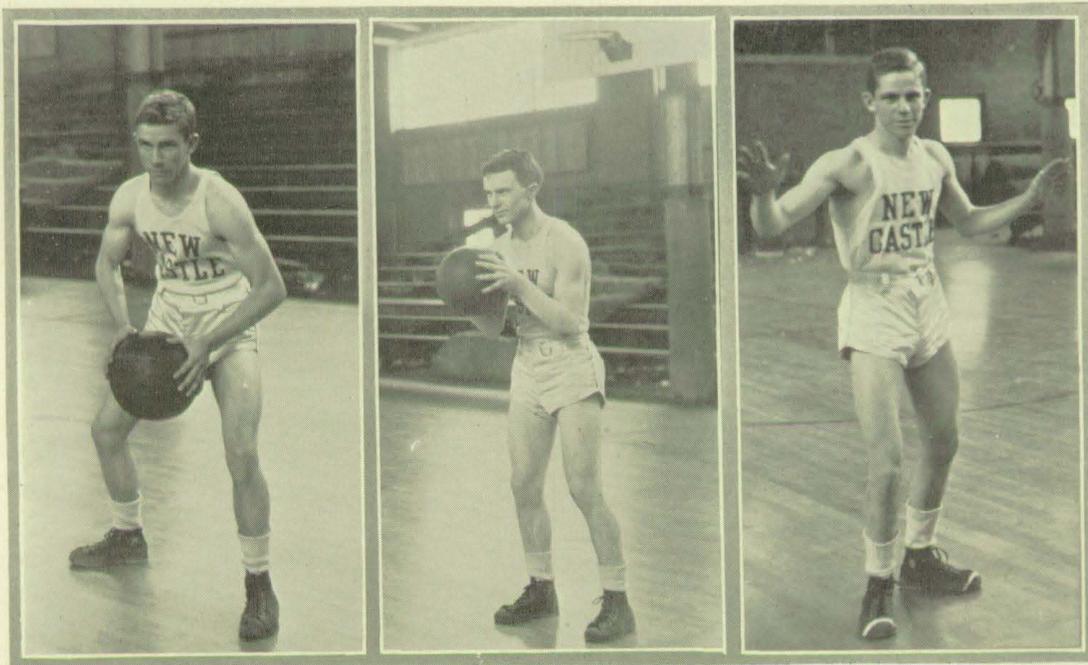

Through all this season a Sophomore had played a mighty game at backguard for the Trojans. This boy, Vernon Huffman, gained state-wide recognition for his efficient work at his post. By this time White was playing floorguard in the absence of VanNuys and was ably filling "Doc's" shoes. Big "Red" Renegar, the boy from Carthage, was playing regularly at one forward post. Jim Ford and Lloyd Holloway were still fighting for the other wing position and Roller Rowe was playing regular center.

Following the Frankfort encounter there came that monstrous event that alone would have made this season a success with the majority of the

Henry County boosters. New Castle, after eight years of earnest endeavor, BEAT MUNCIE. As no description could be given that would amply describe that wonderful game, we will pause here only long enough to state that in this game a new star appeared on the New Castle basketball horizon. Merritt Kersey, a sophomore, entered the fray in the last few minutes and with but a few seconds to go and the score Muncie, 26—New Castle, 25, Kersey tossed the field goal that made New Castle the winner. Roller Rowe galloped down the floor just before the gun went off and made another two points that put the game "on ice."

Feeling very confident after their victory over Muncie the team went to Greenfield on the 19th and came home defeated 29-19.

All that remained of the regular season was a game with Winchester which the Trojans won 31-18.

The team narrowly escaped elimination several times in the sectional tournament. The final game was an overtime game between Mooreland and New Castle.

March 8 the team journeyed to Muncie and met the Bearcats in the first round. Muncie won 31-22. The team fought hard but lacked the necessary punch to win.

Those that made the tournament ten were: Renegar, '30, VanNuys, '30, C. Malloy, '30, W. Malloy, '30, Ford, '30, Rowe, '31, Kersey, '32, Huffman, '32, Holloway, '31, and White, '31. New Castle will miss the five seniors and will find it hard to get their equals in moral and mental courage.

The team could not have gotten along this season had it not been for the splendid work of Mac Shirk and Joe Miles, student managers.

New Castle was proud of this team and will long remember the record that this team has made and that behind the team in all its actions stood the strong figure of Coach Orville Hooker.

TRACK TEAM

The track team was ably led this year by Don Birsinger, a senior and a crack hurdler. Birsinger piloted the team through one of the most successful seasons that a New Castle track team has ever enjoyed. Last year the track team set an enviable record which it was Don's task to equal or better. Last year six men of the team earned the right to represent N. H. S. in the state finals at Indianapolis. Of these McCormack won second place in the low hurdles and the half-mile relay team won third place.

At the initial call over eighty boys responded. Of this group twelve were veterans of last year's squad. These men were: W. Mercer, M. Mercer, Harvey, Ford, Lawson, Rowe, Tully, Farthing, Renegar, Birsinger, Crawford and Groves. Among the new men that answered the call were: Jennings, Shaffer, Selke, Day, Cole, Thoman, Keener, Wildman, Wieland, Fields, Counciller, Sweigart, Hill, and Hoover.

The Trojan track schedule was as follows:

April 12—Muncie at New Castle.

April 19—Triangular meet at Richmond. (Richmond, Connersville, and New Castle.)

April 26—Quadrangular meet at Rushville. (Rushville, New Castle, Shelbyville, and Connersville.)

May 10—North Central Conference meet at Indianapolis.

May 17—Sectional meet at Elwood.

May 24—State meet at Indianapolis.

First Row: J. Ratliff, K. Farthing, R. Hoover, R. Lawson, D. Birsinger, W. Harvey, W. Mercer, D. Field, D. Fawcett.

Second Row: Crawford, A. Dyer, D. Wildman, M. Mercer, L. Hiatt, J. Smith, W. Sweigart.

Third Row: R. Alexander, C. Ditton, J. Wieland, C. Ward, F. Blum, L. Sumpter, R. Simmons, C. Waggoner.

Fourth Row: G. Counsellor, M. Day, G. Keener, G. Crandall, C. Wischart, R. Selke, P. Grunden, J. Wiles, C. McTish, G. Barratt.

Fifth Row: B. Thoman, C. Davis, C. Groves, D. Jennings, Coach Goar, H. Joines.

TENNIS TEAM

Tennis became an organized sport in N. H. S. about three years ago under the direction of Malcolm Edwards, who resigned his position to accept one as physical director of the Washington, D. C., schools. Our first season was a successful one. Last year the tennis team was turned over to Coach Glen Harrell under whose careful guidance a fine team was turned out. Last year it was necessary for the team to groom the high school courts before they could be used. At present there are available for the use of the teams six fine tennis courts at Memorial Park.

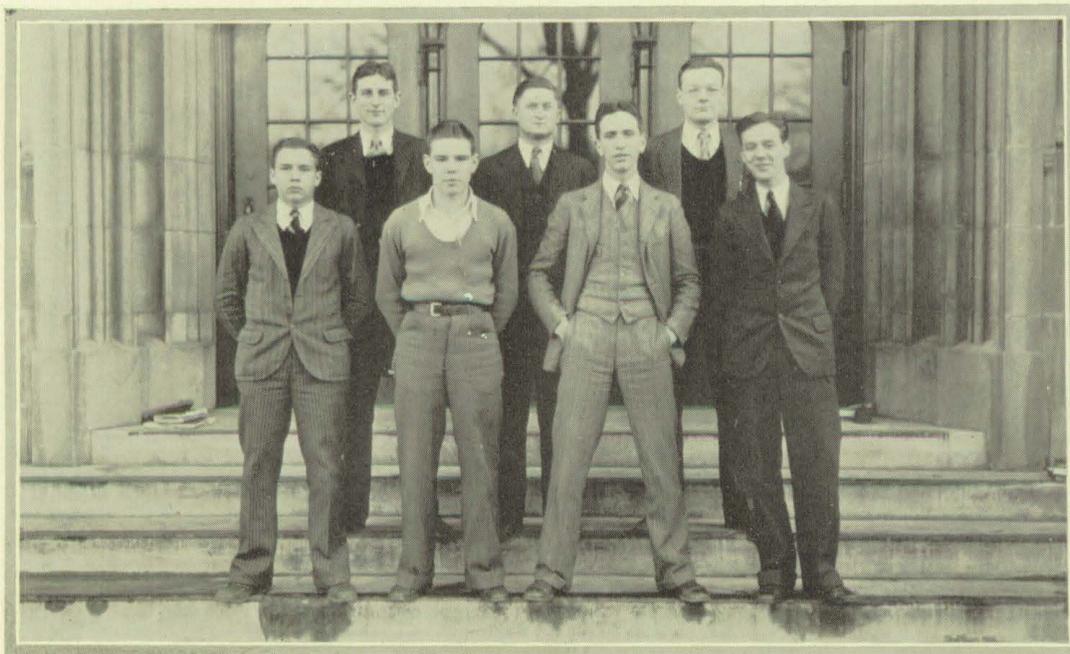

The team made tennis history for N. H. S. when a man was sent to the finals of the North Central Conference singles tournament held at Indianapolis in May. The doubles team went into the semi-finals but tournament play was discontinued because of inclement weather.

The team this year was composed of veterans of last year's squad, Pence, Moore, Netz, Shaffer, Davis, and Locker. These boys are all that there were on last year's squad with the exception of Paul Jones who was graduated with the Class of '29.

Tennis is the one sport in high school that everyone who participates must furnish the major part of his equipment, this being due to the fact that no revenue is derived from the activities of this team. The boys are to be complimented on the sportmanship that they display and effort that they put forth for no other reason than their desire to see the school represented in all fields of sport.

Mr. Harrell hopes to have a larger list of aspirants for next year's squad. He has left, Davis and Locker, around whom he must build a strong team. Tennis is one of the most popular sports in the U. S. today.

First Row: G. Locker, M. Davis, C. Netz, F. Shaffer.

ROTARY CLUB AWARD

In recognition of the splendid record of the 1929 Trojan football squad, the New Castle Rotary Club on March 19th presented the squad with a plaque bearing the squad picture and the season's record.

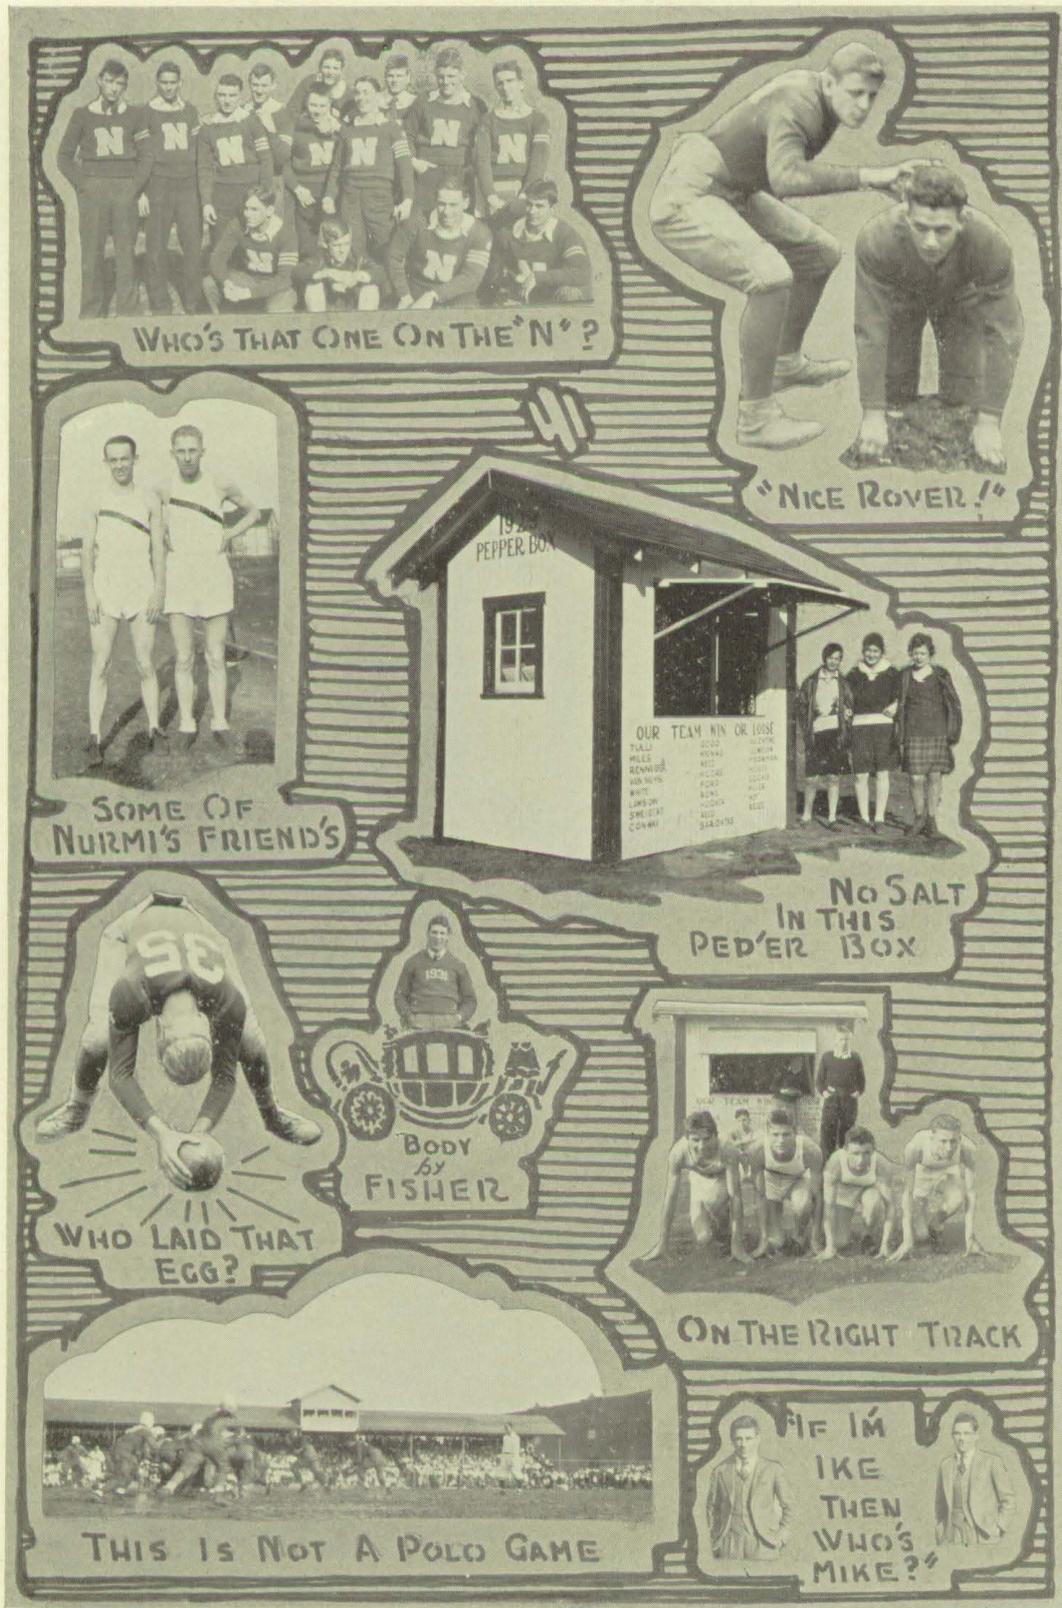

This presentation was made at a banquet given for the football team. This came as a fitting reward for the season's labor of Coach Hooker and the fine team that he had fashioned. Hooker's smooth working team defeated such outstanding teams as Connersville, Rushville, Greenfield, Lebanon, and Anderson.

Maurice C. Goodwin acted as master of ceremonies after the regular weekly meeting, which was turned into a football celebration, had been opened by President Charles McDorman. Mr. Goodwin, in a speech praising the team and their coach, presented the Rotary Award to Mr. Hooker on behalf of the club. Mr. Hooker, accepting the gift for the team and the school, stated the team appreciated the fine spirit shown by the club members during the past season. He then introduced individually the members of the team. Following this, Coach Kiser of Purdue University and Glen Harmeson, Purdue athlete, made short talks complimenting the team on their record.

The award is mounted on a shield made of walnut, at the top of which is a small rotary wheel and the words "New Castle High School 1929" spelled out by neat bronze letters. Beneath these words is mounted a group picture of the squad. The caption "Undeclared Football Team" heads the season's record engraved in sterling silver plate.

This is the first award ever presented to an N. H. S. athletic team by the citizens of the community.

CLASS WILL

We, the duly appointed and authorized lawyers of the Class of 1930, do ordain and establish that the following is the last will and testament of the said Class of 1930.

Walter Van Nuys, Jr. leaves his popularity with the fairer sex to Bill Thoman so that Bill may also enjoy high school.

Ralph Spanuth, Harold Waller, Frederick Walker, Miriam Kassen, Louise Meeks, and Opal Eilar, leave to Mr. Leslie a free course in Chalk Talking so that he may better illustrate his wonderful knowledge of history.

Mary Margaret Day leaves her hammer to Juanita Kepner to help Kep in breaking her dates.

Lucile True, Orville Woodward, Donald Nicholson, Frederick Byers, and Elizabeth Black leave the motto, "United we pass, divided we flunk," to next year's chemistry class.

Joe Miles leaves his five dollars worth of the new hospital to next year's football team; Joe says, "I just saw my duty and done it."

Babe Flora, Leora Hinkel, and Mary Payne leave to Virginia Trobaugh their office positions so that she may roam the halls unmolested by any of the faculty.

Kenneth Hiatt leaves his chauffeur's position to any Junior who has the time and inclination to drive the girls home from school.

June Cook, Irene Knollman, Louise Lester, and Ruth Masters leave to Ruth Wycoff one bottle of peroxide.

Richard Goodwin and Edward Clift leave their book on how to play the stock market to anyone who will read it.

Mabel Berry, Martha Crawford, Ramah Gorman, Olive Heady, and Vivian Heady leave to Mrs. Rogers a periscope to enable her to conduct classes and see what is going on in the halls at the same time.

Norbert Vogel and Willard McGuire leave a meal ticket to Merritt Kersey.

The Class Officers of 1930 leave their offices to any Juniors who succeed in being elected.

James Bouslog, Anna Fagala, Agnes Mees, Evelyn Misener, and Myrtle Moore leave to our sleuth foot, Mr. Gross, a Sherlock Holmes pipe and a trick mustache to help him in tracking wayward Freshmen.

Granville Parker and Frank Wallace leave their seats in Senate to anyone who gets a kick out of arguing over nothing.

Charles Gold, Joseph Fedor, Bertha Turner, Myron Fisher, and Mabel Kinsinger leave a stepladder to Jean Swazy to help the kid in pep meetings.

Cecile Trainor, Katherine Hall, Mary Pickering, and Mary Louise Fegley leave a bell to Mr. Valentine to be tied on his coat tail to warn wandering students of his approach.

James Pence leaves his paper route to Bill Clift so that Bill will have a good start on his first million.

Robert Swales, Russell Waters, Eleanor Burns, Doris Cooper and Ruth Morrison leave a can of paint remover to the janitors in case of any more midnight visitors.

John Myers leaves his uniform to any one seeking employment at a Publix Theater.

Mildred Leisure, Martha Crandall, Hyacinth Swazy, Lucille Gann, and Laurretta Pinkerton leave an onion to Evelyn Dakins in order to help her keep the boys away.

Mary Chambers leaves her big drag around N. H. S. to anyone having close relatives on the faculty.

Cleo Campbell, Martha Cummins, Blanche Dinkins, Maxine Gebhart, and Ruth Johnson leave to Joe Lynch umpteen tardy slips.

Louise Johnson and Marjorie Hinshaw leave a book of their own writing, "How to Make Christmas Money," to anyone who finds themselves hard up around Yuletide.

Robert Meeks, Wayne Mercer, Katheryn Applegate, Marian Ballard, leave a Latin Pony to Mr. Greenstreet so that he won't get gray-headed from working out his daily lessons.

Glen Anderson and Don Birsinger leave a life-size portrait of themselves to be hung in the hall with the inscription, "What the well-equipped high school should have."

As Margaret Bryan seems always to be in such a terrible hurry, Tom Cherry, Helen Locker, Karl Holwager, Janice Mangas, and Ruth Rowles feel it their duty to leave her a scooter to help her along.

Amelia Powell and Ruth Ellen England leave their pick and instructions on gold mining to Jane Patrick so that Jane can go places and do things.

Violet Kidd, Frances Lefter, Marie Pendry, and Dorothy Wood leave a head and a pair of arms to Miss Morrell so that she can fix the statue in the library.

Frederick Shaffer leaves his seat in the Cozy Corner to Mark Davis.

Howard Estelle, Walter Bettner, and Elmer Pfenninger leave their Boy Scout Suits to three deserving Freshmen.

Imogene Spaugh leaves her curling iron to Myron Sears so that he may always have curly hair.

William and Carroll Malloy leave their popularity as twins to the next set that enters N. H. S.

Leona Hinkel, Anna Mae Rummel, Josephine Sutton, and Josephine Trout leave Miss Sipe to our lady's man, Freddie Goar.

James Ford, Ralph Renegar, and Millard Tully, will their ability to next year's football men and Herman Joines.

Eunice Ann Laughlin and Martha Llewelyn leave that famous selection "You Never Can Tell What A Red Head Will Do," to Mary Alice Kingston.

Logan Sumpter, Marlyn Lowery, Jesse Nicholson, Paul Anderson, and Harold Reeves leave one box of matches to "Weenick" Nicholson to help him in getting out of school.

Mary Ganger leaves her winning smile to Helen Pickering.

Ruth Paris, Maxine Carpenter, Thelma Cook, and Lillian Cornwall leave to Mr. Hodson a can of herring to be smoked when he feels the need for nonchalance.

Mary McDorman leaves her womanly stride to "Pete" Koons.

James Minnick wills his ability as a John Gilbert to Miss Pinnick to be used on future proteges.

Roger DeWitt, Casey Farthing, Robert Murray, and Marvin Rosaa leave one carton of "Lucky Strikes" to Mr. Bronson NOT to be smoked in school.

Five minutes after the reading of this will the lawyers of said will leave for South America.

POEM OF CLASS OF 1930

"Conquering Ever" as through life we go,
It matters not what the battle may be,
Whate'er the cause, we shall always know
That "Conquering Ever" means—VICTORY!

VICTORY! A word so prized by us all,
In the time we've been here, how its meaning has grown.
Remember this motto, "We're 'Conquering Ever',"
You are the victor, the vanquished has flown.

As time rolls onward in its endless flight,
And whate'er vocation shall be in life,
May our high school ambitions be realized,
And "Conquering Ever" our motto in strife.

Our eyes are turned to the future with hope,
For our happy school days may we never be sorry.
We're still "Conquering Ever," the prize lies before us,
A crown never fading, a kingdom of glory.

Leora Hinkle, '30.

SONG OF CLASS OF 1930

Our glad days are over that we've spent with you,
But we'll keep the standard of our school so true.
Though our days together now must pass away,
We'll remember always joys of High School days.

Chorus

Forward, forward, "Life" is calling to us,
We stand ready with a smile.
We will find the key to true success
And make our lives worth while.
Class of "Thirty" ever onward,
For our N. H. S. we'll try, so,
Farewell, farewell, to our days of High School,
We must say goodbye.

Soon we will be parting to our tasks we'll go,
If we are in far lands we'll oft return
To our friends in High School, friends for whom we yearn.

Written by Leona Hinkel
To the tune of the "Rotary Smile."

EXTRACTS FROM A SENIOR GIRL'S DIARY

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 9—Once more the portals of the great school of learning are swung open and I pick up my books and start to high school for my last year.

Sept. 11—Miss Harrison tells me of a freshman boy who signed up for Spanish and came next day prepared to fight a bull, toreador and all. These freshmen!

Sept. 14—I went to the keenest football game today. Our Trojans opened the season at Rushville with a 20-0 victory. "And what cute boys you have, Rushville," said little Marjorie Hinshaw. "All the more to flirt with you, my dear . . ."

Sept. 17—Joe Miles was arrested today for parking his gum on a fire plug—My, My—such carelessness!

Sept. 18—Mary M. Day tells me that it's the tired business men who romp and play and pay and pay.

Sept. 24—"Ikey" Miller confides in me. He says, "It's my red hair that gets these wimmen." Do yuh suppose it's so?

Sept. 26—My Heavens, these teachers! Mr. Bronson lectures all period that sleep is essential to health and then rudely wakes me up.

Sept. 27—Mr. Leslie tells me he is conducting a yo-yo contest. Who'll be captain of the first team? Donn Nicholson probably will hold the strings.

Sept. 28—Today we went to Muncie to witness a fray between the Trojans and Bearcats. Score 6-6. And when the gun "popped" the Trojans were on their two yard line—life's like that!

OCTOBER

Oct. 1—The first day in October. School is getting to be a bore to me. Awfully dead. Of course things will pick up.

Oct. 12—Anderson football game here. N. H. S. 27—A. H. S. 0. Our team is just naturally good. I guess that we are too good for our opponents.

Oct. 17—Today is the Teachers' Convention. First vacation of the year. Three cheers and a rah! I'm going to Indianapolis, so don't expect any more entries for a while.

Oct. 21—I'm back in school again. Nothing exciting as yet, but it can't be long.

Oct. 25—Don Birsinger is caught flirting with the Freshman girls. What is this strange power he has over women? I am wondering what it is.

Oct. 27—Every one goes to Sunday School, without a doubt! (I hope).

Oct. 31—Hallowe'en. I washed my face and went to a party. Someone stole the cider. I suspect Roland Selke.

NOVEMBER

Nov. 8—I went to the first basketball game—Hagerstown—21-20—our favor. It was very exciting as for proof, I take one glance at the score.

Nov. 11—At noon I heard the whistles, and someone told me that this is Armistice Day.

Nov. 13—Bobby White told me he was sending his letter to Santa early. He said, "The early bird gets the worm." But who wants a worm? I want a new dress.

Nov. 16—Charles McDorman told me he couldn't sit down—I wonder—could the report cards have anything to do with it?

Nov. 20—I wonder what has become of all the yo-yos? I can't find one anywhere.

Nov. 27—Thanksgiving vacation begins today. I guess I'll break my eighteen-day diet, and eat tomorrow.

Nov. 28—Thanksgiving and I'm thankful Thanksgiving comes only once a year. Indigestion, and what haven't I?

DECEMBER

Dec. 1—There are twenty more shopping days till Christmas. I'm not shopping, but I sure hope dad is.

Dec. 6—Big Pep Meeting. And I yelled my head off. Everyone felt good.

Dec. 9—This is another Blue Monday. They are getting quite frequent. I feel like the morning after the night before.

Dec. 13—Friday 13th. Everyone avoids black cats and ladders. Now I wonder, "Are they superstitious?" I'm sleepy—Goodnight, Diary.

Dec. 20—Muncie-New Castle Basketball game, 9-7. Too bad—some day we'll show 'em. Christmas vacation begins and is everyone thrilled? Just ask me!

Dec. 25—Christmas. I got loads of presents. Everyone was feeling liberal.

Dec. 31—Last day in 1929, which is gone but not forgotten.

JANUARY—1930

Jan. 1—Sorry I've neglected you, Diary, but I've been busy celebrating the New Year.

Jan. 6—I came back to school today after Christmas vacation. Stafford Zerr, I see, is sporting a new red tie.

Jan. 13—Class officers were elected today: Van Nuys, Pres.; Zerr, Vice-Pres.; Marley, Secretary, and Burk, Treasurer. I think they are first-rate.

Jan. 21—Exemptions were read today. We're all mad, especially Don Moore. For some reason, he found his name missing from the list.

Jan. 22—Exams. start. And now we're madder. I sure fooled somebody. I forgot to come to one of my exams.

Jan. 23—To be different I took a few more exams. Billy Thoman told me that he flunked two exams today because he was so worried about flunking the one he had the day before.

Jan. 24—Reports out at 1:00 P. M. At 1:05 I saw several stampeding to make reservations for next semester. Charles McGinnis said he wouldn't come back if he couldn't have the same sleeping hours he had this semester. Well, diary, I guess I won't get any sleeping hours at all if I don't close this and retire.

FEBRUARY

Feb. 7—Esther Hall told me that the Juniors were going to have a Prom. I hope they have as good a time arranging it as we did.

Feb. 8—Rosennial staff was announced today. Parker told me that Pence and Clift are mad at each other already.

Feb. 14—Gang of us kids celebrated in a big way after the New Castle-Muncie game. Of course we won! I'm so happy, Diary.

Feb. 17—I went to a senior meeting today. Colors, flower, motto chosen. Miss Pinnick announced the name of the class play, "Mary Jane's Pa."

Feb. 22—Washington had a birthday today. We were dismissed for a holiday. (Saturday).

Feb. 28—Sectional tourney. And do those little towns have cute look-in' fellows? Although, I regret to say, we girls found some of them planting corn in the court house yard.

MARCH

March 3—Big thrill! Miss Pinnick picks cast for play. Someone's happy. But of course—not I.

March 6—Oratorical contest was held. And believe me! I heard some good speeches. Mr. Wallace makes statement that he intends to become a nationally known orator.

March 8—Today has been a thriller, Diary. Two Muncie games, a show and a big feed. Yes, you guessed it, the Muncie Regional.

March 13—Mary McDorman reports to the Student Council that $1.60 profit was made on the handbooks. Mr. Goodwin is seen sporting new clothes. However, he didn't confide in me as to where he got the funds. But I imagine I could guess.

March 28—Spring vacation starts today. Elizabeth Black wonders why these mothers always manage to clean house during vacations. I saw her cleaning windows very diligently.

APRIL

April 1—April Fool's Day. I believe students are actually growing up for the simple reason that there were no pranks played in school. (No school).

April 12—I went to the Track Meet with Muncie here. Now you're supposed to guess who won, Diary.

April 14—'Nother senior meeting. More announcements made and I've got work to do. (Fashioned after M. Chambers).

April 15—Eight more weeks of school. The freshmen are rejoicing—but I wish I were only a junior.

April 20—Easter Sunday. I heard Mr. Hodson was caught hunting Easter eggs in his back yard.

MAY

May 7—Stage managers, namely Red Renegar and Ramah Gorman, standing on heads looking for that one piece of scenery. They'll find it, I hope by May 8.

May 8—First performance of Mary Jane's Pa to be given tonight. I anticipate an excellent play.

May 9—I saw the play last night, and it was a big success. Miss Pinnick and Willard McGuire announced that they have signed a big contract with Hal Roach.

May 23—I attended Prom this evening. I must admit that the Juniors outdid us in their Prom. That's the nicest thing I could say about it.

May 29—I wore my new outfit to Class Day exercises.

May 31—Baccalaureate. I was very much impressed by the good sermon, and I enjoyed every minute of it.

JUNE

June 5—All arrayed in my commencement dress, I marched forth to get my diploma tonight, and believe me, I was proud of it. Goodbye, Happy School Days.

ON TOLERANCE

The fact is often overlooked that there are really two kinds of tolerance, almost as contrary to each other as cold and warmth. The first kind, the easy, worthless and sometimes dangerous kind of tolerance is based on indifference. It is easy for those who believe nothing to be for bearing in regard to the beliefs and misbeliefs of others.

The indifferent attitude does not always come from lack of conviction, but from pride and self sufficiency with which certain opinions are held. The least admirable American trait of self satisfaction based on imperfect information. The man whose tolerance comes from a superiority complex bears on his face an outward sign: a smile, a cool, lofty, supercilious tolerant, intolerant smile. With it he meets all objections, mocks at all reasons and dismisses the case.

The trouble with this kind of tolerance is that it is cold all the way through. It never leads to a better understanding. It never makes friendships between men of different creeds and parties. A firm and fixed believer, one whom all arguments can not change is easier to get along with than a cold tolerator.

Real tolerance is based not on indifference but on sympathy. Therefore it is not cold, but warm. It is a recognition of something in the other man which you can not help liking and respecting. The root of it is a sense of mutual comprehension and natural fellowship.

Some one asked Charles Lamb if he did not hate a certain person. "Why no," he said. "I know him, don't I? I never hate anyone that I know." Theodore Roosevelt in explaining how he managed to get along with two men who were generally disliked said that the one although he was a schemer and never agreed with him there was one thing about the man that he had found to admire. Whenever he made a promise, which wasn't often, he kept it no matter what the cost.

The other man, called by most people a hard boiled boss of the ancient type, had a very tender place in his heart for the welfare of the Indians. One of his last requests was that his friends be cared for. That was something to honor in the man.

Sympathetic tolerance might bring about a better understanding between the different nations of the world. It might settle labor disputes, quarrels and misunderstandings.

People are too prone to take all they hear at its face value, especially something detrimental. Everything has its good points. If this were recognized more often than the pessimistic view that everything has its dark side there would be a better understanding manifested.

The student who goes to school with that cold tolerance gets little or nothing out of it. While the sympathetic tolerance who understands the efforts that have been made to give him that privilege will be benefited greatly.

A few practical suggestions on cultivating the spirit of sympathetic tolerance: Live by admiration rather than by discust. Judge other people by their best not by their worst. Cheerfully give to others the same liberty we claim for ourselves.

Elizabeth Black.

A RAINY DAY

The rain is here again to spend the day.
The clouds burst open to reveal their rage,
Farmers who in this way will gain their wage
Rejoice, while other folks are in dismay.
They love rain for they know that in this way
Mother ature carries out the old adage,
Which through the times has proved to be so sage,
That both the sun and rain must make the hay;
While in the city all the folks will sigh
Because they cannot see the good rain brings
They think it only keeps them from their glee
But were it not for rain the world would die,
Flowers would wilt, the birds would cease to sing,
There'd be no life, my friend, for you or me.

Lucile True.

“WORK”

When there is work we should begin to do
Should we shirk at any labor great or small,
Or should we do it just for one or all,
Or should we do it just for him or you,
That in your eyes we would become true-blue?
Should we run and hide when we hear work call,
Or should we work until night's shadows fall,
Or should we work in order to be true?
I implore of you which way is the best
Do we work continuously or do we rest,
To our day's task do we have to be led,
Do we all labor as hard as we may,
Or do we let ourselves slow up a day,
Or in our work are we always ahead?
