

THE ROSENNIAL

1933

FOREWORD

As we, the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-three, step forward and take our places in that endless caravan which fills the highway of life, our high school days become more and more dear to us as we progress farther along in our journey. May this book serve as an oasis in which we may spend pleasant hours of reminiscence.

Published by the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-Three of New Castle
High School.

DEDICATION

He who gives himself gives all. For seventeen years there has been at the head of our school a man whose every thought has been for the betterment of education in New Castle.

Few students realize or perhaps appreciate the service this lovable man has rendered to the schools of New Castle. He is not only a good school executive but also a leader in community affairs.

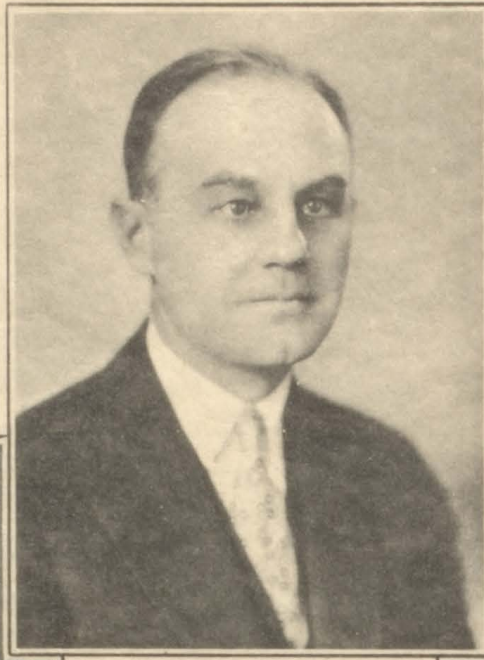

He is known as a man of integrity, perseverance, and courage. His unbounded enthusiasm and ready cooperation for measures proposed for the betterment of the schools and community have placed him forever in the hearts of the townspeople.

To our beloved superintendent Edgar J. Llewelyn we, the Class of 1933, dedicate this book.

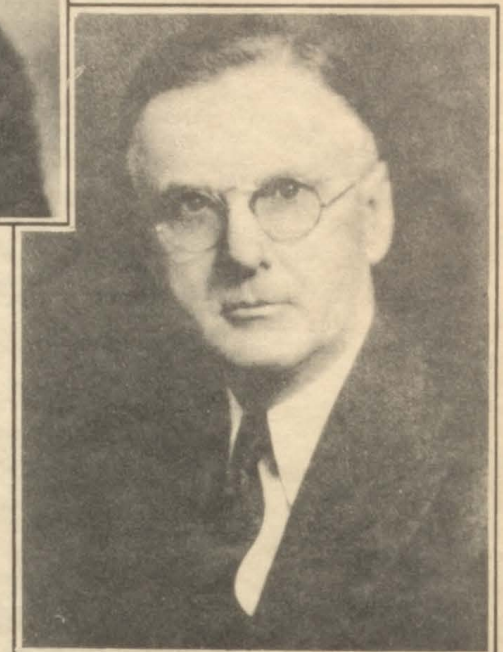

A.B. Earlham College 1907; A.M. Indiana University 1910; Advanced Work at Columbia and Harvard; Town and City Superintendent Since 1898; Superintendent at New Castle Since 1917.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES

The three men who have in their control the administration of school affairs in New Castle have been able by their constant efforts to maintain an educational system of high standard in the face of a perplexing economic situation. We cannot pay too high a tribute to their tact and fine business administration.

Principal Roy H. Valentine

By his patient kindness and by his pleasant manner Mr. Valentine has established himself in the hearts of the students of N. H. S. as a sympathetic friend who is ever ready to help them. Mr. Valentine's constant endeavors to help students and faculty members have contributed much toward making our high school days pleasant and profitable.

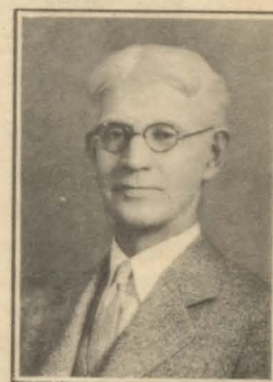

DEANS

Possessing a sympathetic understanding of the problems and difficulties which confront a school boy or girl, the four deans are adequately equipped to their perplexities. The wisdom and keen discernment of the deans have instilled in the students a high regard for these four people.

SENIOR SNAPS

YE CLASS OF '34

In the years of 1914-1917 when the World War was waging between nations, another war, that of the Juniors of 1933, was also begun and has been waging up to now.

We started to school and gained academic knowledge until the great crash of 1930. There was also a depression in the house of Trojans when the Freshmen of 1930 sauntered under its roof

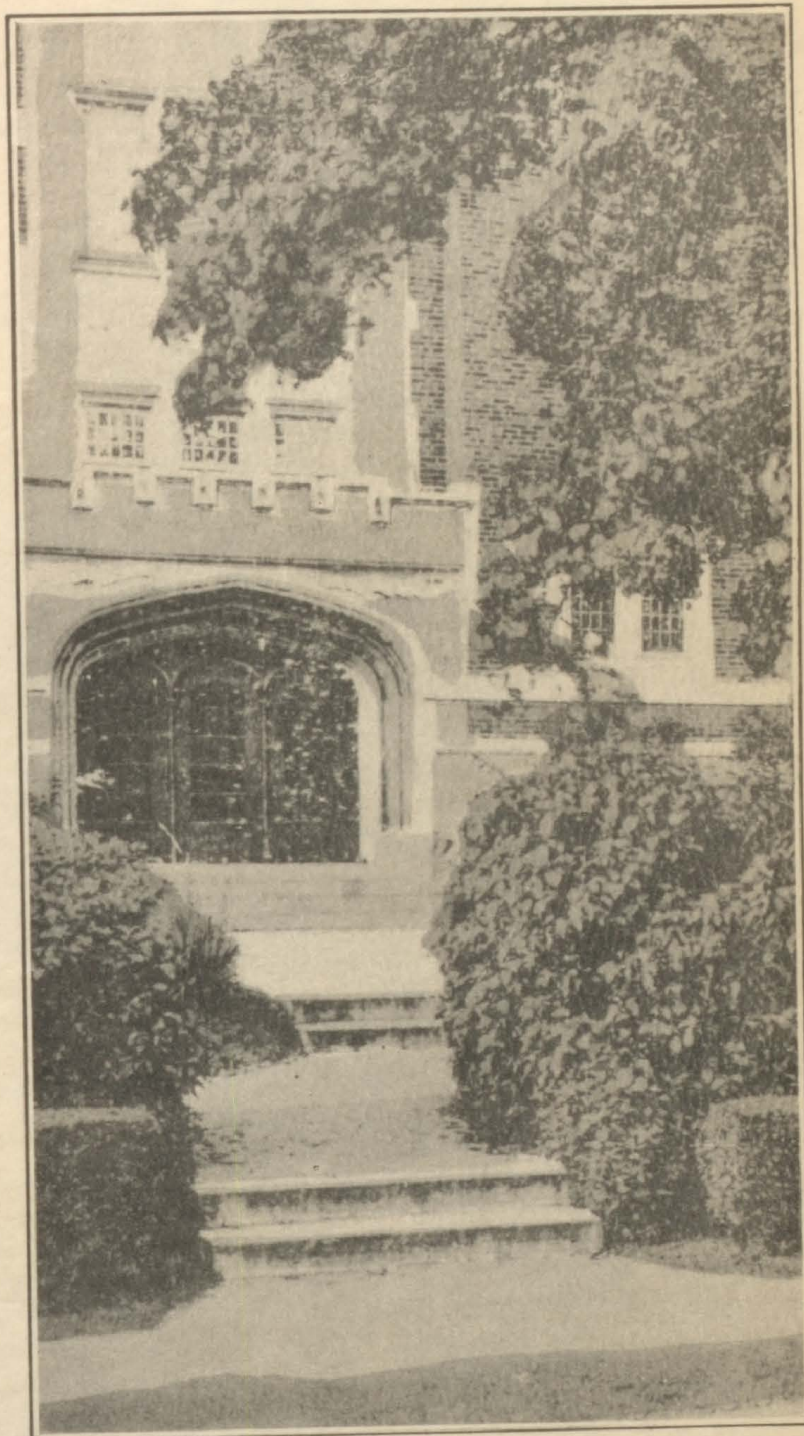

But now as we draw near the close of our Junior and enter upon our Senior year, we have great confidence. We feel sure the depression will end because there will be a new administration in the affairs of our school.

We are justly proud of our class. Many of our members will be long remembered for their outstanding athletic performances.

A number of our "jolly juniors" have been on the Phoenix staffs and the class is represented in every activity.

Some day despite your scorn and contempt for us now, you may be led by the guidance of a president and other national officials from our great class.

FRESHMAN CLASS

This way please. Don't crowd!
Don't push! There're four years to get to the top.

My dear upper classmen, on this our first floor of learning we pause to ask, "Have we been good freshmen?"

Have we been as lowly and humble as our superiors would have us and have we shown them enough deference and respect? We hope so.

Before ascending we offer up this little prayer — Dear guiding star may we upon reaching the fourth floor have gained as much prestige as have our worthy upper classmen.

All aboard for the second floor, our Sophomore year. Move over upper classmen we're coming up.

ACTIVITIES

ROSENNIAL

Are we going to have a Rosennial? Many times this question was asked and many different suppositions advanced. But at the third Senior meeting of the year the question was settled by a vote which definitely decided in favor of a Rosennial. At the next Senior meeting Miss Lillian Chambers, faculty sponsor of the Rosennial, announced the appointment of Mary Alice Tapscott and Margaret Barnard editors and Tom Swain business manager. The following day the entire staff was announced and work was begun immediately.

The task of publishing an annual to meet the standards of previous ones, with funds which had been practically cut in half as compared to last year seemed unsurmountable.

However with the experience of Miss Chambers, the perseverance of the editors and business manager plus the enthusiasm of the staff this Rosennial is given to you.

SOCIETY HEARS PROF. BRYAN

"SCIENCE AND HUMAN AFFAIRS" SUBJECT OF SPEECH
BY I. U. PRESIDENT

Doctor William Lowe Bryan, president of Indiana University spoke to the Science society, juniors and seniors Wednesday, February 1. His subject was "Science and Human Affairs."

"Practically all of the important modern scientific discoveries are the work of Americans," Doctor Bryan stated. He gave as examples the machine gun, the armored battleship, the airplane, the telephone and telegraph, improved methods of sanitation, serum treatments for several diseases and many other important things. "Everyone, or nearly everyone thinks scientifically today. There is only one thing lacking—no one has applied scientific methods to human affairs," he said. He also pointed out that our laws would be more effective if the legislative bodies would consider science.

Doctor Bryan is well known throughout the United States as an educator and psychologist. He has been called the most versatile man in American education, and has proved (Turn To Page Three)

SECTIONAL PLAN IS ANNOUNCED

In order to make complete and definite plans for the sectional basketball tourney, R. H. Valentine formed a list of twelve questions involving officials, times, lodgings, and meals which he has sent to the competing teams.

Mr. Valentine also announced that county teams have been invited to witness the New Castle-Washington encounter Saturday night.

The list of questions are as follows:

1. Is Mr. Warren Smith, Y. M. C. A. Physical Director, satisfactory for official time keeper?
2. Is Robert Stranahan, Courier-Times Sports Writer, satisfactory for official scorer?
3. You will be expected to furnish someone to check the timer and games. Is this satisfactory?

DO YOU INHALE?

Not long ago, a little boy I know, about six years old, casually remarked that he always smoked Chesterfields. "Goodness!" I thought. "What is this younger generation coming to?" And for the first time in my life, I began to think seriously of that problem which every young person of today must face sooner or later. (Usually it's sooner). To smoke or not to smoke—that is the question.

Practically every normal boy has at some time or another, excitedly slipped to the garage with some cigarettes, a pipe and some matches, and

Phoenix—First Semester

The Phoenix is the weekly representative journal of N. H. S. Within its sheets are published, by active staffs chosen each semester from the Journalism 32A Class, a resume of curricular, social, and athletic activities and in addition, numerous ambiguous but necessary jokes and other articles of common interest.

Being a member of the Indiana High School Press Association and also connected with the Quill and Scroll Society, it is necessary that the literary standards of the paper come up with the requirements of these bodies.

Despite the economic conditions of the year the finance of the paper has so far remained stable. There were thirteen issues during the semester.

Phoenix—Second Semester

Due to a large Journalism 32 class, an effort was made to accommodate everyone by the formation of two distinct staffs, each to publish the Phoenix every other week. The plan was successful for, besides giving experience, it enabled the budding journalists to gather much interesting data for their respective issues and a state of friendly rivalry sprang into being, thereby benefiting the subscribers in the presentation of some excellent issues.

The Journalism "31" or the cubs published, as is customary every semester, one issue of the Phoenix, the two main staffs turning out six issues a piece.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the representative student governing body of Newcastle High School.

The duties of the Council are: to charter other student organizations, to help keep order in the school, to suggest or make as many improvements as are needed, to promote school activities, and to arouse enthusiasm among the students of N. H. S.

In past years the Council, with the aid of its faculty advisor, Mr. William E. Jones, has been able to bring about several improvements.

The Council bids fair to carry on in the future as it has in the past and to improve and enlarge its scope to greater and larger achievements.

THE LEATHER LUNGS

The purpose of this organization is to promote interest in the athletic teams of N. H. S. and to support and encourage the boys who are giving their best to maintain the high position our school has already attained in high school athletic circles.

This organization was first formed in 1925 by Robert Baker '27. From a small beginning, it has grown to a membership of about 200. At the end of each year a banquet is given in honor of the members of all athletic teams, coaches, and those who have charge of the direction of affairs.

The officers are: President, Charles Bolinger; Vice-President, Duane Hall; Treasurer, George Wittenbeck. The faculty sponsors are Mr. Fessler and Mr. Leslie.

First row: B. Raber, R. Wilson, A. Wallace, M. Hupp, B. Bouslog, M. Wheat, M. Curry, A. Baker, M. Shultz, H. Pickering.

PEP'ERS

Hail the Pep'ers! For a more enthusiastic group is hard to find.

Who are they? For shame. They're that bunch of girls one always sees at the football games, no matter what the weather, selling pop, candy, and hot dogs.

This year in spite of the small crowds at athletic meets the Pep'ers, supported by the faculty sponsor Mrs. Eden, have come out ahead.

They're always there to boost the team in any sport—be it basketball or football. They can be heard yelling, perhaps a bit in an upper key nevertheless boosting the Trojans.

CLASS PLAY

"A Lucky Break" was the title of the three act comedy presented by the cast from the class of "33."

The plot deals with the return of John Bruce, a prodigal son, to his boyhood haunts and the entanglements that ensue when he attempts to buy a plot of land which, known only to himself and his Manager Martin, contains fine deposits of China clay. Abner, owner of the property who plans to turn the grounds into a cemetery, refuses to sell. John after many tribulations not only gets control of the property, but also marries Nora, daughter of the hotel proprietor.

Tommy, the painter finally elopes with Claudia much to Mrs. Barrett's dismay. The characterization of Martha Mullet, Abner Ketcham, Benny Ketcham, Mrs. Barrett, Martin, Var and Jura Charente were excellently given.

The comedy element was especially good. Benny, Bella, Alchiba and Alphecca Spinster and Elmine were those guilty of throwing the audience into peals of laughter.

THE SCIENCE SOCIETY

The Science Society is an organization of students interested in the analytical study of their surroundings.

It is the purpose of this society to bring the members, constituting its body, into contact with the practical fields of science. This contiguity is accomplished through the medium of lectures given by men learned in their respective fields, touching upon pathology, chemistry, engineering, mathematics, and kindred sciences.

The association has been honored this year in having several prominent men deliver erudite discourses among whom was Dr. Bryan, President of Indiana University.

The fifty members of the 1932-33 sessions have as their able officers:

Tom Swain.....	President
Gerald Kern.....	Vice-President
Mary E. Kennedy.....	Secretary
Lester Hiatt.....	Treasurer

The sponsors of the society are: Mr. Bronson, Mr. Gross, Mr. Hodson, Mr. Jones, Miss Pinnick, Miss Fern Hodson, Mr. Harrell, and Mr. Logan.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club is an organization composed of high school girls who have common interest in vocal music.

This group, directed by Miss May Dorsey, participated in the annual Music Festival at Ball State Teachers' College in Muncie. At its second public appearance of the year, the Glee Club assisted with several numbers in the Senior Baccalaureate Services.

Some of the selections chosen for study this year were: "The River" by Sinn, "Nightfall" by Franz Liszt, "Big Brown Bear" by Mana-Zucca, "English Gardens" by Grainger, "Those Evening Bells" by Loomis, and "God's Treasures" by Sibelius.

First row: Jimmy Salatin, Marjorie Teetor, Florence Rynerson, Madonna Mullenix, Dorothy Morrell, Margaret Alice Riley, Deloss Donham.
 Second row: Vernon Hill, Duane Cable, Marjorie Pierce, Flora Osborn, Roscoe Matney.
 Third row: Robert Markley, Jonathan Stamm, George Whittenbeck, Eugene Teetor, Virgil McClain, Miss Mae Dorsey.
 Fourth row: Paul Hastings, Joseph Tapscott, Leroy Woodard, Richard Shock, Loring Lorton.

ORCHESTRA

The Newcastle High School orchestra under the capable direction of Miss May Dorsey is composed of boys and girls who are interested in music.

The aims of the orchestra are: to create an appreciation and sympathetic understanding of music in the student body and to help each member to become proficient on his instrument.

Some of the activities for which the orchestra played were the Annual Music Festival at the Ball State Teachers' College in Muncie, the Class Play, Class Day, and Commencement.

Never before in the history of the school has the musical ability of the members been of such high standard.

Madonna Mullenix was awarded a scholarship to the National High School Music Camp which meets in the summer of 1933, at Interlochen, Michigan.

The Senior Hi-Y Club was organized in N. H. S. in 1928; its sole purpose being to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

At the time of organization it consisted of approximately fifteen boys. However, through the able leadership of Mr. William E. Jones, faculty sponsor, and Julius Thorn, Y.M.C.A. sponsor, the membership has steadily increased until now sixty-one boys are enrolled.

The credit for the progress made by the club in the past year belongs to its student officers of the first and second semesters.

FOREIGN RELATIONS CLUB

The Foreign Relations Club, which was organized in 1929 with Miss Feryl Sipe as sponsor, recently has become one of the progressive activities of our school.

The main purpose of the club is to acquaint the members with the affairs of other countries—both civic and social.

This year the club was fortunate in securing for its programs many interesting and well-informed speakers. The members have derived great benefits from the meetings both intellectually and socially.

Having grown from a group of four to a group of twenty-two, this organization has a bright future in which it will continue to be an outstanding and active club.

TONGUE TWISTERS

The Tongue Twisters, originally a class club sponsored by Miss Bryan, head of the Public Speaking department, was organized for the purpose of promoting and stimulating an interest in Public Speaking; however because of the desire of other students at the beginning of the school year of 1932, membership was extended. After permission was obtained from the student council for the existence of such a club a constitution was drawn up and definite plans laid for the future.

This year the club has had many interesting programs and has carried on successfully and in a creditable manner intramural oratorical contests.

Mr. Orville Hooker who has been the coach of Newcastle High School Athletics for the past eight years has had a most successful record. We feel that the following figures speak for themselves. They are a compilation of the football, baseball and basketball games since he has been with us.

Much credit should go to Allen. A man that is well liked and one who works hard in assisting Hooker. He has charge of the Trojan Colts and does much in developing them for the varsity squad.

HOOKER

Hooker is a real coach and is well known throughout the state. He is loved and admired by everyone who knows him. He sets a fine example for his boys to follow. A man in whom we trust and one who is a real leader of boys.

BAKER

Maurice Baker a former football star is assistant football coach. In addition to this he has complete charge of the Freshman squad. He, too, is a hard worker for the good of N. H. S. Athletics.

ATHLETIC COACHES

The 1932-33 basketball team completed its season with eleven wins and nine loses. All of which is quite commendable when one stops to think that the team was not only inexperienced to varsity competition but also was doing its best to defend a State Championship crown. Defending a State Title is by no means an easy task for any team.

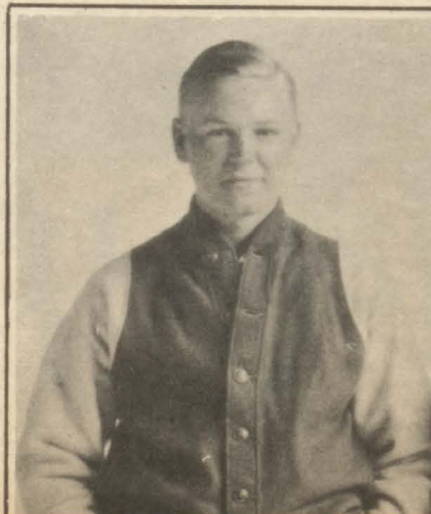

Wherever the team played this year it was looked upon as the State Champions of 1932, and consequently all opposing teams were keyed and pointed to win over the Trojans.

The team this year consists of only three seniors, namely; Don Fields, Dick Manning and Billy Thoman.

Next year's squad under the capable direction of Coach Hooker and Assistant Coach Allen should again be one of the State's leading contenders.

Russell Baker

Bob White

First row: Warren Thomas, Hathaway Krausbauer, Gene Van Hoose.
 Second row: George Ballard, Allen Nichols, Carl Sayne.
 Third row: Max Van Hoose, Lyle Redleman, Vernon Tutterow, Arnold Wallen.

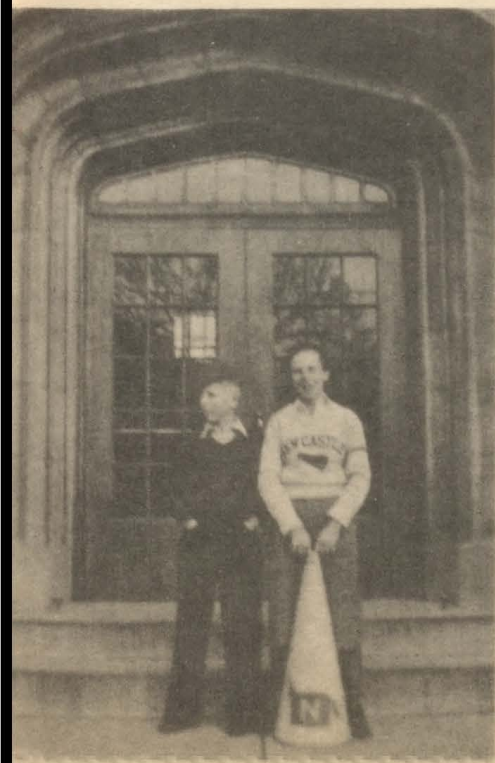

The Trojan Colts under the direction of Wilbur Allen made a very creditable showing during the 1932-33 season. The team was composed of sophomores and juniors and did much in the way of building material for the varsity team.

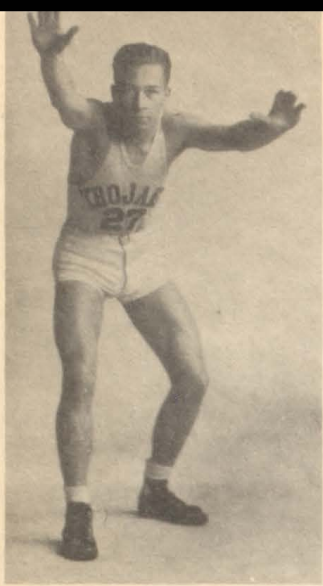

The colts have given to the varsity squad such men as Jim La Mar, Fred Blum and Charles Meyers.

During the season the team was entered in the tournament held at Anderson. Although the team was not successful in winning the tournament, the members of the team received a lot of playing experience.

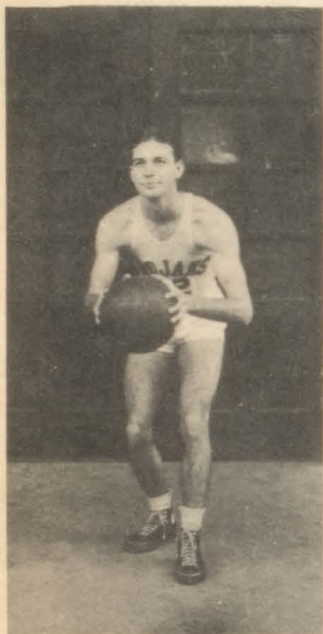

A lot of credit should be given to the members that make up the Colts. It is they that work hard night after night and at the same time furnish the varsity opposition during practice sessions.

Joe Wallace and
 Jean Krenzer

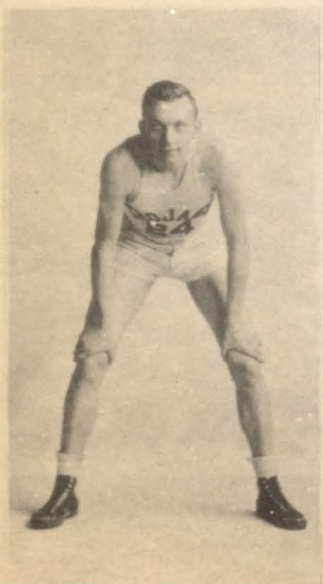

Don Fields, guard. Don is a senior and one whom we are sorry to lose. Always trying.

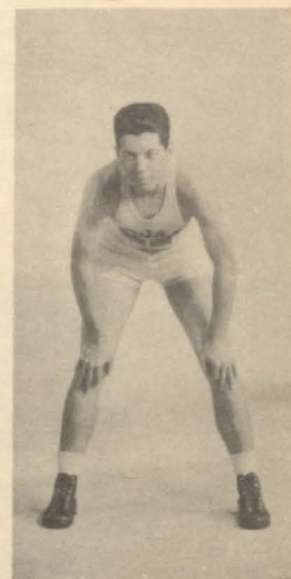

Howard Dungan, guard. Howard played a fine game of basketball all season and will surely be at his best next year.

Billy Thoman, forward. Billy's basketball eye was uncanny, and he will long be remembered for his great performances and fine sportsmanship. We lose him this year.

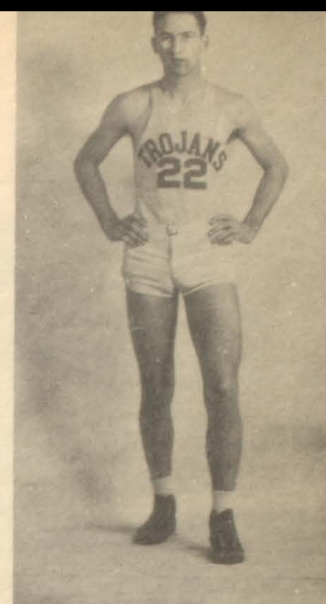

Emmett Smith, forward. Emmett although small has plenty of fight and pep. Is a real player.

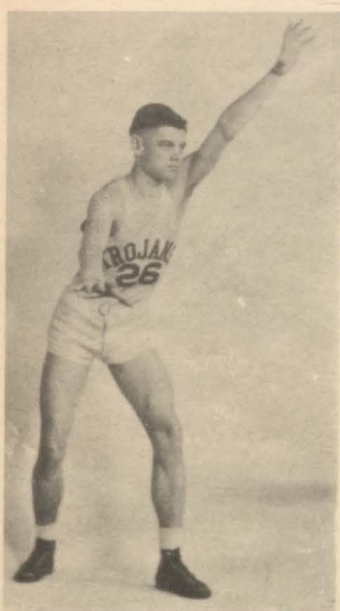

Dick Manning, forward. Dick could always be depended upon for his defensive ability. Dick is a senior.

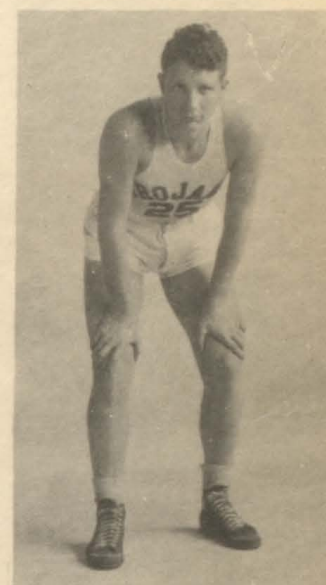

Harry Stevens, forward. Steve is a newcomer to our school. He has been a regular most of the year and has made a fine record.

Jim La Mar, center. Jim is a junior and has another year to play. We wish him success.

Charles Myers, guard. Charles has great possibilities. He will be in there next year fighting for a position.

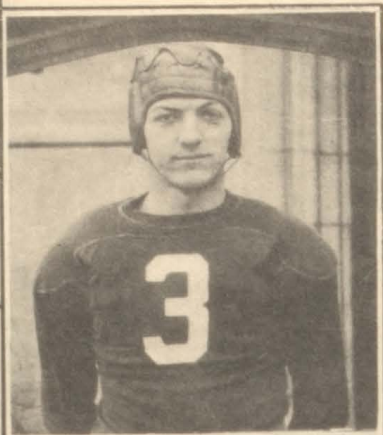

Marvin Huffman, guard. Marvin is our freshman and has three years yet to play. A fellow one likes to know.

Fred Blum, forward. Fred is a junior and will be in there next year. A fine fellow.

FOOTBALL

The 1932 football team was composed mainly of inexperienced men with a few veterans rounding out the squad. Nevertheless, it was an eager and hardworking bunch that labored under the eyes of coaches Hooker and Baker, and even though they were pitted against stronger and heavier teams, and were constantly beset by the injury jinx, they always showed that famous Trojan spirit and opponents could expect a great fight on their hands from start to finish.

Because of injuries the team was never able to play at its full strength, Baker Krausbauer, and Manning finally being forced to discontinue.

It was in the Anderson game that the Trojans reached their greatest heights when they played the highly touted Indians, who were expected to win by four or five touchdowns, to a 6-6 tie.

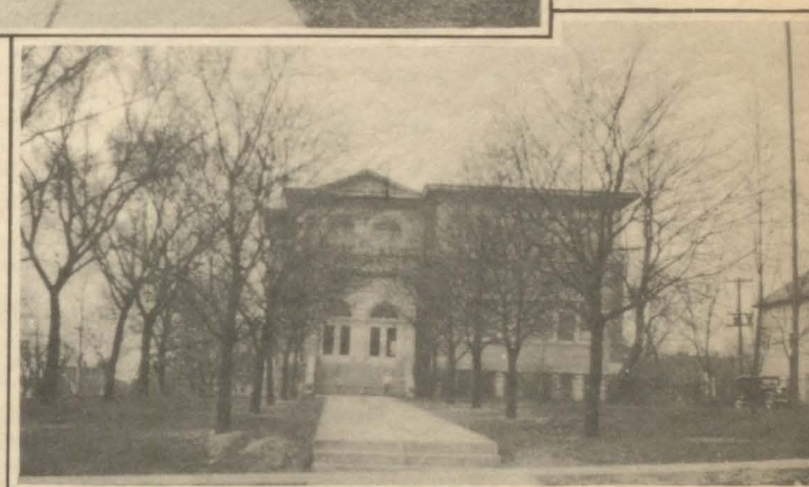

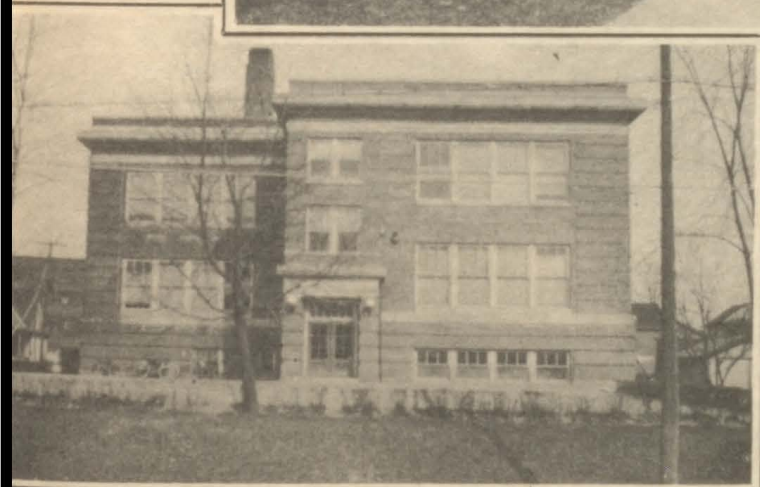

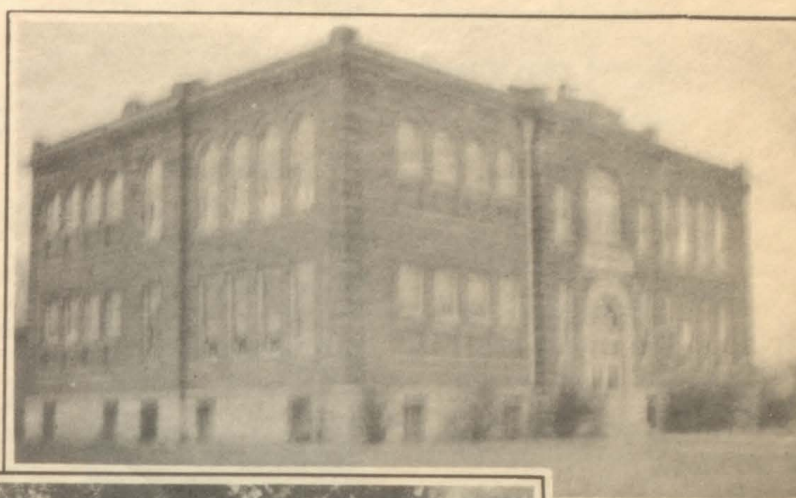

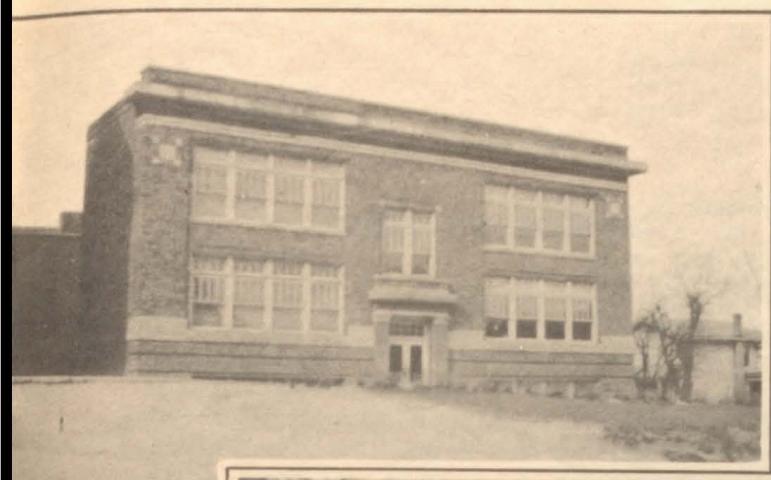

Nine players will be lost by graduation, these being Murray, Manning, Shirk, Brookshire, Livezey, S. Baker, Councilor, Watson and Fibley. Those remaining are Thomas, L. Mar, Myers, Collier, Wallen, Ellis, Dyer, Smith, Krausbauer, Hiatt, R. Baker, Van-Hoose, Nichols, Kendall and White.

OUR BEGINNING

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Friends and fellow classmates:

We, the members of the class of '33, do most sincerely regret the closing of our high school activities. We realize that these have been the happiest days of our lives. Days of happiness which have been made possible only through the efforts of you underclassmen, faculty members, and parents, who have all so nobly contributed to our education.

Our high school education has extended over a period of time dating from September of 1929 to June of the year 1933. This has been a period of four short years, during which time we have established true friendships, not only among the underclassmen and faculty members but also among the citizens of Newcastle. Friendship is indeed an important factor both in the life of a high school student and in the life of every American citizen. We regard friendship in a similar manner as did A. B. Alcott, when he said, "A friendship formed in childhood, in youth,—by happy accident at any stage of rising manhood—becomes the genius that rules the rest of life."

Our class, which is composed of 151 students, is the largest graduating class in the history of Newcastle High School. This, in itself is an unusual honor for a class to possess.

Class of '33, the problems which confront us today are of the greatest importance, and if solved correctly will be the foundation of our success in later life. Let each of us put forth every conceivable effort to solve these problems. For after all, it is through one's own individual efforts that he ultimately reaches the goal of success.

CHARACTERS

Mary Kennedy—Owner of Waddle Duck Farm. Home for Retired Lame Ducks.

Ruth Cowan—Famous Soprano Singer.

Mae Copeland—Director of Children's Bible Classes.

Martha Durham—Private Secretary to Mr. W. E. Jones.

MARY K. I am so glad you are able to be here. I am having a few of the girls in for tea this afternoon.

RUTH C. It is a pleasure to be your guest I am sure.

MARY K. They will be here any minute.

Enter Martha and Mae—Greet guests and are seated.

MAE C. Oh, girls, have you heard the latest about Charles Bolinger and Jack DeWitt who wanted to do something in a big way. They are bathing elephants in the Howard Kidd-Robert Brown Circus.

RUTH C. Speaking of circuses reminds me that Mildred Kinnett and Virginia Gregory are fat ladies in a side show and Janet Copeland, Lillian Smoot, and Martha French are snake charmers.

MAE C. And do you know that Mary A. Tapscott, the bareback rider, and Sylvester Tower the Toe-dancer, are employed in the same circus.

MARTHA D. I saw that circus in Millville the other day. I was attracted by the shouting of the circus barkers, Lester Hiatt and Bill Ricks, who were barking about the midget, John Lockhart.

MARY K. And speaking of barkers reminds me of politics. Guess who's running for president, Ruth Reece on the Republican ticket and Jack Rieck on the Technocratic ticket.

MAE C. The only politics I know is that C. J. Baker is talking himself in and out of office.

MARTHA D. Yes, and on my way over here Dorothy Harlow asked me to vote for Paul Grunden who is running for mayor of Springport. She is campaigning for him.

MARY K. And Earl Fribley is doing his bit for Springport by making stump speeches advocating the gathering of rubbish at least twice a week.

MARTHA D. Talking about cleanliness reminds me that Herchel Hagner has a cleaning and pressing shop in the jungles of Africa. I wonder is his business rushing?

RUTH C. On my way here I saw from my train window an artistic billboard advertising "Catchum and Skinnum" real estate dealers who are Enid Ogborn, Elizabeth Mory, and Anna Mettert and guess who painted that sign—Margaret Barnard. By the way what happened to Mariellen Baldwin?

MAE C. Mariellen Baldwin and Earle Waters are comedians and are fast becoming rivals of Minnie and Mickey Mouse.

MARTHA D. I saw in the paper, "The Daily Dope" of Cadiz, edited by Clara Cruea, that Tom Kerrigan, the great Physicist, has proved that red hair does not necessarily mean a hot temper. We wonder!

MARY K. Speaking of scientists I heard that Tom Swain was in Mexico working on the chemical analysis of revolution.

MARTHA D. Margaret Morford has followed in the footsteps of scientists as she is a research chemist searching for positive and negative protons.

MAE C. Our class's two noted scientists, Faye Long and Walter Sweigart, have recently completed an invention of household dummy. The dummy is run by electricity and will do all kinds of house work for weary house husbands. They can testify as to the dummy's efficiency as they have tried it in their own homes.

RUTH C. Not changing the subject, but did you know that Lulu Van Hoose, Gaynell Thomas, and Janet Stotlemeyer are planning to swim the English Channel hand-cuffed together. The previous year's championship was won by Lois Hall and Rebecca Lovell.

MARY K. Speaking of impossibilities, Gene Wallace is teaching Psychology at Harvard and John Kern is teaching Industrial Arts.

MAE C. Raymond Brookshire and James Clinton are doing Social and Educational work in the Phillipines teaching the little barbarians how to think.

MARTHA D. Talking of faraway countries, while on my tour of the world I met Robert Norrick and he is superintendent of Perfect Circle Co., in Africa making piston rings for African Austins. Some of the workmen in the shop are Chester Lawell, Niles Livezy, John Dickens, and Gene Green.

RUTH C. Charles Rains and David Ricks are also in Africa writing love letters for the natives.

MARY K. I received a letter from Helen Pickering the other day and she and Mary L. Shultz and Virginia Trobaugh are in Africa as missionaries designing the latest Paris costumes for the African debutantes.

MARTHA D. Did you happen to see William Stepanek while on any of your trips?

RUTH C. Oh, yes, Bill and Sheldon Laugh are designing dresses in New York City. Are any of our other classmates in New York?

MAE C. Two other members of our class are in New York. Marie Beckett and Nila Wake. They have proved that women have come to their own. Nila and Marie are employed as bell hops in a hotel. Fred Davis has become an elevator boy in the same hotel and has a good chance for a raise.

MARY K. I was listening over the radio the other day and heard The New York "Sympathy" Orchestra, with Scott Bouslog conducting. Some specialties with orchestra were Sydney Baker singing "bury-tone" and Billy Wilhoite singing bass.

RUTH C. What happened to some of the other members of our class, for instance, Gerald Kern?

MARY K. Why haven't you hear? Gerald Kern has become a great politician advocating a 33rd amendment which would prohibit one-armed driving as a protection against accidents.

MARTHA D. Reckless driving reminds me of hospitals and Raymond Avery is financing a dog and cat hospital with Freda June Miller as head nurse. Gordon Counsellor is the janitor.

MAE C. Did you know that Bob McKown and Vernon Hill are making a clean sweep of everything? They are Newcastle's A No. 1 street cleaners and they sweep everything before them with one grand flourish.

MARTHA D. What happened to that Darling boy? What was his name? Oh, yes, Melvin.

RUTH C. He is manager for the world's heavy weight champion, Eugene Gann.

MARY K. I reserved tickets the other day for the automobile races at Indianapolis. Owner of race track is Deronda Carpenter. Some of the drivers are Jimmy Connerly, Dick Manning, and Lyle Thompson.

MAE C. Did you know that Don Ballard is president of the Newcastle Dramatic League and was responsible for the gathering of two famous actors, Burtis Martin and Maxine Wheat who impersonated character of Romeo and Juliet in modern Shakespearean Plays written by Margaret Garr, the modern playwright, at a luncheon given at the Plaza Hotel. Some of the other guests at this affair were Don Fields, mayor of our fair city, and his private secretary, Sue Day, one of today's successful financiers.

MARTHA D. Edna Ashley, Ruby Moles and Izona Bell maintain a Beauty Shop and as I stopped to make an appointment, much to my surprise, I saw George Osborn and Thornton Watson receiving a manicure and Dallas Lunsford, a marcel.

RUTH C. Noble McGinnis and Paul Murray are maintaining an Old Maids' Home. Helen Dittman was one of the occupants. Her favorite amusement was sitting by the fire with her knitting and a box of pop-corn.

MARY K. Talking of homes makes me think of the hospital for the insane which is run by Charles Shirk, Bill Clift, and Ward Hafner. One of the inmates is Junior Smith—insane from working Jig Saw Puzzles, and "Vigil" McClain, head warden in charge of the Padded Cell Department.

MAE C. I went to Maxwell on The Daily Limited and the conductor was Hans Erickson; while the car paused, all I heard was conversations about Bill Bettner who has become a renowned surgeon and he is called the Village Cut-Up of Maxwell.

MARTHA D. Mary Katherine Morris is owner of a chain of drug stores.

RUTH C. I saw an advertisement in the window of the drug store which stated that there was to be a Public Speaking contest. The contestants being Rosa Reed, Gladys Withers, and Alice Snell. Another announcement was that on Friday the 13th, Winifred Adams, Edythe Estelle, and Ruth Frampton are going to make a non-stop flight across Memorial Park Lake.

MAE C. The one and only possible rival of Greta Garbo—Jeanne Hudson, has recently been starred in the famous stage production, "The Pop-Corn Popper," directed by Grace Lennox and produced by Otis Smith-Willard Cox Picture Corporation. The lovers in the play were Howard Upham and Clyde Pollard.

MARY K. Billy Thoman, after studying under the guiding hand of Pete Jolly for some time, feels that he is now capable of taking Pete's place as coach of Muncie.

RUTH C. Robert Markley is principal of N. H. S. and Mary Crandall has replaced Mr. Leslie as History teacher.

MARTHA D. I attended the 1948 Follies in Chicago and some of the girls in the Follies were Dolly Daubenspeck, Nellie Dock, Dorothy Eilar, Ruth Ford, Marcella Groves, and Frances Lamb.

MAE C. Mary Shopp and Anna C. Wallace are employed in Newcastle Laundry ironing things out.

MARY K. George Dickey is now sheriff of Newcastle and Helen Knollman is his private secretary.

RUTH C. John Kendall is a successful radio announcer on the Stickless Cactus Plant Corporation Program. The Blues singer on the program is Margaret Ford.

MAE C. John Trout, Merle Sipple, Esther Hutson, and Homer Williams have formed a famous quartet.

MARTHA D. It has been nice seeing you again. You must come over and see me before you leave.

MAE C. Yes, do.

RUTH C. Thank you, I will.

MARY K. Come back again girls.

CLASS HISTORY

In the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine there entered into Newcastle High School two hundred eighty-six students known as Freshmen. We were overflowing with ambition, liveliness, and activeness, plus purity and innocence as the title conferred upon us implied.

Having ascended the "Ladder of Learning" thus far with flying colors, we were determined not to rest on the laurels won in previous years, but to add to them greater and better accomplishments.

In our quest for knowledge we found out that the life of a Freshman is fraught with many trials and tribulations. Especially so since the band of upperclassmen seemed to think that we were too confident and too sure of ourselves. But in a short time we were fortified with sufficient knowledge to resist the onslaughts of our most persistent agitators, a class of wild beings who were known as Sophomores. Having gained the respect of our superiors to a very small degree, we proceeded to set an example for future Freshmen, and to show the school that we were really worthy beings. Members making up the football squad gave much promise of developing into good varsity material in future years. In basketball we were represented by Billy Thoman who was a regular on the second team. The most significant feature of this year was our scholastic record. Not only were many members of the class on the honor roll, but the exceptionally high averages made us more outstanding.

After three months' respite we returned the following fall. In numbers we had decreased to two hundred nineteen, but in determination and desire we were as strong as ever. It seemed only natural that having advanced to the rank of Sophomore we take advantage of our position to impress upon the minds of the underclassmen the fact of our superiority. In an undefeated football season we were represented by the same group of stalwart athletes who had upheld the standard of N. H. S. the previous year. That year saw one of our members, Billy Thoman, gain a place as one of the regular five on the basketball team. Charles Shirk and Norman Reeves were student managers for the year. Gene Wallace gave us the chance to own a yell leader. In the Discussion League we were represented by Ruth Reece, who carried off local honors and represented the school in the county contest. Two of our members, Margaret Barnard and Billy Thoman, were accorded the high honor of being elected to the Student Council. Many of our members were active in the various organizations of the school.

After having successfully completed our Sophomore year, we were set free to enjoy the warm summer months and to prepare for our next step up the "Ladder of Learning."

The following September two hundred thirteen returned as Juniors. With a feeling of assurance and confidence we set out to carry our class to the fore in school activities. In another successful football season we were represented by Manning, Fribley, Livezey, Baker, Shirk, and Ricks. In basketball Billy Thoman (who immortalized a certain Muncie game) was one of the mainstays on the State Championship team. Gene Wallace was chosen as one of the yell leaders for the year. In the Hi-Y organization we possessed a leader Billy Thoman as vice-president. The Student Council elected Earl Fribley vice-president for the second semester.

Special mention must be made of the Junior-Senior Prom. Miss Fern Hodson was the faculty sponsor. The dance was held at the Y.M.C.A. The interest was heightened by novelty features and special attractions. We were glad to honor the Seniors and appreciated their cooperation in making this one of the most successful proms ever to be held.

Our entry into the Senior year was characterized by our never-dying determination and undaunted courage. With these we strove to set an example worthy of emulation. Our numbers had decreased to one hundred fifty-one, but as a group of dignified and sophisticated Seniors we easily led the way in activities of N.H.S. Charles Bolinger was elected president of the Leather Lungs, and Sara Margaret Sanders was elected president of the Pep'ers. The Student Council chose Noble McGinnis as president for the first semester and Lester Hiatt for the second semester. The Hi-Y elected Billy Thoman as president for the first semester and Tom Swain as its head for the second semester. Work on the annual was under the supervision of Mary Alice Tapscott, Margaret Barnard, and Tom Swain. In basketball Thoman, Manning and Fields represented the class. In football we were represented by Murray, Manning, Fribley, Watson, Baker, Shirk, Councillor, and Martin.

We organized for the first time as a class at the beginning of the second semester. Billy Thoman was elected president, Donald Field vice-president, Sara Margaret Sanders secretary, and Earl Fribley treasurer.

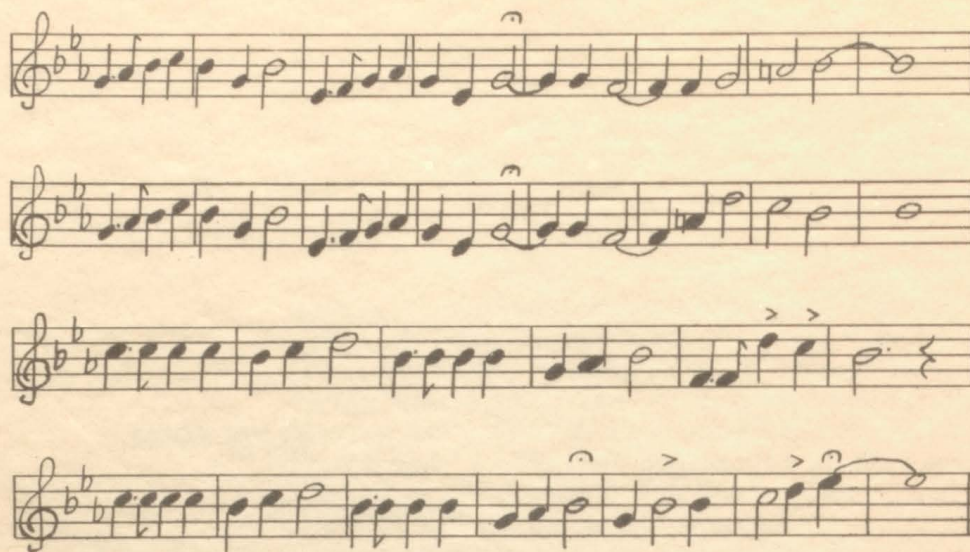

Our four glorious years of high school are completed and
Now as we go our separate ways,
Especial tribute we would pay
To those who labored days and days
To guide us up the narrow way.

Lester Hiatt

CLASS POEM

A ship is setting out to sea,
With a crew so staunch and fine,
Their goal, an unknown shore afar,
Will they succeed, this class of mine?
A stormy sea awaits them,
The ship is tossed about,
Will they succeed through danger?
Will they o'ercome the doubt?
The lightning's flashing sharply,
The thunder's pealing clear,
Pull hard and fast, my sailors,
For see, the shore is near!
And then at last the journey ends,
They've won, cannot you see?
They've reached the shore; they've found their goal,
This Class of Thirty-Three.

Janet Louise Copeland.

SCHOOL

Students of New Castle High
We, the seniors, say goodbye
To you and to our school
Fortune speaks, we heed the call
Life's mad fight absorbs us all
Let us strive to win the duel
With us we've our heritage
Books, their teachings page by page
To be our sword and our shield.
N. H. S. our armory,
Ever in our memory
Is thy vision sealed.

Hail to thee old N. H. S.
Hail to teachers and the rest
Quaff the nectar clear
Hail to friends we'll ne'er forget
Drink a toast to all that's best
And flick away that tear.

Now the parting of the ways
Enter we the hectic days
Of a stricken world
Seniors let us give our best
Graduates who'll never rest
'Til our last sure bolt is hurled.

Albert Arford, Raymond Avery, Don Rolland, W. Bettner, Charles Bolinger, Duane Cable, Gordon Councillor, and Willard Cox will a Jig Saw Puzzle to Maurice Crim to keep him busy in the study halls.

Robert Norrick leaves his chauffeur license to Bob Canaday so that he can bring the girls to school next year.

Paul Crunden the little Lord Fonteleroy of N. H. S. wills his quiet easy going manner to Hathaway Krausbaurer.

Sara Sanders, Virginia Trobaugh and Mary Lou Shultz the gold diggers of N. H. S. leave to Mary Katherine Goad and Josephine Butler a book entitled "How to get money out of men," by I-Chizzlem.

Vernon Hill, the boy that drives his car to school on the day of orchestra practice so that he will not have to carry his violin through town, wills his beloved instrument to some future Rubenoff . . .

Walter "Woo Woo" Sweigart, Merle Sipple and Monte Judkins leave a book entitled "Why I spent most of my life in High School" to Bob Elliott.

Nila Wake, the coquette of N. H. S. wills her ability to make eyes to Helen Crockett.

Wm. Ricks, Thornton Watson and Raymond Brookshire bequeath their football ability to Butch Hornaday and Barney Miller.

Anthony Vogel, the rowdy of N. H. S. leaves his boisterous ways to Duncan Waggener.

Melvin Darling wills his moustache to Parnell Kirby, knowing that's what he needs to become a first class shiek.

Ruby Moles, June Miller, Berneice Lyons, Rebecca Lovell, Grace Elizabeth Lennox, Frances Lamb and Mildred Kinnesett leave to Miss Pogue a hard toe shoe to be used in kicking Vernon Tutterow out of class.

Maxine Wheat wills her loud laugh to Mary Jo Crawford.

Mary K. Morris, Ruth Reece, Janet Stotelmeyer and Margaret Morford leave their Public Speaking and Argumentation ability to future Public Speaking students.

Dorothy Harlow leaves her ability to speak in class without thinking to Mildred West.

Billy Thoman, the Trojan Fire Chief, wills his fireman's hat to Marvin Huffman.

Lulu Van Hoose, Helen Knollman, Anna Mettert, Jeanne Hudson, Mable Griffith, Lois Hall, Virginia Gregory, Mae Copeland and Lois Hall, the romance seekers of N. H. S. leave a dozen copies of love stories to the school library.

Deronda Carpenter wills his car to Marvin Dann in order that he might have a start in his father's business establishment.

Helen Pickering and Sue Day, the office girls, will to Mary Davis a scooter to be used in collecting absence slips.

Lloyd Crawford wills his school girl complexion to Johnny Bland.

John Kern, Howard Kidd, Chester Lawell, Faye Long, Sheldon Lough, Herbert Lucas and Charles Rains leave to Mr. Bronson a gas mask to be worn in the Chemistry Laboratory.

Bob McKown leaves his fourth period permit "To Town" to John French.

Eugene Cann leaves the Editorship of the Phoenix to any ambitious Journalists.

Dallas Lunsford, Robert Markley, Don Field, and Helen Dittman, the practical minded Love Lorns of N. H. S. will to Miss Sipe a hope-chest.

Scott Bouslog and Mac Shirk leave the job of writing this will to any feeble-minded person, knowing that they will be well qualified.
