Within the halls of free dom dwells...

One thousand two hundred and twenty-two strong we walked down these halls to various classes that prepared us for college, the business world, industry and the home.

Go, Fight, Win

"There is no time to lose—just time to win," the motto adopted by the senior class, applied to Trojan players and spectators alike. Whether winning or losing, however, the teams were supported by the loyal fans. SunShine, Alpha, and Beta members kept high the morale of the crowd with their popcorn, ice cream, cokes, and dill pickles.

The Trojan Way

Whether reaching for a basket or striving for scholastic achievement the New Castle students had the desire to succeed. Although they were proud of their winning teams, they realized that to maintain the spirit of the school they must also do their best in classes and other activities. "Done in the Trojan way" was the greatest compliment which could be paid to these eager students.

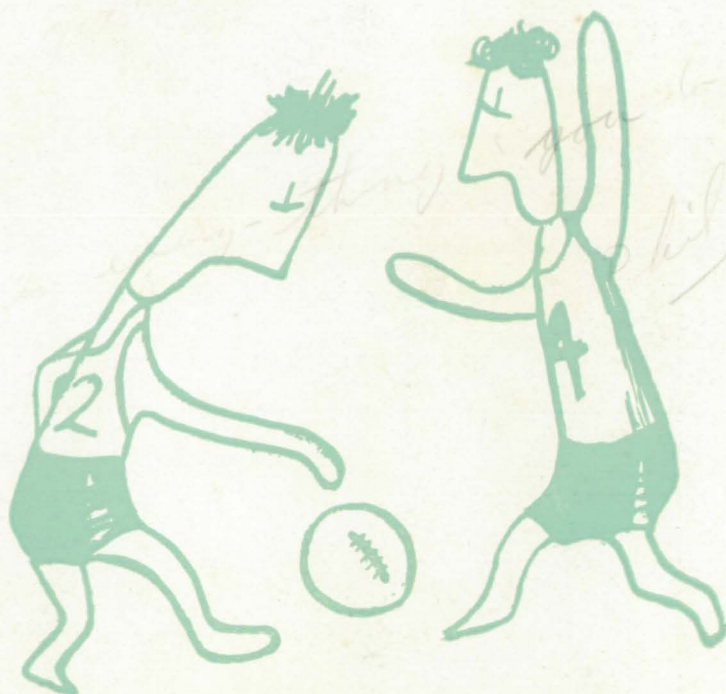

Spirit of our school

Hay's Our Man

At the basketball games, "Colonel" Langan Hay, with his typical southern drawl, is as much at home behind the mike as he is leading his Trojan gridders to victory.

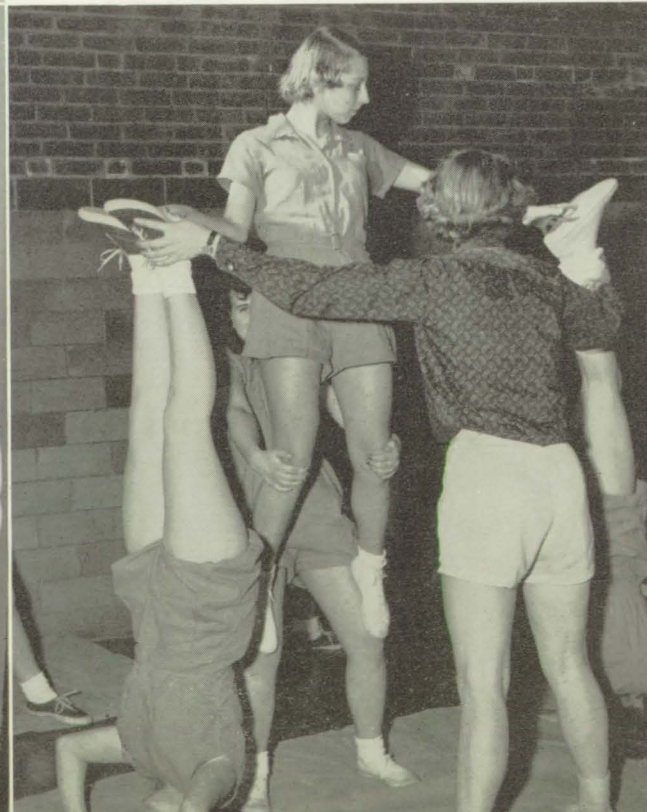

Where lives are

Classes were designed to meet the interests, needs, abilities, and capacities of New Castle High School's more than 1200 students. News release students handled all the publicity for the city school system. A mock trial in business law class showed the students how our court system operates. Physical education and sports activities emphasized physical prowess, poise, and character.

Many students received special recognition because of their abilities in leadership, scholarship, and service. Helen Blackburn, molded day by day

county D.A.R. winner, is representative of the N.H.S. good citizens. Both deans and Miss Mary Modlin, guidance director, worked together to plan a testing program which found students' weaknesses and remedied them.

Under the guidance of fifty-two competent teachers and administrators, students have learned the responsibilities required of every American citizen and have acquired the basic knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to live full, satisfying lives.

Brief gab sessions between classes gave students a chance to gain new and closer friendships. Students at the sound of the bell, come to Joe's corner from every direction. The day would not have been complete without meeting the gang and hearing the latest.

During the year slumber parties were very popular. Laughter and loud voices prevailed until the crack of dawn. At this time the party-goers wilted into a peaceful sleep or headed for the kitchen to raid the ice-box.

Dances, sport or formal, always had top billing in the books of all NHS students. Whether at these traditional dances or informal get-togethers, friendships were made which will never be forgotten.

Girls' concert choir, under the direction of Richard Jaeger, is typical of the musical organizations which bring honor to the school. These groups presented selections to various clubs, participated in the district choral festival and several contests, and presented concerts for the general public.

Foreign students from Earlham and I.U. felt American hospitality as they shared experiences with senior English classes.

NHS students can reminisce over the year's activities as they happily exchange signatures in their new Roseennials.

"Within the halls of freedom dwells
The spirit of our school,
Where lives are molded day by day
And friendships are so true.
In days to come we will recall
Old memories we hold dear.
New Castle High we'll sing thy praise
Throughout the coming years."

What better way could we tell the story of our school life than by using the school hymn? Our lives are molded by the ADMINISTRATION pictured on page 16. The SENIORS and UNDER-CLASSMEN who have crowded these halls are listed on pages 28 and 48. Friendships we have formed are shown in ACTIVITIES on page 86 and CLUBS on page 108. SPORTS beginning on page 64 have brought out the spirit of our school. Our ADVERTISERS listed on page 126 have realized that in days to come we will be purchasing their products. Throughout the coming years we, the graduates, will recall the teachers, friends, and activities which have made our high school days complete.

Coming Years

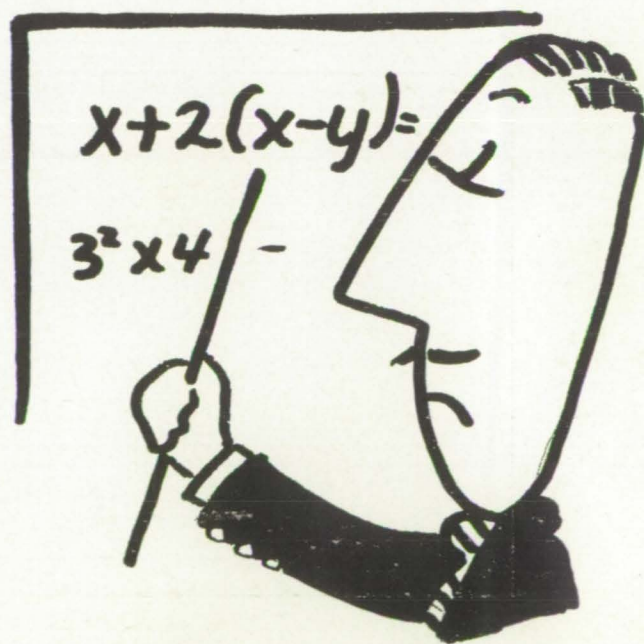

Where lives are molded

Many are the hours we spend preparing our lessons, but greater is the energy expended by faculty members to guide our hesitant steps through school.

As the progressive superintendent of the New Castle City Schools, Joe R. Craw has many responsibilities. Even though his office is located in the high school, his duties are city-wide. Mr. Craw, as superintendent, has the tremendous task of coordinating the activities of New Castle's ten city schools. Despite these many duties, he always has a friendly smile for all those who come in contact with him. He acquired his A.B. and M.A. degrees at Butler University.

Our Administrators Guide Us And

Our principal, Rexford G. Wright, is another extremely busy man. Although he came to New Castle last September from South Bend, he is a native of Henry County. Mr. Wright is striving to raise the scholastic standards of NHS so that we may be ranked with the best in the state. Mr. Wright is characterized by his pleasant, business-like manner. He received his A.B. from DePauw University, his M.S. from Indiana University, and is now working for his Ph.D. degree.

Special Subjects

These students are taking one of the various classes in art offered in NHS. The art curriculum consists of beginning art, crafts, commercial art or advertising, and fine arts. Art students also help keep the bulletin board in the main hall decorated with signs of the season or news of coming dances.

This class in vocational agriculture, taught by Mr. Morris Weekly, combines with other courses in the vocational division to give us first hand information about our world of farming and industry. These classes are also a valuable help in preparing students for future responsibility.

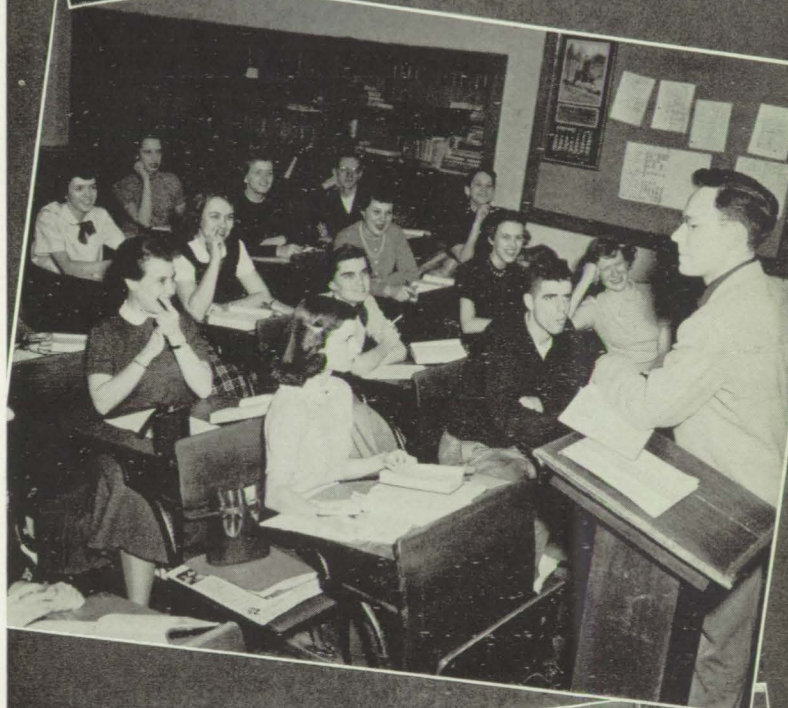

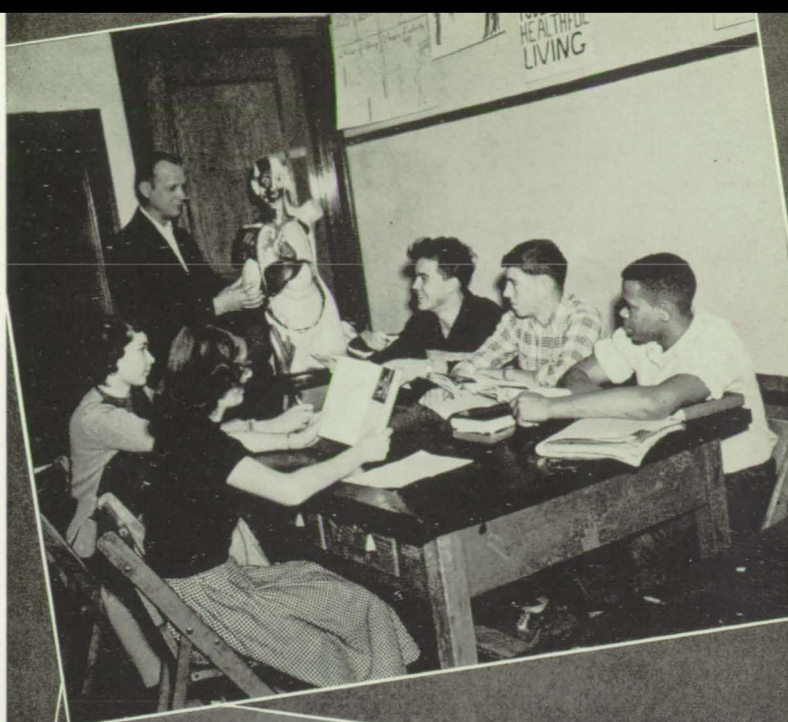

Senior history combines government and sociology into a two semester course. During the first semester these students are taught government on a national, state, and local basis. They then turn to the study of the social problems of our country and the world.

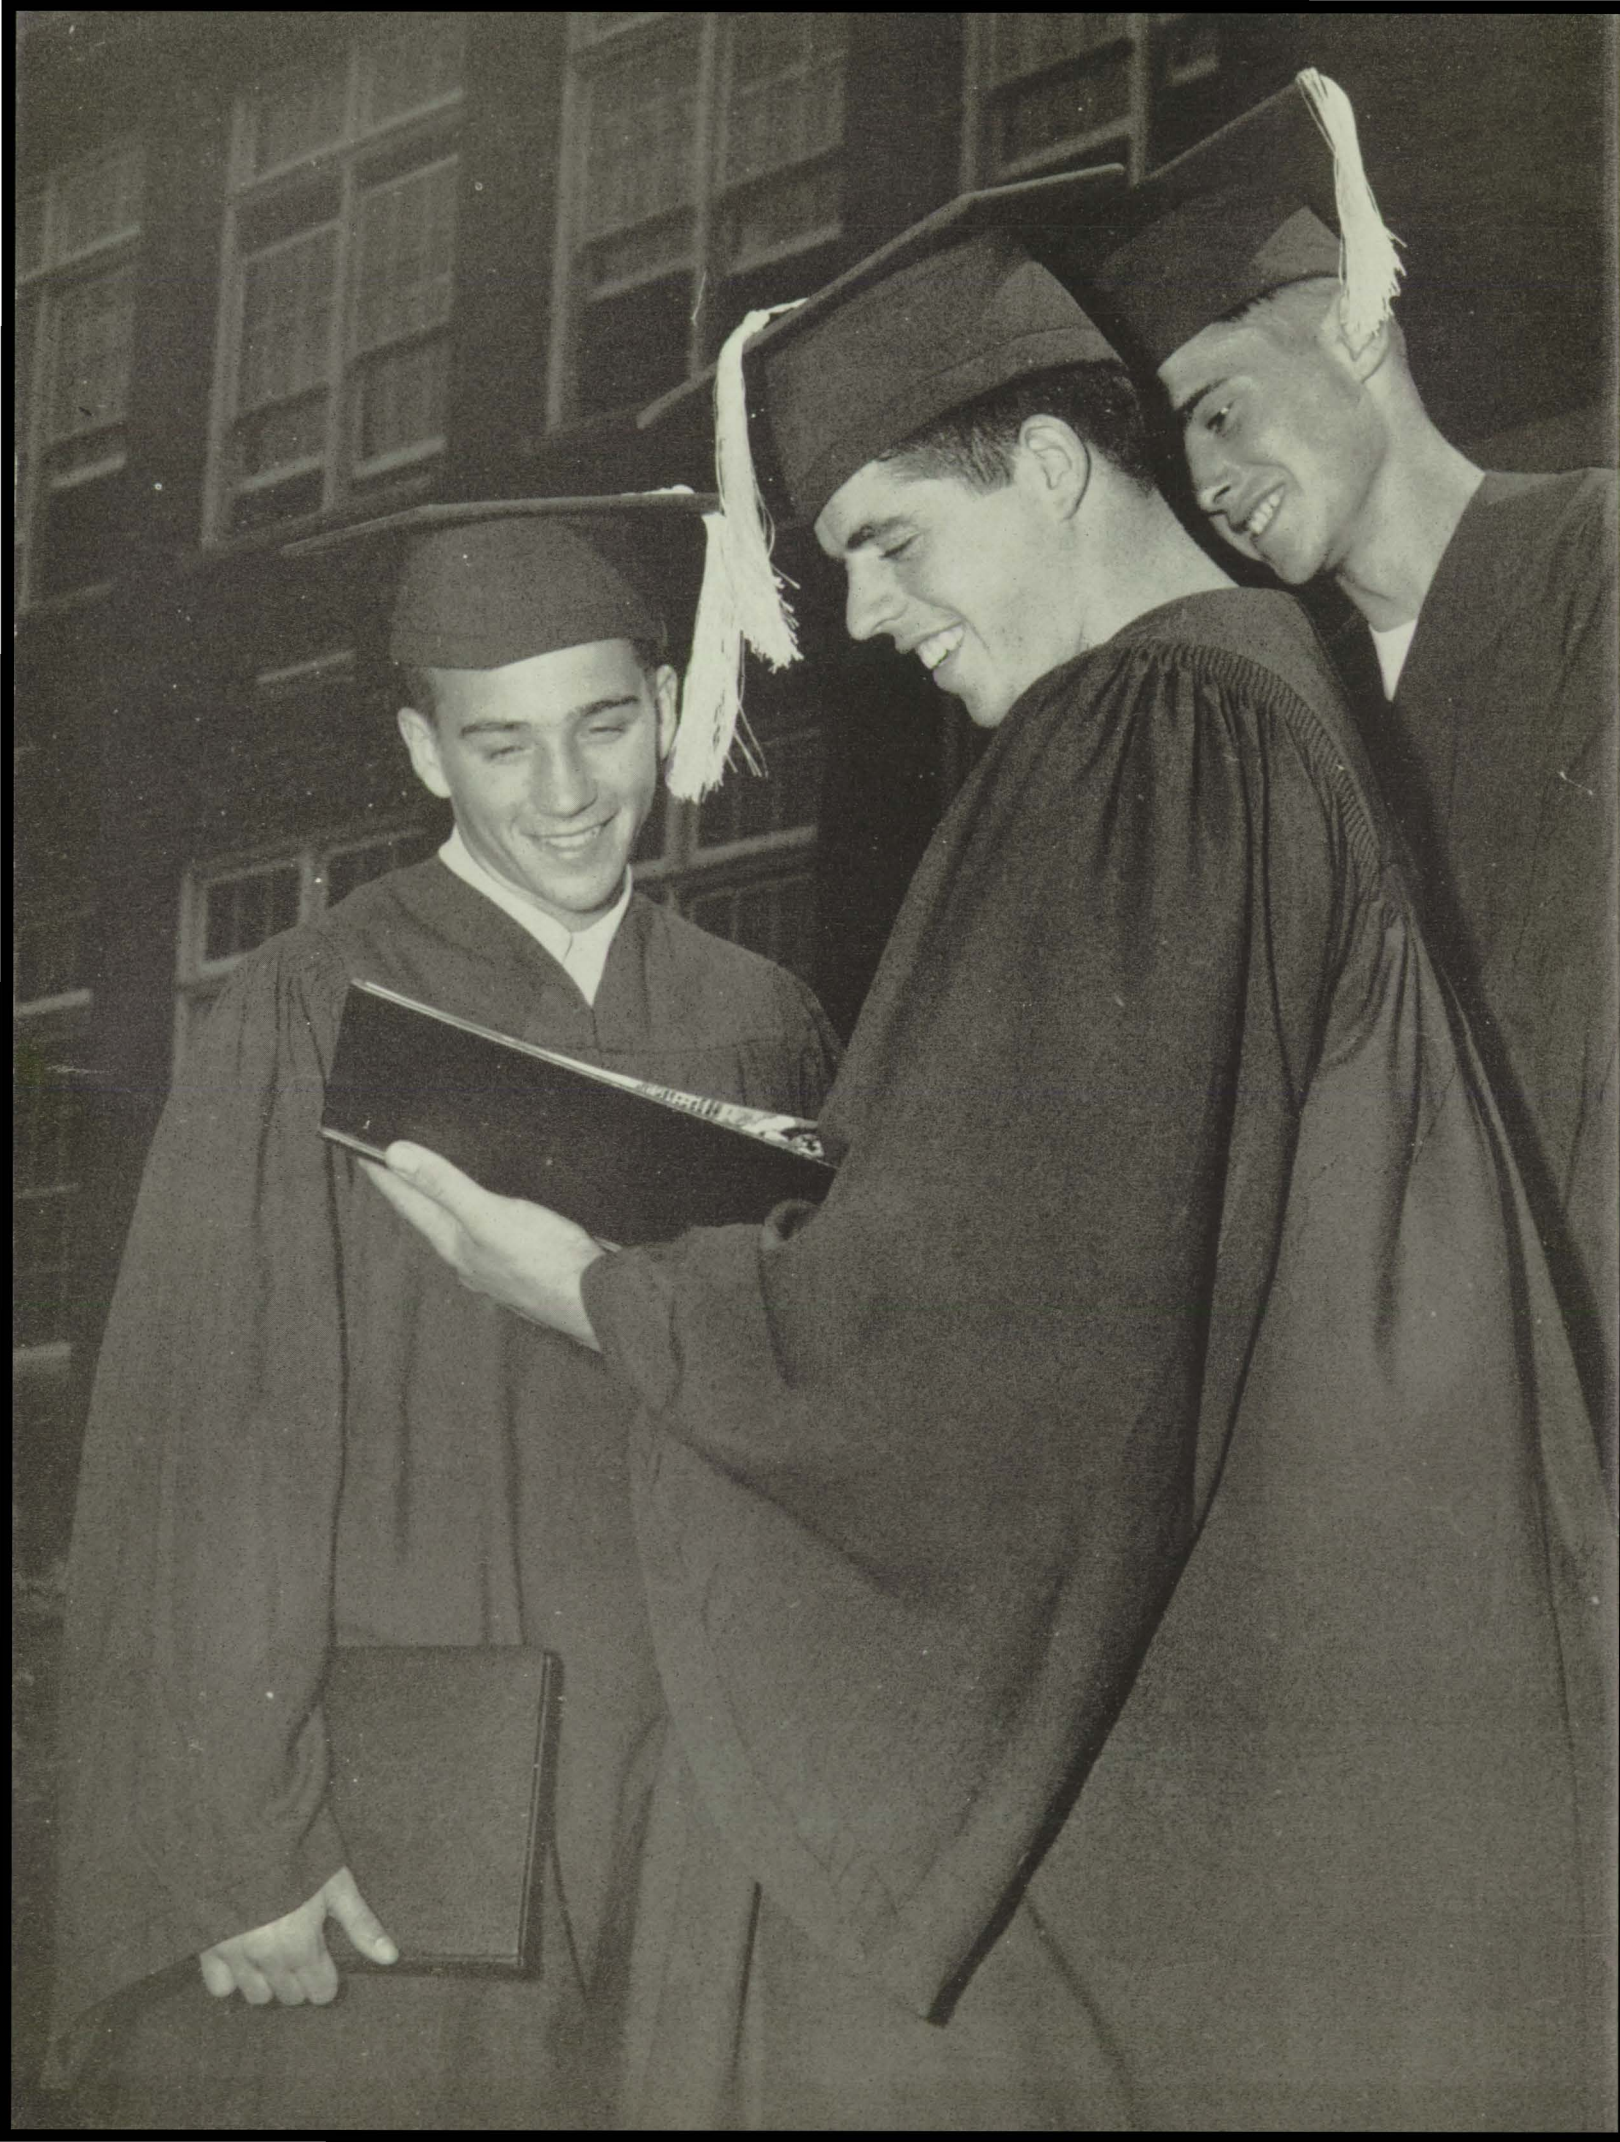

Vary Classes

Health and safety is a one-semester course taught by Mr. Walter Hassfurder. In this class, sophomore students are taught general health and safety rules. The study of the effects of narcotics and drugs makes this class one of the most interesting classes offered in the high school.

This senior dramatics class is perhaps the busiest group in NHS. Under the guidance of Mr. James Elrod, they presented "Curtain Call," a series of three one-act plays with the junior class, the Senior Class Play, and the Class Day program. The class also attended various stage plays during the year.

Trigonometry is also a one-semester course offered to seniors. In order to enroll in trig class, seniors must have a background of both algebra and geometry. In this class, these students study the relationship between the sides and angles of a triangle. Their teacher is Miss Fern Hodson.

Throughout the coming years

Not just for school but for a lifetime will Don, Tom, and Jerry remember graduation day and all the other wonderful events of their senior year.

Try-outs were fun, but frightening, and speculation ran high as to who would get which part.

It takes a lot of handy-man work to get all of the props, costumes, and scenery ready for a play out West.

'Tish; Other Activities

TISH was the play chosen by the 1953 class. In this amusing and mysterious drama we find three spinsters touring out West in an attempt to find the "simpler life."

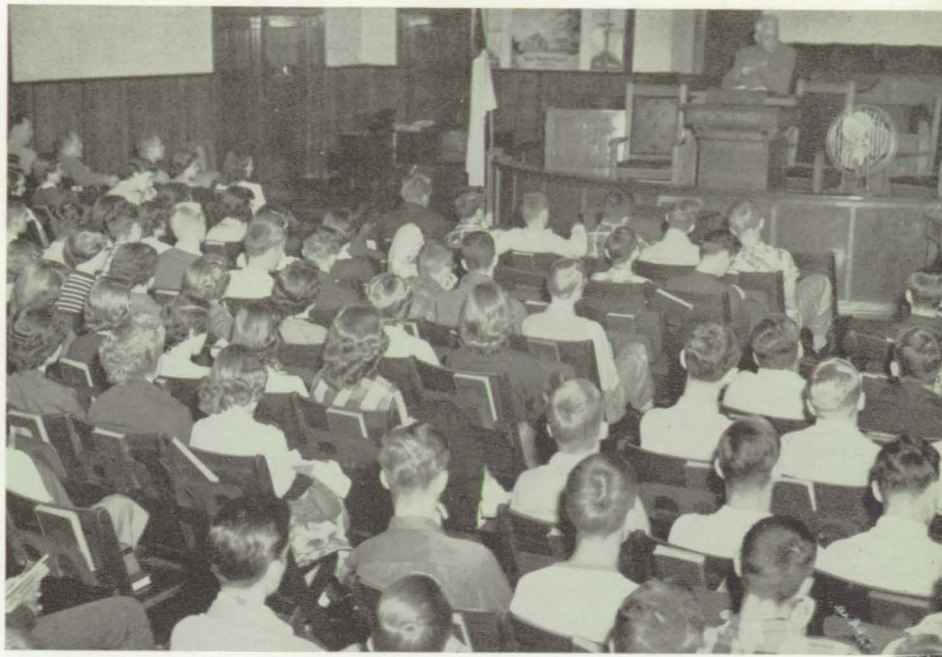

They wind up in a small hotel owned by a young girl who is involved with a villain and a sinister plot of mysterious people and hilarious happenings.

Grouped on and around a car like the one Tish must have driven is the entire cast of the senior class play including the student and technical directors. On the hood, Jane Ostlund, Sandy McCarthy, Bob Welch, Bob Tichenor, Jill Wainscott, Marcia Medalen, and Paul Barks. Sitting, Don Copeland, Pat Poole, Vera Enochs, and Martha Hartzell. Standing, right, Geraldine Hall, Bob Pruett, and Bill Howard.

Made Senior Year Eventful

Joe R. Craw, superintendent of the city schools, addressed the first senior meeting of the year. It proved to be thrilling to the new seniors when the announcement came over the public address calling them to the Baptist Church to meet the new principal, Rexford G. Wright, during their first assembly as a group. Since that time they have met on several occasions to decide big issues of the senior year.

A good source of amusement and reading matter around NHS were the senior cord skirts and pants that everyone was wearing.

Robert Baker and Jim Payne didn't forget to order their enclosure cards from Miss Ratcliffe to trade with friends.

Research Themes And

Students from one of Miss Berniece McCord's senior English classes are laboring over some problem that has confronted them in the process of writing their research themes. This assignment was designed to teach seniors how to collect material to write long themes, because they will have to do so in college next year. One thing they learned was how to make a bibliography.

Scholarship Exams Made Us Worry

It is surprising how little a student knows when he sits down to take one of the extremely hard scholarship exams given each year in January to the seniors who wish to go to college. No amount of hair twisting and pencil chewing helped find the answers, though, just hard thinking, and these students seemed to be doing just that as their pencils flew through the three hours required to take the test.

Four leading personalities for the class of 1953 to remember were their officers, at left, Elaine McGinnis, treasurer; Eleanor Crawley, vice-president; Ronnie McCormack, president; and Martha Hartzell, secretary. This same quartet helped direct the senior activities with experienced hands as they also had served as class officers in their junior year.

But Our Officers

Nancy Conway looks expectantly up at the senior class sponsor, Miss Catherine Ratcliffe, as she undoubtedly is helping smooth some unexpected rough spot in the senior year. At all times Miss Ratcliffe guided the class of 1953 with capable hands and proved to them that they could march through all activities with ease.

And Sponsor Reassured Us

And friendships are so true

Friendship is treasured by the high school student during his year of work and play. He has many chums eager to join him in all the activities of his four years.

Although the big event of their year is the junior prom, juniors also sponsor the Junior Jump, order their class jewelry, and act in the cast of Curtain Call, a series of one-act plays presented by dramatic classes.

Leon Ammerman was elected president at a meeting which the juniors held last fall. Others elected were Doris Ast, vice-president; Elaine Ingram, secretary; and Mara Jane Stinson, treasurer. Helping them with their meetings and their projects during the year was Mrs. Mildred Fleet, who acted as their sponsor.

The spirit of our school

Boys like these on the freshman basketball team express the spirit of our school in their driving will to win and the ability to accept defeat with honor.

Although faced with the roughest schedule New Castle has had in many years, Coach Langan Hay, right, and his able assistants, Jim Carter, left, and Bob Kirby, center, had faith in the boys and worked extremely hard with them throughout the entire campaign. The Trojan gridders got off to an exceptionally poor start at the beginning of the season as they managed only a tie in the first six outings. Instead of giving up, however, these three Rose City mentors worked even harder, and the hard work paid off in wins toward the season's end.

Rough Schedule Holds Trojan

The 1952 Trojan football squad finished the season with only three wins and a tie against six defeats, but it still might be classified as a successful campaign because of the team's progress throughout the season. In the season's opener the greenies missed a win by only six inches as the game ended with the ball resting on the half-foot line of the Columbus Bulldogs and the score tied, 13-13. Next week the Trojan gridders traveled south to Evansville and took a vicious 38 to 0 licking at the hands of Bosse. The men of Troy, before returning home for their first home game of the season, ran into a hard-fighting Fort Wayne Central Catholic outfit and suffered their second straight setback of the year.

When the Haymen did take the field for their first home game of the season, they suffered their worst defeat of the campaign. The state's number one high school football outfit, Richmond, thumped the Trojan eleven, 60 to 0. Mooseheart of Illinois rolled into New Castle the following week, rated as one of the best prep teams in the United States. Playing their best game of the season thus far, the Rose City pigskin warriors battled gallantly against the Red Ramblers from Illinois throughout the contest, only to fall, 20 to 7.

Still searching for their first victory of the campaign, the Trojans traveled to Lafayette for a North Central Conference engagement with the Jeff Bronchos. Once again the Haymen stumbled as the high flying Bronchos stopped them, 33 to 14. Not only did the greenies lose the game, but they also lost the services of star quarter-back Tom Tinkle. The flashy signal-caller suffered a concussion and had to remain out of uniform for the rest of the season.

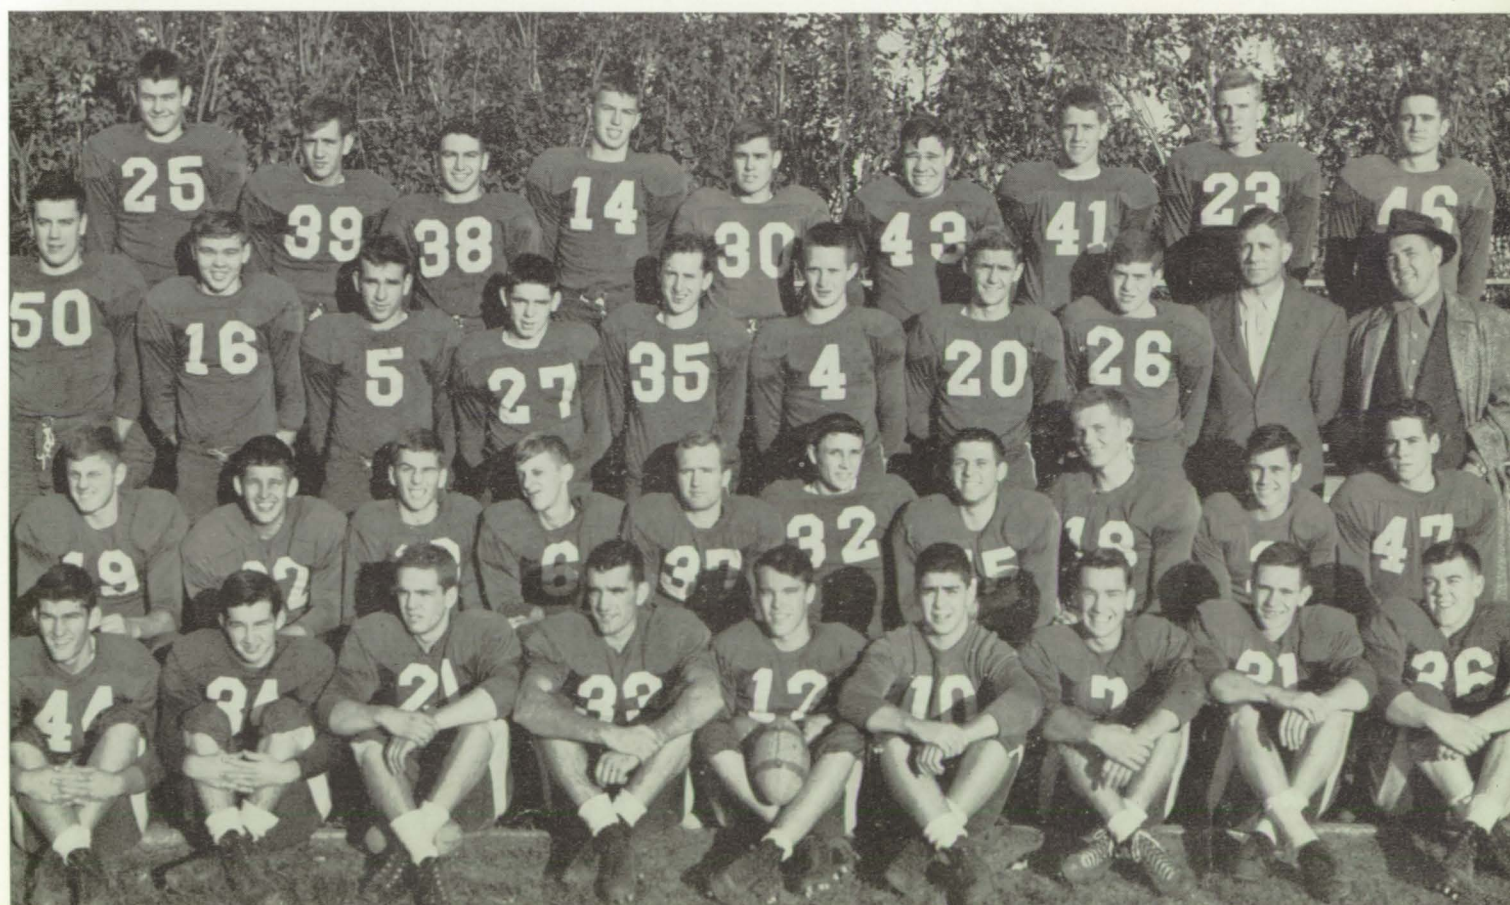

New Castle finally scored its first victory of the year as it dropped Kokomo in an NCC affair, 34 to 13. An old New Castle rival, Muncie Central, met the Haymen in the next contest. For fourteen straight years the Bearcats have rolled up victories or tied Trojan teams, and this year was no exception. Muncie certainly knew it had been in one of its roughest scraps, however, as the greenies staged a last quarter rally that almost overtook the mighty Bearcats. Time ran out with the Trojans on the short end of a 25 to 19 score. This ended the greenie losses for the season as the team captured the two final contests of the campaign. They blasted a well-regarded Connersville team by the tune of 28 to 0 and scalped the Anderson Indians in the season closer, 19 to 14.

Gridders To Three Wins

When the final whistle blew in the Anderson game last November, seventeen boys hung up their suits as New Castle Trojan gridders. Those who will see no more high school action because of graduation are co-captains Jack Roberts and Duane Queener, Jerry Summers, John Grimes, Mike Reuter, Keith Armstrong, Leroy Nantz, Jim Vanderbeck, Ben Upchurch, Carroll Cleek, Joe Stanley, Ed Justice, John Juday, Bob Allen, Harold Bardsley, Bob Reese, and Mike DeWitt. Coach Langan Hay was quite proud of this crew and wishes he could have them back for more gridiron action next year. However, he believes he has some able replacements coming up next year from the reserve and freshmen squads. He will also be banking much of this hope on juniors Leon Ammerman, Jim Stout, Ed Morrow, and Jim Hagerman. Sophomores Terry Bunner, Phil Cox, Dwight Tallman, Dick Joines, Herb Meredith, and Jack Wallen will be depended on as will freshman quarterback Jack Razor. With such able coaches as Jim Carter and Bob Kirby, Hay doesn't see how the 1953 squad can fail to have a successful year.

To have a good ball club every year, reserve squads and freshman teams are needed as a feeder system. Boys who aren't eligible for the varsity squad get much-needed experience with these outfits. They work hard at fundamentals and team work, and when the Trojan varsity gridders need opposition in practice scrimmage sessions, these boys are called on. They receive plenty of bruises and hard knocks, but when they have games with other teams they are ready for action. These boys realize that the present varsity gridders went through the same process, and that in the near future they will be called on to take their places. Soon it will be their turn to dish out the punishment. Both teams had fair success during the 1952 campaign against such football-minded towns as Muncie, Richmond, Anderson, and Connersville. Reserve mentor Jim Carter took over the reigns as assistant coach to Langan Hay last season, replacing former coach Robert Lee. No finer job could be asked from the Tennessee University graduate. Bob Kirby did an equally fine job as coach of the freshman outfit.

Haymen Brighten

Amid a tanglement of players, Jack Roberts plunges over from the two-yard line to score six points against Jeff of Lafayette. The Trojans fell before the Bronchos, 33 to 14.

Here is one of the rugged greenie practice sessions. Each day the Trojans donned their practice equipment and worked hard to prepare for coming games. Some say practice sessions are tougher than the scheduled games.

Jerry Summers, senior Trojan halfback, is dragged down from behind by an eager Kokomo tackler while another Wildcat player rushes in to help. Coach Hay's hard fighting crew came out victorious, 34 to 13.

This seems to be an unhappy moment for varsity coach Langan Hay and the Trojan gridders. In the early stages of the season this look was seen on their faces quite regularly, but as the season moved along and the Rose City eleven began to find itself, expressions began to change. Those suffering with Hay at the moment are assistant coach Jim Carter, right, Keith Armstrong, 12, George Alcorn, 39, and Harold Luellen, 2.

Lynn Richey, Floyd Sanders, Jim Aaron and Mike Dempsey were the student managers for the football squad. Eager, hard-working and dependable describes these boys as they did an outstanding job from the start of the season to the finish. Floyd Sanders is a junior and head manager. Sanders will be back next year at his same post while Ritchie, Aaron, and Dempsey will once again be his assistants. These boys love their jobs and prove it with their fine work.

Sixteen Seniors

SUMMERS — “Monk” was a valuable man to have on the team. When injuries constantly riddled the Trojan backfield, Jerry filled in quite capably as an offensive or defensive back.

GRIMES — Early in the season John suffered a knee injury which slowed him down the remainder of the year. Despite this handicap the senior end stuck with the game and performed outstandingly.

REUTER — All 200 pounds of this rugged tackle will be greatly missed next year. Besides doing a powerful job of blocking, Mike did an exceptionally fine job keeping up the team's spirit.

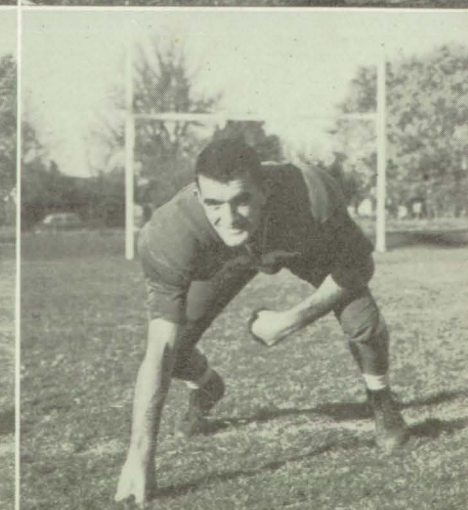

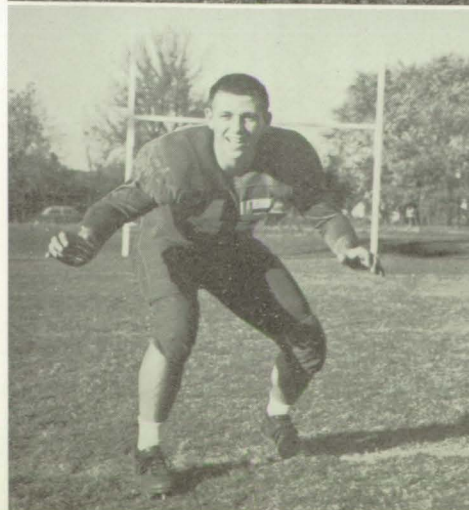

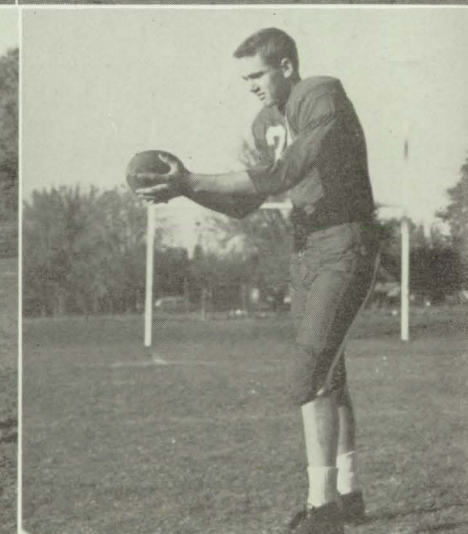

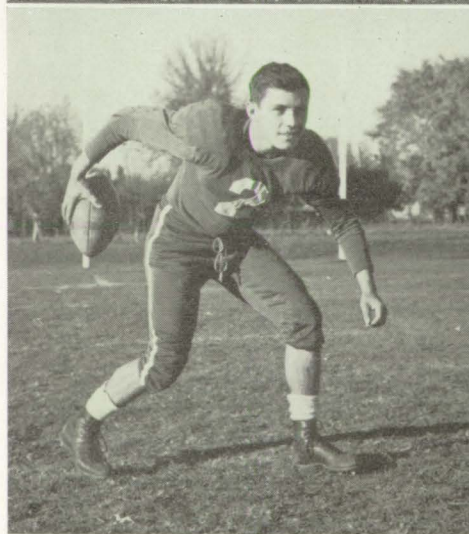

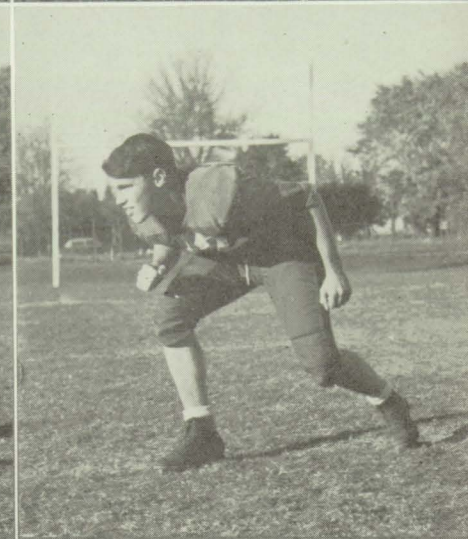

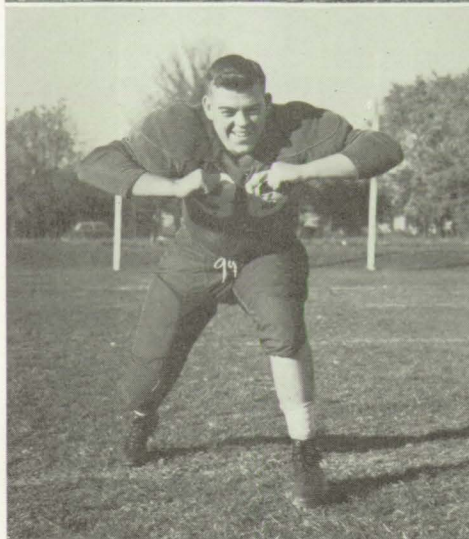

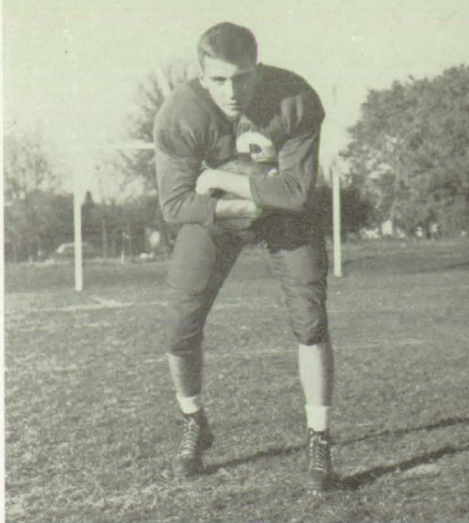

ARMSTRONG — “Army” didn't see too much action but could always be counted on to do his best when he was in the game. As a lineman Keith had great speed which came in handy to get the jump on the opposition.

QUEENER — Although he weighed only 145 pounds, Duane was one of the mainstays in the Trojan backfield. The senior halfback and co-captain will be remembered for his shifty running and fighting spirit.

NANTZ — When it was fourth down with several yards to go, “Peewee” could always be seen entering the game to punt. Time after time Leroy's tremendous boots pulled the team out of a hole.

VANDERBECK — Fast, aggressive, and a hard hitter is a good description of Jim. This senior guard's position will be hard to fill next year as his 190 pounds opened and closed many a hole for the Trojans.

UPCHURCH — “Ears” was a terror on offense and defense for the Trojans throughout the year. Off the field one could never guess Ben was a football player, but he was a changed person in a uniform.

Hang Up Suits

CLEEK — Carroll threw only 155 pounds at the opposition, but when this solidly built red-headed guard made contact, he hit hard. "Red" was a valuable man to have around.

STANLEY — Playing his first year as regular end, Joe proved he had ability by snagging vital passes throughout the season. "Stan the Man" was the best when it came to team spirit.

JUSTICE — Ed was a senior who stuck with the team although used sparingly. This hard fighting guard knew a team had to have substitutes as well as regulars to make the year a success.

JUDAY — After being a regular end in 1951, "Big John" switched to a backfield role in his senior year. John's hard drive and six-foot frame pushed aside many an opponent.

ALLEN — Bob played a terrific game as a center on offense and an even more outstanding game as a defensive linebacker. His vicious blocking and tackling will be greatly missed next year.

ROBERTS — "Smilin' Jack" was a 155-pound co-captain who saw action on the varsity all four of his years in high school. The senior fullback had the burning desire to win, and that was his key to success.

BARDSLEY — Harold was a senior defensive halfback who was hampered by injuries all season. The defensive terror hit low, fast, and hard in his attempt to stop touchdowns by the opposition.

REESE — Despite lack of experience, Bob did an exceptionally fine job by working hard at all times. "Whimpy" was the biggest senior on the team and used his weight to great advantage.

Netmen Grab

Senior forward Bob Allen, 10, pulls in a loose ball while three Marion Giant players try to tie him up. Hollis Upchurch, 12, Leon Ammerman, 11, and Don Anderson, 15, stand by waiting the outcome of the scrap for the ball.

Dick Myers, 13, drives in and shoots over a Muncie Burris defender. Junior center, Leon Ammerman, gets ready to pounce for the rebound while Duane Queener, 22, steps out of Myers' path. The Trojans won the contest, 56 to 50.

Wonder what they are looking for? Bob Allen, 10, has just shot the ball and Leon Ammerman, 11, gets ready for the rebound. Trojan guard Dick Myers, 13, stands anxiously by also waiting to grab the ball. The Trojans beat Frankfort, 72 to 55.

Thirteen Wins After Slow Start

During the 1952-53 campaign the New Castle Trojans registered thirteen wins while dropping eleven contests. In the first half of the season the green and white scored only two wins while losing five games. On New Year's day, however, the Rose City crew came to life and started on the win path. They bumped off highly-rated Kokomo to start the parade and then added ten more victories before the season ended. This was the best record for a Trojan team since the 1949-50 year.

When sectional time came the greenies surprised many as they captured the three-day tourney despite being under-dogs. Their drive for victory was stopped by Richmond in the regional.

Loyal Backers Help

Mapping out his game strategy on the hardwood is varsity coach "Dutch" Hassfurder, right. Kenneth Simmons, left, second team and assistant varsity coach, pays close attention to the plan. These two Trojan mentors are responsible for the success of their teams. Both did excellent jobs teaching the boys the finer points of the game. "Dutch" is in his second season as varsity mentor, and Simmons is in his sophomore year as an assistant at New Castle. Their hard work in teaching the boys winning basketball paid off with just that.

It takes hard work to create a winning ball club, and without the services of hard-working student managers it would have been an even more difficult task. Floyd Sanders and Lynn Richey were the Trojan work horses behind the scenes who helped this year's outfit through a successful season. These two boys realized that keeping the equipment clean, distributing it, carrying towels, and doing many other jobs, was their task from the beginning of the season to the end.

Excellent support from the cheering section was another great factor in the Trojans' success throughout the '52-'53 season. In victory and defeat, they made the rafters ring, led by the four peppy yell leaders. Left to right they are Phyllis Robinson, Deloris Higgins, Mary Lou Stubbs, and Judy Sanders. These girls worked so hard during a Trojan contest that they were as exhausted as the players themselves.

Rose City Crew

Reserve center Tom Payne, 30, drags off a rebound against the Marion Giants while Roger Reeves, almost hidden, and Phil Cox, 21, watch anxiously.

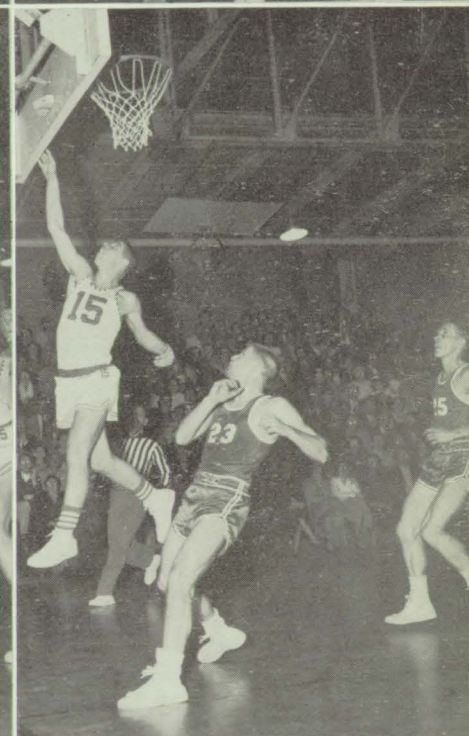

Four Muncie Central players watch Trojan guard Don Anderson, 15, put the ball through the hoop for two points.

Bob Allen, 10, Leon Ammerman, 11, and Don Anderson, 15, get ready to leap into the air for a rebound against the Muncie Central Bearcats.

Twisting and turning, Don Anderson, 15, knifes his way through Muncie Central's rugged defense for a Trojan goal.

Hollis Upchurch, 12, shoots a jump shot and Don Anderson, 15, does a fine job of blocking out a Burris Owl player for the rebound.

Nothing could be done to stop Bob Allen, 10, from scoring this basket against the Frankfort Hot Dogs. Leon Ammerman, 11, gets set for the rebound.

Trojan Varsity

TALLMAN — A glowing future lies ahead of Dwight. Weighing 220 pounds and standing six feet, two inches, this rugged sophomore gave valuable reserve strength under the basket. He also had as much spirit on the bench as when he was on the floor.

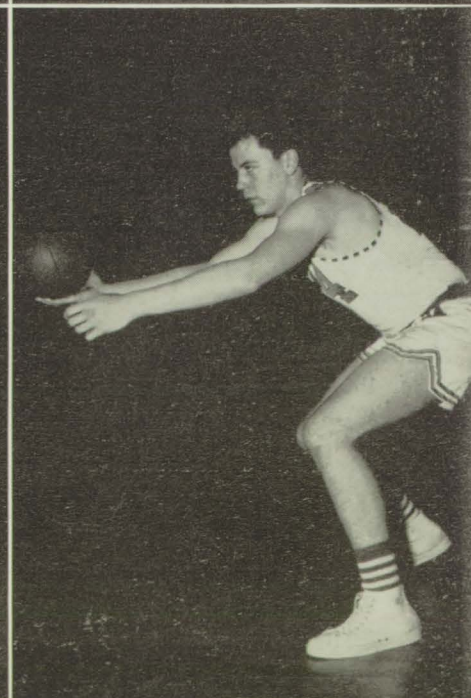

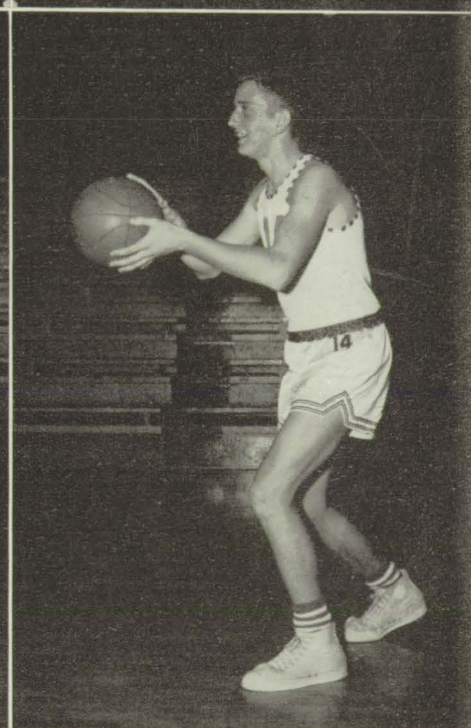

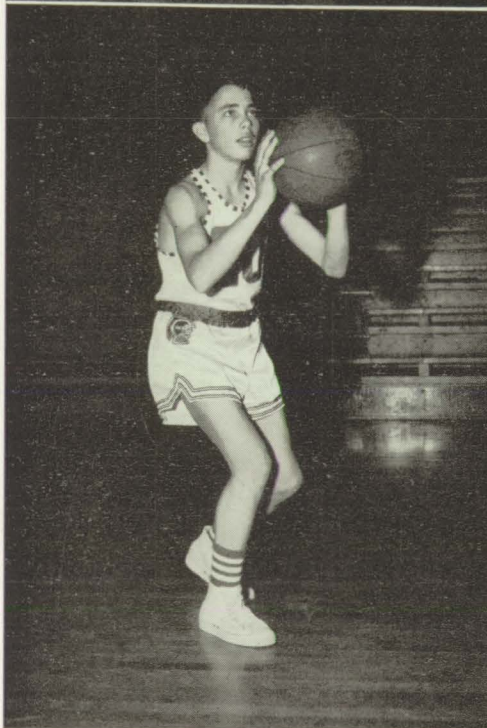

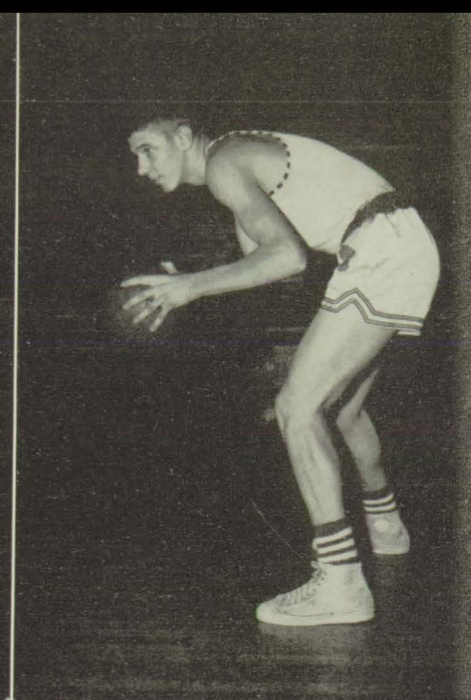

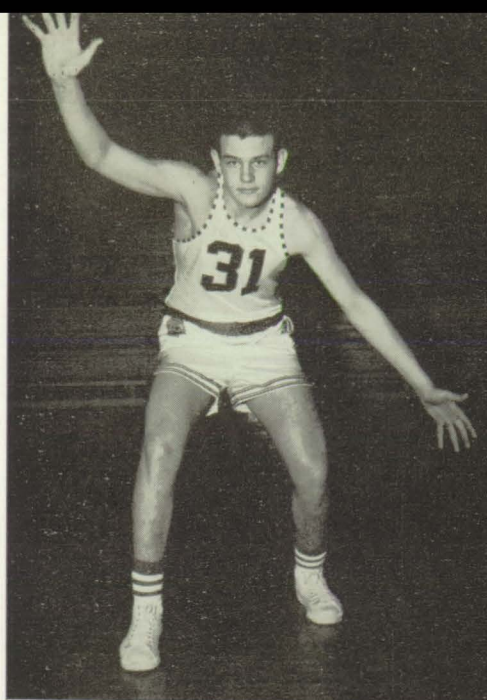

UPCHURCH — Off the court "Hollie" was quiet and peaceful, but on the hardwood he was charged with action. Hollis rebounded with the best of them and could also be depended upon for his share of points. It will be difficult to fill the shoes of this senior co-captain.

MARSH — Don saw little action on the basketball floor during a varsity game, but his spirits were never dampened. The young sophomore guard, who has two years of round ball still in front of him, always could be counted on for plenty of fight.

RICHARDSON — Basketball is considered the favorite sport in Indiana, but no one could like the game better than "Wild Bill." Ahead or behind, this determined sophomore put out all he had and still a little more.

ANDERSON — "Andy" was a senior guard on this year's varsity who gave the opposition constant trouble on both offense and defense. His determination and aggressiveness made him a vital cog in the Trojan machine.

JOINES — "Tiny," a six foot, four inch sophomore, saw considerable action at the center post throughout the campaign. Richard worked hard and made his opponents know he was in the game. Two more years are ahead for him to develop into a great player.

Loses Five Seniors

PAYNE — Tom was a senior center who saw only limited action on the basketball floor, but he stuck with the team nevertheless. He knew it took substitutes as well as starters to make up a fine team.

ALLEN — One of the best ball handlers on the squad was Bob. He was noted far more for his fight and spirit, however. The six-foot co-captain fitted into the organization as a senior forward and displayed a brand of basketball that will be hard to beat.

AMMERMAN — Whether rebounding, ball-hawking, or shooting, Leon was rated at the top in all departments. The junior forward had enormous hands which enabled him to perform outstandingly. His hands will be of great value to next year's squad.

MYERS — Dick was one of the smallest players on the varsity squad, but he measured with the best of them when it came to putting the ball through the hoop. The senior guard's drive and fight will be greatly missed next year.

COX — Phil worked extremely hard as a reserve guard, always trying to do better than his best. The short but stockily built sophomore gave the opposition plenty of trouble when he performed on the hardwood.

QUEENER — Duane was the smallest on the team, but he made up for his lack of height by his great shooting and ball-handling ability. The gap left by this five foot-eight inch senior will be hard to fill next year.

Colts Battle For Varsity Spots

Only sophomores played on the 1952-53 reserve basketball squad. Kenneth Simmons mentored the team and did an excellent job of coaching despite a losing season. He wanted the team to win, but his main job was to give the players as much experience as possible. During each contest Simmons played ten to fifteen boys to prepare them for future varsity work. The B-team did not have a set starting lineup nor did it have any outstanding point-getter. Instead the team had at least ten players who could be depended on for scoring throughout the campaign. Graduation will leave six vacant spots on the varsity for next year and these class reserves will be battling for the spots.

Such boys as Dwight Tallman, Terry Bunner, Roger Reeves, Herb Meredith, Bill Richardson, Dick Waltmire, Fred Moffitt, and Don Marsh will be the main contenders. All of these boys had some experience on the varsity squad during the past year which should come in handy during the 1953-54 season.

In his first year as freshman coach at New Castle, Ben Ranck did an exceptionally fine job. His wise teachings pushed the frosh outfit through a highly successful campaign as the team's season record stood at fourteen wins against six losses. Ranck took a handful of boys who lacked much-needed height and experience and molded them into a winning machine which won quite consistently throughout the season. His starting five consisted of John Thomas, Morris Powers, Bob Wiles, Jack Razor, and Charles Thompson. Powers and Wiles stood only about five feet three inches but were ball-hawks who constantly troubled the opposition. Chief rebounders were Thomas and Thompson while Razor was the leading scorer.

Coach Ben Ranck had fine reserve strength in such boys as Jerry Walden, Bobby Walcott, Bill Adams, Bruce Koger, Terry Parker, Jay Cottman, and Jim Dailey. This reserve strength was largely responsible for the team's fine record over the campaign.

Thinlies Fail To Register Single Win

Lack of depth proved to be the downfall of the 1952 track outfit as it finished the season without registering a single win. Coach Bob Lee, finishing his last year as track mentor, had some fine boys, but there just weren't enough of them. Only such boys as Don Puckett, Jerry Rains, Jim Vanderbeck, and Marvin Turner were capable of capturing events consistently. Since very few boys turned out for the squad, the greenies had trouble grabbing the necessary second and third places in the events. Besides dropping all four regular season meets, the thinlies finished a low seventh in the North Central Conference meet at Technical of Indianapolis.

Don Puckett was the only Trojan thinly to go farther than the sectional meet. Don went to the state meet at Indianapolis but failed to score any points. Before going to the state meet, however, he captured a fourth in the Muncie sectionals and then grabbed a third in the regionals. Puckett will not be scoring points for the Trojan thinlies any longer, however, as he graduated. Also, such dependables as Marvin Turner, Jerry Rains, Ben Archey, Bob Fox, and Harold Devine were '52 seniors and will no longer wear a Trojan uniform. This year's load will be put on Jim Vanderbeck as he is the only returning letterman on the squad. He will have plenty of help, however, from such boys as Leroy Nantz, Jerry Summers, and Don Copeland.

Trojan point-getter Jim Vanderbeck displays the form which has helped him win many ribbons in the shot-put event.

Linksmen Score Four Wins Over Campaign

Coach Langan Hay had such a good turn out for the 1952 golf team that two squads were formed. His first team was the "A" squad and the reserves were labeled the "B" outfit. Coach Hay's "A" foursome consisted of Morris Edwards, Bruce Harris, Tom Tinkle, and Jim Fromuth. They turned in four wins and one tie against five losses as their record for the season. Morris Edwards and Jim Fromuth proved to be the more consistent medalists on the "A" squad, but they received considerable help from both Harris and Tinkle. Edwards and Harris will not be back this season as they graduated, but Fromuth and Tinkle will return.

Jim Stout, Dick Myers, Jack Fadelly, and Jerry Childs made up the "B" squad. The reserves' record for the campaign stood at four wins and two losses. Jim Stout and Dick Myers were the usual low score shooters for the "B" linksmen and will probably be the top choices to fill in the gaps left by Edwards and Harris. Anyone with the ability, however, will have a chance to make the team. Golf is rapidly becoming one of the more popular sports in high school; therefore, both the "A" and "B" squads will be in action again this year if enthusiasm is as great as expected. Coach Hay feels sure he will have a good turn out.

Men Of Troy Escape NCC Cellar

Foul weather caused several cancellations on the New Castle baseball schedule during the 1952 season as only ten games were played by the Trojan stickmen. In these ten contests the men of Troy captured only three tilts, but they put out every effort to win. All three victories the Trojans registered were NCC tilts, and the wins pulled them from the conference basement, a position they held in 1951.

Most impressive of the greenie wins was a 13 to 6 conquest over the Logansport Berries. The Berries came charging into town with three straight victories tucked under their belts and were planning to return home with win number four chalked up. Instead of walking away with the contest, they ran into a New Castle eight-run first inning and never caught up. Kokomo was the second Trojan victim as it fell, 7 to 4. The final greenie win was an eight inning, 8 to 7, affair with the Frankfort Hot Dogs. The only non-conference contest the Trojans played was probably the most exciting game of the campaign. That game was against the Spiceland Stingers. They handled the Trojans in a hard fought contest, 2 to 1.

Trojan Boss

Despite a losing season, Coach "Dutch" Hassfurder taught the boys more about baseball than any of them had ever hoped to know, and never did he become discouraged with them. Baseball has always been overshadowed by basketball and football in New Castle, and therefore only a few had the much needed experience with the ball and stick game. Coach Hassfurder, however, worked hard with the boys, and they in return worked hard to learn. In order to prepare for the future, "Dutch" started a "B" team, and Kenneth Simmons did the job of coaching it. The reserve team had games with neighboring county baseball squads.

Hard Workers

Ronnie Parker and Edwin Kelly played very important roles in making the 1952 campaign a success for the Trojan baseballers. These hard-working student managers provided the team with uniforms, towels and other much needed equipment. These two boys also contributed greatly to the spirit of the team. Wanting the team to win seemed to come in line with their never-ending hard work. Although both were freshmen, they handled the job like veterans and never slacked up on their work.

'Dutchmen' Scrap

Senior Jess Reagan is thumbed out at home plate against the Berries from Logansport. The Trojans didn't need the tally, however, as the greenclads exploded for eight runs in the first frame to go on and win easily, 13 to 6. Before the Logan nine rolled into town it was undefeated and leading the North Central Conference.

Stretching for a low throw is first baseman LeRoy Nantz. Nantz scooped it up to put out a Kokomo runner and kill off a possible Wildcat rally. Excellent hurling by southpaw Jim Perkins enabled the Rose City crew to down the Kokomo outfit, 7 to 4. His sweeping curve ball had the opposing batters continually backing away from the plate.

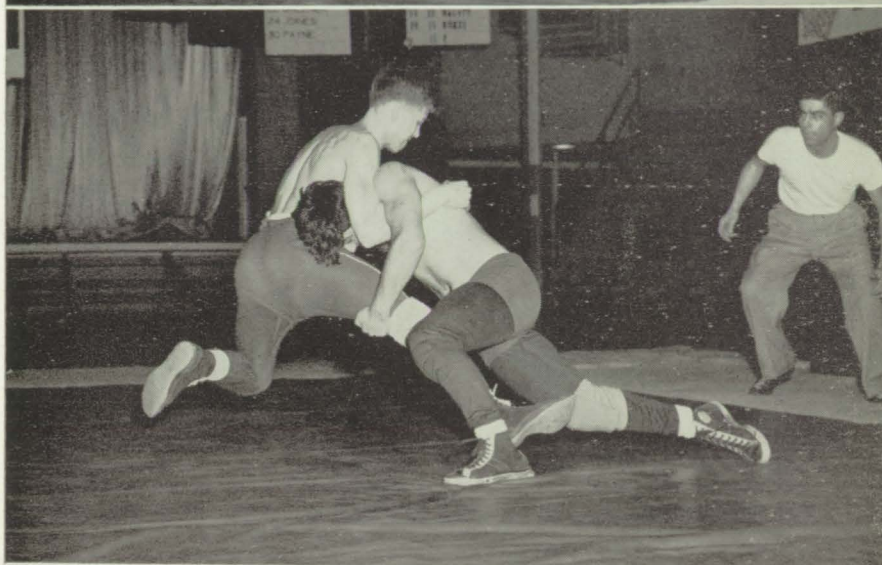

Leading hitter for the greenies during the 1952 campaign was outfielder Jess Reagan. Here the spectacular Trojan slugger displays his hitting form that enabled him to cop the much coveted honor. It was Reagan's last year with the team as he was a senior. No doubt his "big stick" will be greatly missed this year.

Grapplers Improve

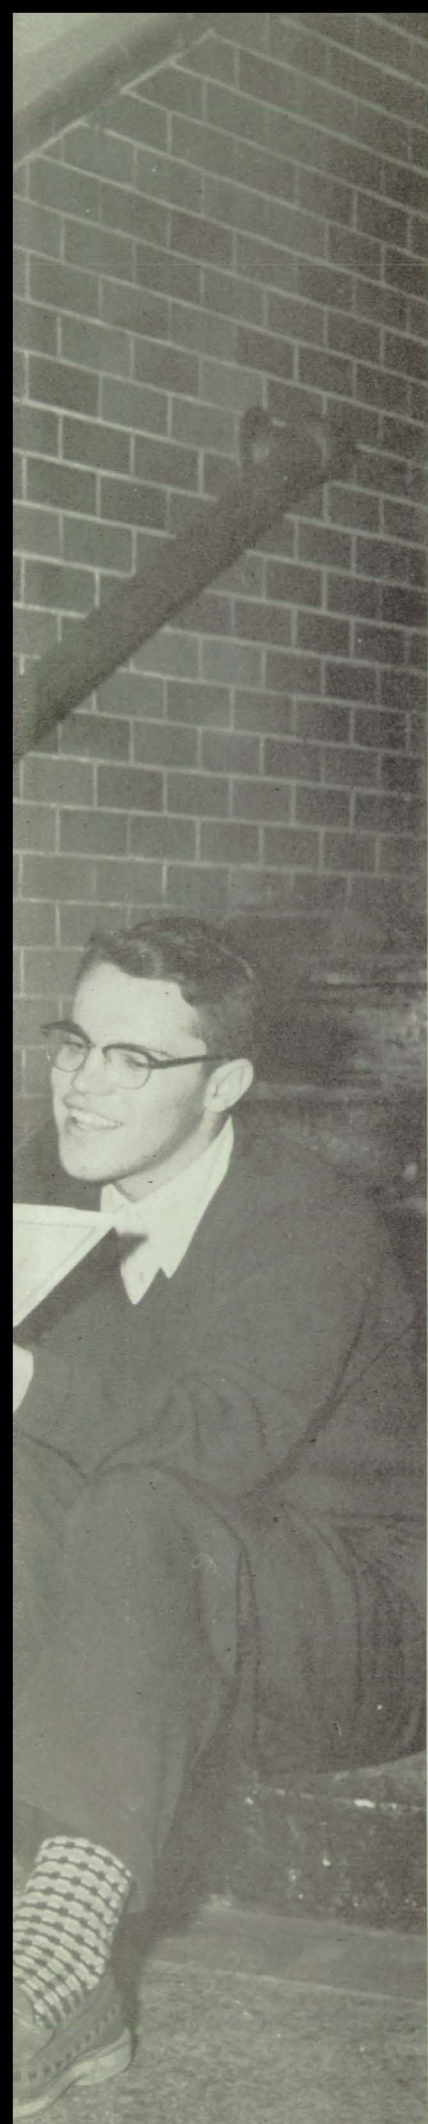

Wrestling became a sport in NHS last year for the first time since 1946. Langan Hay, Trojan football boss, coaches the matmen and has taught them many things about the "human pretzel" game. Here Trojan grappler Richard Martin tangles with a wrestler from Indianapolis Tech's B-team. The Rose City crew captured the contest, 28 to 23, for its first win of the season.

Decatur Central also fell before the Trojan wrestlers to give the team two victories for the campaign. The boys seemed to learn rapidly and with a little more experience under their belts, they should be a good match for the best. There were no seniors on the squad. Diminutive James Gordon, in the picture at the right, faces a Tech greenclad wrestler.

They Keep The Presses Rolling

"Hey, have you got all your copy in, Jim?"

"No," comes the answer from the other side of the room.

"Well, get it in! You've got a deadline to meet!"

Reminders of this sort could be heard day after day in the Phoenix room. From Monday to Friday the staff had deadlines to meet so the students of N.H.S. could read the Phoenix each Friday.

Reporters used their "noses for news" to track down some juicy stories, and then they used writing ability to make interesting reading matter. The advertisements had to be sold to hesitant buyers, and an ad dummy had to be made. The editors squeezed stories into tight places and stretched others. Every word, sentence, and paragraph had to be copyread before it was sent to the print shop. Mr. Beguhn and the print shop boys often worked late into the night to do their share toward getting the paper done on time. Before the Phoenix could be delivered to Friday seventh period classes, the papers had to be neatly folded and assigned to the right rooms.

Serving on the second semester staff were Jane Horney, editor; Judy Ballard, assistant editor; Iva Lee Routhrock, business manager; Joyce Young, news editor; Malcolm Baldock, assistant news editor; Yvonne Bales, feature editor; Nancy Gregory, assistant feature editor; Bill Wilt, sports editor; Claude Kirkpatrick, make-up; Jerry Armstrong, pressman; and Gary Bryant, ad make-up. Early in May the staff enjoyed a field trip to Louisville, Kentucky, and a banquet was held for the members of the staff at the close of the school year.

The two "bosses" of the Phoenix staff, Jane Horney and Phyllis Price, paste the dummy together before it is sent to the print shop.

Claude Kirkpatrick, Jerry Armstrong, Gary Bryant, and Gary Davis, the printing staff, make up the paper before it is printed.

With Our Song Of Praise

"New Castle High, we'll sing thy praise . . ." This line from the school hymn seemed best to express the purpose of the 1953 ROSENNIAL. Elaine, Sandy, and Martha used this theme of praise in planning the dummy layout last summer at Indiana University. Before school started, the other members of the staff were assigned their positions. With lots of enthusiasm we began making picture appointments and started the job of getting underclassmen pictures taken. Before we realized it, copy deadlines were right around the corner and we rushed madly into writing copy and mounting pictures. At last the complete dummy was sent to the printer, and when it came back, there was the story of the 1952-53 school year. We members of the staff are proud to present the 1953 ROSENNIAL to you.

We Record The Year's Events

Our staff was smaller than usual, so each person had a specific job which he was expected to do. Even though it was hard work, we will never forget the good times we had while doing it.

Sandy and Elaine kept us busy and on the right track. When deadline time came, they read our copy, and sent it in to the printer. Martha planned our budget, took charge of the subscription drive, and persuaded merchants to buy ads.

Taking care of underclassmen pictures was Norma's duty. Every picture had to be identified and placed in the right order. Gary did the same with the seniors, and in addition, he found out their activities. Jim Payne, with his Speed Graphic camera, acted as staff photographer, taking informal shots around school.

Identifying people in club pictures and reporting club doings was Jane's job, while Nancy looked back through the year, deciding which were the most important activities.

Jim worked with the teachers in assembling the faculty section. Duane checked team records, planned picture layouts, and scheduled pictures for the sports section.

The art work was done by Mary Jo, who also made the publicity posters for the subscription drives. Making picture appointments with Tom Petty and Jim Payne was Janet's biggest job. She worked with both photographers when pictures were taken.

The five juniors did the indexing and odd jobs while they began planning their 1954 ROSENNIAL. Keeping an eye on everything was Miss Halberstadt, whom we affectionately called "Halby." She was always ready to help us with problems and answer questions.

From Concerts To Jazz,

A wave of excitement always swept through the crowd as the band lined up at the end of the football field in preparation for its performances. Then with a roll of drums, and the clash of cymbals, the members stepped forward in unison. The marching feet kept time with the steady beat of the music as the band formed an "N" before the Trojan fans, and the initial of the opposition on their side of the field.

The band's peppy music was heard at the basketball games, too. Mr. Pressler and his bandsmen always had a song with a rhythm which was made for the clapping routines of the cheering section.

Several members of the band were entered in the District Solo and Ensemble Contest, February 7, at Ball State Teachers' College. The entries that received first division ratings there were sent to Butler University, February 14, for the all-state contest. Our Trojan musicians carried home many honors from these two contests.

From Symphonies To Song

"B.O. and his Little Stinkers" is the affectionate name given to New Castle High's pep band. Mr. Pressler and the Stinkers have played for the pep sessions before many football and basketball games. Wearing artificial noses and glasses, flashy ties, and funny little hats, they specialized in music of the ragtime and jazz type. Their popularity is widespread, and they have performed before many local clubs.

We will always remember our strutting drum major and baton-twirling majorettes as they preceded the band in its elaborate marching routines at the football games. The majorettes also did several clever twirling arrangements between halves of Trojan basketball games. The difficult manipulations of the batons looked easy in the capable hands of these majorettes.

Talented Musicians And Choristers

The A Cappella Singers enjoyed much success this year under their new director, Richard Jaeger. During the year they have performed in the various school concerts both at home and away. The Christmas portion of "The Messiah" was presented at Senior Vespers. This year on March 19, they played host to the Indiana District Choral Festival, following a concert given at Richmond. Many members of the choir appeared in Crescendo Varieties, and in the spring, the group gave concerts in several cities.

"Their stage presence is tremendous, and their individual enthusiasm is indeed welcome." This is what one of the judges at the state contest said about the Madrigal singers. The group, which increased to sixteen during the second semester, has won awards in several different contests. The Madrigal was featured in the Indianapolis "Star Magazine" and appeared on WFBM-TV in Indianapolis.

Make Music A Success

The orchestra, directed by Mr. Maurice Worland, performed at many community events this year. They played the background music for such programs as the senior class play, Crescendo Varieties, and Commencement. They also took part in the various concerts of the music department. The smooth music they made with every type of musical composition resulted from many hours of practice.

Actors and actresses run through the lines of "Mad Breakfast" once more before opening night.

The stage crew of Curtain Call indulges in a little "cutting-up" between acts.

There were moments of hilarious laughter and moments of tenseness in the three plays presented by the dramatics classes for Curtain Call this year.

The first play was a comedy entitled "Mad Breakfast." It concerned a boarding-house full of slightly eccentric people who kept the audience wondering what would happen next.

The second play, "In The Mist," was a mystery story. Weird lighting effects added a fear of the unexpected to the play. The story was about a boy who was haunted by the ghost of his father whom he had murdered.

"Parted On Her Wedding Morn, Or More to Be Pitied Than Scorned" was a play of the "meller-drama" type. It was about a girl who was saved from the clutches of a villain by a wonderful hero.

The crowds which saw the three plays felt that the acting was outstanding. The stage crew deserved much recognition for its successful results in the make-up, costumes, and props.

Audiences Laugh At Curtain Call Antics

Jim Perkins chokes Ronnie McCormack in a scene from "Parted On Her Wedding Morn." Doris Coers and Vera Enochs look on excitedly.

Doris Ast listens intently to the serious discussion between Nadine Marcum and Jim Vanderbeck during the play, "In the Mist."

"It's Wonderful" was the title of the music department's annual presentation of Crescendo Varieties last spring. The variety of the acts and the outstanding theme of the story left the audience with the feeling that it truly was wonderful.

The story was about an American soldier who met a French fighter on a Korean battlefield. The Frenchman told about his country during the first act which took place in a cafe in France. The entertainment there was romantic singing and dancing.

Soldiers Prove 'It's Wonderful'

In the second act, the G.I. told of the drugstore in his hometown where all the kids met after a baseball game for a coke and a jazz session. Here baton twirling, school yells, songs, and jitter-bugging were featured.

The third act reunited the two soldiers with their sweethearts at a USO show. A group of soldiers had come to see and hear the comedy acts, the songs, and the jazz music which completed "It's Wonderful."

And So The

With the arrival of September came the opening of school. All of us looked forward to the beginning of football season and the clubs' rough initiations. Most of all, we were happy to meet our old and new friends and to get back into the swing of things. Here we see Ron McCormack and Eleanor Crawley greeting our new principal, Mr. Wright.

As football season took over, we enjoyed the dances in the gym after the games. In October, the clubs had their impressive formal initiations, and Halloween was an excuse for playing many pranks. Freshmen and juniors spent two days taking special tests in the Armory, and everyone took a much needed rest when the teachers attended Teachers' Institute.

This was election year, and November found the Republicans and Democrats at each other's throats. Bill Howard and Marcia Ramsey got firsthand information from Mr. Reed's bulletin board. Curtain Call was a grand success, the basketball season opened, and November was climaxed by Thanksgiving vacation and the unforgettable Harvest Hop.

In December the seniors took part in their first activity, Senior Vespers. A big help in planning the seniors' futures was College Guidance Day. At Christmas-time high school clubs took baskets of food and clothing to needy people. Vacation was ended by Holiday Dance and many rollicking New Year's Eve parties.

New Year's Day was the day of the Big Four Tourney. Many Trojan fans traveled to Kokomo to see our team capture third-place honors. Basketball followers looked on with interest as the county tourney began. The ending of the semester brought worried looks to our faces as we thought of final exams. Miss Pogue is shown passing out tests to a Spanish class.

Year Passed

February was the month for our tourney—the sectional. N.H.S. fans flocked to the principal's office to buy tickets for the big event. Also in February was Hearts Hop, district and state music contests, and many club parties. Scholarship exams appeared and seniors began to make more detailed plans for the future.

In March the Music department presented its spring concert which took much planning on the part of Ruth Higgins, Harold Bardsley, Kay Phyllis Bailey, and Duane Eans. Beta sponsored the Letterman's Banquet, and the cast of the class play practiced for its two-night stand.

A week-long Easter vacation came in April. Many happy girls were invited to Hi-Y's Best Girl Banquet which featured Tommy Robbins' orchestra. Tryouts for Crescendo Varieties came after vacation and many of the students could be seen practicing dance routines or could be heard humming a "catchy little tune" under their breath. Beta Tri-Hi's Ma, Pa, and Me Banquet was in April, too.

May brought many club parties in honor of the graduating seniors. Junior Prom was an evening that will live forever in our memories. Athletes, like Tom Tinkle, received awards at Athletic Honor Day. Other honors were given at Honor Day. Then came Class Day, the presentation of the ROSENNIAL, and the dance that evening, where we had our year-books signed. Baccalaureate marked the end of the month.

We returned to school after all these activities and took our final exams. Seniors had their last class meeting, and the big moment finally arrived. They were sad to be graduating, but were cheered by the P.T.A. Commencement Dance and the Chamber of Commerce Party after Commencement. The whole school headed for a happy vacation time, and the underclassmen looked forward to next year.

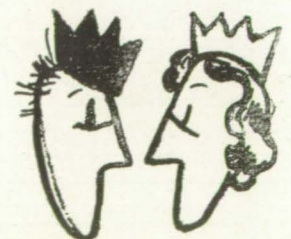

Royalty Reigns Over

Amid decorations of red and white valentines, Mary Jo Bergin and her escort, Bob Allen, were crowned queen and king of Hearts Hop, an annual dance sponsored by Beta Tri-Hi-Y. The dancers entered through a "Tunnel of Love" entrance into the gym where red and white crepe paper formed a canopy ceiling and walls. The tables and bandstand were decorated with red hearts. The evening was danced away to the music of Dick Mordenti and his orchestra. Bob crowned Mary Jo as queen, and she in turn crowned him as king.

Hollis Upchurch, a popular six foot two inch senior, was elected King Eskimo and he reigned over National Honor Society's annual dance, Eskimo Hop. Runners-up, who were Bob Allen, Keith Armstrong, Carroll Cleek, Don Hollan, Bill Howard, Don Locker, Dick Myers, LeRoy Nantz, Tom Payne, Roger Reeves, Joe Stanley, and Tom Tinkle, were given Eskimo pies. Guests attending the dance were foreign students from Earlham College and Indiana University. They visited in classrooms during the day and were introduced at the game before the dance.

NHS Annual Dances

Judy Sanders reigned as the lovely queen of Harvest Hop, the Hi-Y club's annual homecoming dance in November. Hal Kern and his eight-piece orchestra played for the dancers in the high school gymnasium which was decorated in dark blue, light blue, gray and white. Judy was crowned with white carnations and was given a bouquet of red roses by the president of Hi-Y, Jim Fromuth. Merchants of New Castle donated many beautiful gifts which were presented to the queen by the officers of the club. Judy's attendants were Gail Hern, Diane Murray, Beverly Bouslog, Deanna Worl, Mara Jane Stinson, Phyllis Robinson, and Sandy McCarthy.

Martha Hartzell was chosen queen of the Snow Ball, a Christmas-time dance sponsored by the SunShine Society. Elected queen from a group of eight junior and senior girls, she was crowned with white carnations by Mr. Lewis Larrison, posing at Santa Claus. Tom Preble's band provided music for the event.

Another annual event given by Beta Tri-Hi-Y was Holiday Hop. Junior Ryan and his "All Stars" played for the more than one hundred couples who attended. Decorations were white Christmas trees and gold balls. Hanging from the ceiling was a huge, white artificial snowball.

Macerettes Keep School Spirit High

The backbone of New Castle's school spirit was the Macerettes, a group of 115 girls who cheered our Trojans on to victory and brightened their outlook when they lost.

Traditional Trojan colors of green and white made up the girls' costumes. The officers were Doris Coers, president; Mara Jane Stinson, secretary-treasurer; and Betty Walcott, sergeant-at-arms.

Speakers Use Skill In Varied Activities

The staff of WYSN was always busy planning interesting programs for its listeners. The station operated five hours each school day and broadcast all N.H.S. ball games and educational programs which were widely used in the grade schools of New Castle.

Debating the subject "Resolved: That the Atlantic Pact Nations should form a federal union," the debate squad brought home first place honors from Ball State and won a first place trophy at Indiana State. The squad was a contender for the state championship.

Senators, legislators, and debaters were sent to Purdue University to represent N.H.S. at Purdue Legislature. Its purpose was to give students a better understanding of Indiana government and its operations. Our representatives won many awards.

PURDUE LEGISLATURE

Upon making a trip to a celestial kingdom by way of a "Stairway to the Stars," the juniors and seniors attending the 1952 Junior Prom found the brightest star of all. This star came down to earth to reign as Prom Queen. Lovely Elaine McGinnis was selected by a vote of the junior boys as queen of this all-important dance of the year. Ronnie McCormack, junior class president, crowned Elaine with a white carnation crown and kissed her. She then began her reign over a kingdom of stars, planets, moonbeams, and clouds which were the setting of the 1952 Prom.

Brightest Star Of All Reigns

The gym was attractively decorated in two shades of blue and white. Crepe paper streamers enclosed the dance floor, and from the ceiling were a hundred shimmering stars of many different sizes and shapes. The throne was in the center of the stage before a background of blue and white adorned with a huge star and planet.

The music was provided by Dusty Rhodes and his famous "Satisfiers." One of the favorite numbers of the dancers seemed to be the appropriate "Stardust."

Entertainment was given by the members of the junior dramatics classes. The program was entitled "How to Be A Star in One Night." It told of episodes in the life of a "Bookworm." She read from her diary about seeing a Shakespearean play, learning to dance at a Junior high mixer, a scene in her history class, her first dinner date, and a ride in a jalopy. After the entertainment, refreshments of cake and punch were served. The table decorations continued the color scheme.

At Prom

Queen Elaine had six beautiful attendants. They were Jane Ostlund, Helen Blackburn, Eva Catron, Judy Sanders, Joan Black, and Donna Charlton.

All candidates for queen and their escorts were called to the stage where Ronnie McCormack placed a ribbon of honor on each prospective queen. The name of the queen was saved until the very end of the ceremony.

After the queen was crowned, the attendants and their escorts formed an aisle through which Elaine and Ronnie walked to lead the Grand Dance which climaxed the 1952 Junior Prom.

Eight senior boys were selected as Junior Rotarians by the New Castle Rotary Club, which is made up of leaders of the community. Scholarship, leadership, and good character are the qualities which these boys must possess. Members of the National Honor Society and the senior class president became Junior Rotarians automatically. Other boys were elected by members of the National Honor Society. One of the eight seniors attended the Rotary Club dinner each month and introduced the boy who would attend the next month's meeting. In this way they learned more about the responsibilities facing them as future civic leaders.

Leadership, scholarship, and vocational interest in a particular field was the basis for the selection of twelve seniors as Altrusa Girls. The selection of girls from the graduating class is an annual project of the New Castle Altrusa Club. The various occupations the girls hope to follow are music, social studies, nursing, personnel work, radio, physical education, home economics, medical technology, stenography, advanced mathematics, journalism, and art.

The girls were entertained at a dinner early this year, where they were introduced to the club and heard many interesting talks about the pleasures and drawbacks of various occupations.

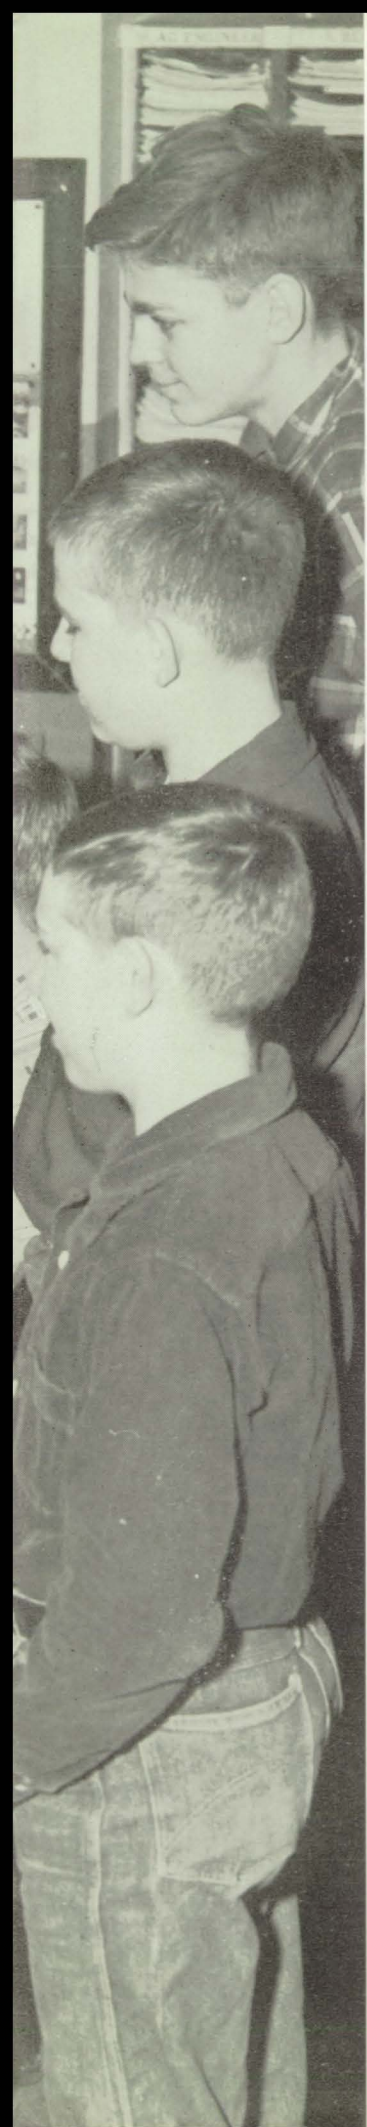

Teams Vie For Sales Honors

The English department again sponsored a magazine sale in cooperation with the Curtis Publishing Company. All proceeds from the sale went toward the publishing of N. H. S.'s own magazine, the Trojan Tribune. This magazine contained the stories written by students in the different English classes all year.

A contest between the Army team and the Navy team made the sale exciting. The grand total raised by both teams was 2,207 dollars. High salesman for the school was Tommy McElroy, who was awarded a Bulova watch for selling subscriptions amounting to 88 dollars. Susan Baker was given a Brownie flash camera for being the second high salesman. Sandy McCarthy was general manager for the campaign. Janet Cartwright and Kay Phyllis Bailey captained the Army and Navy teams.

Within the halls of freedom

The gavel bangs and another club meeting comes to order in the rooms of NHS, bringing with it service, business, fun, and lasting friendship.

Looking through the club's Tri-Hi-Y scrapbook with Pat Stinson, president, are Rosemary Armstrong, Nancy Conway, Jeanne Stove, Rheta Gorman, and Dixie Laurie who find the history of Alpha quite interesting.

Alpha Tri-Hi-Y

Skits, panel discussions, and business filled the canteen of the YMCA every Tuesday at 7 o'clock when the Alpha chapter of Tri-Hi-Y held its meetings.

This club, which is affiliated with the 'Y,' was busy this year with its many social and service activities. As a service project the girls earned money and turned it over to the Crippled Children's Fund, and they also took part in the drive for World Brotherhood.

To make money this organization sponsored a dance after a ball game and also sold concessions at the last three home basketball games.

Approximately thirty-five girls belonged to Alpha and worked with Miss Helen Rupley, their sponsor, and this year's officers Pat Stinson, president; Alyce Stove, vice-president; Coralee Elmore, secretary; Dixie Laurie, treasurer; Nancy Conway, chaplain; and Mary Elizabeth Logston, sergeant-at-arms, to make their club an excellent one.

To become a member of Alpha, a student must be a junior or senior girl and must apply for membership at the beginning of the year. Applicants also must learn the club song, motto, and prayer.

Beta Tri-Hi-Y

Holiday Hop, a semi-formal dance, and Hearts Hop, a dance which calls for spring sportswear were probably two of the best known projects of the Beta chapter of Tri-Hi-Y. Other activities of the club were Lettermen's Banquet, Ma-Pa-and-Me Banquet, and selling concessions at the basketball games.

Approximately ninety junior and senior girls were members of this club, and enjoyed working in its many activities. Following their purpose, "To create, maintain, and extend, throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character," the girls gave baskets of food to the needy at Thanksgiving and made mattresses for doll beds which were given to little girls at Christmas.

Mrs. Mary Rickert and Mrs. Marjorie Larrison are co-sponsors of Beta and its officers were Jane Ostlund, president; Marcia Medalen, vice-president; Jane Horney, secretary; Joan Black, treasurer; Anne Fleming, chaplain; Elaine McGinnis, sergeant-at-arms; and Mary Jo Bergin, historian.

For membership in Beta, a girl must be a junior or senior and live up to the club's purpose and slogan.

Future Business Leaders of America

"Let's go down to the bookstore," was a popular statement this year through the halls of N.H.S.

Operating the bookstore, which sells candy, notebook paper, pencils, and almost everything to suit a student's needs, was just one of the many activities of the Future Business Leaders of America. F.B.L.A. also had a St. Patrick's Day party, took a hike, sold jello, and sent several members of their club to the state and national F.B.L.A. conventions. As a money making project this club sponsored the dance, "The Business Bounce."

Officers of F.B.L.A. this year were Harold Browning, president; Sondra Ballard, vice-president; Dianne Mettert, secretary; Doris Webb, treasurer; and Joyce Jones, reporter. Mrs. Juanita Bishop sponsored this club with the help of the other teachers in the business department.

Sixty-five students were members of F.B.L.A. Their purpose was "To build up the business department and help get young people started in business." To become a member of this organization a student has to show an interest in the club and attend the formal initiation.

Future Homemakers of America

"Learning to live better today in order that our lives and those of our families may be better tomorrow" was the slogan of the Future Homemakers of America.

Led by Judy Life, president; Ruth Fischel, vice-president; Ina Van Hoy, secretary; Nancy Brown, treasurer; Pat Kelsay, historian; and Beverly Bufkin, editor; with sponsors, Mrs. Betty Francisco, Miss Frances Eilar, Mrs. Eunice Davisson, and Miss Louise Milligan, this club has been active both in social and service projects.

As a service project the Future Homemakers of America collected clothing to send to a needy mother and children in Kentucky. In exchange for these the mother sent Christmas decorations to the club. Another service project was selling coffee and doughnuts to the adults taking night classes in adult education.

This organization also sold homemade candy to earn money for the trip to Chicago, where members toured the Merchandise Mart building.

To become a member of F.H.A., which is trying "To interest youth in Home Economics," a student must have had one semester in a home economics course.

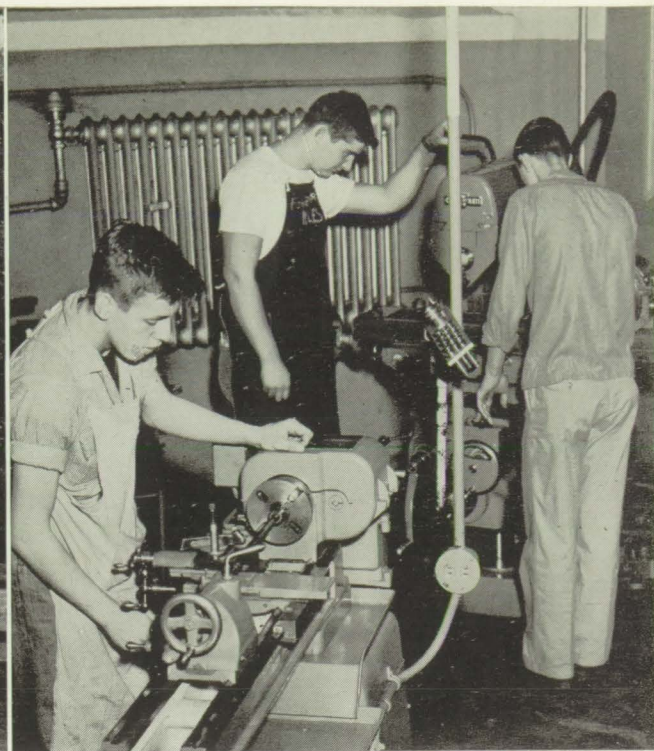

Row One — Miss F. Eilar, J. Life, R. Fischel, N. Brown, B. Bufkin, P. Kelsay, M. Stoddard, and Miss L. Milligan. Row Two — Mrs. E. Davisson, P. Lovely, S. Ritchie, J. Day, B. Sears, B. Clearwater, S. Melvin Dudley, Paul Niles, and Bob Sexton show a practical application of what they learn in vocational machine trades.

Machinist Club

"To provide social functions for its members and to encourage interest in machine practice" was the purpose of the Machinist Club.

With a membership of thirteen, this club chose as its officers Melvin Dudley, president; Edward Justice, vice-president; and Edward West, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Hurley Jett sponsored this organization and helped with its many activities. Some of these were parties such as taffey pulls, square dances, and box suppers. In these parties the Machinist Club co-operated with the Future Farmers of America and the Future Homemakers of America.

Each boy, who is graduating from high school and who has taken vocational machine trades, is given a gift by the Machinist Club.

This gift is a green and white enameled belt buckle with a block letter N in its center. A Trojan head panel is in the left hand corner with a cog wheel on the right hand side. Across the bottom of the buckle on a plate gold bar is engraved the word, "Machinist."

By being enrolled in vocational machine trades, a student may become a member of the Machinist Club.

Questers Hi-Y

Giving baskets of fruit to needy families at Christmas and purchasing and decorating a Christmas tree for the lounge of the YMCA were only a few of the projects of Questers Hi-Y, the only club in N.H.S. restricted to freshmen and sophomore boys.

Mr. Lewis Larrison is sponsor of Questers and its officers were Marsee Beckett, president; Jim Aaron, vice-president; Duane Farley, secretary; Dwight Tallman, treasurer; Duane Brammer, chaplain; and Fred Cheshire, sergeant-at-arms.

As a money-making project the boys held a dance after a basketball game which they called the "Questerman's Ball." They also sold green and white Trojan Booster tags for automobile license plates.

A thrilling experience for these boys came when they held formal induction services for the junior high school Hi-Y organization.

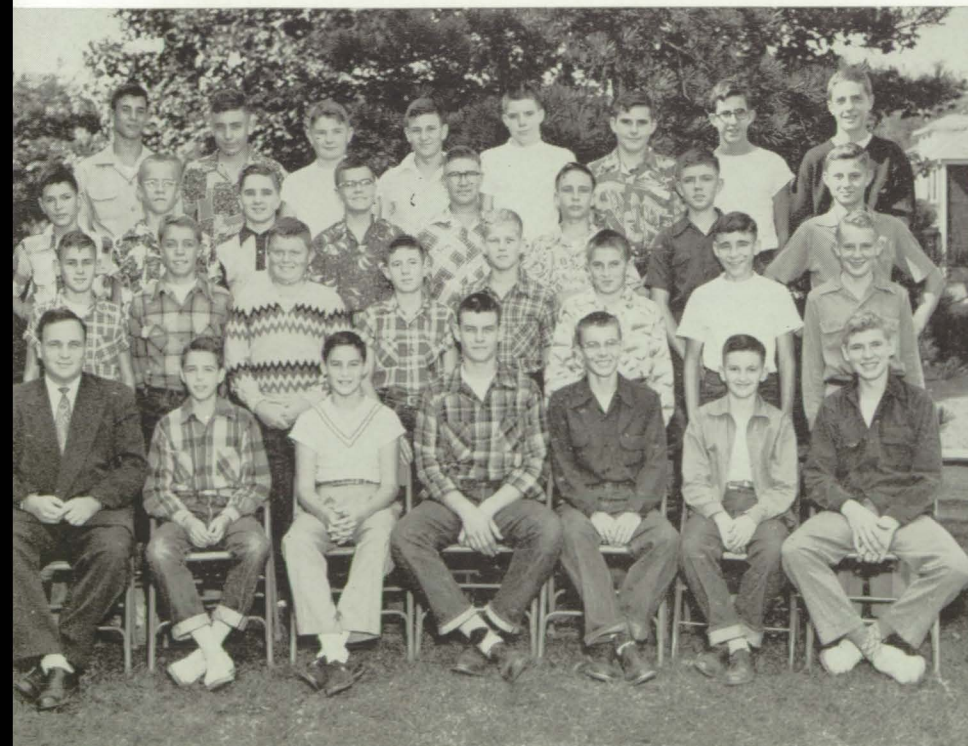

The thirty-five members of Questers met every Tuesday night in the YMCA canteen, and every other meeting was a social affair.

To become a member of Questers Hi-Y, a boy must be willing to go through initiation and to obey the principles of the club.

Latin Club

"Io, Io, omnes adsunt" or "Hail, Hail, the gang's all here," members of the Latin Club, N.H.S.'s second largest group, sing as they get together to learn Latin socially.

Trying to be "Semper Romini," always Roman, Miss Mabel Hodson, sponsor, with Ron McCormack, president; Sandy McCarthy, vice-president; Judy Brown, secretary; and David Brenner, treasurer, led the members of Latin Club in many activities.

Best known of these activities was the Christmas party which featured a Latin play, "Cuculla Rubra" or "Little Red Riding Hood," and a gift exchange, the Roman Banquet held this spring, where the members of the club tried to be as much like Romans as possible, and the initiation of new members, where this year the pledges were blindfolded and taken across the river Styx. Before they were through, the pledges were familiar with the Lower World, its rulers, mysteries, and terrors. Latin Club also sponsored a dance in co-operation with the Spanish Club.

Any student who has taken Latin is eligible to become a member of the Latin Club.

Hi-Y

Best Girl Banquet, Mother, Father, and Son Banquet, and Harvest Hop were only a few of the activities of Hi-Y this year.

Fifty boys in high school belonged to this club and followed the platform, "Clean Speech, Clean Sports, Clean Scholarship, and Clean Living." Hi-Y is affiliated with the Young Men's Christian Association and their meetings were held each Tuesday evening in the YMCA canteen.

Mr. Francis Reed is sponsor of this club and this year's officers were Jim Fromuth, president; Tom Payne, vice-president; Ron McCormack, secretary; Bob Tichenor, treasurer; Keith Armstrong, chaplain; Bob Allen, sergeant-at-arms; and Kenny Luttrell, cabinet member.

To make money this organization sold concessions at the football games and sponsored the dance after the first football game. Hi-Y's service project was buying a complete new set of clothes for a needy high school boy as a Christmas gift.

For membership in this club a student must be a junior or senior boy and must go through rough initiation, formal initiation, and maintain the standards of the club throughout the year.

Row Two—Shirley Wiley, Janet Trittschuh, Elaine McGinnis, Anne Fleming, Patsy Poole, and Mary Lou Stubbs. Row Three—Ron McCormack, Judy Life, Helen Blackburn, Jane Ostlund, David Brenner, and Fred Moystner.

Under Miss Rucker's direction, John Hay and Alice Krauth look over monologues to find the one they will use for the next speech contest.

National Forensic League

The National Forensic League is an honorary club whose members must earn twenty points by speaking in speech contests or on community programs. The purpose of this club is "To train the student to become an effective speaker, to give him actual platform experience, to help him realize the obligation for honesty and accuracy to his listener, and thereby to become a successful and influential person in whatever station of life he chooses."

Officers of this club Martha Hartzell, president; John Hays, vice-president; Alice Krauth, secretary; and Jim Fromuth, treasurer; with sponsors, Miss Juanita Rucker and Mr. Hobart Risley, and faculty adviser, Mr. James Elrod, helped members of the club with entries in the many speech contests throughout the state.

There are four degrees which a member of N.F.L. can obtain. They are the degree of merit, earned by making twenty points; the degree of honor, obtained after a student has fifty points; the degree of excellence, given after a person has made one hundred points; and the degree of distinction, presented to the student after he has earned two hundred points.

National Honor Society

Each year five per cent of the junior class and fifteen per cent of the senior class are chosen to become members of the National Honor Society on the basis of character, scholarship, service, and leadership.

Activities of this club were ushering at plays and concerts, collecting convocation passes at convocations, compiling the honor roll at the end of each six week grading period, and keeping a scrapbook of all the activities of New Castle High School. These students also held a toy drive for underprivileged children. The toys were collected from students and turned over to the Salvation Army to be distributed. Another activity of the National Honor Society was its annual dance, the "Eskimo Hop." A special attraction for this dance was the crowning of King Eskimo.

Officers for the first semester were Jim Fromuth, president; Patsy Poole, vice-president; Martha Hartzell, secretary; and Sandy McCarthy, treasurer. For the second semester they were Anne Fleming, president; Phyllis Price, vice-president; Helen Blackburn, secretary; and Jane Ostlund, treasurer. Miss Catherine Ratcliffe is sponsor of this organization.

Row One — Martha Hartzell, Jim Fromuth, Patsy Poole, Sandra McCarthy, and Miss Catherine Ratcliffe. Row Two—Judy Life, Phyllis Price, Anne Fleming, Mary Logston, Elaine McGinnis, Helen Blackburn, and Jane Ostlund. Row Three—Fred Moystner, and Ron McCormack.

Elaine McGinnis, Ron McCormack, and Jim Fromuth, members of National Honor Society, learn how much work goes into compiling the honor roll.

Miss Pogue, Miss Ratcliffe, and Spanish Club members enjoy their Spanish Club Banquet as they "hablan Espanol."

Row One—J. Wilt, E. Griffith, P. Black, J. Stove, J. Trittschuh, A. Stove, E. Daubenspeck, M. Hunter, M. Lane, N. Marcum, and N. Smith. Row Two—Miss L. Pogue, B. Bennett, B. Bouslog, D. Knotts, B. Walcott, S. Hoosier, V. Corbin, L. Wimmer, N. Stoops, M. Weddell, S. Wiley, G. Franklin, and J. Sanders. Row Three—S. Booher, J. Curlett, C. Corbin, G. Shelton, C. Rea, S. Stephens, D. Solida, L. Myers, L. Kennedy, J. Sox, R. Waltmire, J. Woods, F. Roberts, T. Roberts, F. Moystner, R. Johnson, P. Householder, R. Lange, W. Parker, B. Adams, and B. Veach.

Spanish Club

A banquet, held in the basement of the high school, was one of the most gala occasions for members of the Spanish Club. At this affair, held in April, Carolyn Grover was chosen "Lady of Spain."

At this banquet all simple words like "a," "an," or "the" were spoken in Spanish. If a club member forgot to do this he had to give the person who caught him a piece of corn. At the end of the banquet the person having the most corn won a prize.

At the beginning of the school year Spanish Club initiated its new members, and this year held its first rough initiation. The new members were blindfolded and taken on an excursion filled with many startling experiences.

During one of the club meetings Miss Judith Ingersoll told about her trip to Europe, especially her journey through Spain. She also showed movies and pictures of this trip.

The Spanish Club was led by Janet Trittschuh, president; Alyce Stove, vice-president; Jeanne Stove, secretary; and Ina Van Hoy, treasurer; with Miss Lewelta Pogue as sponsor.

Anyone who has had Spanish and is interested in becoming a member of the Spanish Club is eligible for membership.

Science Club

A trip to Earlham College to visit the science building and to see the observatory was the highlight of the activities of Science Club members.

Because of its small size, this organization could take part in many group activities impossible for larger clubs. During the school year members saw movies, heard speakers, sponsored dances, and took field trips.

Science Club also helped the children in grade schools with various types of conservation work, and at the end of the year each member wrote a project report which was published in the local newspaper.

Officers for the first semester of this year were Phyllis Price, president; Betty Jo Wilt, vice-president; and Elaine Ingram, secretary-treasurer. For the second semester they were Phyllis Price, president; Joyce Young, vice-president; and David Brenner, secretary-treasurer. Sponsors were Mr. Ivan Hodson, Mr. Garland Bookout, and Miss Mary Rankin.

To become a member of Science Club a student must have had one semester in a scientific subject.

Learning more about science, Science Club members, Phyllis Price, Elaine Ingram, and Betty Jo Wilt, are getting some information from Mr. Hodson and Mr. Bookout.

Doris Coers, Sharon Bradway, and Roberta Baker cluster about Judy Sanders to see if they have received any gifts from their Ideal Ladies.

Row One—J. Cheek, K. Gorman, W. Brown, D. Mettert, S. McCarthy, M. Stoddard, J. Smitherman, E. Anderson, L. Campbell, S. Carpenter, D. Worl, J. Ostlund, and J. Osborne. Row Two—J. Neff, B. Walcott, C. Solida, J. Cartwright, M. Medalen, J. Wainscott, J. Sanders, S. Bradway, R. Baker, E. Daubenspeck, E. McGinnis, G. Franklin, and P. Rager. Row Three—C. Corbin, S. Simerly, E. Griffith, J. Ooten, M. Conway, A. Krauth, G. Wills, L. Johnson, J. Stinson, P. Blevins, P. Wright, D. Corum, M. DeWeese, O. Klus, A. Fleming, S. Brown, W. Burgan, I. Land, and S. Tremain. Row Six—N. Brown, B. DeWitt, M. Stearns, G. Irvin, J. Life, B. Bufkin, J. Alexander, P. Moore, L. Carender, J. Neal, B. Ratcliff, H. Blackburn, A. Stove, P. Robinson, N. Marcum, M. Lane, M. Haynes, and M. Matthews.

SunShine Society

The older members of the SunShine Society have been working hard this year to live up to the example set by their late sponsor, Mrs. Fylius Fisher, who died last year. Mrs. Fisher was a true example of the SunShine Creed, "With love in my heart, forgetting self, and with charity for all, I will make the object of my life helpfulness and kindness to others. I shall try to fit myself to give intelligent service in making my community a safer and more beautiful place in which to live. Thus will my own life become rich and complete."

These girls, trying to find someone to take Mrs. Fisher's place, chose eight teachers to be sponsors, and each had charge of one activity. Miss Cleo Orr was in charge of the Mother-Daughter Dessert Party, Mrs. Mildred McJilton helped with the fruit plates for shut-ins, Mrs. Betty Francisco was in charge of the Christmas Faculty Tea, Mrs. Margaret Sanders helped with the Dad-Daughter Date Night, Miss Juanita Rucker was in charge of the Easter Sunrise Service, Miss Louise Milligan supervised the plans for the Ideal Ladies Party, and Miss Ruth Andrews directed popcorn sales.

SunShine Society

Following their mottos, "Let your light shine" and "Others," the members of the SunShine Society were busy working on some activity all year long. They sold popcorn at the football and basketball games, had their rough and formal initiations, parties for Mom and Dad, a tea for the faculty, dances, the Easter Sunrise Service, and a party for their Ideal Ladies.

This year's officers were Judy Sanders, president; Sharon Bradley, vice-president; Elsa Daubenspeck, recording secretary; Roberta Baker, corresponding secretary; Elaine McGinnis, treasurer; Ginger Franklin, chaplain; and Phyllis Rager, sergeant-at-arms. Miss Martha Nutt, one of the eight sponsors of SunShine, helped the girls with their monthly meetings held after school in room 203, and was a general adviser for the club.

To close this very busy year, the new officers of SunShine gave a party for the graduating seniors. These girls, their minds full of the wonderful work of SunShine will be "Looking up and not down, looking out and not in, looking on and not back, trusting God and doing their best."

Row One—S. Hopkins, R. Hurst, D. Ledbetter, M. Tower, S. Hoosier, K. Brown, P. Black, S. Baker, P. Adams, C. Hall, T. Pavey, S. Cross, and N. Stoops. Row Two—J. Rush, C. Hall, D. Knotts, S. Hines, J. Soots, S. Ritchie, L. Draper, A. Toller, M. Gribbons, B. Sears, G. Caldwell, J. McKechnie, N. Montgomery, L. Wimmer, and C. Turner. Row Three—E. Craig, S. Shepperd, B. Harris, J. Southers, B. Clearwater, N. Smith, P. Mayer, A. Brummett, J. Day, D. Solida, L. Daubenspeck, C. Rea, J. Knotts, D. Murray, D. Melton, V. Barker, and D. Charlton. Row Four—G. McCormick, D. Grunden, L. Batchfield, B. Link, L. Bergin, A. Trainor, P. Benson, C. Groves, S. Wallen, S. Wilson, J. Wood, S. Kramien, J. Lucas, B. Lockridge, W. Anderson, P. Johnson, M. White, B. Robinson, and D. Stearnes.

Tom McElroy, Mal Griner, and Ed White, members of Radio Club, learn how to use their club's equipment.

Radio Club

"Your Schools in New Castle" are familiar words to the many listeners of WYSN, the three-watt station which was presented to the city schools two years ago by the clubs of New Castle.

The gift of the FM transmitter brought to Miss Juanita Rucker and her radio students many problems because this was something very new to them. One of their biggest problems existed because students didn't know enough electronics to become operators for the station, and it took a long time to find enough students to run the equipment and put WYSN on the air.

Midway through the first semester of this school year a group of boys met with Mr. Ralph Bracht, a new teacher and licensed operator, to formulate plans for an electronics club. This group of fourteen elected as their officers Richard Lange, president; David Riley, vice-president; and Mal Griner, secretary-treasurer.

These boys spent the rest of the year busily working to obtain a general knowledge of radio and electronics. They worked on code practice, radio theory, had discussions, saw films, and visited a radio and TV station.

Other Clubs

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA — "Learning to do, doing to learn, learning to live, living to serve" was the slogan which made life interesting for the twenty-four members of the Future Farmers of America.

Led by their sponsor, Mr. Morris Weekly; Jim Hamm, president; James Hagerman, vice-president; Dick Shafer, secretary; Bruce Winningham, treasurer; Glen Wilkinson, reporter; and Wendell Evans, sentinel; the boys had a Halloween party, sold garden and flower seeds, and took a trip to Detroit.

To become a member of F.F.A. a student must be enrolled in agriculture and receive a majority vote of the members.

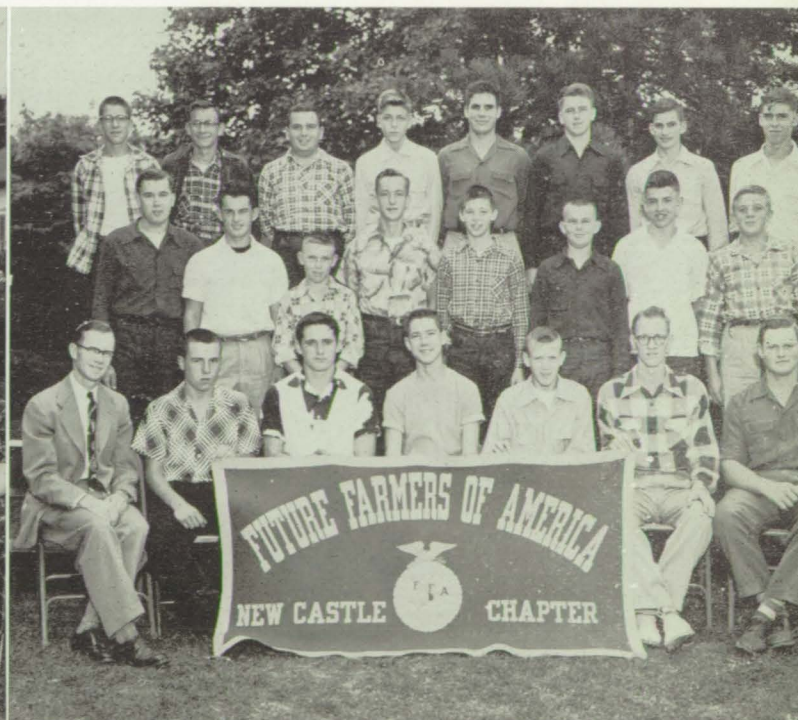

BIBLE CLUB — The Dixie Four Concert, sending Christmas cards to the county farm, and Christmas caroling were a few activities of the Bible Club.

One of the newer clubs in N.H.S., the Bible Club and its thirty members, met to study the Bible and world religions.

Officers for this organization were Sue Bennett, president; Charlotte Cline, vice-president; Mary Lou Stubbs, secretary; Sarah Booher, treasurer; and Keith Owens, chaplain. Their sponsors were Miss Lewelta Pogue, Mrs. Margaret Sanders, and Mr. Alvin Lake.
