1960 Rosennial

WALTER P. CHRYSLER MEMORIAL HIGH SCHOOL
NEW CASTLE, INDIANA

We Think BIG!

Holding Company president, Ed Ogborne, turns over the keys to School Board president, L. Q. Jacobs, during the dedication ceremony for our new Fieldhouse on November 21, 1959.

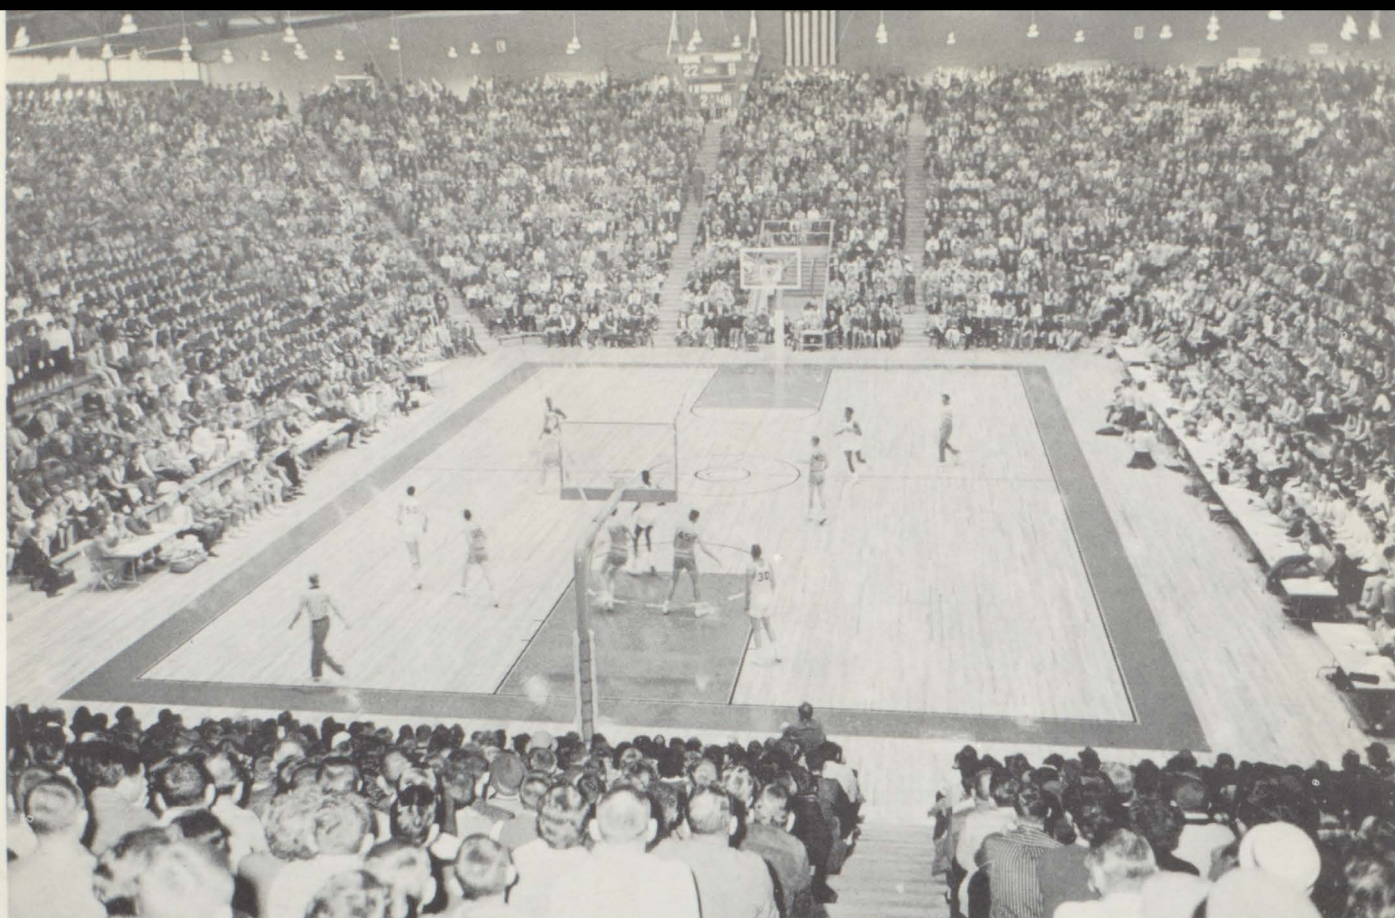

The 1959-60 school year was a big one for us in Chrysler High School. The completion of the long awaited Fieldhouse and the business education wing was obvious proof that "We Think Big."

Our Fieldhouse stands as a symbol of community cooperation. We are proud not only because it is the largest high school fieldhouse in the world but also because it represents the community and school working together.

This feeling of cooperation and pride seemed to spur us on to state and national recognition in many fields. Individuals as well as groups brought honor to our school and community. In the 1960 ROSENNIAL, we are proud to record proof that we do THINK BIG.

"Hoosier Hysteria" is a good description of Indiana basketball games. During the Big Four Tourney and Regional, our Fieldhouse was so full that temporary bleachers were added. When filled to capacity it will comfortably seat 9,600 fans.

We Are Thrilled With Our

Mr. Larry Horney, Lela Koontz, Alice Davidson, and Sue Ingram sack popcorn at the Sectional. Basketball fans consumed an average of 2,139 sacks at each home game.

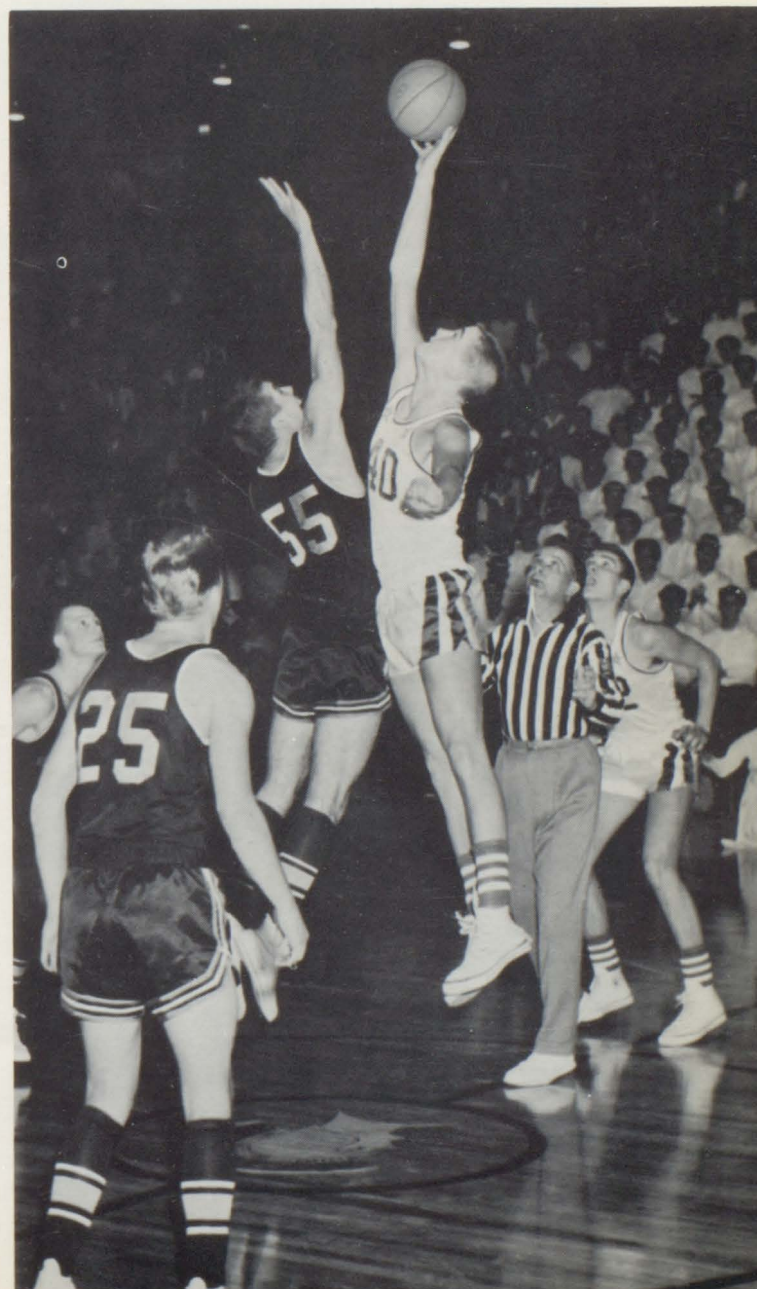

Warren Phelps jumps for the first tip-off of the season, and the first in our new Fieldhouse, as Chuck Lawson and members of the Greenfield team watch hopefully.

Fieldhouse!

Horns honked, sirens screamed, the band played, and high school students in decorated cars were ready to enjoy, as a reality, the dream which had been talked about for years. This dream, New Castle's Fieldhouse, was started early in 1958 and completed after numerous setbacks in November, 1959.

Although our Fieldhouse was big enough to hold half of New Castle with its 9,600 seats, it was filled to capacity at the Big Four Tourney and Regional. It wasn't long before we began to wonder if it was really big enough.

It was also the scene of the Central Indiana Choral Festival, Mid-State Orchestra Festival, the Marine Band concert, and numerous high school convocations.

Student Manager Mike Weadick finds that issuing equipment is much easier in the new gym. Here he hands Jim Galliher his practice football equipment.

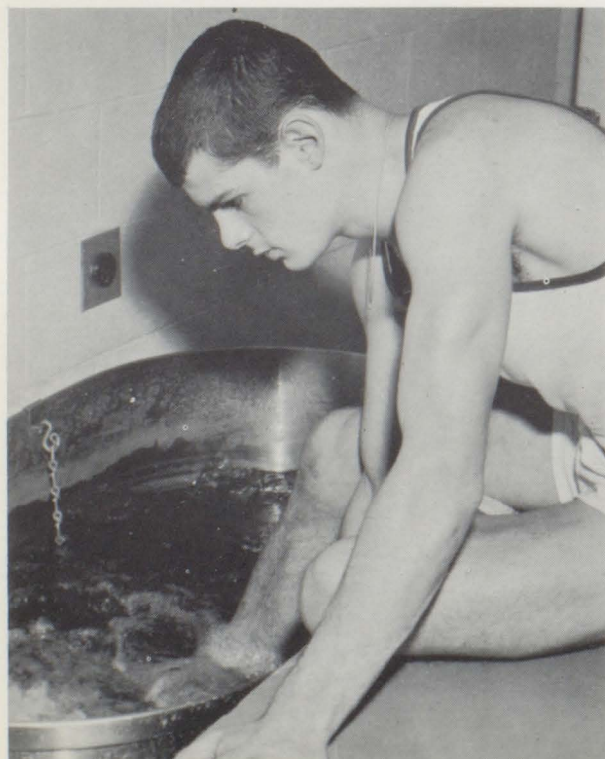

As we remember running to the Church Street Gymnasium and the Armory for physical education classes, or last year when we had no physical education at all, it is hard for us to realize that these wonderful new facilities are ours at last.

This year, 194 sophomore girls and 196 sophomore boys made use of our new facilities in their classes. We had adequate space for our clothing, excellent equipment rooms, shower rooms, and offices.

Boys and girls enjoyed such activities as basketball, tumbling, volleyball, soccer, and then met together for four weeks of social dancing and square dancing.

Our Gym, Athletic Equipment

The newly purchased whirlpool is just the thing to help senior Burke Show relax his muscles before a game.

Buses were often sponsored by our Student Council for out-of-town games, and we decorated them to boost our team.

Glenna Raybourn, Ann Gross, Susan Wright, Jackie Brown, Kathy Lockeridge, Alice Garrard, Jill Horseman, Pat Bell, Barbara Goodin, Julie Bradway, Pam Goodpaster, Joyce Davis, and Pat Harding demonstrate their talents in a tumbling routine.

Is the Finest

Our new physical education plant was built with the idea of meeting the demands of the future, for it can accommodate approximately 1,500 students at one time.

In addition to its present use for physical education classes, it offers facilities for approximately 150 athletes every day. The near-by football field and our modern track have made it possible for us to have one of the most outstanding athletic programs in the North Central Conference for the first time.

Sophomore gym students, Bonnie Cook and Pat Campbell, find it easy to keep their clothes neat and clean in their own individual lockers.

The steel strike halted construction on our business wing, and we had to wait four months before we could move in.

We Added Ten

Finally in January, the move was made to permanent business classrooms. Helping to move books and furniture are Alice Correll, Sharon DeCoursey, and Tim Preble.

Sandy Ledbetter, Wilbert Hacker, Jewell South, Jo Ann Cook, Judi Bowers, and Joyce Fadely practice on the new electric typewriters as Mrs. Mildred Fleet inspects their work.

This year also saw us move into our Business Education Wing with class rooms designed to make possible the latest methods of teaching business.

Visiting educators stated that our facilities were among the best in the state. As we went to classes, to the Girls' Gym, or to the Student Parking Lot, we often stopped to admire the interesting displays in the retail selling show windows. They were changed each month to feature products from stores in which the DE students worked.

A model office, electric typewriters, dictaphone, and mimeographs provided a professional atmosphere for students majoring in business.

Band members Don Miller, Danny Riley, Ralph Pressler, and Rinke McShurley store their instruments in specially designed cabinets.

New Classrooms

Retail selling students provided attractive window displays with a new idea for every month. Sally Smiley used red and white to carry out the February theme.

We Worked Hard, Preparing

Making early morning arrangements for our 8:15 announcements are Louise Pfeffer, Wayne Kollmeyer, Barbara Phipps, and Charles

Mrs. Sheddric, our bookkeeper, is selling another new green and white Trojan notebook to Deane Planeaux while Doris Shortridge, Joyce Morgan, and Cathy Norris, wait in line to make their purchases.

Holding a department meeting to consider standards of English usage are Mrs. Margaret Sanders, Mr. Larry Horney, Miss Helen Lees, Mr. Don Scott, Mr. John Nead, and Mr. Hobart Risley.

For College

We used green and white Trojan notebooks with a ten page study guide to help us organize our work.

New techniques were tried in our English classes, and our senior math course was modernized to include analytic geometry and calculus.

Our school had the honor of being one of 1,000 high schools selected for "Project Talent," and we took a series of tests covering ability and aptitudes for four half days in April.

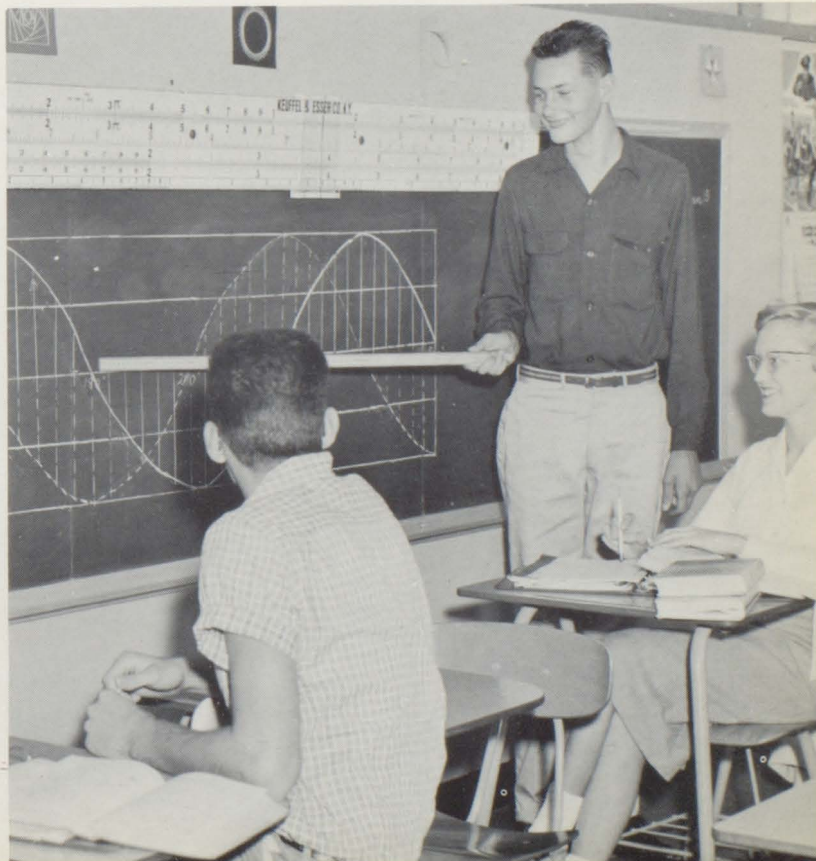

Constant revision of curriculum and introduction of new classes made it possible to meet the needs of every student.

Using the analytical balance are three juniors — Jean Ann Allan, Dick Cooper, and Roy Garvin. Juniors took chemistry this year because no physics classes were available.

New methods were tried in two English classes this year under the supervision of Ball State Teachers College. Delbert Brewer speaks as Jerry Bunch, Bill Hunnicutt, Shirley Adams, and Jon Baker listen.

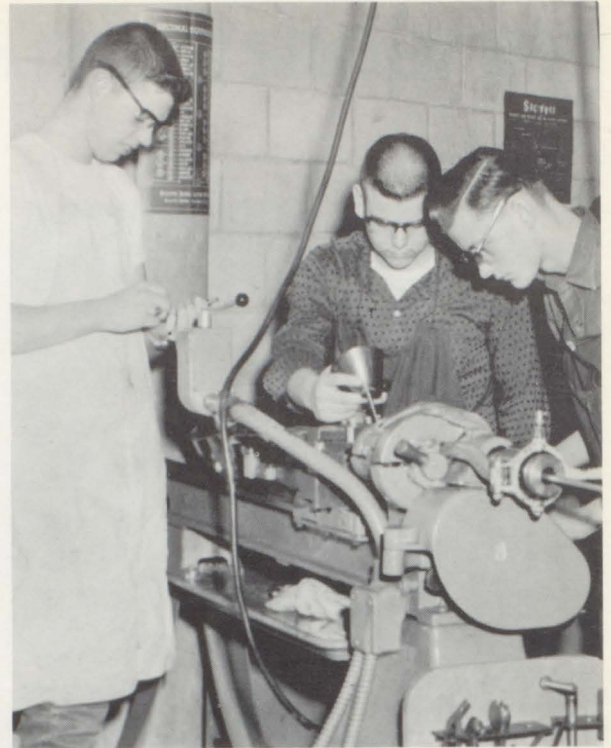

Analysis which included calculus and a review of algebra was taught in senior math for the first time this spring. Joey Davis is explaining a line equation and graph to Jerry Bunch and Marcia McKinney.

Attractive dresses made by Faith Merrill, Mary Lange, Carol Whittenburg, Helen Bowsman, and Beverly Davis are modelled for the Home Economics Spring Style Show which was held in the Girls' Gym.

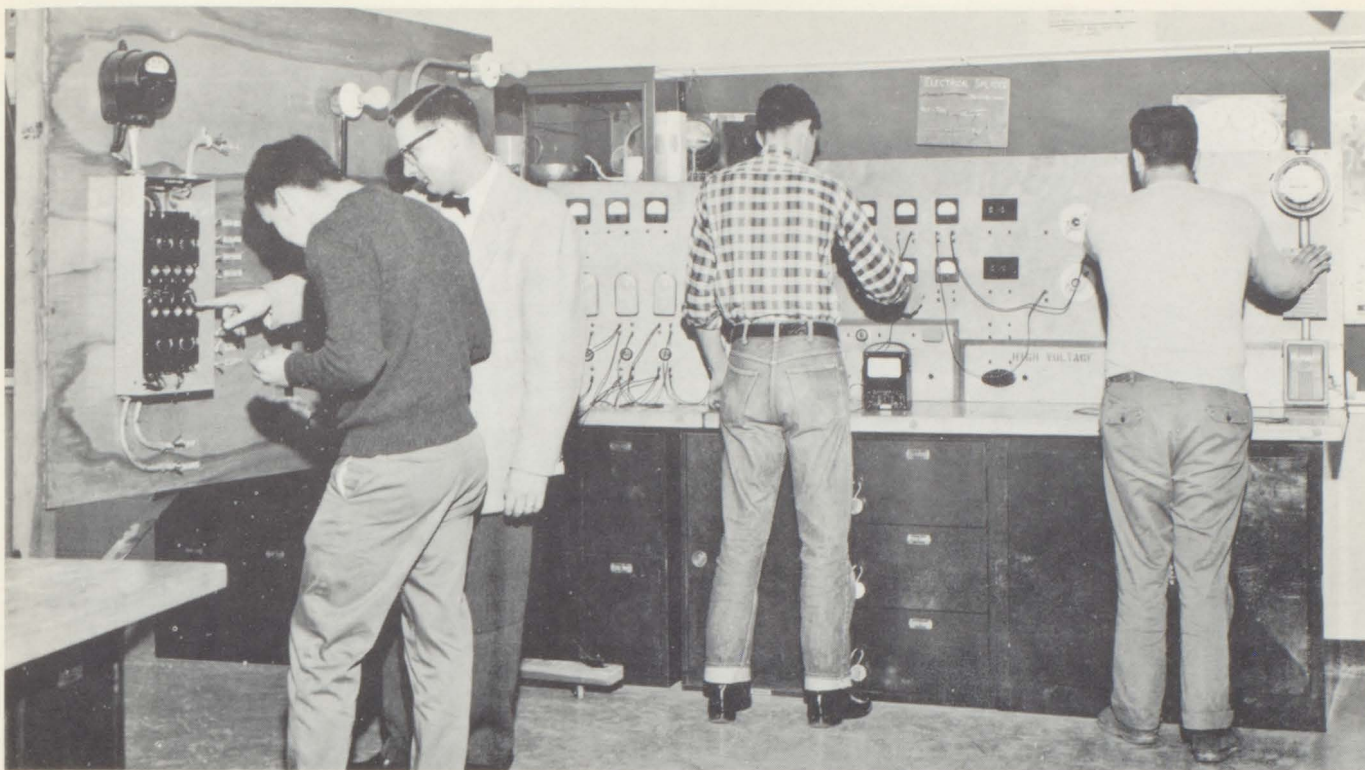

Machinist Club members met once a week to work on projects. Kenny Prosser, Lloyd Catey, and John Williams are shown setting up one of the machines.

Our Vocational Classes

Accuracy is essential to Gary Rhodes and other drafting students. Here, he is checking a drawing made to scale.

The wiring of a panel box similar to those in our homes is explained to Kelly Dishman by the instructor of the electricity class,

Mr. Russell Cores, while Curt Daggy and Bernie Laurie do experiments on the low and high voltage panel.

Were Outstanding, Too

Although vocational classes are in temporary rooms until the practical arts unit of the high school can be built, our home economics and industrial classes were outstanding. Girls in home economics were featured in a national magazine, and projects from shop classes took honors at the state meeting of vocational teachers in Indianapolis.

More than 60 percent of us will end our education with high school graduation, so our business and vocational classes are designed to prepare us to be successful in adult life.

We Spread the

Many of us brought state and national recognition to New Castle in scholarship competition, speech, home economics, business, and all phases of our excellent school program.

Whether or not we were able to win outside honors, we all tried to dress neatly and to be good school citizens. In this way we proved the Student Council slogan, "Sharper Students Make a Sharper School."

Discussing our school with visiting Brazilian educators, Mr. Redman learns that they consider Chrysler High to be the best high school that they have visited in the United States.

Outstanding social studies students selected to attend the Foreign Affairs Institute were Jim Neirinck, Celia Hammer, and Spencer Bavender. Not pictured is Jill Horseman.

Even for Parties and Programs,

Our year was highlighted by many school activities beginning with the all-school Watermelon Feast in September. Dancing and free watermelon at the Baker Park Pavilion created an atmosphere which helped us get acquainted.

We joined with the community at the Marine Band Concert which opened our Fieldhouse. As the year progressed, we attended many events such as Vespers, plays, concerts, style shows, dances, and our all-school Spring Fling.

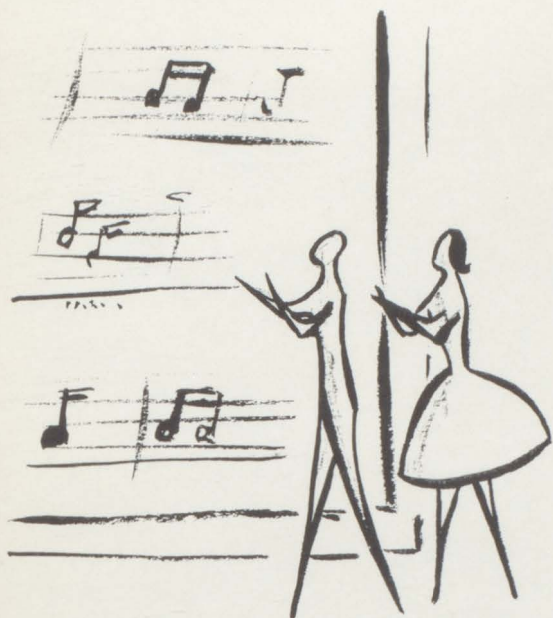

Sandy Carter, John Sox, and Band Director Bernard Pressler greet members from the "President's Own" Marine Band. Sponsored by the Music Boosters Club to raise money for band uniforms, this concert opened the Fieldhouse to the school and community.

We Planned Big

"We can beat those juniors!" was the cry of senior girls Donita Jarvis, Louise Pfeffer, Sharon Carman, and Martha Craig as they strained to win the tug of war during the Spring Fling on May 20.

In addition to enjoying free watermelon, students danced and got acquainted with their new classmates early in September at the annual Watermelon Feast.

Our Dreams Have Come True

We know that there will be many more big years for Chrysler High School, but we are glad that we were students here during the year that saw the opening of our huge Fieldhouse. We'll always remember that November day when we attended that first pep session and saw the completed Fieldhouse for the first time. How little — but how proud — we felt as we filled less than one section of the bleachers.

As the year went on, we watched the business wing grow, too, and impatiently waited until January when we moved into its ten classrooms.

All of us will always remember the 1959-60 school year, a year in which we proved "WE THINK BIG."

In the 1960 ROSENNIAL we are proud to record the story of our big year. First, beginning on page 22, we record SPORTS — the story of our mighty Trojans, their triumphs and their defeats. Next on page 44, we tell of the ACTIVITIES which kept us so busy all year. Beginning on page 84, we feature PEOPLE — our teachers and our classmates — who made 1960 so outstanding. Our progressive ADVERTISERS, who are working for a bigger, better New Castle, are pictured on page 128.

WE THINK BIG IN

SPORTS

A parking lot for 5,000 cars, and seats for 9,600 people — these provided the physical facilities for a big year in sports. All roads seemed to lead to the Fieldhouse for its numerous and varied events this year.

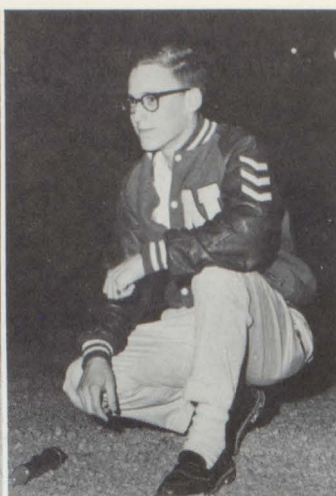

Howard Conner was used sparingly during the season but displayed much desire. He could be depended on to do his very best when called upon.

Tom Bennett, out for his first season as manager, helped the other managers by taking care of the supplies and keeping the dressing room orderly.

Bill Clements, for the third year in a row, proved his ability as a trainer. Taping ankles, legs, and hands was only part of his job of aiding the team.

Fourteen Determined Senior Gridsters

Steve Staley, co-captain and three letter winner, led the Trojans from the quarterback spot. Steve received All-State and All-N.C.C. honorable mention.

Jim Galliher used his aggressiveness to its fullest capacity at a halfback position. After transferring from Tennessee, he played two seasons with the team.

Chuck Waltmire concluded his third year of varsity competition by landing a berth on the N.C.C. team. He was given an end position on the All-State squad.

Burke Show was the fastest man on the squad. He used his speed and agility to out-distance many opponents and was a fine pass receiver.

Kelly Dishman completed his first year of varsity play this season. He was one of the most determined men on the squad and a fine blocker.

Bill Mitchener took over one of the starting tackle positions and displayed outstanding ability all year. His fine aggressive play will be missed next year.

Mike Weadick completed his fourth season as football manager. He was always willing to give time and effort unselfishly to encourage the Troymen.

Complete Final Season As Trojans

Glen Abrams, out for the first time, played tackle and end for the Trojans. He showed desire and keen interest. His fine play helped the team all season.

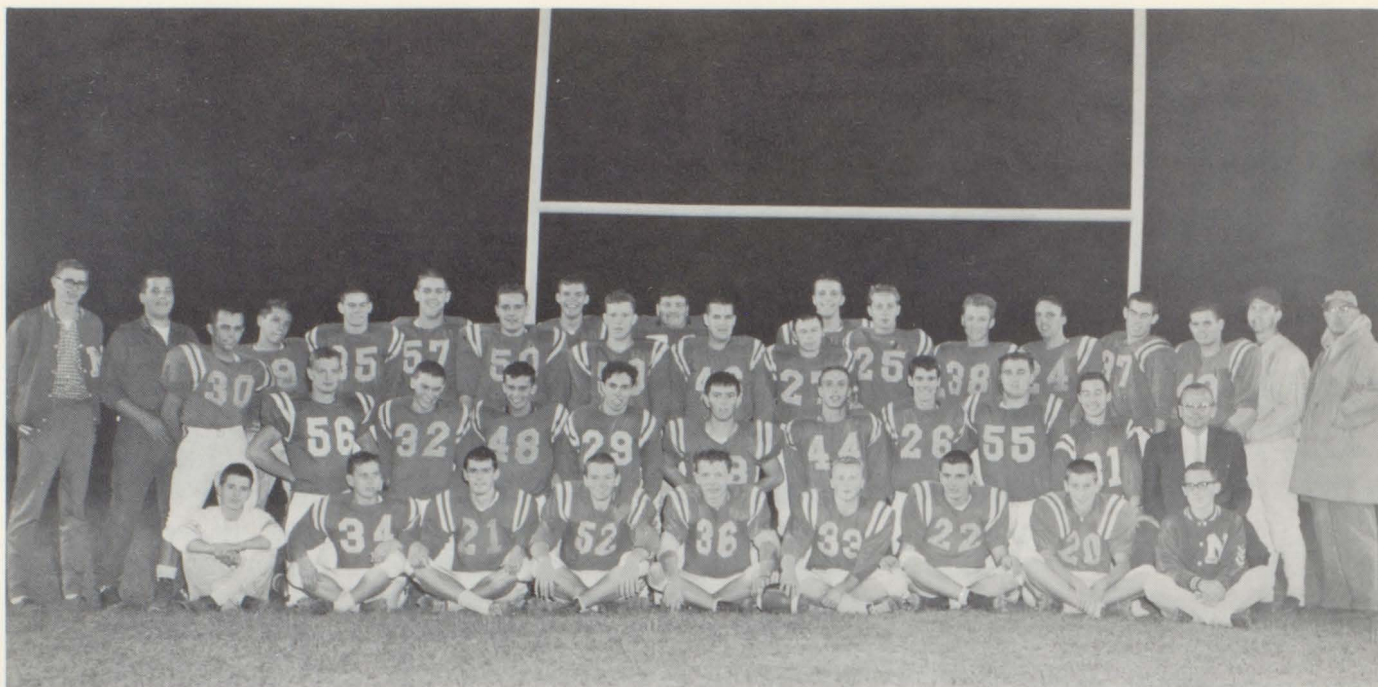

John Lee helped the Trojan cause as a pass receiver. Due to a knee injury suffered in the Secenia contest, he was unable to finish the remainder of the season.

Gary Kinert finished his third year for the Green and White at one of the starting guard positions and was one of the mainstays on this year's team.

Dale Stoots, although hampered by injuries during the season, played fine defensive football at his end position and was always very dependable.

Faced with the prospect of building a team around seven returning senior lettermen and one junior from last year's highly successful team, Coach Langan Hay and his newly acquired assistant, Curt Jones, found it necessary to use many inexperienced underclassmen and two new seniors.

The line was built around Chuck Waltmire, an outstanding pass receiver, and Gary Kinert, Bill Mitchener, Dale Stoots, and Larry Turner, aggressive linemen. Although he was out for football for the first time, senior John Lee proved to be a valuable asset at his end position, making many fine catches for the Trojans until he was injured in the Secenia game.

In the backfield, a three-way passing attack featured Steve Staley at quarterback and Burke Show and Jim Galliher at the halfback positions. All three threw many touchdown passes during the season. Mike Williams was the starting fullback with Kelly Dishman as the number one relief man for fullback or halfback.

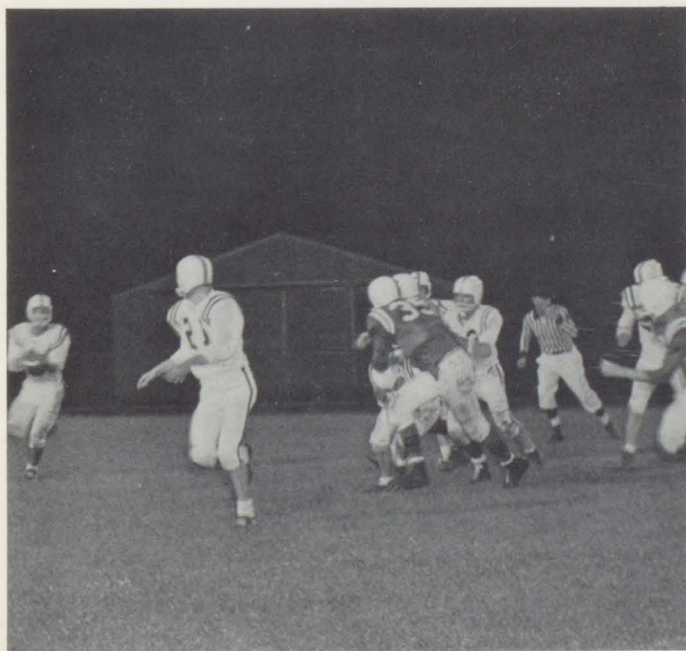

Backing up this first team in the line were several dependable juniors.

Assistant Coach Jones Introduces

Co-Captain Steve Staley goes into the air for a pass against Muncie Central as the Trojan line stops the onrushing Bearcat linemen.

With Curt Jones, former head coach at Earlham College, came the innovation of the spread offense. No longer did the players hear the familiar number of a play; now they had to become accustomed to such words as "Automatic," "Polecat," "Haystack," and "Wedge" or "Weasel." The opponent's reaction was expressed in the very first game when Connersville called time out before New Castle could put the ball into motion. The new formation continued to confuse the opposition throughout the season. Despite these new plays, however, inexperience proved to be the down-fall of the Trojans. After two wins at home, they lost seven straight contests.

Determined to win the last game of the season, Coach Hay had his team in high spirits and dressed for the 20 degree weather when they met Anderson. This strategy worked to perfection and the Trojans routed the Indians, 19-0.

Coach Elwood Wegesin directed his Trojan Colts through a valuable year of training and experience. The team, led by Mike Owens, Don Miller, and Mike Marsh, played many close games against rugged opponents but went down to defeat seven times.

Jerry Bunch strains every muscle as he finishes the gruelling two mile run with a new course record of 10:15.

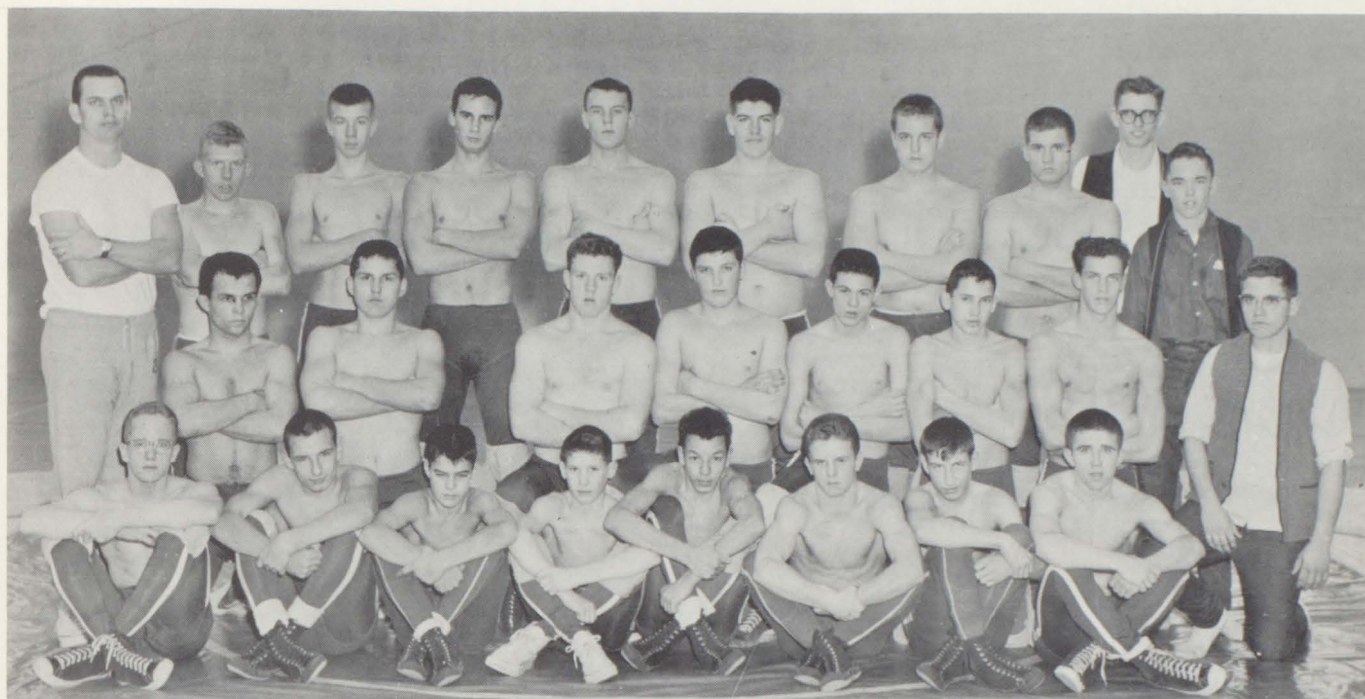

One of the finest records in history was compiled by New Castle's Cross Country team under the direction of Coach Wilbur Veach last fall. Leading this year's team were senior lettermen and co-captains Jerry Bunch and David Melvin, both of whom finished high in almost every meet. The season high was reached when Bunch set a new home course record of 10 minutes and 15 seconds for the two mile course at the American Legion golf course. Their running mates were juniors Roy Garvin, Jim Shock, Spencer Bavender, Sam Laurie, and Monty Johnson; sophomores Steve Arnold and Don Boyd; and freshman Jerry Brooks.

These runners placed sixth in the rugged North Central Conference meet with Bunch ranking second in this very important meet. Coach Veach's harriers also captured fourth in the sectional at Anderson. Coach Veach expects another fine season next year.

Garvie Piercy Leads Young Grapplers

ROW 1 — J. Arnold, M. Mann, E. Hilderbrand, L. Hoff, R. Lopez, M. Day, E. Neal, S. Laurie. ROW 2 — D. Luttrell, R. Onkst, G. Piercy, L. Bunch, M. Kenemer, M. Cheap, L. Jones, J. Baughn.

Wrestling gained new enthusiasm this year with Curtis Jones, also assistant football coach, as the varsity mentor; and for the first time in many seasons enough boys reported to place a man in every weight class.

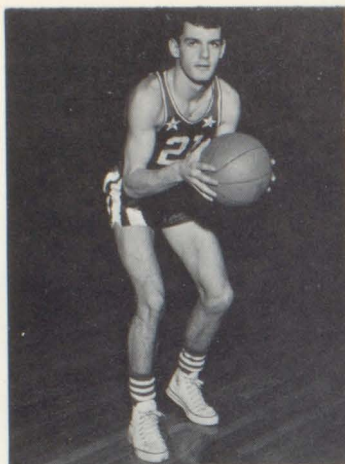

Co-Captains Garvie Piercy and David Luttrell led the team to a tie with Richmond for its only win, and the outstanding meet of the year. Piercy was undefeated in the regular season competition, wrestling in the 175 pound weight class. He placed first in the conference, first in the sectional at Muncie, and second in the regional. The team placed tenth in the North Central Conference.

Along with Piercy, Mike Day and Leon Jones are expected to be main stays in next year's squad. Coach Jones also has nine promising freshmen who can be considered excellent prospects for next year's matmen.

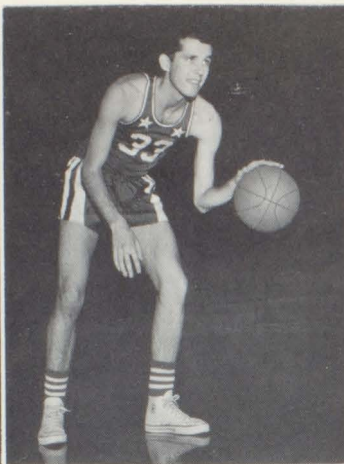

Coach Jones and other team members offer encouragement as Mickey Mann holds an opponent in agony during a home match.

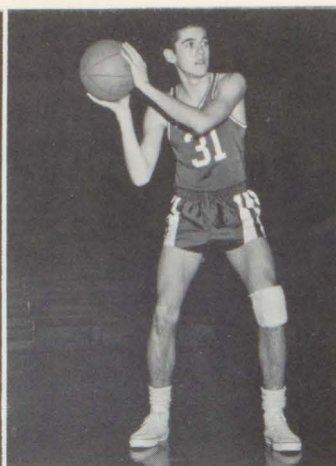

Burke Show was the sparkplug of this year's starting quintet. This senior guard was exceedingly talented on defense and the fastest man on the squad.

Mike Bergin was one of the stalwarts of the team. He finished his second year as a starting forward and contributed to many Trojan victories both seasons.

Bill Fisher was the leader of the team. His poise and natural finesse helped keep the team working together. He limited his shooting but was one of the best.

Tall, Experienced Senior Lettermen

Bill Baker was a talented junior center who could be counted on as a rebounder and capable scorer. His tremendous spirit was a great asset to the team.

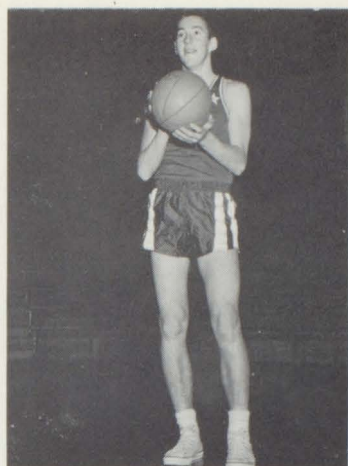

Mike Bales was a guard replacement. A first year man, Mike improved steadily as the season progressed and will be a mainstay in next year's lineup.

Terry Taylor was an excellent outside shooter and a valuable substitute at one of the guard positions. His shooting will help the '61 Trojan quintet next year.

Jerry Beguhn proved to be the team's number one replacement. His accuracy from the field and his jumping ability made him valuable in every Trojan contest.

John Lee completed his second season as a starting guard for the Trojans. His accuracy from the field enabled him to lead the team in the scoring department.

Warren Phelps used his height to secure many rebounds for the Trojans. In many games he provided the needed scoring punch for the Men of Troyland.

Chuck Lawson was this year's starting center. He used his aggressiveness and experience as a rebounder to aid the Trojans and was especially good on defense.

Lead Lawson's Last Team To 16 Wins

Doug Padgett played many relief roles at guard. On both offense and defense he showed potential and probably will be a member of the starting five next year.

Jim Shock gained valuable experience by rotating on the varsity and B-team. With more practice and experience, he will help the Trojan cause next year.

Roy Garvin saw limited action on the varsity this season but gained much valuable experience on the "B" Team, playing regularly at a forward position.

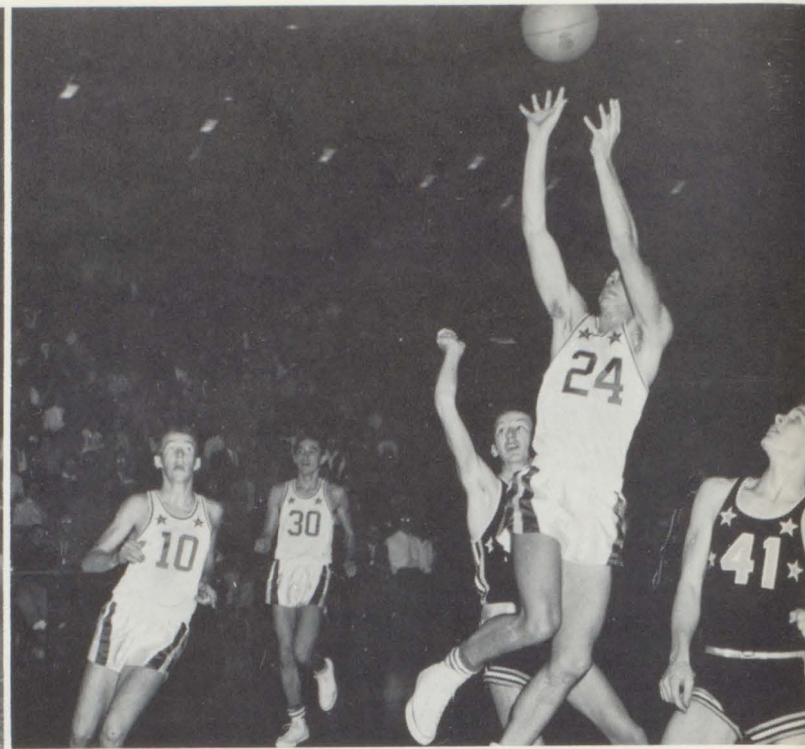

Mike Williams, 5'10" junior guard, showed much ability on defense. He saw limited varsity action, spending most of the season as a Trojan Colt.

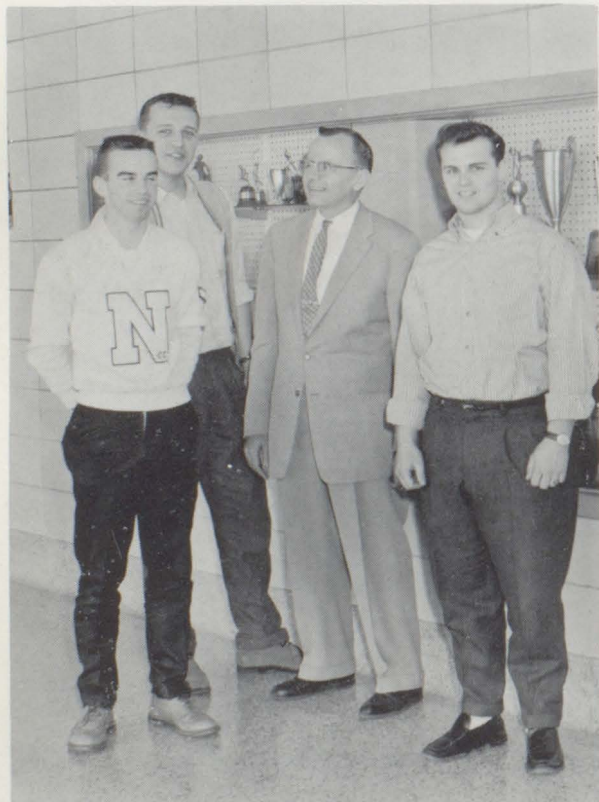

Burke Show, senior guard and team spark plug, steals the ball and leads his teammates on another fast break attempt.

Six foot three junior center Bill Baker strains every muscle as he grabs another rebound for the Trojans.

Regional In Mammoth Sports Arena

Coach Randall Lawson, with three starters back from last year's highly successful team, finished this season with a record of 16 wins and 8 losses. Several times during the season, the Trojans were ranked among the top 20 teams in the state, and The Men of Troy banded together to defeat several of the state's powerhouses. Logansport, Rushville, and Kokomo all felt that power and were conquered.

The Trojans played host to their first Regional from the bleachers, however, as an injured Middletown team dimmed their hopes for state honors in the finals of the Sectional by a surprising 81-74 margin.

Closing out his fourth and final year as head coach was Coach Lawson who has retired from coaching. The Trojan mentor has compiled the greatest won-lost record in New Castle history with 65 wins and 32 losses.

In the backcourt were John Lee, senior guard and second team N.C.C.; and Burke Show, team sparkplug and N.C.C. honorable mention. The first team was ably backed by Bill Baker, Jerry Beguhn, Warren Phelps, Doug Padgett, Terry Taylor, Mike Bales, Mike Williams, Jim Shock, and Roy Garvin.

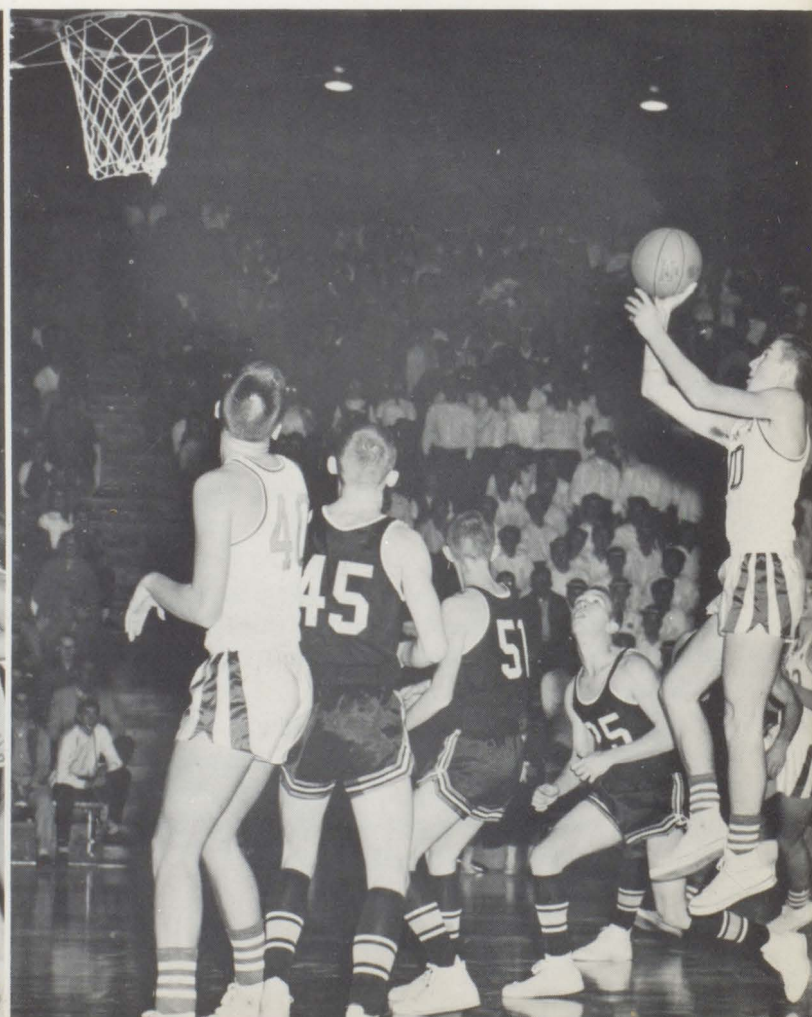

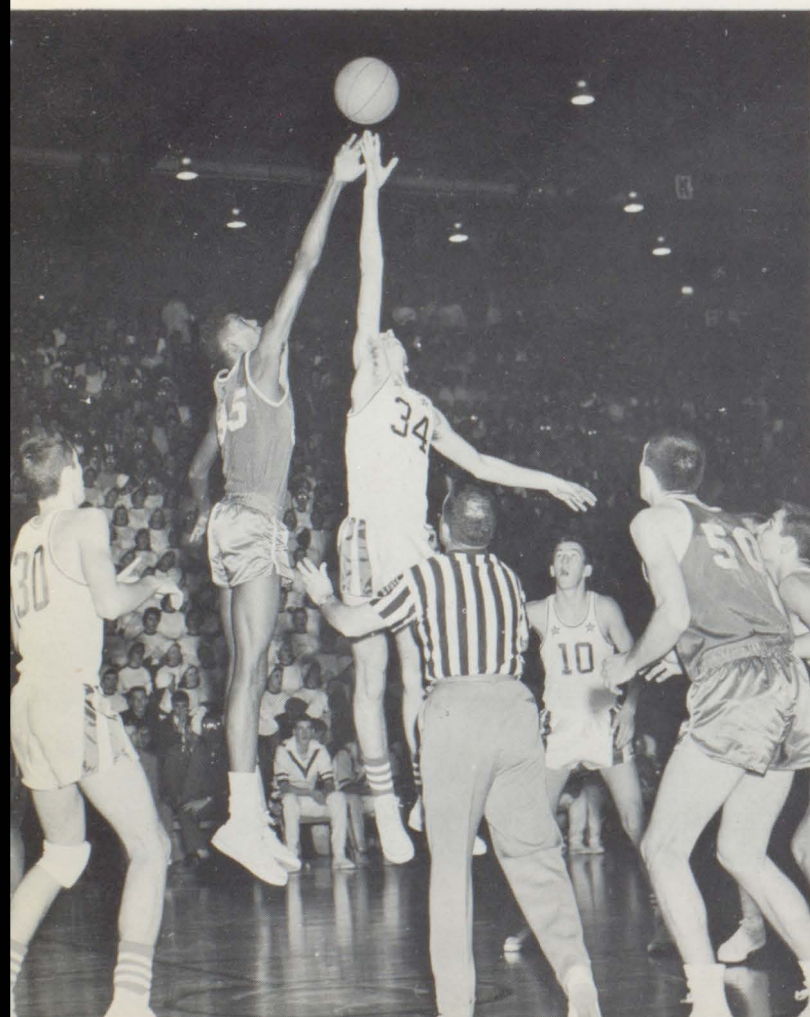

Coach Rex Brooks and his Colts also had a successful season with a record of 11 wins and 9 losses. Leading the sophomores were Jerry Koontz, Roy Garvin, and Terry Taylor.

The highlights of the season came when the Trojan Colts defeated Indianapolis Tech and finished their season with an impressive victory over the Kokomo Wildkittens.

The 1959 season was a rebuilding one for Coach Wilbur Veach and his track team as 13 members of the 1958 squad graduated. For the first time in the history of New Castle track teams, adequate facilities were available to host the New Castle Relays. North Central of Indianapolis, Connersville, Burris, Madison Heights, and Rushville were invited. Although a Burris man swept the 220 in the record time of 21.4 seconds, North Central captured the team trophy. New Castle finished in fourth place.

The 1959 team was led by four seniors, John Hay, Ray Pavy, Jim Barkley, and Roy Conner, who could be depended on for points in every meet. The Trojans copped second place in the Noblesville Relays.

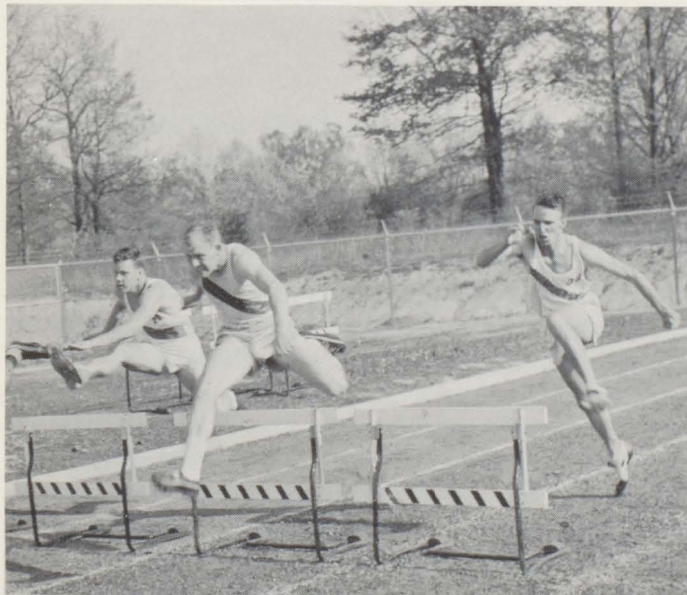

Chuck Waltmire, Burke Show, and Jerry Bunch led the scoring among the underclassmen. Bunch and Waltmire, with Hay and Pavy, qualified for the State Regional at Indianapolis. Jerry Bunch captured second place in the mile run in the Sectional. Our 880 yard relay team of Kemp, Waltmire, Pavy, and Hay took third in the N.C.C. meet. New Castle was tenth. With only four graduating from the young 1959 Trojan track team, Coach Veach expected his boys to show improvement during the 1960 season.

An unidentified Madison Heights golfer makes his approach shot as Trojan linksman, Bill Fisher, watches.

One of the most impressive records in the history of Trojan sports was compiled by Coach Langan Hay and his highly trained linksmen during the 1959 season. Three experienced seniors and two talented juniors were the main contributors to the season's record of twelve wins, one tie, and no losses.

These same golfers also took fourth place in the sectional meet at Richmond and third in the N.C.C.

Seniors Jim Thalls, Ralph Walcott, and Pete Speers led the team to this fine record. Bill Fisher and Joe Davis completed this winning combination. They were supported by a strong contingent of reserves, including Dave Annis, Jim Childs, Bruce Goodwin, Bill Hunnicutt, and Don Vivian. With many talented performers, this year's team should be outstanding.

Tennis Action Resumed After Decade

In 1959, New Castle produced its first racket squad in ten years. Coaching the squad during its first season was Don Scott, a member of the last New Castle tennis team in 1949. The boys who participated were new to the rugged North Central Conference competition but not inexperienced to the game itself.

Melvin Anspach and Charles Brown were the 1959 seniors who led the other team members through an important year of experience. With veterans John Trittschuh, Phil Stinson, Gary Kinert, Dave Logan, Bill Corbin, and Mike Dalton returning, Coach Scott looked forward to a successful second season this year. With the experience gained last year, these veterans may develop New Castle into a potential challenger in the North Central Conference.

Phil Stinson watches John Trittschuh return a volley in a doubles match against conference foe, Logansport.

Dick Riley, first baseman, makes the tag as the runner tries to reach first base safely in the Frankfort game.

An outstanding year had been forecast for the 1959 Trojan baseball season, but Coach Rex Brooks lost several mainstays from the 1958 team and had to settle for a season mark of five wins against seven losses.

The Trojans played nine straight conference games in which competition is always at a peak, and three of these N.C.C. games were lost by very close margins.

Dwight and Vernon Lockeridge led the team with their batting and pitching respectively, and Homer Ziglar, Mike Sorrell, and Mike Bowers were the key men on defense.

The high point of the season was reached when the Trojans defeated a highly rated Lafayette nine to post a decisive victory in the conference. The following week, the Trojans beat Muncie Central. With these two victories the men of Troy ranked sixth in the North Central Conference scramble for the top position.

ACTIVITIES

Our many activities made this year more memorable, one we'll never forget. Entertaining guests on Foreign Student Day is one way that we made the name of New Castle known in a friendly way all over the world.

Sponsor Mr. Chandler is assisted by President Tom Bays and Vice-President Jack Henry. Officers not pictured are Sergeant-at-Arms Steve Staley and Secretary-Treasurer Mike Babbitt.

Watching 180 Boys' Cheerblock members marching to their seats in the new Fieldhouse was a thrilling sight to every spectator. Their green derby hats with white plumes and their sparkling-white shirts put pride in the heart of every Trojan fan at home basketball games.

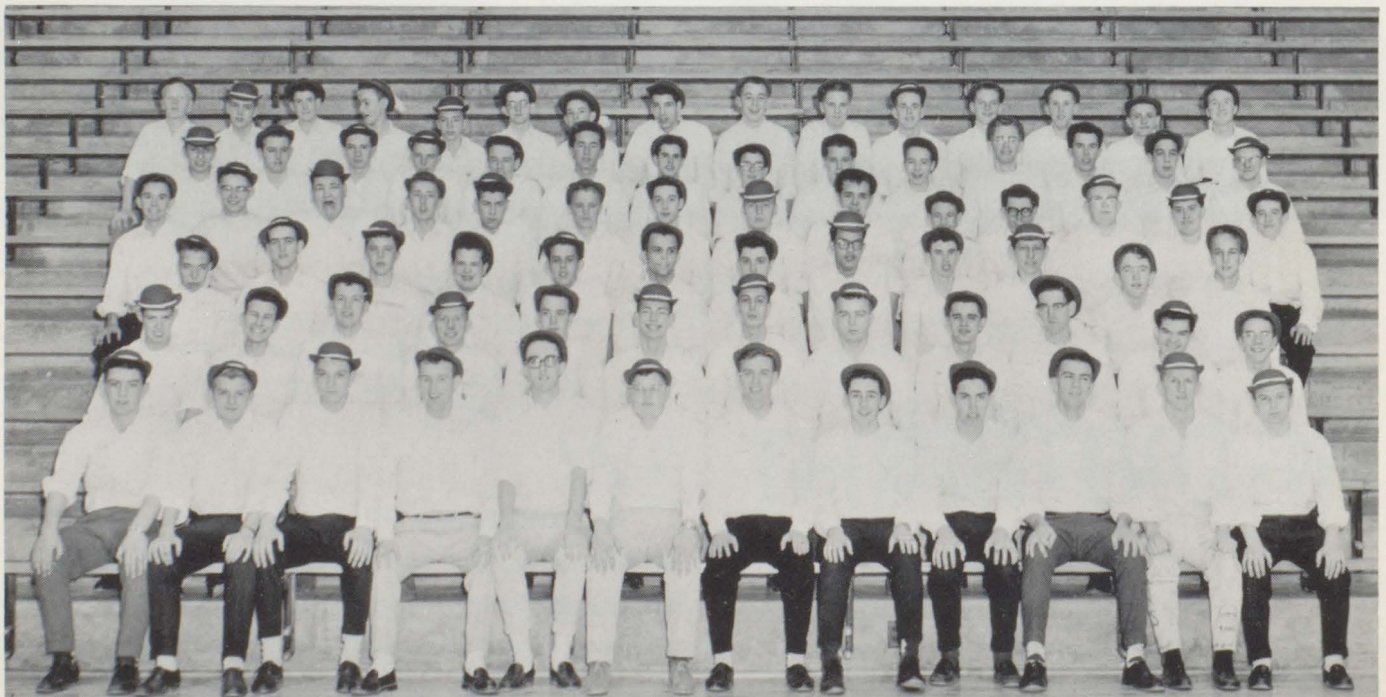

The sound of a bugle, blown by Bill Hunnicutt, was another attraction for Boys' Cheerblock. The opposing team shuttered as Taps were played for their benefit, and the Trojan fans cheered as Revelry sounded for their team. The bugle led the Trojans to record points above the one hundred mark during the Logansport-New Castle game.

Part of this group traveled to Muncie where their white shirts and smiling faces boosted our team's morale. This year the Boys' Cheerblock sat beside the Girls' Cheerblock to boost their yelling strength to 375 voices.

Boost Trojans To Many Victories

Vice-President Suella Swales, President Beth Weisheit, Secretary-Treasurer Martha Pollard, and the sponsor Miss Gloria Castelluccio, who is not pictured, managed the affairs of Cheerblock.

An impressive Christmas program with singing and jingling bells was typical of the half-time shows which the Girls' Cheerblock presented for the basketball fans. Skits at half-time were given for Lafayette, Connersville, and tourney opponents.

The members of Cheerblock traveled to Marion by bus to back our team with yells and school spirit. Part of the Cheerblock also went by bus to the Muncie Central game.

The snappy outfits of black and white saddle shoes, black skirts, green and white shirts, and white gloves made a clever looking Cheerblock. The shirts were used in block formations and for spelling. At Sectional time, the Girls' Cheerblock wore white sailor hats which were the object of many clever songs and yells.

Talented Students Prove Ability

Chrysler High School students resembled drawfs as they assembled for the long-awaited first pep session in our new Fieldhouse last November. Three full sides of the gym were empty, even though we were gathered — 900 strong. Rousing pep sessions are always a good way to boost the morale of our Trojan players, and this convocation honored our fall sportsmen and recognized our basketball and wrestling teams who were just opening their seasons. Coaches Hay, Veach, Lawson, and Jones introduced their own team members and praised the spirit of the boys. Tom Cottman acted as master of ceremonies.

"Africa and Its Future" was the main topic for the interesting senior convocation held in the Girls' Gymnasium in December. In introducing the guest speakers, Rev. Raymond Pavy gave a brief resume of their missionary work in Africa. Dr. Anderson and Bishop Dodge each told of the splendid progress that has been made working with the natives in Africa. Tom Cottman, senior class president, acted as master of ceremonies for the senior event. Asking questions that were of interest to the entire audience was the duty of panel members Steve Hartgrove, Dave Hudelson, John Trittschuh, and Kay Edstene.

The Christmas spirit of Mary, mother of Jesus, was well portrayed in a program presented by the theatre arts class just before Christmas vacation. The Fieldhouse was transformed into a serene church altar where the progress of time through people was conveyed in their prayers of offering at Christmas. A speaking choir lent a religious atmosphere to the occasion. The students left the convocation thinking of the birth of Christ and the spirit of Christmas. Thoughts of Santa Claus and presents were buried beneath this new feeling of the Christmas season.

At Varied Convocation Programs

Rain! Sleet! Snow! This could never stop our loyal Trojans from attending a rousing pep session for our basketball team. January weather is unpredictable, but our fans are so loyal that this rainy day couldn't keep them from the Fieldhouse parking lot for our send-off to the team before the Muncie Central game. The lucky students who had tickets for the game followed our team to Muncie by bus and had a traveling pep session on the way to the opponents' gym. Encouraging our teams on to victories with their vivacious yells were our faithful cheerleaders who were the school's best boosters for our Trojan teams.

Everything from very sophisticated music to the swinging beat of Latin America was heard at the music convocation at the Fieldhouse in February. Entertaining the students with these excellent arrangements were band, orchestra, dance band, A Cappella, Girls' Concert Choir, and Madrigal. Duplicating their performance for the parents and community again that evening were these musical groups and their directors, Mr. Gordon Gustin and Mr. Bernard Pressler. Lee Baker presided as mistress of ceremonies for this convocation and introduced each musical number with background that provided continuity through the program.

Climaxing the week's collection of money for the Lincoln Memorial in southern Indiana, students saw scenes from the life of our great president which were presented on his birthday, February 12. The audience saw Lincoln grieving at the death of Anne Rutledge, returning money to a customer of his grocery store, and delivering his famous address at Gettysburg. In this way the importance of honesty and integrity in all human beings, as exemplified by Lincoln were stressed. Returning to their classrooms, students contributed money for the Lincoln Memorial fund.

Dress Right Campaign Is Project

Serving as president of Student Council was senior Warren Phelps; vice-president was junior Dick Osborne who will be president next year; treasurer was senior John Trittschuh; and secretary was sophomore Susan Selke.

"Sharper students make a sharper school" was the Dress Right Campaign slogan of this year's Student Council. The Dress Right Committee included six Student Council members and was sponsored by Mr. Larry Horney. Encouraged by the success of the full-length mirror outside the library, they authorized the purchasing of another 2 x 5½ foot mirror to be hung in the hall of the new wing.

Student Council supported athletics by providing a bus for several out-of-town football and basketball games. At each home football and basketball game, they passed out free programs to the fans. The school dances after the kick-off football game and the Connersville-New Castle basketball game were planned and given by the Student Council members.

To maintain a better relationship between teachers and students, the Student Council planned, prepared, and served lunch for teachers who were compiling grades during the first semester break. They fixed a meat platter, piled high with ham, a relish plate with a large array of crisp vegetables, and a constant supply of milk and hot coffee which were set in the cafeteria for the teachers' convenience.

Student Council also worked with Student Morale Committee to plan and supervise the sack races, the relay races, the tug-of-war, the dance, and other recreation at the Watermelon Feast and the Spring Fling.

The decorations throughout the school and the Christmas tree in the main hall were Student Council projects which added a festive atmosphere to the Christmas season.

Morale Committee Plans Pep Convo

Lisa Jennings, Brenda Bradway, Alice Correll, and Betty Abshire are depositing "BEAT KOKOMO" tags in the teachers' mail boxes.

Senior girls dressed as the varsity basketball players and four senior boys dressed as yell leaders led the student body in yells at a pep convocation before the Sectional Tourney. This pep convo and one at the close of the football and cross-country season were sponsored by the Morale Committee. Two outdoor pep sessions before the Greenfield and the Muncie Central basketball games were planned and presented by this group.

Maintaining school spirit throughout the year in all areas of school life is the responsibility of the Morale Committee. They carried this program throughout the year with a Watermelon Feast in September and a Spring Fling in May. These were all-school affairs which all 900 students were urged to attend. At the Watermelon Feast free watermelons and music were provided. The Spring Fling highlighted competition between the three classes in different outdoor sports and contests.

Morale Committee members included sponsor Mr. Rinehart, Betty Abshire, Lisa Jennings, Brenda Bradway, sponsor Mr. Chandler,

School Helpers Aid Students, Guests

Receptionists were Marcella Flowers, Freida Becker, Beverly Lowhorn, Carol Coleman, Judy Grabill, and Kathy Mays.

Collecting attendance slips, recording absences, and running errands are only a few of the many duties of the office girls. Messages to teachers and students are delivered by these helpers who use part of their study time to help the school officials.

Checking books off the shelves and returning them to the proper place is a routine duty for library girls who also get to know nearly every student in school. They also are ready with suggestions for reading and reference material for students each period.

Greeting all guests who visited our school were the receptionists who sat at desks at the north and east entrances. Their helpfulness to the guests who were escorted to the office gave our school a reputation for friendliness.

Queen Martha Reigns Over '59 Prom

Beneath the splendor of golden raintrees, guests at the 1959 Junior Prom on May 1 entered Raintree County. The illusion of a southern ballroom was enhanced by multi-colored murals of the picturesque south which created a romantic atmosphere.

Under a shimmering chandelier, the juniors and seniors, along with their dates, danced to the music of the Phi Mu Cru in the Armory.

On the stage, an antique surrey surrounded by two golden raintrees and a white wrought iron love seat awaited the majestic hour for the queen.

As the clock struck eleven, the queen candidates entered and were greeted by Junior Class officers, Tom Cottman, Ronnie Price, and Tom Moore. the long awaited moment arrived, and Miss Martha Pollard was crowned "Queen of Raintree County."

Seniors Martha Pollard and Burke Show were elected as Mr. and Miss New Castle to reign at the annual Tourney Trot sponsored by the Phoenix in February.

Highlighting the Sectional basketball tournament in February was the PHOENIX sponsored Tourney Trot following the championship game. Mr. and Miss Henry County are crowned at this dance each year as New Castle extends its hospitality to all the tourney schools.

Students in each of the high schools in the tourney elected their own "Mr. and Miss." Each of these candidates was awarded a miniature basketball charm and a certificate at the dance, and the two winners whose names were drawn from all contestants received small trophies, presented by the PHOENIX editor.

Martha Pollard and Burke Show were elected by the student body to rule as Mr. and Miss New Castle. In the final drawing, Sharon Wilfong of Wilkinson and Kay Lowhorn of Straughn won county honors.

Admiring the trophy of Mr. Henry County, Kay Lowhorn from Straughn, are Tom Wilburn and Nancy Hardgrove, Mr. and Miss

Decorations of red and white streamers and boy and girl silhouettes transformed the Girls' Gym into a mystic ballroom for "A Rendezvous with Cupid," this year's Hearts Hop, in February. The guests entered the dance through a large red heart with silver glitter which was repeated in the backdrop behind the band. Red cupids poised on white lacy clouds decorated the guest tables and serving table. The mystic music was provided by the Crowns Band from Indianapolis.

When the queen candidates and their dates were introduced, they walked the length of the dance floor, accompanied by soft music from the Crowns, to form a semi-circle before the band. Mr. Jack Renner, Hi-Y sponsor, then crowned Miss Martha Pollard as Queen of the 1960 "A Rendezvous with Cupid."

Kings and Queens Highlight Dances

Titles, awards, and methods of selecting our kings and queens varied, but interest was always high at our week-end dances this year. The Mystery Person, King Eskimo, The Peppermint Twirl Queen, and Mr. and Miss DECA were among our royalty; and the dances sponsored by F.B.L.A. Honor Society, F.H.A. and DECA were among our best attended events.

The Girls' Gymnasium was initiated as our official dance floor last fall following one of the football games. The new surroundings seemed strange to the dancing couples at first as chairs lined the walls and took the place of the customary bleachers. With its spotless dance floor and shiny windows, the gym seemed almost too new to use, but we soon lost this feeling as the warm hospitality of the sponsoring clubs replaced the strangeness.

Good grades and a basic high school education are necessities for young people today, C. I. Craig of Delco Remy told us when he talked to students at the Career Day Convocation, March 16. No one was more surprised than Mike Bowers when Mr. Craig announced that he would receive one of the coveted scholarships to the General Motors Institute.

Earlier, we had listed our vocational preferences, and we were assigned to two classes where we heard successful local people describe the careers which interested us.

Twenty-two areas were covered by the 40 speakers, and their enthusiasm for their work made us eager for the day when we, too, could enter those same occupations. All 900 students participated in this event and felt that it was a very profitable experience.

We filled out questionnaires early in March on which we listed the careers which interested us most.

Second semester officers were John Trittschuh, president; Steve Hartgrove, vice-president; Ruth Ann Counts, secretary; and Betty Kay Turner, treasurer. Diane Groves served as historian for the society.

Being guests at weekly Rotary luncheons at the YMCA for one month was the privilege of eight senior boys this year. These Junior Rotarians were selected because of their outstanding scholastic achievement, professional ambition, and their leadership qualities.

Each Junior Rotarian had the opportunity to meet many community leaders at the weekly luncheons. At the end of the month, each gave a brief speech and introduced his successor.

The Junior Rotarians during this year were Chuck Lawson, October; Bruce Goodwin, November; Bill Fisher, December; John Trittschuh, January; Steve Hartgrove, February; Johnny Lee, March; David Hudson, April; and Tom Cottman, senior class president, May.

Outstanding Students Participate In

The opportunity to take an active part in state government was extended to eight outstanding juniors last summer. They were chosen on the basis of scholastic ability, citizenship, and personality, and represented New Castle at Hoosier Boys' and Girls' State.

The model state governments were established for eight days at Indiana University. Spacious Smithwood Hall was divided into sixteen cities according to floors, into four counties by wings, and the complete dormitory was organized into a state government.

Each student held an office in the local, county, or state government. Participating actively in these governments helped each student understand the fundamentals of our democracy.

Extra time was filled with campaigning for local and state elections, and these outstanding students from Indiana high schools proved their cleverness with posters and slogans.

Representatives and alternates are Delbert Brewer, Bob Daily, David Hudelson, Chuck Lawson, Jane Crawford, Carl Booth, Phil Stinson, Dee Millikan, Louise Pfeffer, Betty Kay Turner, Anne Millikan, Marcia McKinney, Tom Cottman, Warren Phelps, Dee Worley, and John Trittschuh.

David Hudelson receives his Boys' State certificate from Commander Kenneth Sherman. The New Castle Chapter of the American Legion sponsored David at Boys' State.

Hoosier State and Purdue Assembly

Representatives at Purdue Assembly were Duke Falck, John Trittschuh, Lane Fairchild, Louise Pfeffer, and Jane Crawford. Beth Weisheit was the Senator. Alternates were Alice Correll, Dick Osborne, Phil Stinson, and Marlin Evans.

School reorganization with mandatory consolidation was the subject of the bill which was prepared by Representative Louise Pfeffer and passed by the Legislative Assembly at Purdue last December. Senator Beth Weisheit also prepared a bill concerning school reorganization; Duke Falck worked on advertising ethics; Lane Fairchild prepared a bill on labor; and Jane Crawford suggested a reform of the United States Supreme Court.

These five students were elected by the student body and were assisted by five alternates Dick Osborne, Faith Merrill, Marlin Evans, Phil Stinson, and Alice Correll.

The model state legislature was conducted just like the real Indiana General Assembly with former state officials presiding.

Carolyn Gibson waits her turn to vote, as Marlene Slavin prepares to choose her five favorites for Purdue Assembly. Gary Kinert is acting as "watcher" at the polls.

Talented Casts Use New Equipment

Mary Lange and her dancing partner, Bruce Collier, glide smoothly around the floor to waltz music.

The romantic mood of a French nightclub set the scene for the 1959 Crescendo Varieties last April. The pastel colored lights were dimmed to create a hazy atmosphere in the gymnasium, and "cigarette girls" in gay costumes sold candy and soft drinks to the guests.

The floor-show was presented in a semi-circle bordered by small cafe tables to include the guests in the gala affair. A waltz, a tap dancing routine, a chorus-line, and a comical bottle-blowing band were several outstanding numbers among the thirty acts presented by approximately 100 music students.

The Jug and Bottle Band includes Jane Neideffer, Jarvis Davis, Mike Sorrell, Mickey Holloway, and Rinke McShurley.

for Productions

"Time Out For Ginger," an hilarious comedy, was the first high school play ever to be presented on the portable stage in the Girls' Gymnasium which was converted into a theatre.

This Curtain Call production was given for three nights in November and featured Gail Wake as a tomboy who wanted to play football. Ginger's father, Wayne Kollmeyer, provided many laughs when he urged his "son" on to football victories with the high school team.

The cast also featured Harleeta Teel as the peace-making mother. Janice Hall and Nancy Nash played the parts of the big sisters, and the typical maid who ran the household was Beth Weisheit. The cast was completed by Phil Gray and Gary Groves as the boyfriends and Mike Dalton and Jerry Kollmeyer as the banker and principal. The play was directed by Don Scott with Judi Himes as the student director.

Carolyn Haynes professionally applies eye make-up to Jerry Kollmeyer who portrayed the high school principal.

Wayne Kollmeyer hilariously explains his daughter's thrilling touchdown in the high school football game.

Janice Hall and Nancy Nash discuss a magazine article about Ginger with their mother, Harleeta Teel.

Mr. Don Scott, the director of the fall play, gives last minute instructions and urges the cast to speak more emphatically.

Discussing the problems of publishing a yearbook and planning their opening section are Dee Millikan and Donna Bowser, co-editors. Helping the editors and arranging for pictures is Anne Millikan, first semester assistant editor.

The bigness of Chrysler High is all around us, both in quality of education and quantity of students and faculty. As the Fieldhouse — the largest high school gym in the country — opened its doors in November and the business education wing was put into use in January, this seemed an appropriate year for the theme — "WE THINK BIG."

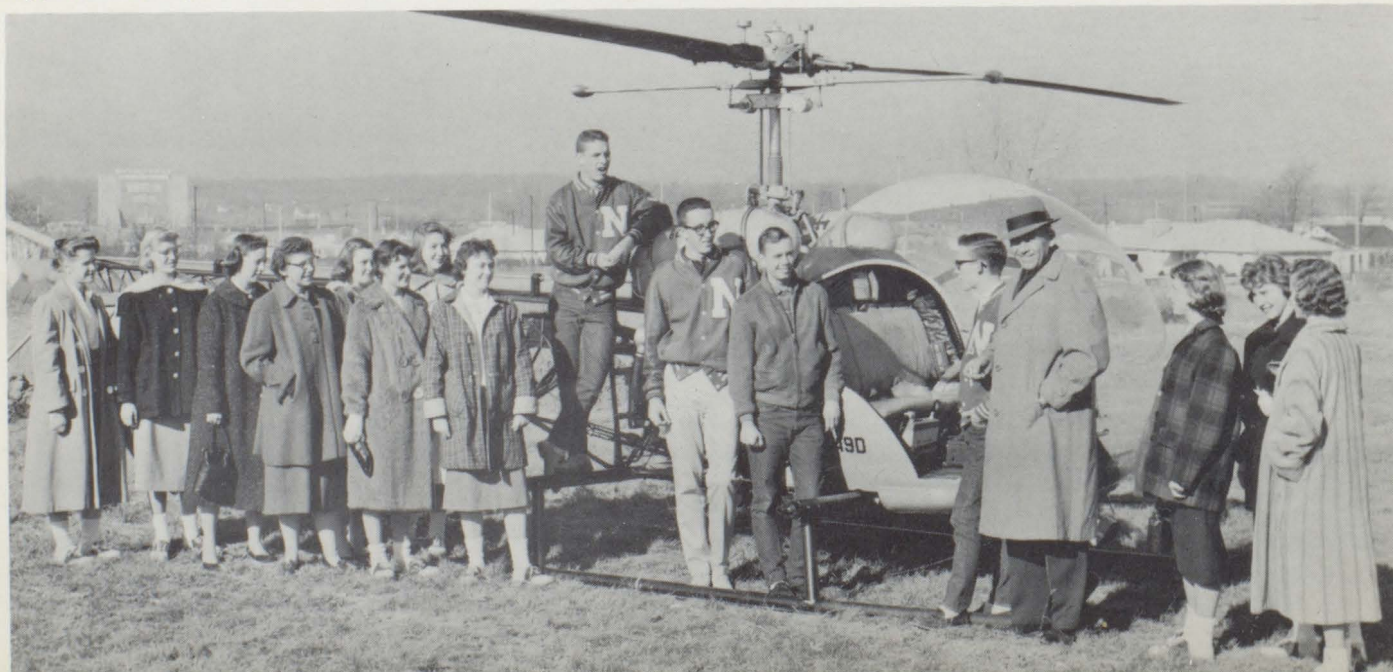

Heading the ROSENNIAL staff this year were Dee Millikan and Donna Bowser as co-editors and Anne Millikan and Jane Crawford as first and second semester assistant-editors. Pat Reeves and Glenda Taylor kept our finances straight with the all important jobs of business manager and assistant.

Section editors were Judy Gordon and Suella Swales, Activities; Tom Moore and Dick Riley, Advertising; Sherry Stearnes, Seniors; Marcia McKinney, Faculty; Sharon Callis, Underclassmen; and Bill Clements and Jim Galliher, Sports.

Athletic heroes are much in demand as Mike Bergin proves by signing a yearbook for Trojan majorette, Mary Lange, at the annual ROSENNIAL dance.

Junior staff members busily indexing the 1960 ROSENNIAL and planning for their yearbook are Karen Padgett, Harleeta Teel, Janet White, Joan Dick, Lisa Jennings, Sharon Judge, and Roy Garvin.

As They Tell Story Of Our Year

Sorting ROSENNIAL subscription blanks for delivery in June are Glenda Taylor, assistant business manager; Pat Reeves, business manager; and Jane Crawford, assistant editor.

Preparing the index and planning for their own 1961 yearbook were the junior members of the ROSENNIAL staff. These outstanding juniors were selected by English teachers, the ROSENNIAL editors, the sponsor, and the deans. This honor was awarded to Joan Dick, Roy Garvin, Sharon Judge, Lisa Jennings, Karen Padgett, Harleeta Teel, and Janet White. Learning by experience, these juniors watched the seniors put their book together and gained knowledge which will help them next year.

Teaching these students the fundamentals of yearbook planning and helping the senior members edit an outstanding book was the ROSENNIAL sponsor, Miss Frances Halberstadt.

Editing the weekly publication of the high school were Susan Hinshaw, editor, and Londa Worthington, assistant. Keeping the books in order was Judy McClintic, business manager. These three seniors attended the two-week Journalism Institute at Indiana University last summer.

Folding over 1,000 school papers, distributing them to various classrooms and mailing 100 to other schools is a routine activity for the members of the PHOENIX staff each Friday.

Behind that Friday furore is a week of planning. Ads must be sold, lay-outs planned, and stories assigned. Staff members constantly must watch for good news and feature stories.

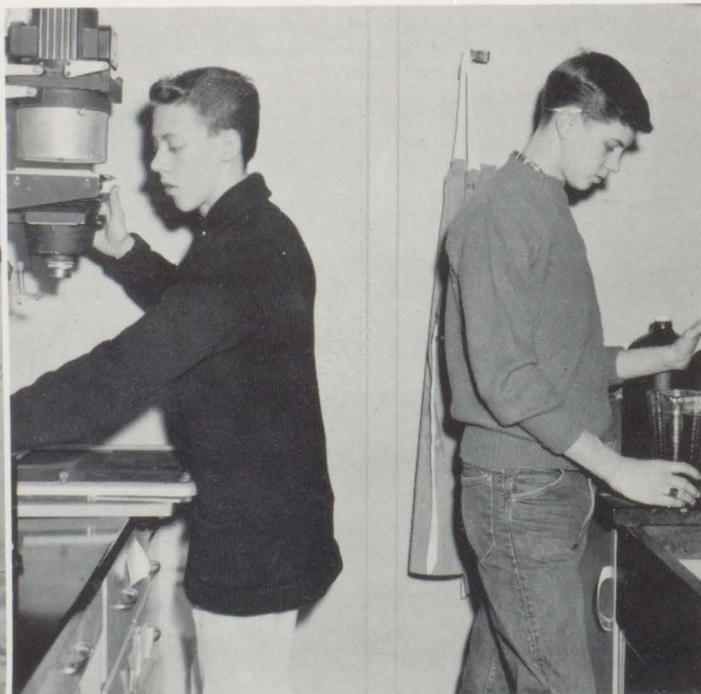

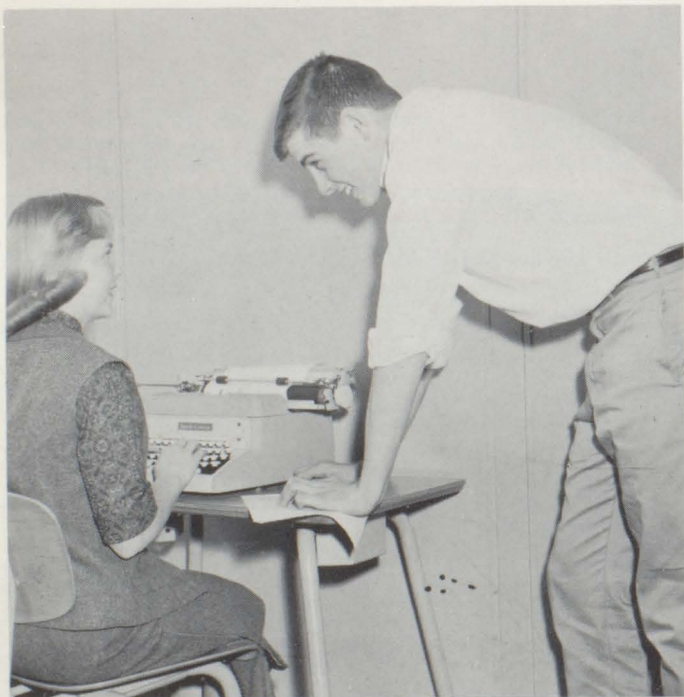

Reminding the students of important dates such as ball games, dances, and club meetings was only one function of the PHOENIX.

They also sponsored Tourney Trot for all sectional schools and showed the school's hospitality to our county guests. Another dance was sponsored by the PHOENIX in January, and the staff helped with concessions at the Sectional and Regional tournaments.

Phoenix Staff Relates Weekly News,

One new member was elected to join the PHOENIX staff at the beginning of the second semester. Sports editor, Louise Pfeffer, welcomes her assistant, Vin Couden, the new member of the staff.

Jerry Stohler and Frank Imel could be seen snapping pictures for the PHOENIX almost every day. They developed and printed their own pictures in the school's darkroom.

Supplies Us With Facts and Features

Soliciting and planning ads for the PHOENIX was the duty of the advertising editor, Ronnie Baldock. Mailing our paper to other schools each week was the job of Jane Devening, exchange editor.

Planning page layouts and preparing the final draft of each week's PHOENIX were Susan Hinshaw, editor, and Londa Worthington, assistant editor. Staff members collected and wrote all types of stories. Filling this assignment were Judy McClintic, Judi Himes, Alice Correll, Susan Bolinger, Louise Pfeffer, Jane Devening, Jerry Stohler, Gail Wake, Kenny Cooper, Ronnie Baldock, Vin Couden, Garry Clemons, Peggy Smith, Doug Redelman, Frank Imel, David Hudelson, and Sarah Bavender. Several staff members changed positions at the close of the first semester in order to get more experience at various types of work.

Mr. Bernard Beguhn and his advanced print shop class set the type and printed the PHOENIX each week. Assisting the nineteen members with their weekly jobs was Mr. Larry Horney, the PHOENIX sponsor.

English Department Prints Directory,

Editing the Directory was a task performed by Jane Crawford, Marcia McKinney, Nancy Rasmussen, and John Trittschuh. These Directories were popular with students and teachers who used them for addresses and the spelling of names.

The telephone number of that certain girl or boy could easily be found in the STUDENT DIRECTORY. This year's Directory listed names, addresses, grade levels, and telephone numbers of all students and teachers. The information was gathered from publication cards and then checked with school records.

The STUDENT DIRECTORY was a project of the English department, who worked with the Directory's staff. These compact little booklets with green paperback covers sold for 35 cents. They were nineteen pages in length with approximately 975 names.

Editors of the STUDENT DIRECTORY were Jane Crawford and John Trittschuh who were assisted by Marcia McKinney and Nancy Rasmussen. The 500 directories were sold in English classes and in the school bookstore.

The last few STUDENT DIRECTORIES were sold in the school bookstore by Mrs. Sheddric. Buying extra copies for 35 cents are Marcia McKinney, Thad Rogan, John Trittschuh, and Bill Clements.

Invites Foreigners

After-dinner conversations with their foreign guests made Betty Kay Turner and Doug Redelman eager to travel abroad to learn about the rest of the world.

Foreign guests were engaged in almost unlimited conversations during the coke party that was planned in their honor immediately after school, March 11.

Serving as a guide for visitors was senior, David Hudelson. These guests, from India, seemed most interested in the art class displays in Mr. Zeigler's classroom.

Travel posters of countries around the world welcomed the 49 foreign visitors to Chrysler High early in March for our annual Foreign Student Day. This traditional event was sponsored by the English department with help from Senior English classes.

Representing Ball State Teachers College and Indiana University were students from India, China, Iran, Thailand, Kenya and all parts of the world. Panel discussions in our afternoon classes provided us and the foreigners with an opportunity to learn more about each other. Immediately after school a coke party was planned for the foreign guests at which each met his host for dinner. A gaily decorated table was the center of attraction for refreshments.

When the seniors took their foreign friends home for dinner, the guests learned more about Hoosier hospitality. Conversation covered everything from customs to religion.

A girls' trio from Puerto Rico and a pianist from Lebanon entertained for us at the Internationale Dance. In return, Tom Cottman, Linda Downey, Lillie Temples, and the Dixieland Band provided American numbers for our guests. Letters from our foreign guests have made us realize how much they appreciated the visit and we are happy that we have added several links to the chain of world friendship.

Learning the techniques of good speaking is one of the most important objectives of the National Forensic League, and the trophies which have been collected are proof that club members learned their lesson well.

Receiving the highest degree available after earning 250 points was senior Lee Baker. Qualifying for the next degree with 150 points were Kay Edstene, Diane Groves, Linda Sutphin, Betty Kay Turner, and Londa Worthington.

The Speech X group consists of all students participating in the speech program. Ambition and hard work are necessities for this group which spends many extra hours practicing and presenting programs which give them points for N.F.L. membership.

The speech department is in charge of Miss Juanita Rucker, and consistent tournament wins for the past years have brought New Castle points which entitle her to wear the coveted diamond N.F.L. pin.

Much research is necessary to prepare a case on such questions as "Resolved: That the federal government should substantially increase the regulation of labor unions." Under the supervision of Mr. John Nead, debate coach, they prepared their cases well. They debated against Howe Military, Manchester, and Lafayette and entered the Indiana High School Forensic Association competition.

Costuming, using make-up, and planning stage settings became routine experience for members of Thespians this year. This group also formed a core of experienced actors for the spring and fall plays.

Initiation was held in the spring for all new members. A student became eligible when he earned ten points on productions. Mr. Don Scott was Thespian sponsor.

Janice Hall and Mike McKechnie, members of N.F.L., display their talents as they entertain the members of the Baptist Church with monologues during the Christmas season.

Entertain Clubs With Programs

Debaters were P. Cowan, J. Means, T. Nelson, Mr. Nead, K. McCormack, L. Alexander, L. Blaydes, A. Correll, A. McGinnis, R. Lanzer, L. Downey, D. Mikel, B. Hunter.

The eight Thespians, initiated last year, were ROW 1 — L. Sutphin, W. Kollmeyer, D. Bowser. ROW 2 — J. Himes, C. Hammer, L. Worthington, H. Teel, D. Scott, B. Turner.

Science Club members sold concessions during the football games to eager and hungry New Castle boosters.

The October beauty of Memorial Park served as a background for the initiation of new members into Science Club.

Interesting club programs were provided all year by guest speakers from varied scientific occupations. A laboratory technician gave an illustrated talk about blood testing, a representative from Bell Telephone spoke about electronics and the telephone of the future, and a psychologist from the State Hospital presented an interesting program.

The club also attended the Indiana Junior Science Academy at Butler University, took an all day field trip, and held a square dance.

Officers were President Gary Rhodes, Vice-President Kay Edstene, Treasurer Marlin Evans, Secretary Susan Bolinger, and sponsors Miss Montag, Mr. Furbee, and Mr. Razor.

Bible Members Display New Pins

Attending church and reading the Bible were two of the many methods which Bible Club members used to gain points. Chrysler High has many "firsts" in its records, and Bible Club, too, contributed a "first" this year as new pins were worn by members who had gained 250 points throughout the year.

Cookie sales well identify these club members as their sales after school are a lasting tradition among our high school students. Every spring a special date is set aside for an important event, the club's banquet at which the work of old and new members during the year is recognized.

Sponsoring the club for the past ten years has been Mr. Hobart Risley. Officers this year were Patty Larrison, president; Sharon Ulmet, vice-president; Brenda Powers, secretary-treasurer; and Larry Neal, chaplain.

Larry Neal used a Bible passage as the basis for his devotions at a P.T.A. meeting while Sharon Ulmet and Patty Larrison provided musical numbers.

Decorating the display window with a Valentine theme, picnic theme, or graduation display became a routine duty of D.E.C.A. members the second semester after moving into the new business wing with its modern equipment. Counters and glass shelves provided excellent practice in merchandise handling and displaying. Mannequins of various sizes also were used for the first time this year.

D.E.C.A.'s state convention at Indiana University brought honors to the club as Sally Smiley and Ed Piercey won first place awards in ad lay-out and sales demonstration. The club's attractive scrapbook compiled by Sally Smiley won a second place rating.

Club officers were President Tony Smitherman, Vice-President Jim Day, Treasurer Ed Piercey, Secretary Beverly Raines, Historian Sally Smiley, and Sponsor Mr. Powell.

Jim Day, Donna Warner, Beverly Lowhorn, and Mary Davis are arranging toys in order to practice display techniques. Themes for the displays were changed frequently as new ideas were presented.

Possible For Members Of DECA, GAA

The spacious new Girls' Gym served as the club house for the G.A.A. for the first time this year, and the girls were not sorry to abandon the old Armory for sparkling new surroundings. New facilities for every phase of the G.A.A. program replaced the worn equipment.

In October, the pledges of G.A.A. were subjected to a rough initiation. These pledges joined other G.A.A. girls in working for chevron, shield, and state plaque awards.

Our G.A.A. basketball and baseball teams played host to Hagerstown, Cambridge City, and Greenfield girls this spring.

Club swimming parties and a school dance after the New Castle-Noblesville football game were extra projects of G.A.A. this year.

Accuracy of G.A.A. officers is the result of practice. Showing skill in archery are President Sharon Callis, Secretary Gail O'Neal, Sergeant-at-Arms Phyllis Olden, and Vice-President Dee Worley. Treasurer Linda Wages and sponsor Miss Jean Stellingwerf are not pictured.

A student typewriter was heartily welcomed by Chrysler students such as Linda Upchurch and Carolyn Hagerty, members of F.B.L.A. Kept in the library for convenience, this typewriter made free time count.

Outstanding F.B.L.A. students of the month were featured in the PHOENIX this year to emphasize the importance of a business education. Having the largest club membership in Chrysler High with 118 members was an asset as the group recruited help for dances, rummage sales, and concessions at athletic tournaments.

Cheryl Brewster was elected state president; Carolyn Hagerty, state secretary; and Bonnie Koenig, state historian. Londa Worthington was selected as Indiana's Miss F.B.L.A. and won the state public speaking contest at the State Convention at Ball State.

Leading F.B.L.A. this year were Evelyn Brewer, president; Cheryl Brewster, vice-president; Linda Upchurch, secretary; and Bonnie Koenig, treasurer. Sponsoring the club were Mrs. Juanita Bishop and Mrs. Barbara Marting.

FHA Serves School and Community

A blueprint for an attractive and practical home is the F.H.A. project of Kathy Costello, Gerry Davis, and Beverly Davis.

Selling cokes at basketball games in the new Fieldhouse, sponsoring the Peppermint Twirl dance with its Peppermint Queen, and decorating and serving for the sport-writers dinner before the Alexandria-New Castle basketball game were community projects of the New Castle chapter of F.H.A. this year. They also worked with the home economics department to prepare and present the homemaking dress review in April.

Officers were President Nancy Adams, Vice-President Gerry Davis, Secretary Linda Upchurch, Treasurer Kathy Costello, Historian Donna Warner, Editor Linda Vores, Music Leader Joan White, Chaplain Leta Blaydes, and Parliamentarian Beverly Davis. Miss Frances Eilar was sponsor.

In the String Ensemble were Linda Vores, Jean Ann Allan, Kathy McCormack, Kathy Costello, and Kay Edstene.

Playing host to the Mid-State Orchestra Festival in early April was the opportunity of our instrumental musical groups. Visiting schools were Connersville, Frankfort, Martinsville, Southport, and West Lafayette; and many of us had these students as our overnight guests. Practice sessions were held on Saturday and the entire group presented a public concert on Sunday, April 3.

Commencement is an important event for our orchestra as they play the traditional marches for the graduating class in June. Special convocations such as Career Day provided the opportunity for our orchestra to show its ability as a performing group.

The String Ensemble composed of six girls presented special numbers for school and community clubs throughout the year. Directing these fine musicians was Mr. Bernard Pressler.

Show Versatility In All Performances

Presenting an inspiring musical concert for the enjoyment of the student body and the public and marching in the Indiana University and Ball State Band Days will always be pleasant memories for members of our band. The musicians also boosted our athletic teams on to victory with rousing pep band music.

Members won nineteen first and second place honors in the district and state contests which were held at Muncie and Indianapolis. Students and adults had an opportunity to hear this fine music just before the contest in February at a public concert.

The flag was presented at each game by the band majorettes, Terry Lyons, Mary Lange, Marlene Slavin, and Valerie Western. Our band always kept our spirits high and gave us an appreciation for all types of music, under the direction of Mr. Bernard Pressler.

Dance Band members were M. Muterspaugh, M. Holloway, J. Sox, A. Schoettinger, D. Miller, M. Smith, R. Lopez, S. Hartgrove, R. McShurley, R. Pressler, A. Marsh, M. Wantz, Mr. Pressler, and D. Ziglar.

Mary Lange, Marlene Slavin, Susan Spannuth, and Valerie Western not only led the presentation of the flag at each basketball game, but they also entertained the audiences with several half-time twirling exhibitions.

Vocal Groups Play Host to 400 Singers

ROW 1 — Mr. Gustin, Popejoy, Davis, Roberts, Byrd, Gulley, Hurst, Jackson, Vincent, Norris, Ingram, Larrison. ROW 2 — Hamm.

Gordon, Luttrell, Grabill, Logan, White, Wiley, Batchfield, Abrams, Bowsman, Bowling, Asberry.

Among the students who represented the school in vocal competition were Norman Rust, Tom Cottman, Dee Worley, and Leila Eans.

The Fieldhouse was the scene of the Eastern Indiana Choral Festival in April, and the combined choir of 400 voices was heard in a public performance. Senior Vespers, Baccalaureate, Honor Day, Crescendo Varieties, concerts, and convocations were other highlights of the year for the choirs and vocal groups.

The Madrigal Singers, directed by Mr. Gordon Gustin, presented several programs for local organizations. Dressed in pastel colored floor length gowns and black suits, the five young ladies and five young men were a success wherever they performed. They won a superior rating at the district and an excellent rating at the state music contest.

At Choral Festival

New green robes for A Cappella and straight black skirts and white cotton blouses for the Girls' Concert Choir gave a fresh appearance to these vocal groups. Portions of Handel's "Messiah," including the "Hallelujah Chorus," religious music, and songs from musical comedies were the specialty numbers of the A Cappella Choir. Girls' Concert Choir specialized in the singing of secular music and arrangements from Broadway musicals. Both vocal groups are directed by Mr. Gordon Gustin.

Outstanding soloists won top honors in district and state competition. Tom Cottman and Wayne Kollmeyer earned superior ratings at the district contest while Linda Downey, Norman Rust, and Jerry Kollmeyer won excellent ratings. At the state vocal contest, Wayne Kollmeyer placed first and Tom Cottman second.

ROW 1 — Linda Downey, Peggy Ooten, Lillie Temples, Dee Worley, Rosalind Russell, Leila Eans. ROW 2 — Jerry Bunch, Norman Rust, Jerry Kollmeyer, Ralph Mahaffey, Tom Cottman.

"The Best Things in Life Are Not Free," Dr. A. Wesley Pugh told the seniors at Senior Vespers. The annual Christmas program, sponsored by the PTA, also featured the music of the A Cappella Choir and was held for the first time in the new gym.

Our Four Officers Led Us Through Two

Although class rings were still the favorite of most of the seniors, some of us chose pins set in pearl or onyx.

All 250 members of the 'Class of 1960' made their appearance for the first time in the new Fieldhouse at Senior Vespers in December.

We listened carefully as Dr. A. Wesley Pugh, district superintendent of the Methodist Church, pointed out that the best things in life are not material things but accomplishments which require high standards and much work.

As seniors, we set new traditions and established new records. We chose "Followers today, Leaders tomorrow" for our motto; yellow and white for our class colors; and the yellow Rapture rose for our flower.

Our jewelry, which we ordered as juniors, was distributed in September. It had the traditional Trojan head but differed from that of other classes by the rope design on either side of the stone in which '60' was inscribed.

When Class Day finally arrived on June 3, we received our ROSENNIALS which we added to our collection of three and completed the printed story of our high school life. We remembered our first dance, saw the picture of our first crush, and cried over the many friends we were leaving.

We began thinking of the ideas given at College Conference Night and Career Day and hoped we could put them to good use.

Led by President Tom Cottman, we attended Baccalaureate on June 5 and Commencement on June 9. As we listened to Judge Robert B. Stewart, we were a group for the last time. As we turned our tassels, we realized the many things we had left behind.

Eventful Years

To lead us in "Thinking Big" we chose Tom Cottman, president; Ronnie Price, vice-president; Martha Pollard, secretary; and Bette Ann Scott, treasurer. They were our class officers in both our junior and senior years.

Representatives from 19 schools of advanced training explained the advantages of further education to us at College Conference Night in October. Harlan White, admissions director from Purdue, was the main speaker.

Judy Gordon almost dropped the breakfast tray as Tom Cottman appeared and asked Diane Groves and Linda Sutphin for Ruth.

Suella Swales' engagement to Wayne Kollmeyer and John Trittschuh created the plot for the senior class play, "Dear Ruth."

'Dear Ruth,' Our Fun-Filled Comedy,

Crew members Sharon Taylor, Jim Ferguson, and Bill Pfenniger worked to build an attractive set for the play.

Faced with the problem of choosing between her announced fiance, Albert Kummer, Wayne Kollmeyer; or a strange soldier boy by the name of Lieutenant Seawright, John Trittschuh; Suella Swales played the role of Ruth in DEAR RUTH, the senior class play. Ruth became entangled in a romance with the two men when her teen-age sister Miriam, Linda Sutphin, corresponded with service men overseas in Ruth's name to boost their morale.

When Lieutenant Seawright arrived after 25 missions in Italy, the whole Wilkins' household was in an uproar as Ruth tried to make his visit happy without telling him that she had never heard of him before, and he attempted to persuade her to marry him. Following a lecture from her father, Miriam was confined to her room for this forgery.

With Mr. Scott, faculty adviser, are Tom Moore, Rinke McShurley, John Trittschuh, Wayne Kollmeyer, Karen Sampley, Diane Groves,

Brings Laughter to the Girls' Gym

Rinke McShurley portrayed the role of a traffic judge as he performed the wedding of Karen Sampley and Tom Moore.

Judge Wilkins, Rinke McShurley; Mrs. Wilkins, Diane Groves; and most of all the maid Dora, Judy Gordon, were shaken when a house full of lilacs arrived at nine o'clock and the kitchen was piled full of Crackerjack at ten.

Tom Moore and Karen Sampley entered the play as Sgt. Chuck Vincent and Martha Seawright, best friend and sister of the Lieutenant. After they patched up their quarrel and were pronounced man and wife by Judge Wilkins, the only battle left was the one among Ruth, Albert, and Lieutenant Seawright.

Finally Ruth made her decision in favor of the young soldier, and the Judge performed another hasty wedding ceremony. The curtain was drawn on a cry from Edith and Miriam as Harold, Tom Cottman, another of Miriam's correspondents arrived asking for Ruth.

WILBUR HANCOCK

Industrial Arts Major

Outstanding social studies students Suella Swales and Carl Booth attended the 1960 Aircade for Congressional Action sponsored by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Indianapolis.

Among those who applied for scholarships were Phil Stinson, Tom Cottman, Dave Hudelson, and Jane Crawford.

It seemed we were always taking tests. Some of us brought honor to ourselves and to our school by receiving scholarships, based on the high scores we made on the Merit Scholarship Test and the College Qualifying Test.

John Trittschuh placed among the winners on the Merit Scholarship Test and Marcia McKinney, Jane Crawford, and Diane Groves received honorable mentions. Faith Merrill distinguished herself by ranking first in the state in the Voice of Democracy contest and competing for national honors in Washington, D. C. Our Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow was Mary Lange, and we chose Martha Pollard for our D.A.R. Good Citizen.

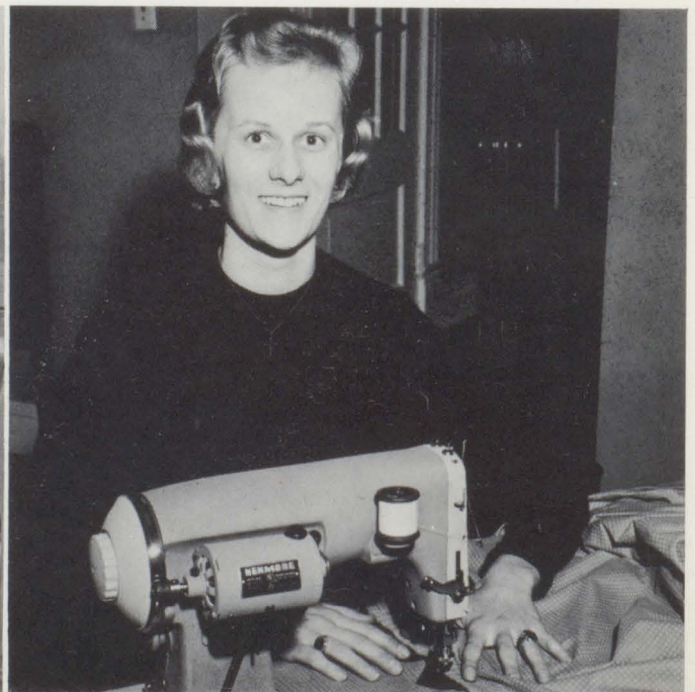

At the Honor Day Program we learned that John Trittschuh was our valedictorian and the others in the top ten were Tom Cottman, Jane Crawford, Bill Fisher, Mike Bowers, Dee Millikan, Betty Kay Turner, Steve Hartgrove, David Hudson, and Chuck Lawson.

In Our Classes and National Contests

Martha Pollard was chosen D.A.R. Good Citizen by the senior girls for her excellence in leadership, scholarship, and dependability.

Mary Lange, Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow, demonstrates her ability as a homemaker by designing her clothes.

Serving as cadet teachers under the direction of Miss Pearl Dunn, elementary supervisor, were A. Millikan, S. Carman, L. Sutphin, B.

Turner, S. Swales, M. Burkman, C. Booth, P. Tully, J. Lee, S. Hinshaw, J. Devening, D. Bowser, G. O'Neal, S. Carr, and R. Counts.

We Gained Honor For Chrysler High

Is it difficult to teach a parakeet to talk? Can a senior teach a seventh grade Indiana History class? These were only two of the problems faced by the 15 seniors who learned what teaching can be like in their cadet teaching program. Other duties included such tasks as the preparations of daily assignments for their class, teaching the children to memorize the alphabet, and checking formulas used in science problems. Cadet teaching influenced many of us to choose teaching as a career.

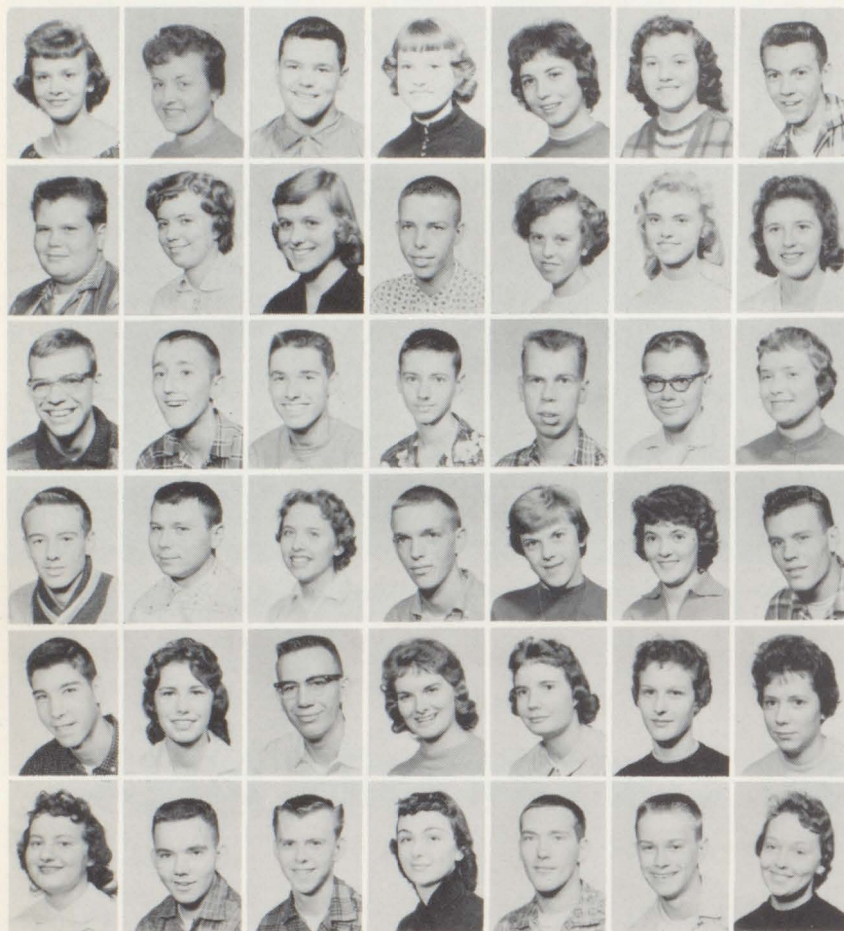

Some of us plowed through Senior English and chemistry to prepare ourselves for studies at college, while others in the class struggled with practice sets and blueprints to ready ourselves for the business and industrial worlds. Not all of our occupations will be in the same field and many of our lives will never again cross, but the knowledge we gained as a group will enrich our lives for many years.

Cadet teacher Sharon Carman assisted the first grade class at Sunnyside in buying and caring for their new pet "Sweetie Pie."

As the graduating class of 1961, we experienced for the first time the feeling of being upperclassmen and proudly went to our first junior class meeting, held in the big new Fieldhouse. We elected our class officers who led us capably in many activities throughout the year. They were Tom Bays, president; Doug Redelman, vice-president; Sue Pierce, secretary; and Marlin Evans, treasurer.

Our biggest project of the year was the traditional Junior Prom which was held for the first time in the new Girls' Gym on May 13.

Another activity which we had looked forward to since we were freshmen was the ordering of class jewelry which we will receive next fall.

As upperclassmen we found that our classes were harder, too, as we began to plan more seriously for college and future jobs. Because the usual junior science course, physics, was not offered this year, many of us were enrolled in chemistry.

School spirit was the topic for many discussions and themes this year, and our class of 300 led the way in projects which improved student morale.

Good cheerleading plays an important part in keeping up morale for both the teams and the student body. Sophomore B-Team cheerleaders Elsa Clift and Julie Bradway demonstrate their technique to Barbara Vaughn and Sammie Roberts.

Our School Board and Administrators

Rexford G. Wright

Superintendent Wright is one of the busiest people in our school system. While supervising a constantly expanding staff of teachers, office employees, cooks, and custodians, he still finds time to attend most school activities and become acquainted with many students.

Mr. Wright in his six years as superintendent has seen a dream come true. The academic wing of the high school, the fieldhouse, and the business wing have all been completed, and the cafeteria is being planned. In the next few years our entire campus will be completed. Mr. Wright received his A.B. at DePauw and his M.S. at Indiana University.

Determining school policy on everything from school buses to personnel was almost a full-time job for our five School Board members. In addition to their monthly meetings, they were forced to hold many special sessions to take care of extra business. Pictured at one of their meetings are Mr. Phillip White, treasurer; Mr. Vance Downey; Dr. Robert Ensign, secretary; Mr. Rexford G. Wright, superintendent of schools; Mr. L. Q. Jacobs, president; Mr. Lawrence Renfro, attorney; and Mr. Claude Harry.

Encourage Our Progress in Learning

Getting the Fieldhouse ready for the opening game was one of Mr. Redman's "extra curricular" jobs this year. Because he feels that a better school makes better students, our principal tries to make our high school the best in appearance and in achievements.

Mr. Redman takes a personal interest in all students and frequently discusses school problems with us over the P.A. No one is prouder of our academic accomplishments and he urges our teachers to set high standards. Mr. Redman holds an A.B. from Oakland City College, a B.S. from Indiana State Teachers College, and his M.S. from Purdue University.

Edgar B. Redman

The Principal's Advisory Board, made up of the department chairmen, discuss school problems with Mr. Redman. They are Richard Hamilton, practical arts; Miss Fern Hodson, math; Mr. Edgar B. Redman; Mr. Wilbur Veach, physical education; Mr. Bernard Pressler, music; Miss Frances Eilar, homemaking; Miss Juanita Rucker, speech; Miss Evelyn Rentchler, dean of girls; Miss Lewelta Pogue, language; Mr. Lewis Larrison, dean of boys; Miss Ruth Andrews, social studies; and Mrs. Juanita Bishop, business.

Our Deans Offer Friendly Guidance

Mr. Lewis Larrison

Miss Evelyn Rentchler

Mr. Lewis Larrison and Miss Evelyn Rentchler, our deans, were always ready to help us. Their friendly attitude and helpful manner encouraged us in our work and in our personal problems.

From the time we entered high school, they held many conferences with each of us. As we followed planned programs of classes, we knew we were receiving expert guidance for college or future careers.

And Help Us Plan Yearly Schedules

"We will need seven chemistry classes, four second year Latin classes, and five Senior English classes this year," the deans tell Mr. Redman after tabulating our requests for classes.

Scheduling is one of the major tasks of the deans each spring. They must talk with each of us and list our preferences. When this is completed, they tally the requests and give the information to Mr. Redman.

Cooks and Custodians Boost Morale

Our cafeteria staff and our custodians were among our best boosters when it came to school spirit and school pride. We always looked forward to decorations in the cafeteria before the big games and at Christmas time, and we knew that our building would be kept spotlessly clean by our custodians.

The custodial staff had an especially big job this year after the Fieldhouse was opened. Just sweeping it after a game was a three hour job. Putting up the portable stage for plays and other events took hours of work.

Our cafeteria staff prepared food for about 700 of us each day, and they thought nothing of peeling 400 pounds of potatoes or cooking 175 pounds of hamburger for one day's lunch. We especially liked the desserts and such appetizing dishes as pork and beef manhattans, chicken and noodles, and chili.

Custodians on the day shift are Mr. William Hughett, Mr. Robert Byers, Mrs. Ruth Davis, and Mr. William Lowe. Not pictured are the matron at the gymnasium, Mrs. Essie Upchurch, and the night shift consisting of Mr. Frank Braswell, Mr. John York, and Mr. Wayland Catron.

The fifteen cafeteria workers who prepared our lunches this year are ROW 1 — Mrs. Rachel Wilt, Mrs. Maggie Catron, Mrs. Blanche Bruning, Mrs. Eva Adams, Mrs. Lora Wiles, Mrs. Nina Berry, Mrs.

Clara Powers. ROW 2 — Mrs. Lena Ast, Mrs. Etta Rains, Mrs. Anna Culbertson, Mrs. Alma Pollard, Mrs. Dorothy Livezey, Mrs. Ruby Anderson, Mrs. Gladys Evans, and Mrs. Esta Belle Woods.

Eight year old Steve Veach is looking forward to the state champion Trojan team of 1969 and he's getting expert help from his dad, Mr. Wilbur Veach, our boys' gym teacher and track coach.

Chaperoning a dance is much more enjoyable when you're dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Risley aren't "rock-and-rollers," but they excel on the slower numbers.

After a year of teaching all business classes, while they waited for the gym to be completed, Miss Jean Stellingwerf and Miss Gloria Castelluccio are glad to be teaching physical education again.

Wearing safety glasses and helmets to protect them from the steel and glare, Mr. Robert Furbee, Mr. Hurley Jett, and Mrs. Mildred Fleet listen to their guide, Mr. Edward Smeds, at Ingersoll Steel. Business, industry, and education get together every year to visit facilities and discuss mutual problems.

Painting usually isn't part of a principal's duties, but Mr. Redman spent nearly 30 extra hours working in the Fieldhouse so it could be ready on time. With him are Maintenance Engineers Lewis Scott and Dale Stairs and John Koessler, sales representative for the Hillyard Floor Finishing company.

For Our Success

Smokey, the German Shepherd, is an important member of the Sinnock family who live in a 142 year old brick home near Mt. Summit. Mrs. Mary Sinnock and her son Scotty enjoy the country side from their living room picture window.

We'd expect a musical family like Mr. Gordon Gustin and his wife Wanda to get together at the piano to harmonize on many old favorites. Even three year old Marc likes to join in a song fest with Mother and Dad.

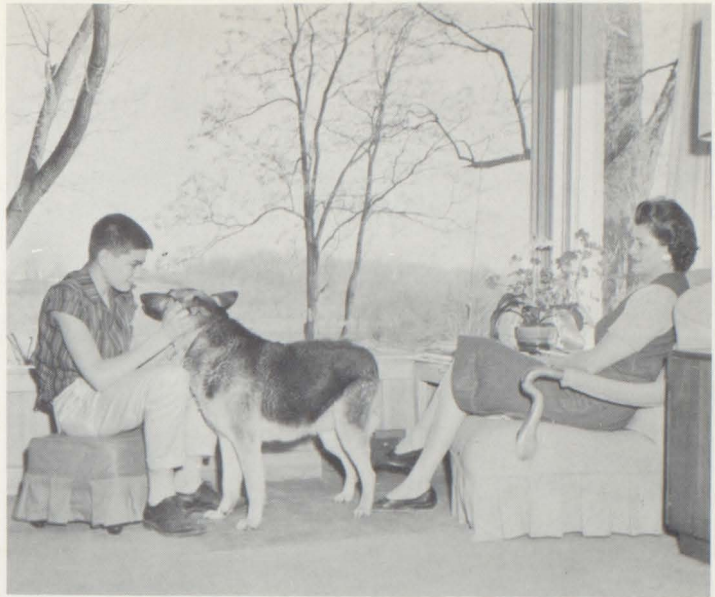

A warm fire is just the thing to provide relaxation for Miss Fern Hodson and her sister Miss Mabel Hodson, Junior High teacher. Even Shep, their dog, enjoys an evening by the fire-side on his owners' farm west of New Castle.

After school sessions with students, school dances, committee work, and hours of grading papers were just part of the job for our 45 well-trained teachers. They hold a total of 77 college degrees, and many also have practical experience in their chosen fields.

Sometimes we felt that we just couldn't satisfy our teachers but when we stopped to think about it, we realized that they were only forcing us to do our best work.

They spent many extra hours discussing our curriculum and making revisions to match our modern building. This year they especially stressed study habits, and we had special Trojan notebooks complete with study guides. In our English department, experimental classes were held with the cooperation of Ball State Teachers College. The mathematics courses also were revised to better prepare us for college work. This spring, they announced that new awards are to be made to more fully recognize academic achievement.

Our high school faculty is "Thinking Big" this year. They are determined that Chrysler High School will be one of the most outstanding high schools in Indiana.

Here ends our record of 1960, but the idea "WE THINK BIG" will continue on through the life of Chrysler High and all the students who attend it. Even now plans are underway for our permanent cafeteria which will be followed by our Home Economics and Practical Arts departments, and finally our auditorium. This story will be completed by the future classes of Chrysler High School.
