Changeless Yet Ever-Changing

Being young in today's fast-paced, constantly changing world . . . whirling with classes, homework, dances, dates . . . is continually challenging. Youth excites new approaches to old ideas. Knowledge . . . as basic as earth itself . . . establishes rules and is obstinate. There is no answer without basic knowledge of the problem. Yet there are new paths. An answer is not unattainable merely because it has not been discovered. With optimistic realism, youth searches for new answers . . . better, more complete answers . . . which are possible only through reconciliation with old ideas. It is essential for youth of today to be CHANGELESS YET EVER-CHANGING.

Spirit . . . undaunted by cold, rain, losing scores, poor sportsmanship . . . and sometimes strengthened through these . . . teaches youth the importance of pride in others as well as themselves. Chrysler people seem more aware of pride in their school since someone tried to destroy their spirit by burning the Trojan Horse. In many new ways Trojan Boosters search to promote spirit . . . through more spontaneous pep sessions than ever before, clubs selling Trojan buttons, increased emphasis on "fight with white" day, fires in the parking lot. Spirit remains a vital part of CHS.

Right: Intent on his work, Danny Axel counts donations that boosted CHS over the top during the United Fund drive.

Concern for others is as old as Man . . . but youth today expresses more compassion than ever before . . . and others listen. Chrysler people dive head-on into community life to solve problems . . . to realize dreams. They work with people . . . in stores, in vote campaigns, and with children who need education . . . reaching out into the crowd to find . . . and to give knowledge and understanding.

Youth is a time of constant search for one's identity . . . identity mirrored in the warmth of friendship . . . the excitement of belonging and being needed. As one grows up in a hard world, he needs to be himself . . . to become a respected part of his world. At Chrysler, students form opinions about themselves . . . adults . . . the world. Chrysler helps to mold these ideas and give its students all it has to offer . . . yet it is not enough to satisfy the hunger of youth . . . they search outside the school for what they lack. Students crave action . . . but also seek time to become individuals, by being themselves.

Right: In the atmosphere of the bowling lanes, Kim Klipsch sets up his next shot against Cinda Shinn and Tom Burke.

An interior force in young people drives them into . . . eight day weeks . . . hours of practice . . . more hours of homework . . . total devotion to a goal. Each pursues his own plan, vividly imagined in his mind . . . but often the road to success is vague. Youth is satisfied only when it solves problems individually and receives praise for a job well done. With only a tiny bit of encouragement, youth will face any obstacle for they are just learning that there are impossible dreams and hopeless problems. Encouragement at CHS often comes as a smile or a "thank you" . . . reassuring the individual that with faith in himself, he can move on to new accomplishments.

Without friends life would be unbearable . . . especially for the young. Youth, so often a time of disillusionment, finds hope through friendship. The heart continuously grows . . . sharing, consoling, sympathizing, and believing. The mind, filled with dreams, gives purpose to them only when they are shared with friends. There are 1,400 Chrysler people . . . each one a friend of another. They share during quiet moments of mutual respect when they seem to be the only ones in the world . . . the only ones who care. Youth is then reassured that there will always be someone to turn to . . . to be a friend.

Why? How? These are the questions behind education, today. Understanding the subject dominates approaches with emphasis on the individual's responsibility to himself . . . to learn what he can to develop into a well rounded, mature adult. Young people are projected faster into adult life than ever before. School has become a multi-purpose educational facility . . . teaching life by first hand experience as well as factual knowledge. Every 25 minutes is a change at CHS . . . providing 13 periods a day of possibilities for personalized involvements in a wide variety of means a day.

Academics

Two years ago, Chrysler initiated a module system consisting of 13 periods a day . . . along with it came a new kind of education. CHS believes that high school people are mature enough to learn to budget and balance their time in order to meet their tasks. With classes scheduled for sometimes only five out of a possible 10 modules a week, students are faced with the challenge to reach out for further meanings in their large group sessions, small groups, and independent study time. They are faced with the need for research and therefore concentrated knowledge becomes necessary. State requirements seem CHANGELESS, but modern methods of teaching are EVERCHANGING.

Administration And Faculty Active In Community

The New Castle Community School Corporation set its goal this year for increasingly superior facilities and curriculum under a progressive School Board. The Board gave its approval to final plans for the new Junior High to be built on the CHS campus, and construction is scheduled to begin soon. Leading the Board's activities were Dr. Donald G. Turchan, completing his third year as superintendent, and Dr. Kenneth M. Book, finishing his second year as assistant superintendent.

Mr. William E. Lehr continued as principal this year, Mr. Langan Hay as assistant principal, and Mr. Randall Lawson as administrative assistant.

Many faculty members have distinguished themselves both locally and state-wide. Typical is Mr. Hay who is a City Councilman and was Chairman of the 1968 United Fund Campaign. Miss Berniece McCord, Russian and Senior English teacher, is State President of the Association of Teachers of Slavic Languages. Mrs. Agnes Tabares, Spanish teacher, is completing her first year as a U.S. citizen.

Staff Provides Atmosphere For Learning

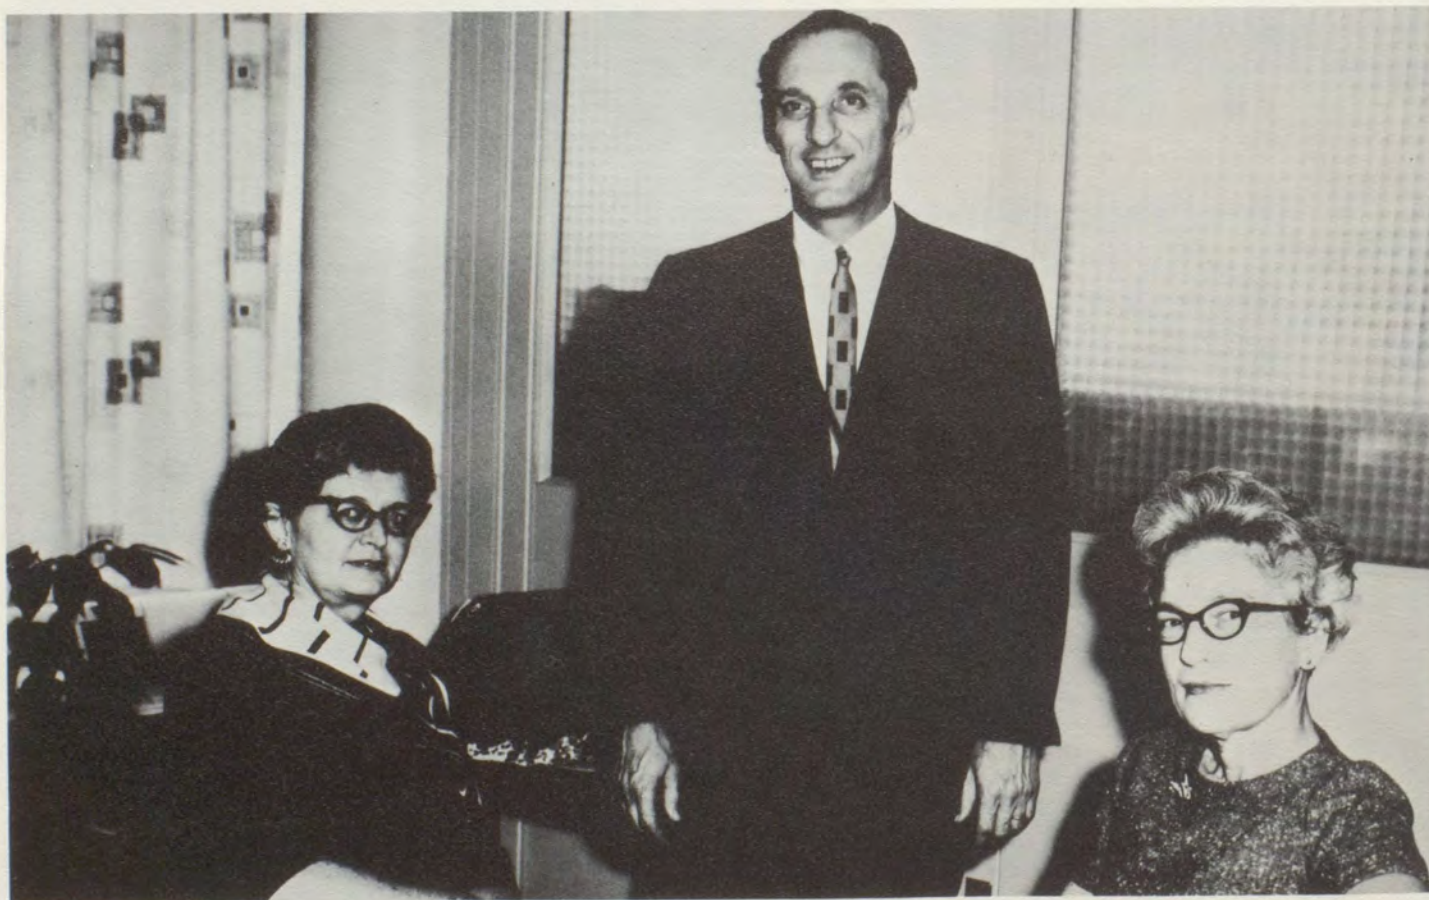

Faculty aids are (SEATED), Karen Dickey, Beverly Dixon, Angalee McClain, Lorene Catron, and Retha Kendall. (STANDING)

Dwight Hood, Max Iddings, Wayne Neal, Cathy Pryor, Brenda Graham, and Pat Stonecipher.

Aid was available to Chrysler students in diversified areas. Offices, library, and cafeteria all served CHS'ers. The student with personal problems could always rely on the staff of the Counseling Center to provide swift help. Individual consultation was available even more this year with one counselor to each class.

A quiet study area was provided by the library on week nights. Students were allowed to come in from seven to nine at night and use the many resources.

The newest feature of the east cafeteria study hall was a morning snack bar. Cookies and milk were served daily. A busy cafeteria staff managed this, along with two types of lunch daily and the annual Band Chili Supper. Working efficiently, the custodial staff kept the building attractive and running smoothly.

Giving the students assistance are Mrs. Mary Sinnock, junior counselor; Mr. Robert Rinehart, sophomore counselor; and Miss Evelyn Rentchler, senior counselor and department chairman. The counseling center is filled with career information.

Receiving guests, typing letters, and keeping records are duties of secretaries Mrs. Edith Ingram, Mrs. Jeannette Sheddric, Mrs. Thelma Lawless, Mrs. Margaret Bow, Mrs. Ruth Connolly, Mrs. Margaret Williams, and Mrs. Ida Good.

Custodians familiar to many students are Mr. York, Mrs. Davis, and Mr. Braswell.

Hundreds of students come into the library daily seeking sources for personal reading, class assignments, and research papers. Those who assist them in this are Mrs. Ruth Stamper and Mrs. Wanda Kaucher, aids, and Mrs. Ruth Creech, librarian.

The cafeteria staff includes (SEATED) Mrs. Sell, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Stoots, Mrs. Hoots, Mrs. Church, Mrs. Hedrick, Miss Stockdale, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Wilt; (STANDING) Mrs. Rinsch, Mrs.

Anderson, Mrs. Maddy, Mrs. Sumpter, Mrs. McClain, Mrs. Byrd, Mrs. Steele, Mrs. Sells, Mrs. Conley, Mrs. Powers, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. I. Bell, Mrs. Owens, Mrs. Stinson, Mrs. Catron, Mrs. M. Bell.

Seniors Gain Insight From Sociology

A new course, Sociology was added to the classes within the Social Studies field. Through this elective, seniors learned more about mankind and his problems in the modern world and had a better understanding of themselves.

An experimental feature of this department was the use of large and small groups. One large lecture and three small discussions a week were designed to encourage students to think. Action programs, field trips, speakers, and instructive films provided added interest.

Various books and pamphlets were added to the department's resource center to enable students to further explore ideas in sources other than the textbook. Economics students bought stocks with an allowance of $5,000 and learned to read stock quotations accurately as posted daily in the Wall Street Journal.

A candidate for the State Legislature, Mr. Leitch spoke to senior classes.

Sociology students Pam Mathews and Jane Taylor talk with Mr. Sells.

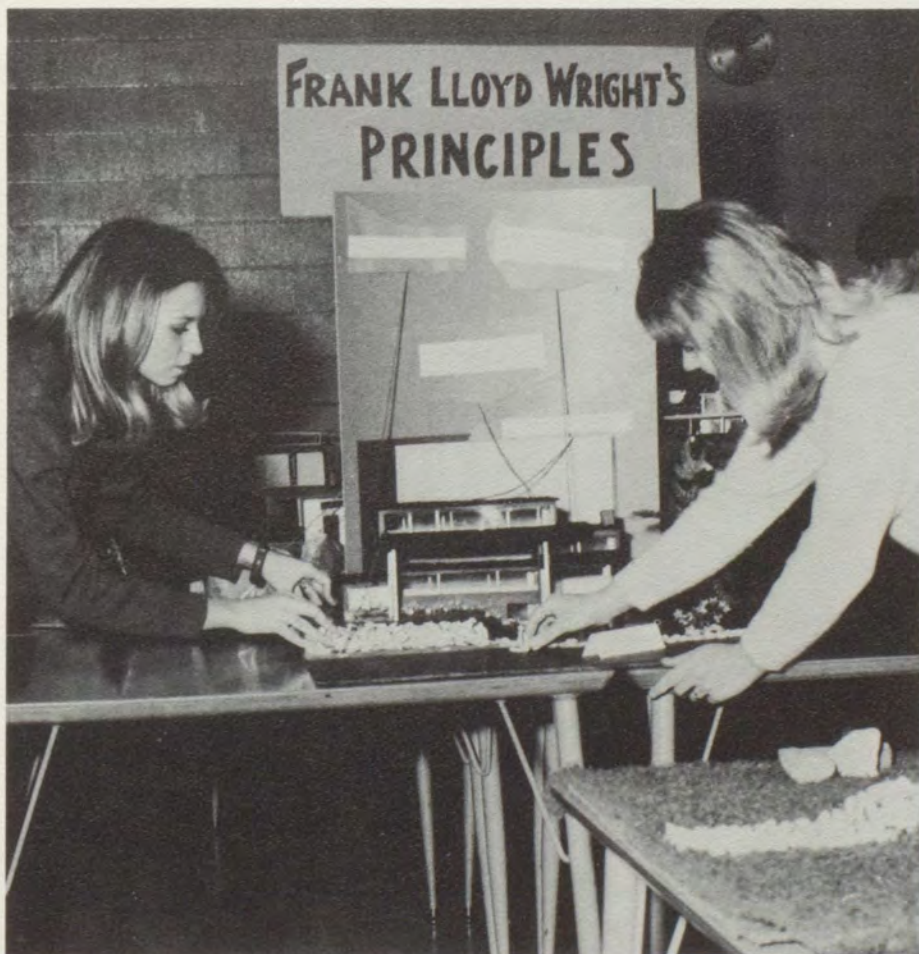

Action Programs Spur Student Enthusiasm

Sharing his ideas on the humanities with a group of underclassmen is Tony Page.

Displaying principles of architecture are Tena Nicholson and Sandy Jarvis.

The essence of communication was stressed to students in English classes, not only verbally, but through the use of other media as well. Three teachers initiated action programs which have given students a chance to explore and experience ideas and concepts formulated in discussion. Activities ranged from a "House Expo" to several community action programs. These included a "Get Out and Vote" campaign at election time, a traffic safety drive, and several other projects involving elementary school youngsters.

Teaching in the traditional form, other English teachers centered their class time on the study of culture, with emphasis on a great deal of reading. These classes also engaged in expository writing.

Closely allied with the English department is the Speech and Theatre department. In addition to the regular class work in this area, students had the opportunity to participate in extra curricular activities such as NFL, Speech X, and Thespians.

Speech student Ronnie Stine demonstrates the effectiveness of a gesture.

Foreign Languages Spread World Culture

Spanish students Mary Stegner and Dennis Sloan find auxiliary equipment is useful.

Tape recorders are in constant use when learning a language.

Creating understanding and bridging the communication gap were the basic purposes of the language department. Flexible scheduling was helpful in lab practice for the 500 students enrolled in the five language areas. The language lab was remodeled to serve as a research area, in addition to being a practice room. Offered to students were four years of Spanish and French, three years of Latin, and two years of Russian. The courses dealt with teaching the mechanics of the languages as well as studying its culture. This was done through such activities as banquets, bake sales, and parties at which native foods were prepared. This department worked closely with FORSCO in the foreign student program.

"Quickie Greek" holds special interest for Joyce Owens and Miss Ratcliffe.

French students Bill Aitchison, Becky Grunden and Ricky McLain discuss customs.

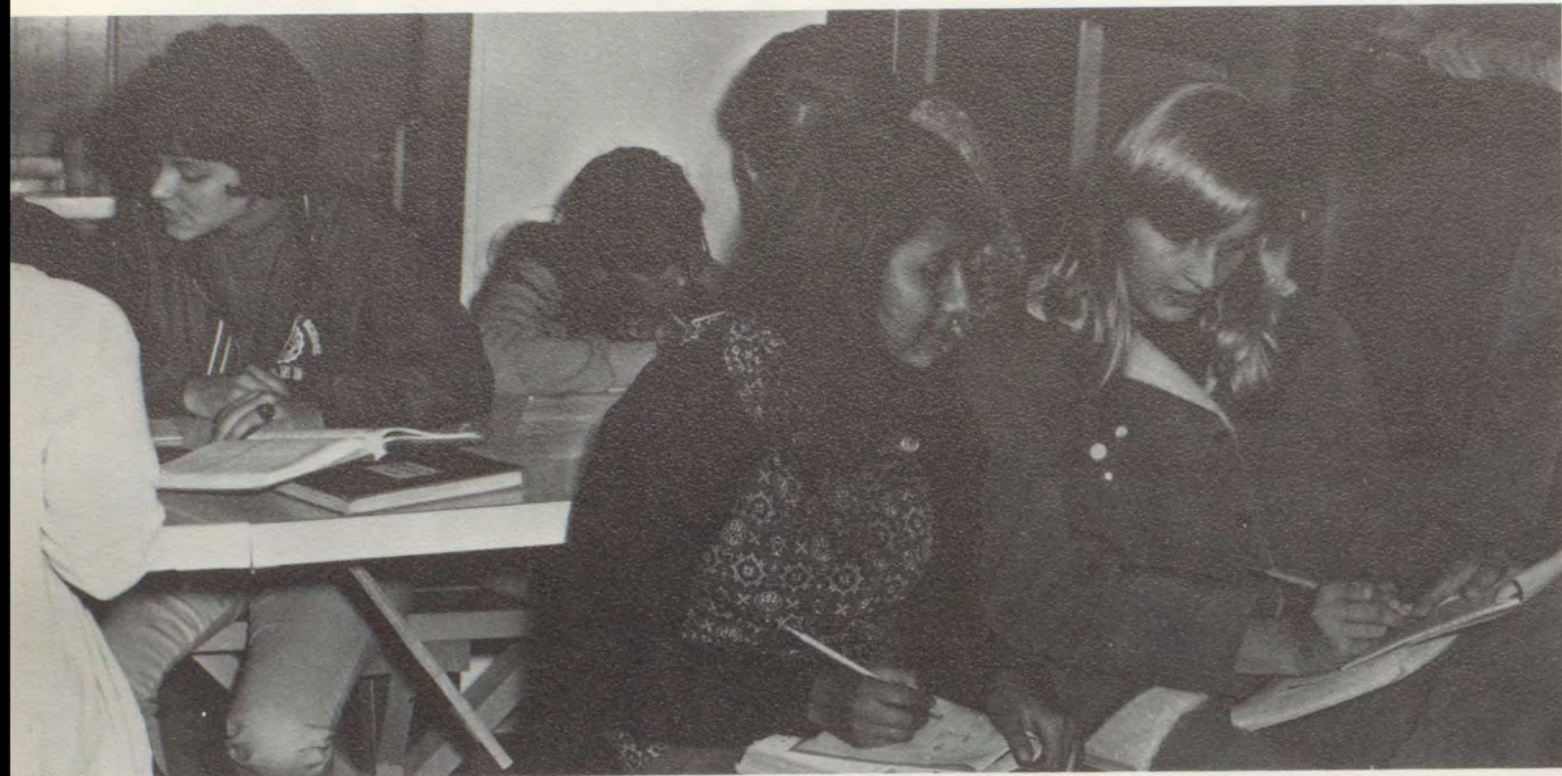

Pointing out a geographical feature of Russia to Carla Tomey is Brent Popplewell.

After many hours were spent in preparing the foods for the Foreign Food Sale, Latin students assist in making it a successful event for the FORSCO organization.

New Spirit Awakened As Innovations Go

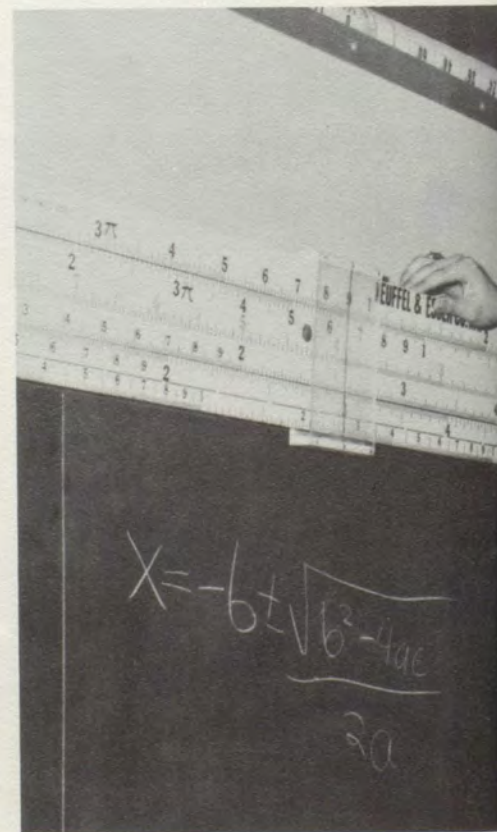

Teaching mathematics at the migrant workers' camp was an opportunity for interested math students. Two participants were Donna Means and Beth Erickson.

"Behold!" Mr. Byer assists sophomore Wanda Williams with a geometry problem.

Slide rules are quite useful to John Griffith and John Stonerock.

Into Practice

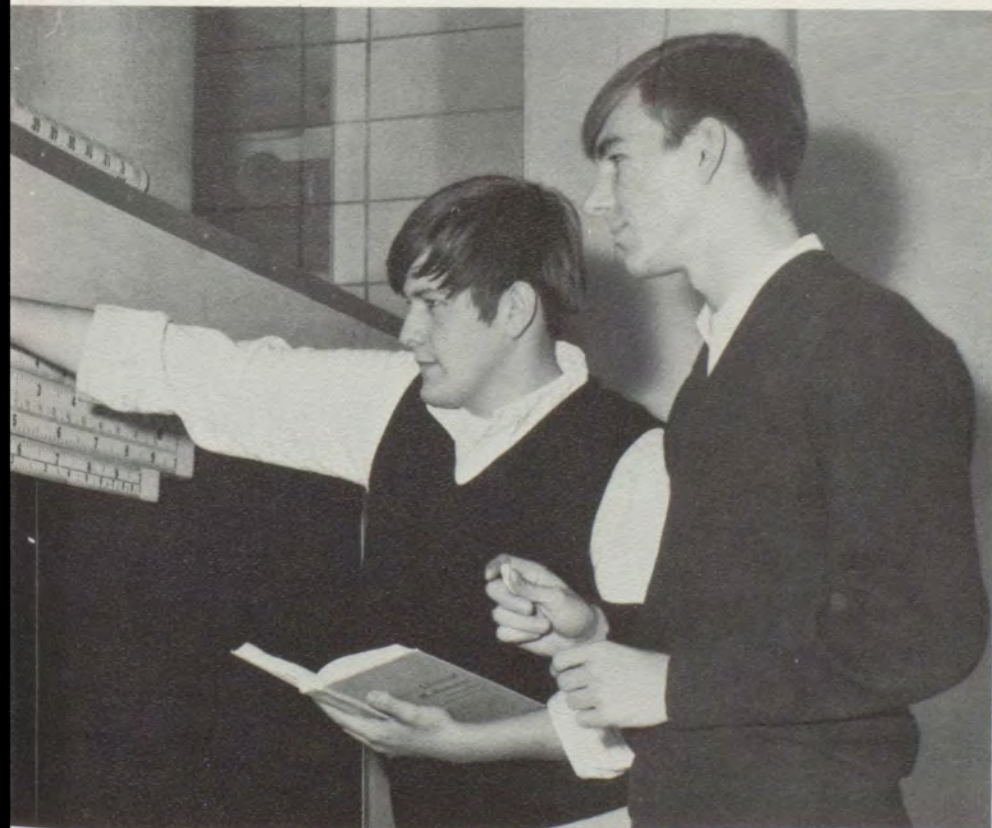

Various innovations have taken place in the Math and Science departments. This was the second year for Geometry labs and for television as an experimental device of communication for Geometry large groups. Algebra II students were for the first time involved in a geometry type situation. Teachers teamed for large group sessions and stressed individual work in small groups.

From nine to twelve labs were required of the Biology students during each nine week period and could be completed as quickly as desired. There was an open lab for Biology, Chemistry and Physics. An Advanced Biology Seminar was added to the program too. Stimulation of independent scientific investigation was encouraged as every student planned a project that made up the bulk of his work. This class gave the individual a chance to be involved in science activities without credit. It developed the responsibility needed for advanced work in any field.

Physics teacher Mr. DeNeef shows the interaction of forces on the force board.

Independency Stressed By Art Seminar

An art seminar was added to the courses offered by CHS, making it possible for seniors to do advanced work in areas of their personal interests. Projects ranged widely, from a hand-cast silver ring to a four-foot cement sculpture. Students were able to indulge in activities not outlined by regular art classes and to pursue them in greater depth.

As sophomores, art students were introduced to drawing, painting, general design, lettering, poster work and printmaking. Courses in painting, pottery, drawing, and sculpture were offered to juniors and seniors as a general background. A junior, Cathy Carter won a gold key in the Scholastic Art Contest in Indianapolis. Her work advanced to national competition in New York City.

As the print appears, Mr. Zeigler shares the success of one of his students.

Interpretation is important to Marti Morec, Charlie Martin, and Richard Swincher.

Demonstrating his creative genius in a sculpture is a senior, Mike Smith.

Music History Is Added To Curriculum

Preparing to play at Senior Vespers is Dennis Springer, one of 95 in the band.

A new music history study was added to the curriculum of the music department. Its main concern was to develop good listeners, as well as to train an audience. Other credit classes included Band and Chorale. Swing Choir, Madrigal, Orchestra, and Dance Band operated as extra-curricular activities.

With its 55 enthusiastic members, the Chorale was active in performing at many school activities. This group helped create a special atmosphere for such events as Senior Vespers and the Christmas convo.

Participating in Ball State Homecoming and Purdue High School Band Day were the 95 members of the band. Along with the 21 Pom-Pon Girls, they performed at the Memorial Day and Halloween parades.

Both vocal and instrumental students were district contest winners.

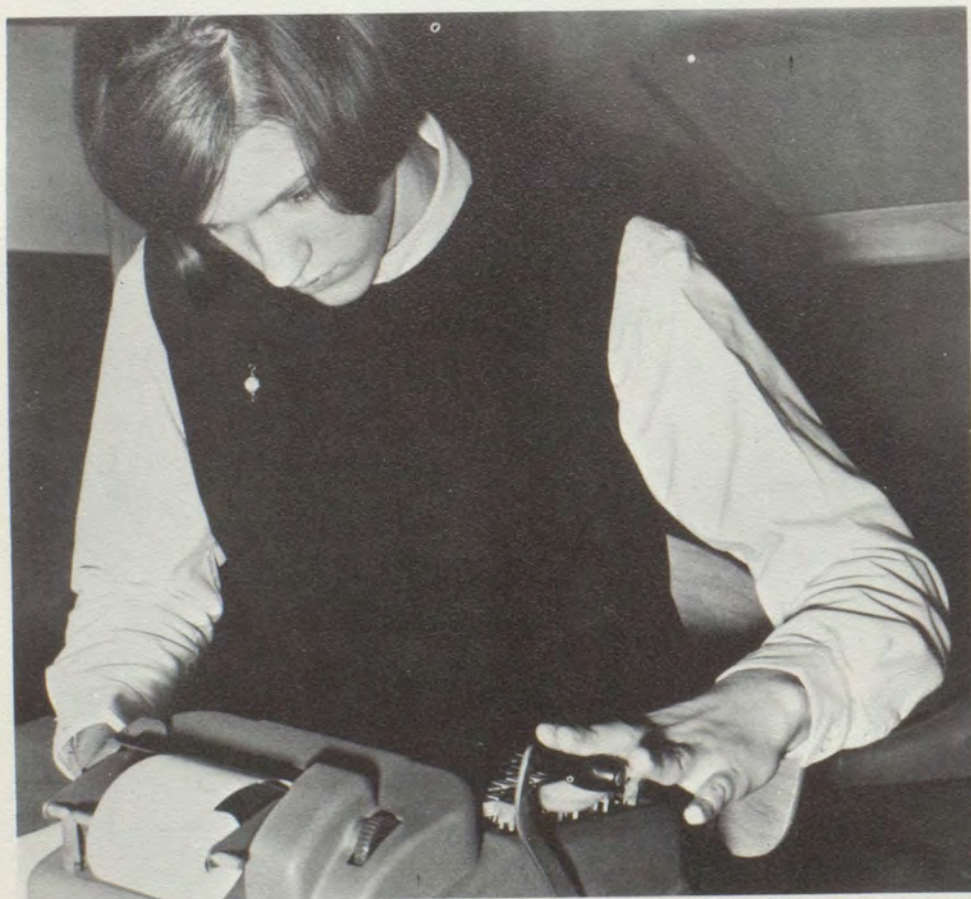

Members of Chorale, Elsa Millikan and Patty Webb, practice for the music contest.

Business Classes Interest More Than

With earphones, Jane Fields can take dictation at her own pace.

700 Students

Functioning with an active staff of eleven, the business department offered twelve types of classes. Some 700 students were involved in business courses which varied from personal typing to office practice. For the first time this year, students gained practical experience by serving as secretaries for the department chairmen.

There were two vocational business programs—Office, through which students worked half days in local offices doing bookkeeping and typing, and Distributive Education, a program in which students received practical experience in retailing, service, and wholesaling jobs. O.E.A. and D.E.C.A. were the two organizations affiliated with these two business programs.

With a purpose of promoting business leadership, the Future Business Leaders of America helped to serve the remaining business areas. The best students in bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing were honored by this club. Each year F.B.L.A. sponsors the inter-school typing contest.

To succeed, typing students must learn the correct manipulation of the fingers.

One of the six girls who help department heads with clerical work is Sally Norris.

Specialists Enrich Home Ec Department

With ten types of classes offered by the Home Economics Department, students found an opportunity for a great deal of flexibility. A team of reference people, prominent business directors from the New Castle area, came to share their vocational experiences with the Family Living classes through the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce. Other Home Economics areas also made use of local specialists in their fields. Classes often participated in field trips to broaden their experiences within this department. Students not enrolled in a Home Economics class were encouraged to come in and learn more about Clothing and other basic practices. This fall, the Future Homemakers of America were hostesses to about 500 Home Economics girls and their advisors of the Northeast District.

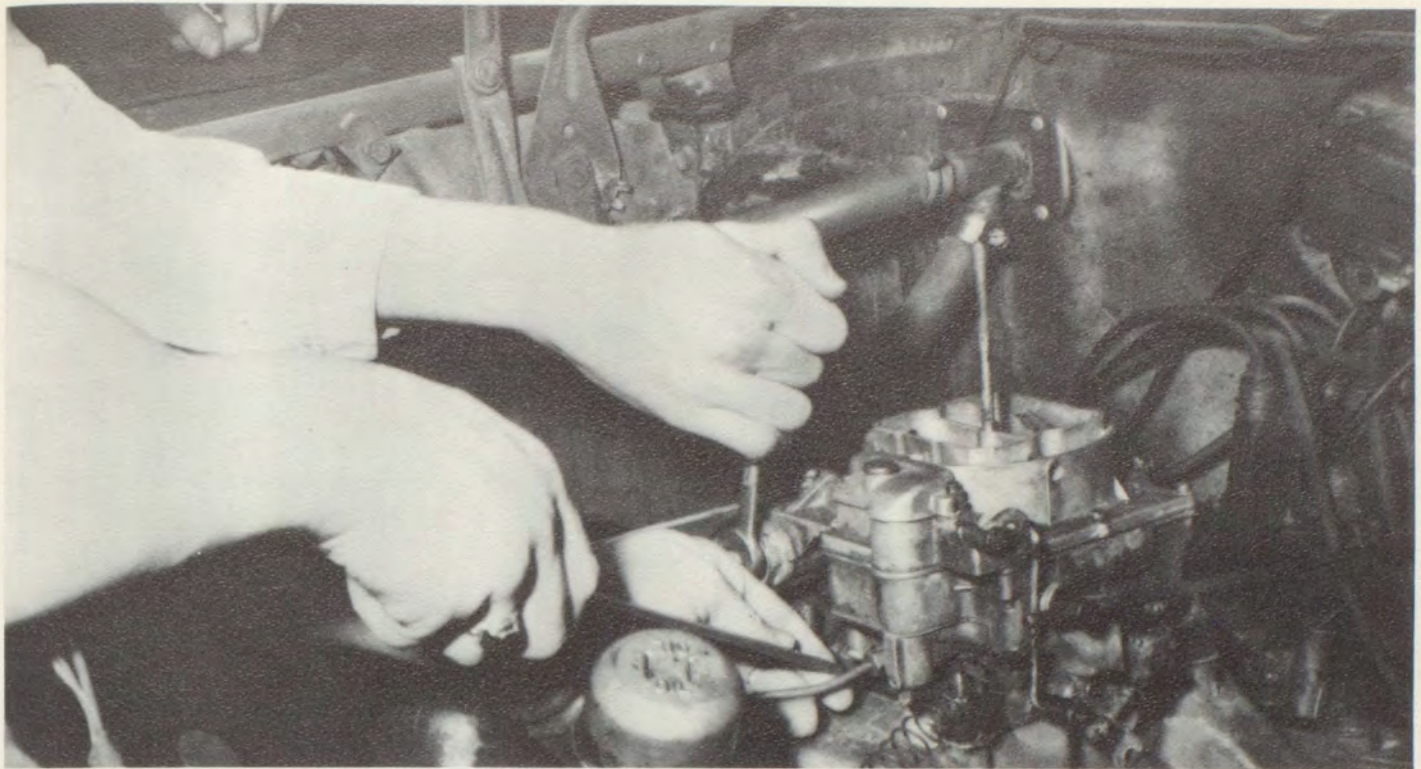

Bringing honor to her Clothing class, as well as to her school was Ramona Rogers who was chosen to be a part of the McCalls Teen Fashion Board for the 1969 school year.

A champion at matching plaids, Diane Lawless made the dress she is wearing.

Hours of classroom instruction and practice on small motors pay off as students of Power and Transportation perfect their skills of auto engine tuning.

Vocational Ed Links School And Industry

Since Industrial Arts is a study of industry, much time was devoted to working with materials and processes of industry. Students in Woods, Metals, Machine Shop and Graphic Arts classes were involved in mass production projects this year. Finished projects were croquet sets, shoeshine boxes, aluminum pencil holders, and pocket calendars. Instruction in Drafting, General Metals, Machine Shop, and Power and Transportation was conducted in both large and small groups. About 150 boys received instruction by video tape.

Eleven Machine Shop and Graphic Arts boys were the first vocational industrial enrollees, working in local businesses that gave them experience in their speciality.

Chips are flying as Frank Byrd uses a lathe in a production project.

Skill Tests Help Mark Progress

New tennis courts were built in the fall of '68 and put into active use in the spring of '69. Other facilities provided for outdoor activities such as baseball, football and soccer which have become popular high school traditions. There was room for a great deal of diversity in this sophomore developmental class. Its major concern was the development of physical skill and coordination, however, tests were given in order to see the progress made by each individual. In the future, the physical education department plans to originate a program in which juniors and seniors may participate two days a week as well as sophomores, all of whom are enrolled in physical education. Interested seniors took part in the department by participation as cadet teachers. Parallel bars, a balance beam, tennis rackets and archery equipment were a few examples of the equipment added to the department during the year.

Classmates Tom Cory and Don Hoots practice gymnastics with Richard Scott.

Physical Education girls learn to cooperate in cage ball and other sports.

Resource Rooms Ease Strain On Library

To reap the benefits of the library, Mary Sheffield uses the card catalog.

Filled with 130 periodicals and 9,200 books, the library adequately served the researcher. It returned to its function as Research Center this year, with the addition of various resource rooms for specific classes. In addition to a set of music dictionaries, the library added 200 paperback bound books, as well as a new selection of fiction. Tapes on various topics also provided new experiences within the library. Upon permission of their teacher, students were able to hear tapes of "Othello" and other literary compositions. Many tapes were also available to foreign language students. Flags of various countries added an international air to the library atmosphere.

Listening to tapes available in the library are Susie Piros and Sandy Hunter.

Activities

Extra-curricular activities are an important part of any school and play a large part in the development of the individual. The extra-curricular program at C.H.S. is almost as varied as the educational one. This year at Chrysler, there are many new activities . . . from Electronics Club to a new form of government for Student Council. Every department has some extra activity . . . every weekend involves dozens of Chrysler people. Students . . . on the move, active, vital with CHANGELESS spirit and enthusiasm . . . YET EVER-CHANGING in their purposes and challenging opportunities.

Thespian Talent Creates Children's Theatre

Kindness answers the riddle of the "King of the Golden River" for Dick (J. Tille) as the Trolls and Sabbatha the cat (P. Webb) register their surprise.

A stage full of talent could be seen in each Thespian production as cast and crews sacrificed energy, creativity, and time. More than 100 students participated in each show.

This year, Thespians presented "Little Moon of Alban," a love story of a young Irish girl torn in spirit because of her fiancé's death, and "Romeo and Juliet," Shakespeare's famous tragedy. Catching the hearts of the young and old, Thespians not only produced brilliant high school plays but also aided Tri Kappa Sorority with Children's Theatre. In addition, several thousand children enjoyed the Thespian production of "A Day In the Life of Charlie Brown" as it was presented in several elementary auditoriums.

Thespian officers were Chris McKee, president; Tom Detmer, vice-president; Marti Morec, secretary; and Lee Haywood, treasurer. Mr. Dick Willis was club sponsor.

'Half A Sixpence' Features Gay Music

If the rain has to fall, don't let it fall on a Sunday, say Bruce Bales, Angie Ham, Tom Detmer, Elsa Millikan, Eric Rauch, and Chuck Shallenberg.

The many hours spent in scene shop; movement class; and the continuous rehearsal of cast, orchestra, and crew resulted in another fabulous spring musical for CHS, enjoyed by hundreds of happy students and adults.

Under the direction of Miss Della Mae Tronchuk, choral music, and Mr. Dick Willis, theatre arts, Chrysler High music students and Thespians produced "Half A Sixpence," a rollicking show with several catchy songs. Based on the novel "Kipps" by H. G. Wells, "Half A Sixpence" presents the turn-of-the-century story of a mild put-upon clerk in a middle class establishment who suddenly comes into great wealth. Letting this go to his head, Artie Kipps lets his money fall into the wrong hands and resumes his original financial state. He becomes a happy bookshop owner in the colonies.

Finding fun on a day off are B. Bales, T. Detmer, E. Rauch, and C. Shallenberg.

After asking Anne Pornick (E. Millikan) to be his girl, Artie Kipps (T. Detmer) tells her that a sixpence will be an everlasting reminder of their eternal love.

Anne Reigns Over Lively Heart's Hop

A Russian ballroom was the setting for CHS's annual Heart's Hop held in February. To add to the luster, a foreign exchange student was selected queen of the affair. Miss Anne-Marie Axelsson, from Sweden, was the first foreign exchange student ever to be elected queen of a CHS formal dance.

"Somewhere My Love," from Dr. Zhivago, was the theme of the dance. Under two illuminating chandeliers, the queen and her court danced to the music of Bill Adair and his orchestra. Members of the court were seniors Sandy Boyer, Janet Lacey; juniors Kathy Carter, Elsa Millikan the Queen's American sister, Carla Tomey; and sophomores Beverly Smith, Sally Stackhouse, and Jenny York.

Mood music by Bill Adair and his orchestra pleases students and their guests.

Dancing with her escort Randy Woods is Queen Anne-Marie Axelsson.

As the queen is announced, three members of the court S. Boyer, J. Lacey, C. Tomey and their escorts B. Bales, B. Bolinger, and J. Ryan display mixed emotions.

Anne Cherry Blossom Queen-Sakura 1968

Anne Williams happily reigns over the cherry blossom land of Sakura.

Through a large Japanese gateway covered with cherry blossom branches, over 500 juniors, seniors, and guests entered into the oriental kingdom of Sakura. Centering the room was a large Japanese pagoda made of white lattice work. Furnished with white wrought iron furniture, it was one of the most visited areas. Throughout the evening, a popular spot with guests was a small running brook with a bubbling fountain. Colored lights beneath the water projected a mood of enchantment for couples during the evening. Doug Milligan and The Starlighters provided music from the top of a snowcapped mountain high off the floor.

The juniors' unselfishness and dedicated hours of work shone through in the sophisticated appeal and sparkle of the oriental evening.

At 11:00, the guests' eyes were focused on the lattice pagoda, waiting for the coronation to begin. Climaxing the evening was the crowning of Anne Williams Prom Queen, 1968, by Junior Class President George Clift.

Reigning with Queen Anne are Maribeth Burton, Faye Mark, Linda Jones, Susie

Piros, Sandy Boyer, Susie Danielson, Jenny Greaif, and Susie Yorkis.

As "Let's Fall In Love" is played, Anne dances with her escort, Gary Bouslog.

Vital hours are spent working on Prom decorations. Completing the task are Juniors Sandy Jarvis, David Antic, Karen Stonerock, and Kathy Morrow.

NFL Hosts 14th Annual Speech Meet

Fifty-five "Talking Trojans" represented the Chrysler High chapter of the National Forensic League of America. Seventeen years old, NFL is one of the most active and oldest organizations in Chrysler High School. NFL gained honor during summer 1968 as Joy Rothrock placed second in Knights of Pythias and advanced to National semi-finals. Also Donna Mastin earned recognition as she placed second in District 4-H speaking contest. NFL members talked themselves into a very successful year as NFL members Mike Crider, Donna Mastin, and Jim Hostetler earned Degrees of Distinction and Chris McKee was awarded the Double Ruby. Chris also received state honors and an opportunity to advance to national competition in Girls' Extemporaneous Speaking.

National Forensic League officers are Joy Rothrock, president; Pete Woods, vice-president; Terri Bowers, treasurer; and Debby Penticuff, secretary. Miss Rucker, Mr. Willis and Mr. Hostetler sponsored NFL.

1968-1969 NFL members are as follows: (FRONT ROW) P. Woods, D. Penticuff, T. Bowers, J. Rothrock, Miss Greenleaf, Mr. Willis, Miss Rucker, Mr. Hostetler. (SECOND ROW) L. Turner, D. Rush, J. McKee, C. Involvement

Student Council attempted to make a new form of student government effective this year with an executive board and English class representation. The Executive Board from which officers and committee chairmen were elected was composed of seven juniors, seven seniors, and the president. Council members helped pay for the calendar sign located on the school lawn and sponsored Heart's Hop.

Four members attended the State Convention at Madison Heights in October. In May, a drive was held to send clothing, toys, and books to an orphanage in Viet Nam.

Student Council officers were Kent Sharp, president; Chuck Shallenberg, vice-president; Linda Marcum, secretary; and Chris McKee, treasurer. Co-sponsors were Mrs. Mary Sinnock and Mr. Steve Dicken.

Council Committees Work To Better School

Discussing Christmas bulletin board ideas are Peggy Brooks, Jerry DeHart, Susie Danielson, and Vicki Collins.

Writing an announcement for WYSN are Terri Bell and Susan Lockhart, publicity committee members.

Student Council divided its members into four committees which included Student-Teacher Relations, IMPS, Morale, and Publicity.

The Student-Teacher Relations committee's main objective was to promote understanding between students and teachers and encourage English teachers to attend Council meetings. Sponsoring the annual teachers' luncheon was another activity of the members for this year.

IMPS committee was responsible for the Christmas decorations and the updating of the calendar bulletin board. This committee also investigated the voting procedure of the Council.

Morale committee members were in charge of booster signs they made with a newly purchased sign-maker. Sponsoring Spring Fling and pep sessions also were responsibilities.

Publicity committee members were in charge of publicity for all Student Council activities in the Courier-Times and WYSN.

Planning the annual Teachers' Luncheon at the semester break are Mr. Byer, Linda Kirby, and Jill Overman.

Readying the building for the opening of school are School Improvement members.

Preparing the calendar board are IMPS members Susie Danielson and Peggy Brooks.

Under Mr. Arford's supervision Morale committee members use the new sign-maker.

Cadets Gain Confidence In Teaching

Exploratory teachers caught an insight of what their future might hold as they taught in elementary classrooms during the first semester. "Cadet Teachers" spent the first two modules of the morning preparing lessons, assisting with teaching, working individually with the students, and displaying bright bulletin boards.

During the semester, cadets met in four sessions in the West Cafeteria with advisor Miss Pearl Dunn to discuss the field of teaching. In January, the annual Conference Night was sponsored by the Classroom Teachers' Association with Dr. Charles Shipman, assistant dean of education at Ball State University, as guest speaker.

Second semester, the 49 cadet teachers were involved in Psychology. They experimented to determine the factors of individual intelligence and personality traits. Miss Muzetta Guymon was their instructor.

Convocations Stress Student Participation

Van Winkle, and Eric Rauch with the assistance of Chorale members.

"Make something of yourself—Don't drive yourself to death," these and other thoughts were thrown to Chrysler High students during several convocations throughout the school year. Mr. Steve Dicken's tenth and eleventh module English class presented a special convocation on driving. Guest speaker Sergeant Adler, State Policeman from Connersville, spoke to CHS youth about the drinking driver in today's society.

Weight lifting champion Paul Anderson not only displayed his strength but showed his outstanding character, leadership, and a great love for his fellow man as he talked to CHS students during the fall. He was representing the Fellowship of Christian Athletes' Camp.

With the problems of today's world as the theme, Chorale and CHS students presented "A Time to Remember," a locally written show, for the Christmas convo.

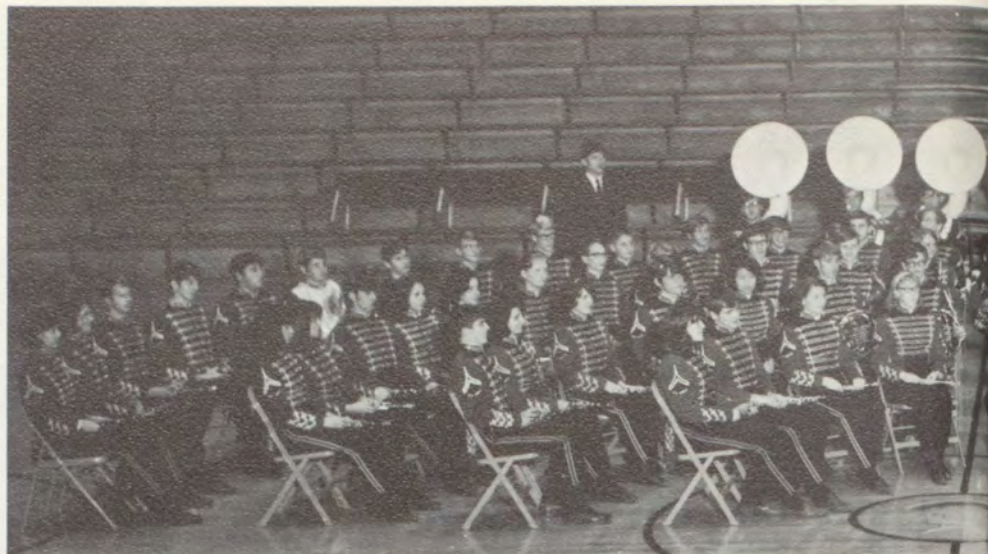

Sergeant Ernie Adler informed each class on the dangers of drunken driving.

Band Plans For First State Fair

All band members eagerly anticipated plans made for band competition at the Indiana State Fair this September. Another first was the expected performance of Chrysler's largest band in the "500" Festival parade led by drum major Jon Sutton. Traditionally, the band sold tags to finance new band uniforms. Eric Rauch served as president for the year; Alexis Bell as vice-president; Hsiu Zu Ho as secretary; Karen Wallace as treasurer; and Jon Sutton as historian.

At the annual Band Banquet, members announced the winner of their beef raffle. Tickets were sold to pay for new uniforms.

Chrysler's pom-pom corps became a full-fledged organization with Mrs. Shirley Smalley as sponsor. Colorful half-time shows entertained football and basketball fans. Three majorettes graced the corps and brought recognition as Nancy Poynter took first place in the United States Twirling Association competition.

Chorale Presents Contemporary Convo

Enthusiastic Swing Choir members perform their interpretation of the old time favorite

"Jingle Bells" at the annual Christmas convocation written by CHS students.

The Chorale brought honor to Chrysler High as they proved they were a fine musical group during their performances for the New Castle public. Under the direction of Miss Della Mae Tronchuk, the Chorale presented an unusual contemporary Christmas convo and performed at Senior Vespers, the Community Sing, Baccalaureate and various other programs.

In January, representatives won honors in the district solo-ensemble contest at Ball State and later competed in the state contest at Butler. First place winners were Bruce Bales, tenor; Teresa Lorton, alto; and Pat McKinney, soprano. Members of Chorale took part in the Choral Festival at Cambridge City in March.

Officers for Chorale were Pam McKinney, president and student director; Bruce Bales, vice-president; Pat McKinney, secretary; and Chuck Shallenberger, treasurer.

Members of Madrigal receiving a Superior rating at the District Contest are Pat McKinney, John Montgomery, Betsy John, Ted Rust, Denise Williams, Mitch Perdew, Terri Lorton, Tom Detmer, Pam McKinney, Bruce Bales and Kathy Detmer.

Chorale members are (FRONT ROW) Long, Worthington, Weber, Perdew, Shallenberg, Gann, Rust, Woods, Montgomery, Clark, T. Detmer, Archey, Bales, S. Smith, and Miss Tronchuk. (SECOND ROW) Webb, McKinney, Albion, McDonald, Bober, Milner, Murray, S. Davis, Kirby, Carlton, Yeater, and Baker. (THIRD ROW)

Earnest participation in the activities of the Lettermen's Club made it possible for N'Men to become honor members. Reorganization of the constitution provided a new initiation program which called for potential honor members to wear green beanies for a week after each major sport season. Some received special emblem pins. This year, cheerleaders also were initiated into the club as members.

"Tiny Trojan" and two "live" bands provided unusual entertainment at their annual dance. Field trips to professional and college sport events was another interesting activity in which the boys participated.

Guiding the members of Lettermen's were Mike Barr, president; David Phillips, vice-president; and Duane Anderson, secretary-treasurer. Sponsors were Mr. Tom Sells, Mr. Hans Sheridan, and Mr. Wilbur Veach.

Boys' Cheerblock Supports Trojans With Spirit Hoop

Constructing the Trojan Spirit Hoop before each home game was one of the main responsibilities assumed by the members of Boys' Cheerblock. Led by Steve Veach, the boys followed tradition with the ringing of the Trojan Victory Bell after each home victory.

To rebuild Trojan spirit, the Boys' Cheerblock introduced Kim Klipsch as Spiritman to the Chrysler crowd. In an effort to boost student morale, Spiritman led chants during home basketball games and carried it through to Spring Fling when he urged seniors to participate in their events.

Booming voices from Boys' Cheerblock in response to the victory stick added to the spirit of home game fans and lent support to Girls' Cheerblock. Officers were Steve Veach, president; John Younghaus, vice-president; with captains from each class. They were Ernie Troxell, senior; Chris Foster, junior; and Barry Harter, sophomore. Sponsors were Mr. Roscoe Rogers, Mr. Raymond Vulcan, Mr. Paul Gallo, Mr. Mike Haley, and Mr. Don Giles.

FBLA Party Entertains State Patients

The challenge of organizing a scrapbook to take to State Convention at Ball State was accepted by the Future Business Leaders of America. They entered several contests at the March convention. In October, initiation services were held for 42 new members.

Refreshments and playing of games entertained State Hospital patients at the annual Valentine party. The club sponsored its yearly typewriting contests in April in which most typing students enthusiastically participated. In December, FBLA sponsored a sock-hop, where several albums were awarded as door prizes.

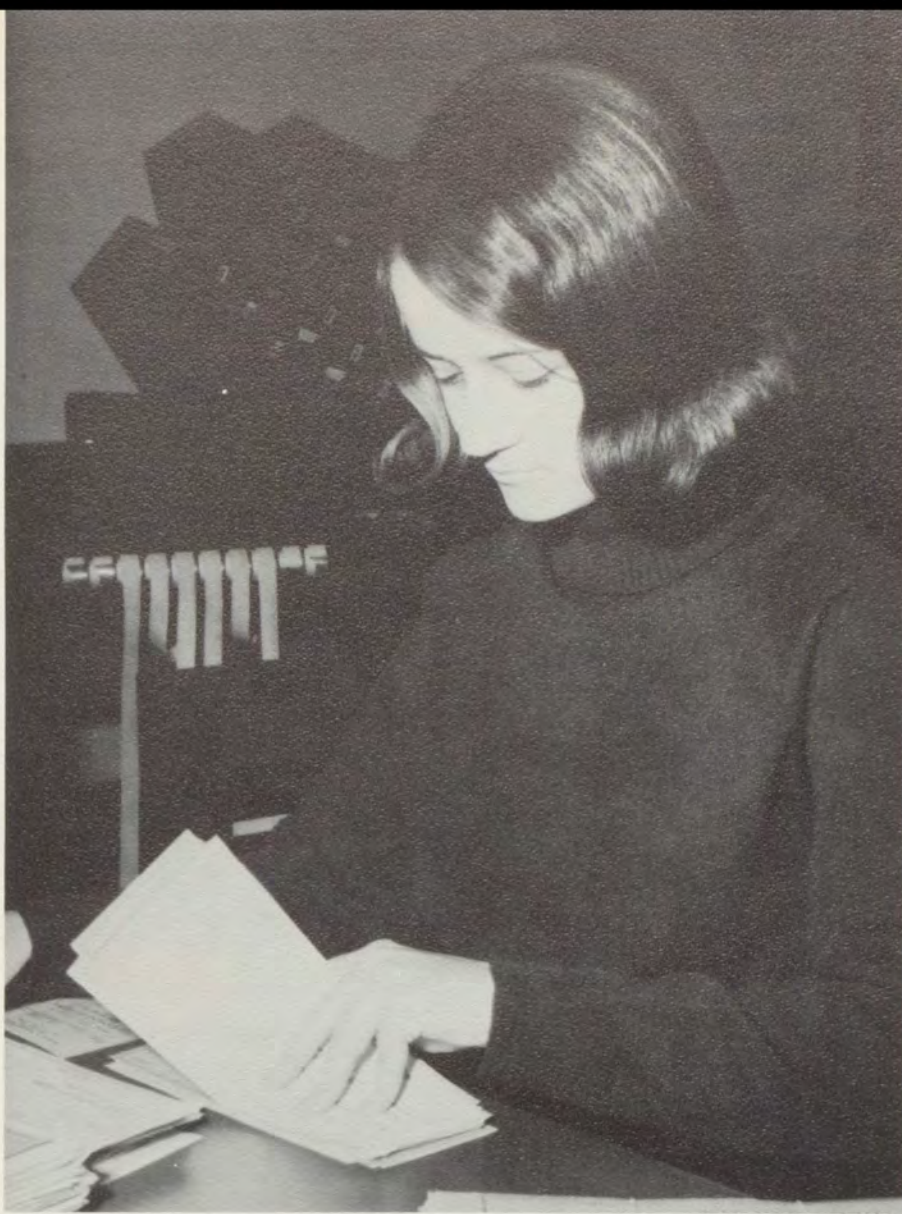

Officers for the 1968-1969 school year were Nancy Popplewell, president; Kathy Murphy, vice-president; Christine McGaha, secretary; and Gary Cowan, treasurer. Sponsors were Mrs. Mildred Donovan and Mrs. Dorothy Golliher, business teachers.

OEA Attends Leadership Conference

Bowling parties, a Christmas party, spring picnic, and the annual Employer-Employee Banquet were among the many activities of OEA students. A community service was rendered with the typing of 500 March of Dimes reminders to local citizens.

At the Employer-Employee Banquet, Linda Morgan was announced OEA Student of the Year.

Students competed in bookkeeping, shorthand, filing, spelling, and various other contests at the State Leadership Conference in February at Arlington High School in Indianapolis.

A band from Hagerstown provided music for their dance with members creating a Laugh-In skit.

Preparing for district contest competition, regional treasurer Carolyn Morgan demonstrates the uses of an electric knife to her fellow club members.

Different products and projects were displayed in the classroom windows each week by members of the Distributive Education Club of America. DECA not only brightened the school but served the community by operating the school bookstore, printing signs, and setting up informative displays in downtown store windows. Club members spent afternoons working in local businesses. In May, the students honored their employers at the Employer-Employee banquet.

The local chapter was honored this year with the election of Carolyn Morgan treasurer of the Eastern Region of DECA.

Faye Asberry and Jim Carlton attended the National Leadership conference in Atlantic City where Faye represented Indiana as DECA's Girl Student of the Year.

Officers for 1968-1969 included Faye Asberry, president; Karen Hall, vice-president; Carolyn Witham, secretary; and Mike Lamberson, treasurer. Mrs. Beverly Hankenhoff was the advisor from the business faculty.

FORSCO Sponsors Three Senior Exchange Students

Adding an exotic flavor to the common after-school snacks were the delicious foreign foods sold at the annual food sales. French, Latin, Spanish, and Russian cookies, candy, and other sweets were baked by foreign language students and FORSCO members. They also sold the traditional Christmas cards and booster tags stating "Happiness is a Warm Victory" before the last home basketball game.

At the Christmas party, guests heard of foreign customs from a panel composed of students and teachers from foreign countries. Nancy Davis was elected the first Queen of Lights by members.

FORSCO foreign students, Maarit Kaipianen from Finland, Anne-Marie Axelsson from Sweden, and Beth Costa from Brazil were entertained by FORSCO members.

Ending the year's activities was Foreign Student day. Foreign exchange students from colleges and schools all over the state came to CHS and talked about their countries. After the school day ended, they attended a coke party. Here, they met the students who were assigned to take them home, to an open house, and to the FORSCO International dance. Both American and foreign students enjoyed themselves in a delightful atmosphere.

With Miss Berniece McCord as club sponsor, officers for 1968-1969 were Linda Bunner, president; Hobie Brooks, vice-president; Nancy Davis, secretary; and Jennifer Greaf, treasurer. FORSCO included 70 members.

FHA Hosts Northeastern Area Meeting

Hosting the Northeastern District meeting was a highlight of Future Homemaker activities this year. Present in October were 389 participating members and leaders from other Indiana clubs. New Castle's FHA helped present a program with the theme, "Footsteps to the Future."

Club members planned their annual installation of officers, Peppermint Twirl dance, a Halloween party, and cookie sales. Bringing honor to FHA, Jane Taylor received the Betty Crocker Homemaker award. In addition to these activities, Future Homemakers of America sponsored a field trip to Glendale in Indianapolis where they checked merchandise in various stores. Afterwards the group attended a movie.

Officers this year were Susi Logan, president; Jane Taylor, vice-president; and Sandy Haven, treasurer. FHA sponsors were Miss Frances Eilar, Mrs. Mildred Garner, and Miss Muzetta Guymon.

Donations By Bible Club Brighten School

For eighteen years, Bible Club has been a club of service to the school and community. In addition to the traditional cookie sales guaranteed to fatten up students, members sent letters and packages to the boys in Vietnam.

Flowers for the Easter convocation were given by the club. President Sandra Davis was present at Senior Vespers to deliver the invocation and Cheryl Stinson gave the benediction. The school library also received a new book this year donated by Bible Club. Under the guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Hobart Risley, the members enjoyed themselves at the annual Christmas party. Bible Club is sending Bibles to the Navaho Indians and is paying for them through the club treasury.

Officers were Sandra Davis, president; Jeff Padgett, vice-president; Karen Davis, secretary; and Becky Ragan, treasurer.

A field trip to the RCA plant at Indianapolis in December highlighted the first year of Electronics Club. Selling cokes at basketball games helped raise money for the club's treasury. Officers were Stephen Smith, chairman; Dan Dinkins, co-chairman; and Peter Swinford, secretary-treasurer, with Mr. Robert Johnson as sponsor.

Machinists Club was a small but active group with 17 members. Club meetings were occupied with machine or maintenance work. A first for the club was a girl member, Carolyn Eaton. Officers were Pat Ryan, president; Rick Bell, vice-president; Carolyn Eaton, secretary; and Richard Lyles, treasurer. Mr. Murl Carnes was the club sponsor. Several machinists repaired the Trojan Victory bell for the school and also worked with VICA in making and selling iron rails.

Concentrated Skills Develop In Chess, Science Clubs

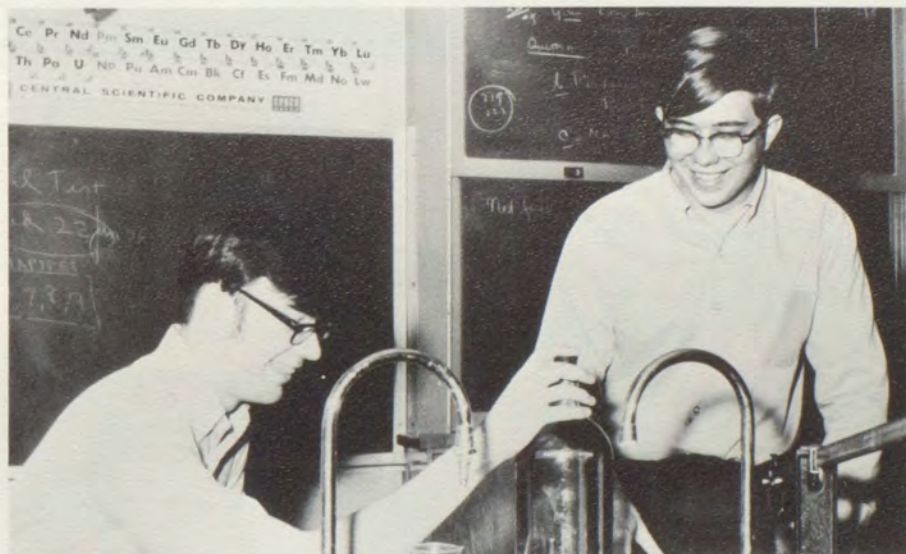

In its second year at CHS, Chess Club had 15 participating members. Their advisor was Mr. Russell Byer. Officers for their first year were Arthur Razor, president; Beth Erickson, secretary; and John Thrasher, treasurer. A fall banquet, cookie sales, school dance, and competition at the Indiana State Chess Tournament were the club's major activities in addition to its many schoolwide tournaments. In May, several members competed against people of all ages in the Indiana Open tournament held at Purdue.

Preparing projects for the Regional Science Fair at Muncie was the highlight of the 1968-1969 Science Club. The club also sponsored a dance in February and its annual cookie sale. Club officers were Greg Duncan, president; Michele Sieffert, vice-president; Wanda Williams, secretary; and Russell Phillips, treasurer, with Mr. William Wilt and Mr. Robert Furbie, sponsors.

Senior Greg Duncan entered the regional Science Fair and placed first in the Physics division. The fair was held at Ball State University.

Tribune Format Adapted To Newsprint

Participating in one of their frequent, "friendly" discussions, Trojan Tribune coeditors Pat Van Matre and Jeff Massengale debate over the layout of a spread.

Breaking into an entirely new form—that of a college literary magazine, the traditional Trojan Tribune assumed a new and exciting appearance. This year's Trojan Tribune began entirely anew, with new advisors, new staff, new organization, and most of all, new style. Printed in 8x11 size on newsprint, the magazine had the greater flexibility of 40 pages.

Writings of all types and forms were interspersed with, and often printed over, artwork and photographs. These reflected student opinion and feeling on the timeless subjects of love, war, peace, one's fellow man, one's self, and today's society.

Sponsoring this year's Tribune were Miss Katherine Greenleaf and Miss Beth Burgan. Working with them and guiding an enlarged staff of 38 members were the co-editors Patricia Van Matre and Jeff Massengale.

Imaginative ideas for feature articles are discussed by staff members.

Professional With Richmond Graphic

Discussing ideas for their pages are Joy Rothrock, Steve Veach, and Marti Morec.

The PHOENIX staff went commercial for the first time this year publishing a 19 by 11 bi-weekly paper which was printed at the RICHMOND GRAPHIC. Staff members wrote the copy which was varityped in the Practical Arts Office. They then set their headlines on the headline machine in the print shop before sending page layouts to Richmond.

The four page paper not only covered all significant school events but included many pictures and a wide range of feature articles written with imagination. Special eight page Christmas, Sectional, and Senior editions were highlights of the year.

John Younghaus and Susie Piros headed the staff as co-editors with Anne Williams as business manager. Other senior staff editors were Stacey Sherman, Susie Danielson, ads; Steve Veach, sports; Marti Morec, features; Joy Rothrock, news; Chris McKee, copy; and Barry Wright, columnist. Miss Frances Halberstadt was the advisor. The staff also included thirteen junior reporters who created columns and gathered CHS scoops before deadlines.

Rosennial Expands, Initiates New Four-Color Program

The 1969 Rosennial staff realized its theme "Changeless Yet Ever-Changing" in the everyday experiences of yearbook work. Writing copy, making layouts, cropping pictures, and working late went on as usual but in its interpretation of student life, the staff presented a change. The addition of eight pages brought the total number to 200, creating the largest book ever. The initiation of a color program enabled the staff to include a total of nine colored pictures in the opening section.

Editor-in-Chief Marcy Helms, Copy

Second semester, eight juniors were added to the staff. Next year's editors were chosen from these juniors: Trudi Boyd, Fred Cheesman, Chris Foster, Terrie Judkins, David Morris, Pam Phares, Cathie Renner, and Susan Smith.

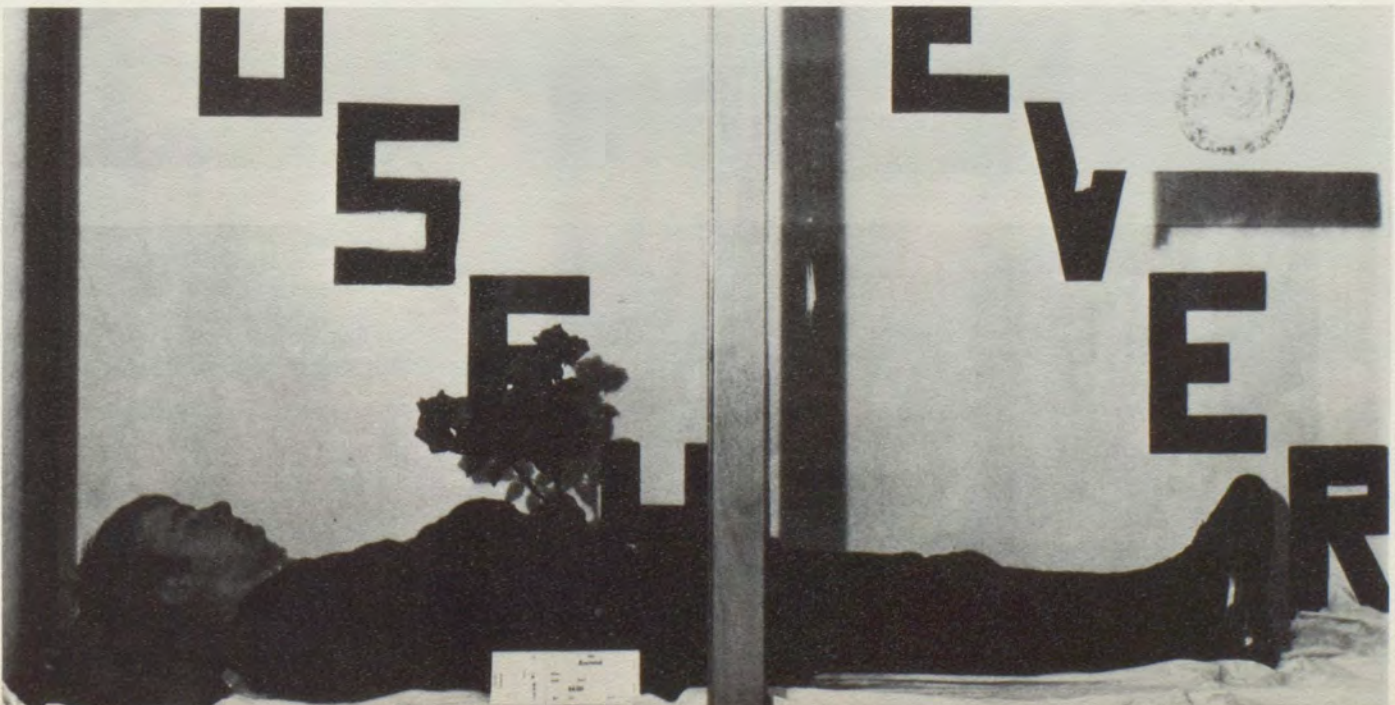

Keeping tab on all ROSENNIAL subscriptions is business manager Gary Cowan.

First Year For VICA Is Successful

Enrolled in the newly formed VIP program are (FRONT ROW) Mike Bogue, Phil Inman, John Springhart, John Akers, Emery

Griffin, Danny Walls. (BACK ROW) Hugh Shelley, Tim Hill, Harold Godsey, David McDaniel, Tim Davis, Mrs. Hankenhoff.

VICA, a national organization of vocational students, was organized at CHS last fall. It included boys taking vocational machine shop or printing class and students enrolled in the new VIP program.

Members who were enrolled in vocational machines and printing took field trips to local industries including Modernfold and World Bestos. A CHS first was the commercial selling of porch and stair railings built by the active members of the club.

The VIPs worked in local industries during the afternoons and raised money for the club by assisting in DECA's candy sale. Serving as sponsors were Mrs. Beverly Hankenhoff, Mr. Murl Carnes, and Mr. Bernhardt Beguhn, vocational instructors.

Sportsmanship Goal Of 80 G.A.A. Girls

With good sportsmanship as their goal, G.A.A. members participated in basketball, volleyball, bowling, and tennis. Teams were organized, and the winning team in each activity received a ribbon. Individual awards were given, based on points each girl achieved.

Other events included a dance after the first home basketball game with music by the "Chosen Few" recorded at the Hulabaloo in Muncie. The girls were also featured at half-time of the Indiana Pacers—Oakland Oaks game in the Fieldhouse. Intra-school rivalry began as girls competed in G.A.A. tennis tournaments.

At the yearly spring picnic, the identity of the Honor Girl, elected by the members themselves, was revealed. This year, the engraved plaque was awarded to Terri Bell.

Officers were Alexis Bell, president; Donna Means, vice-president; Rita Carter, secretary; and Janet Lacey, treasurer. Miss Jean Stellingwerf was their sponsor.

Fighting for the ball are G.A.A. members Sandy Hunter and Lee Haywood. Members

Sports

The excitement of a close game . . . the frustration and sadness of losing . . . the pride and happiness of winning . . . ringing the victory bell and singing the school song, win or lose. These are the glories of sports. Some games are lost, but new records are set . . . old rivals beaten . . . new sports gain prominence. IHSAA ruling changes tennis to a fall sport . . . new courts are built . . . girls take over in spring. Swimmers celebrate their first victory. The competitive spirit of athletics is CHANGELESS YET individuals involved in the routine of sports have an EVERCHANGING interpretation of their role.

Coach Sells Takes Over Gridiron

Hard work and determination were emphasized by new coach, Tom Sells. The Trojans discovered this as they played such teams as Richmond, Anderson, and Fort Wayne Central.

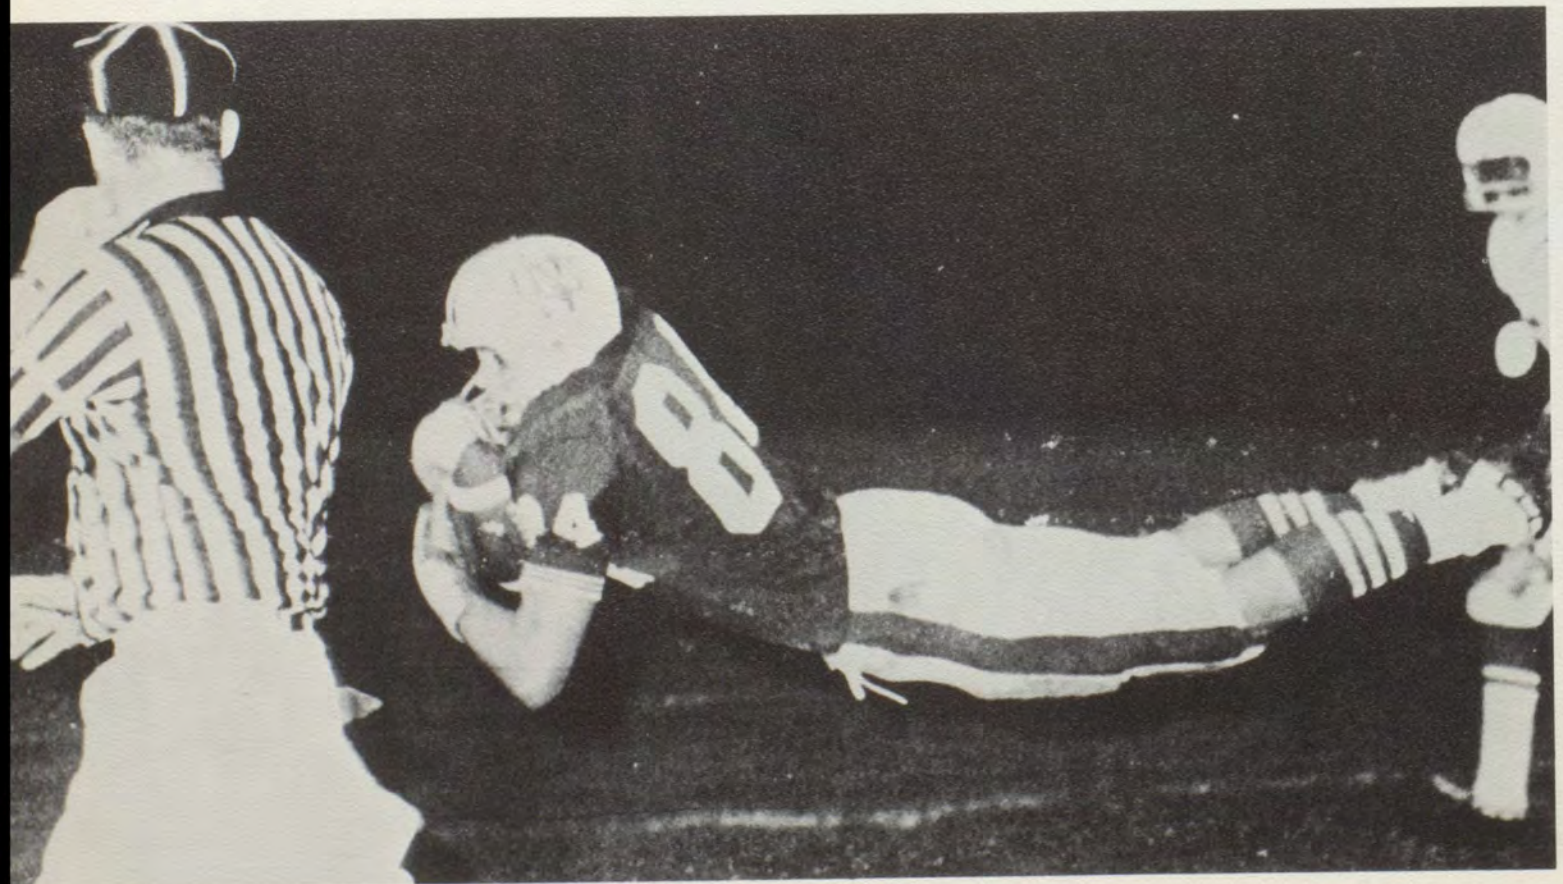

Their debut at the Richmond Jamboree proved impressive as the footballers scored three of the five touchdowns. Their defeat of Madison Heights, 8-6, was one of the most exciting games of the season. Under the tough 1968 schedule, the team finished with a three win and seven loss regular season record.

All-Conference honors went to Duane Anderson and Dennis Archey. Mike Barr and Tom Corey earned honorable mention. Barr and Archey were most valuable players. Although the honors were given to these boys, the team effort proved successful.

Captain Mike Barr finds that it is easier said than done as he dives for the ball.

Colts Gain First Victory Over Rival Muncie Central

After losing their season opener 49-0 to a strong Brebeuf team, the Colts bounced back to defeat Conference rival Muncie Central 13-2. This was the first time the Colts had ever beaten Muncie Central's reserve squad. Coach Paul Gallo's Colts scored first as quarterback Neil Thornhill threw a 24 yard pass to split end Dan Watson in the first period. The winning score was set up in the fourth quarter when the Colts recovered a fumble. Fred Sears fought his way over from the 4-yard line and Richard Scott scored the extra point.

The Colts ended their season with a 1-3-1 record, with Sophomore Dan Watson, Fred Sears, and Tom Cory receiving varsity letters. The skill shown by the Colts in this season's schedule will add to the experience of the varsity for next year.

Trailing at halftime, Coach Sheridan plans tougher defensive strategy.

Safety, Archey, stops his opponent from breaking into the open field.

Tully scrambles back into the pocket, looks long, can't find a receiver, drops back another five yards, finds his receiver still covered, and throws a screen pass.

Grapplers 3rd At Marion, 4th In NCC

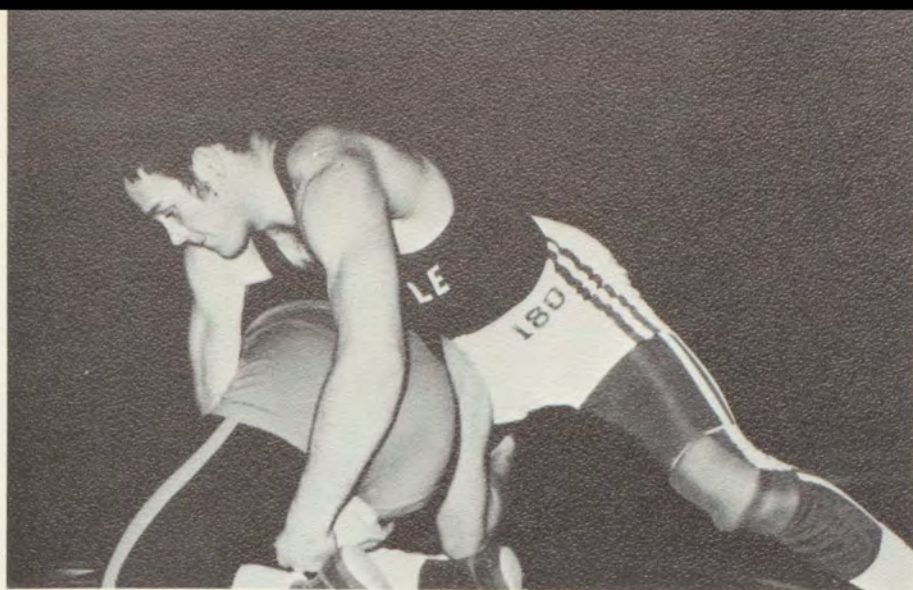

A fourth place finish in the North Central Conference raised Coach Hans Sheridan's grapplers from the bottom spot where they have spent the last four years. Frank Schuler and Mike Barr were this year's conference champs. The wrestlers ranked second in the Sectional with Doug Van Dam and Barr new Sectional champs. The team ended the season with a two win, eight loss record in tough competition.

Coach Gallo's young B-team ended the season with a two win, nine loss record. They participated in the Muncie Central Invitational placing an overall fourth in competition.

Young Trojan Roundballers Finish 9-11

The 1968-69 basketball team proved that although they were young and inexperienced, they could give their opponents a difficult game. This was visible against rivals like Muncie Central, Kokomo, and Anderson. Though the roundballers ended the regular season with a nine win and eleven loss record, underclassmen received needed experience to build an improving team for next year.

Teamwork and determination were found to be the right combination for the Green Gang when they came from sixteen points behind to beat the Lions of Rushville.

The Trojans tied for sixth place in the tough NCC Conference and won the one hundredth victory for Head Coach Cecil Tague.

Battling with a foe for a loose ball is sophomore regular Brent Popplewell.

Trying harder than his opponent is Don Smith as he outjumps him for two points.

Tague's Troy Boys Lose In Semifinals; Greenfield Wins

As the regular basketball season came to a close, the roundballers prepared for the tough New Castle Sectional which was one of the most difficult in the state. This year powerful teams such as Mt. Vernon, Greenfield, Hancock Central, and Tri High came to the Fieldhouse in hopes of clinching the title. With such evenly matched teams, there were no easy games to claim the tournament crown.

The Trojans went into action on Thursday night to defeat the Panthers of Knightstown, 76-51. Moving on to the Semifinals, the Green Gang ran into foul trouble and were beaten, 66-

55, by Hancock Central.

Greenfield went on to win its first Sectional title in the New Castle IHSAA tournament.

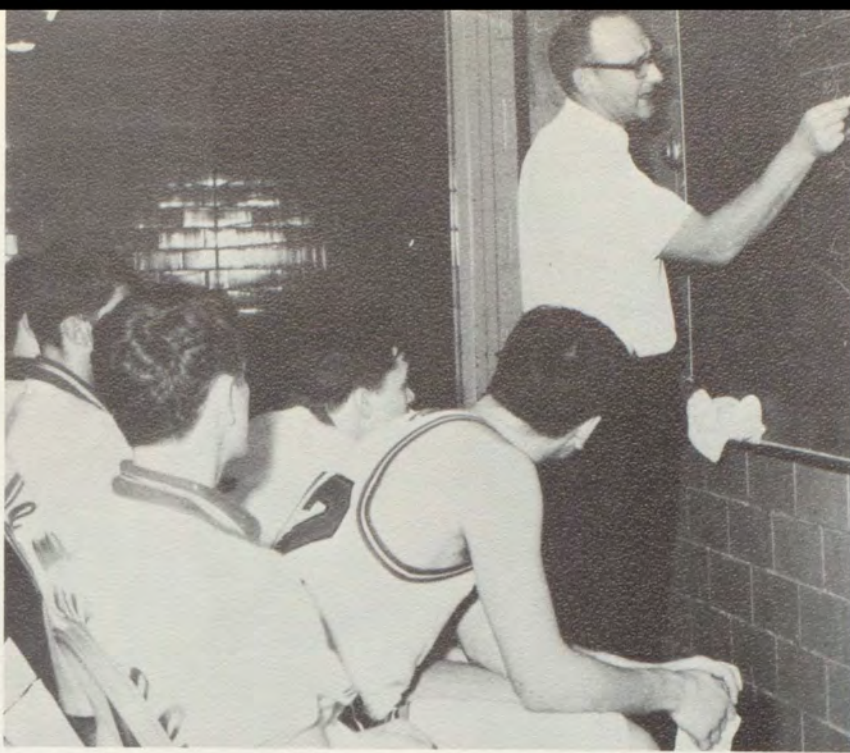

Wayne Tague was chosen as a guard on the Sectional team.

Coach Meyer, Colts Finish 11-9 Season

Coach Larry Meyer's Colts have ended their season with another winning record. Their total record was eleven victories and nine losses. After losing to Muncie Southside by one point in a thriller last season, the Colts edged the Southside team 47-46 during the '69 basketball season.

Top scorer, Skip Kaucher, led the Colts through most of the games. Other usual starters were Mike Lee, Kenny Bell, Steve Auten, Mike Meador, Mike Hancock, and Greg Brenneman.

Coach Meyer was very pleased with the Colts' showing this season and is looking forward to another exciting basketball season again next year.

B-team sponsor Mrs. Carol Gallo assisted juniors Carla Tomey, Pat Stampfli and sophomore Debbie Upchurch.

In charge of ticket sales and scheduling for the regular and tourney ball games was Mr. Horace Cook, Athletic Director. Mr. Cook is also in charge of purchasing and issuing equipment, budgeting, and taking care of transportation and meals. He keeps a file on all eligible athletes and is in charge of the convocations in their honor.

"Hey, we want two," says sophomore B-team yell leader Debbie Upchurch.

Cheering for the New Castle Colts are (TOP TO BOTTOM) Debbie Upchurch, Pat Stampfli, and Carla Tomey.

Netters Have Fine Record With 26 Wins

Since tennis changed from a spring sport to a fall sport this year, the two seasons were combined and the total record was 26-5. In the spring, the tennis team had an 18-2 record. They placed third in the NCC and third in the Sectional. The fall team played only eleven meets and ended with an 8-3 overall record. They also tied for third place in the NCC. Even with this impressive record, the five conference losses kept the Troymen from placing higher. Both seasons had two men named to all-conference titles. In the spring, seniors Bill Wilhoite and Joe Lamberson were chosen. In the fall, Senior Fred Hall and Junior Jim Hostetler were unanimously selected for All-Conference titles.

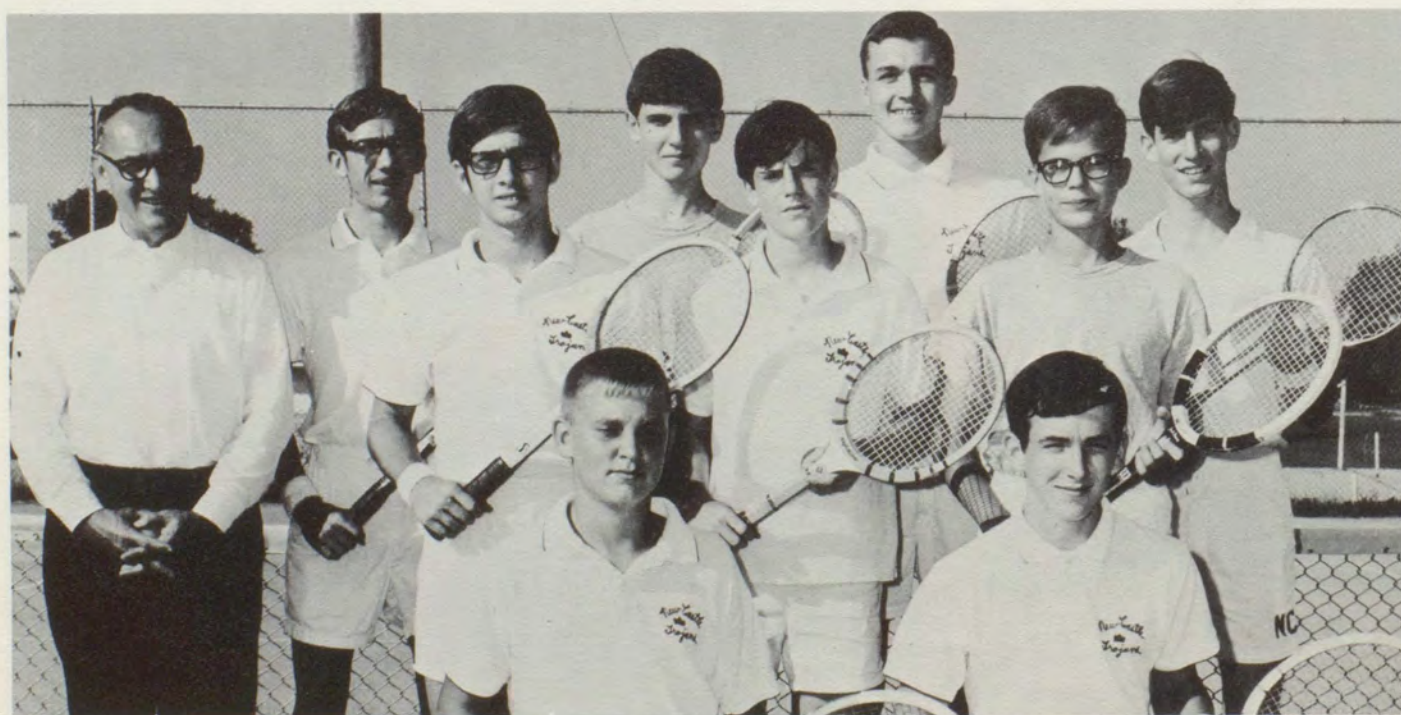

Coach Dick Leitch will return next year for his sixth season, with seven returning lettermen. A first for CHS—a girls' tennis team was formed with Mr. Leitch as coach this year.

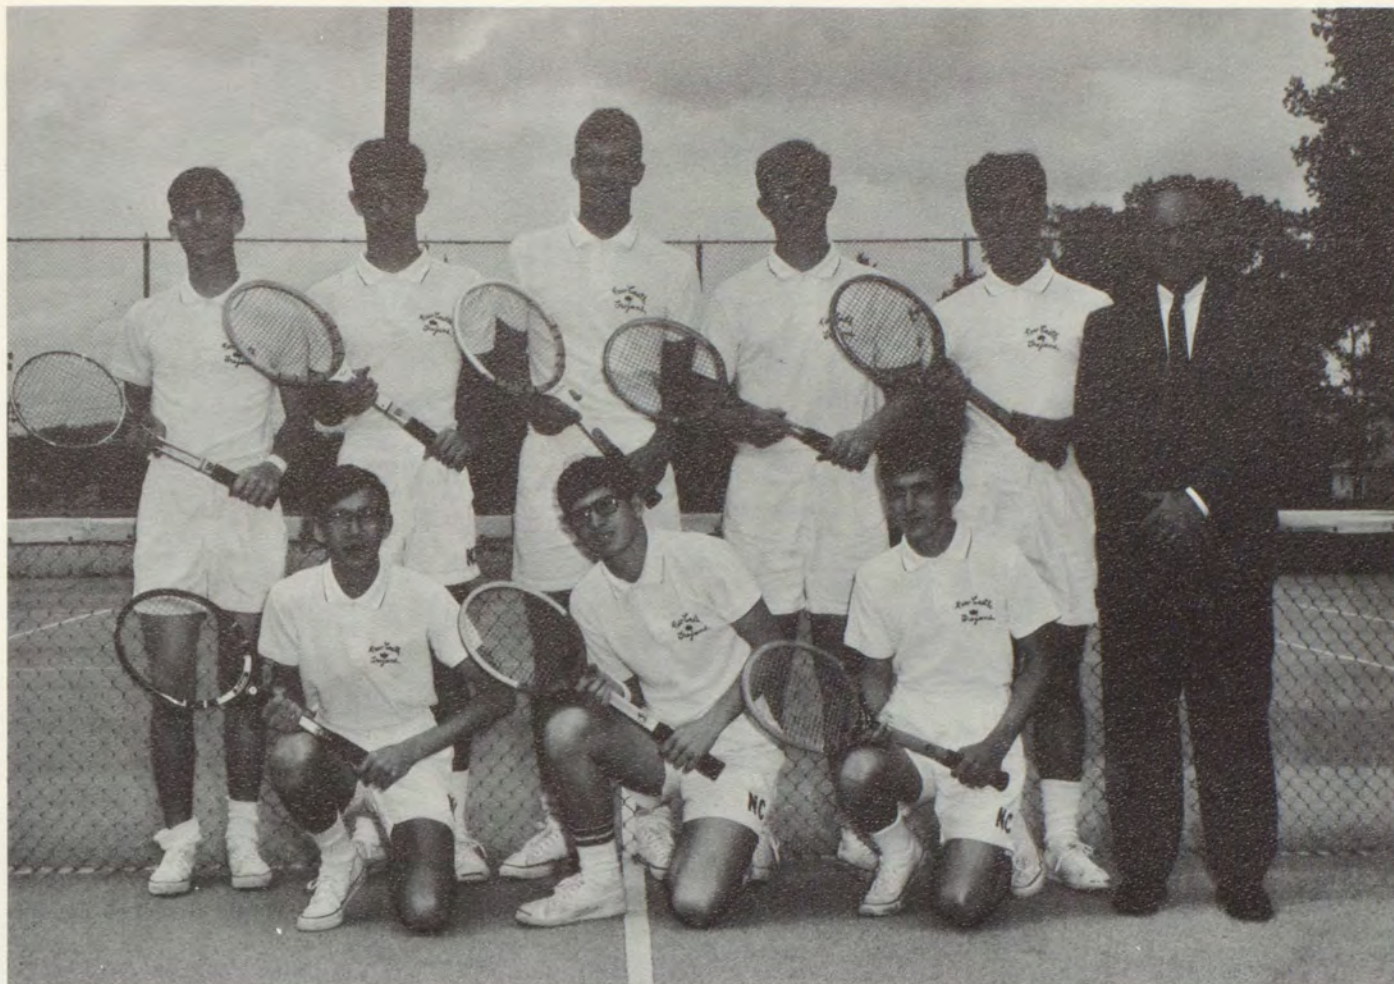

Senior Fred Hall, all conference selection and captain of the team, pauses for a quick breath of fresh air.

Coach Leitch, Hostetler, Day, Lamberson, and Hall. Seven of the nine racketeers will be returning next year.

The 1968 spring tennis team consisted of (FRONT ROW) Hostetler, Veach, Davis, and Coach Leitch. (BACK ROW) Hall, Osborne, Lamberson, Harp, and Wilhoite.

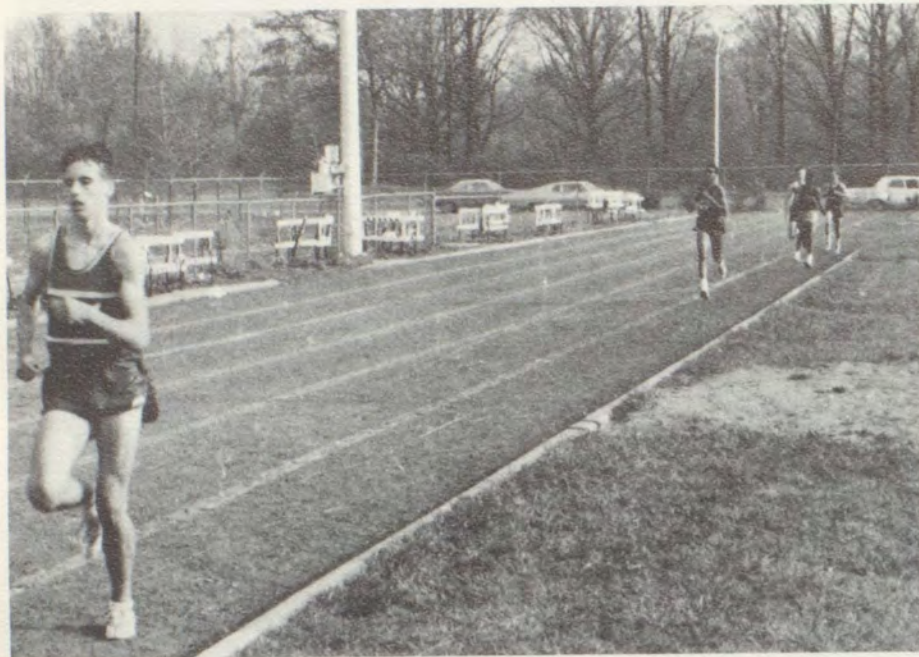

Coach Leitch explains the scoring techniques to two varsity cheerleaders, as players Hall and Veach take a break.

Thinlies Move To State; Troxell Third

Experienced milers York and Berkey place themselves for start of a race.

Leaving opponents behind, Allen Feeley bursts ahead to finish first.

Many highlights added to the excitement of the 1968 track season; four school records were broken—the mile relay, the mile run, two-mile run, and the shot put; and two sectional records—the mile run and the shot put.

At the close of the season, the New Castle track team, coached by Mr. Wilbur Veach, had an impressive record of five wins and one loss in dual meets. In tough North Central Conference competition, the thinlies placed fifth.

The cindermen won the Sectional and placed second in the Regional. Darrell York and Ernie Troxell traveled to State where Troxell took third place.

Coach Veach expects another successful season with many of his varsity and reserve members returning.

The 1968 members are: (FRONT ROW) Garner, Winchester, M. Guffey, Pfeiffer, Morris, Jeffries, Cable, A. Guffey. (SECOND ROW) Campbell, Helton, Caig, Mullen, Warren, McDonald, Filson, L. Sutton, Brookshire, Keller, Smith. (THIRD ROW) Coach Veach, VanDam, Hayes, Harmon, Pryor, Imel, Brack, Hedrick, Feeley, Stanley, Hoover, Brown, Walker. (BACK ROW) Coach Gallo, Lawless, Berkey, York, Ferguson, Higham, Pass, Shelton, Troxell, Mitchell, Phillips, J. Sutton, Cheesman, and student teachers Bond and Shipley. The track team consisted of ten seniors, fourteen juniors and eighteen sophomores.

Straining to gain inches, as well as baton, mile relayers Jeffries and York compete in close Conference meet.

Pole vaulter Doug VanDam sets his goal high and makes it—easily.

Junior Ernie Troxell hurls the shot put to a record-breaking 56' 11 $\frac{3}{4}$ ".

Baseballers Clinch First Sectional

With an excellent season of eleven wins and six losses, Mr. Brooks' 1968 baseball team finished with one of the most impressive records of recent years. Beating the State champions, Marion, during the regular season was one of the highnotes for the baseballers.

Competing in the second Indiana High School Baseball Tourney, the Trojan Nine won its first Sectional trophy. Advancing to the Regional, they were eliminated by a strong Manual team of Indianapolis.

The honor of being selected on the NCC All-Conference team went to Left fielder Frank Ryan and to Pitcher John Hall. George Barber was the leading hitter followed by Frank Ryan.

Ten year veteran Coach Rex Brooks looked to his bench for another winning season this year.

Bunting the ball, Catcher Harold Huffman hopes to bring in another run.

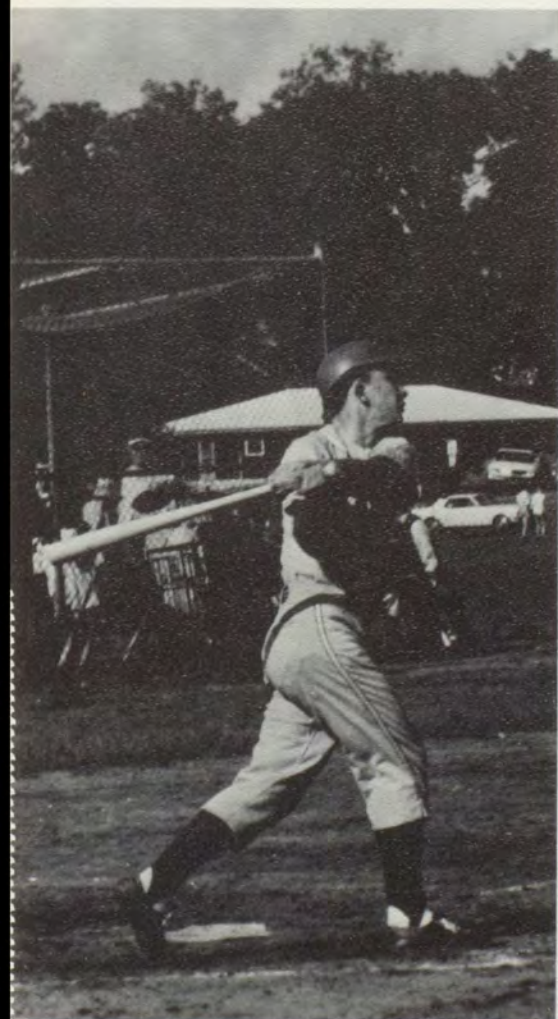

Firing the ball into home plate, Brian Bolinger proves his skill as pitcher.

The members are: (FRONT ROW) W. Tague, J. Hall, M. Kriner, G. Brenneman, K. Hancock, R. Watson, A. Vincent, Student Manager S. McIver. (MIDDLE ROW) Student Managers K. Saint and J. Rac-kow, F. Ryan, D. Beam, B. Bolinger, N. Thornhill, T. Bell, R. Olden. (BACK ROW) Coach Wilt, D. Campbell, H. Huffman, B. Hamilton, G. Barber, G. Merrill, S. Kaucher, and Head Coach Brooks.

Junior Terry Bell slugs the baseball to connect for a home run and another win.

Watching both runner and pitcher, First-baseman Auten stands ready.

The Trojan golfers ended their season with a BANG, placing second in the Conference, under the direction of Coach Larry Meyer.

The golfers won the Winchester Invitational; placed fourth in the Hagerstown Invitational; won the Sectional; and took a respectable fourth in the Regional contest.

Two time NCC champ, Denny Ford, was number one man on the varsity, followed by Dave Dickey, Jeff Cook, Rick Matney, and Ronnie Lough.

Harriers Go Undeclared In Dual Meets

Neck and neck races turn out to be exciting as Darrell York slips past Tom New.

The cross country men made it two in a row when they won the Sectional trophy for the second consecutive year. Under the direction of Mr. Wilbur Veach, six men—Feeley, York, Cable, Pickering, Morris, and Walker—journeyed to the Regional with Darrell York moving on to the State to take sixth place among 84 competitors.

With a nine win and no loss record in dual meets, the Harriers had a close call only in the meet with Marion whose record was nine and one. With the score tied, New Castle's sixth man edged the Giants' last runner to win the meet and remain undefeated.

Individuals

This year at Chrysler there are more sophomores than ever before . . . the graduating class of 1969 is the biggest ever. There are more faces . . . more friends. There are 1400 Chrysler people . . . some famous . . . some obscure. Some excel in sports . . . others in activities . . . still others in community affairs. Increasing emphasis is being placed on the individual . . . through classes, projects, and special assignments . . . the individual has the chance to prove himself . . . sometimes to find himself. Basically, people are the same . . . CHANGELESS . . . yet the opportunities that are offered to them are EVERCHANGING.

Sophomores Willingly Accept Challenges

Before turning them in for a final grade in Biology, Phil Barr takes a last look at his complete collection of insects. Besides this project, the Biology students also had a chance to observe leaves, dissect simple organisms, and to use laboratory equipment.

A total of 454 rather nervous and confused sophomores, the largest class ever, entered school last fall to begin a three-year occupancy. They eagerly plunged into required studies of Biology, Physical Education, and Speech. Twenty sophomores were elected to Student Council and showed their ambition by committing themselves to work on the Christmas bulletin boards and their first semi-formal, Hearts' Hop. Many sophomores expressed individual interests by joining clubs, by working on theatrical productions, and by joining the Speech Club. The class of '71 has shown its skill and enthusiasm for sports this year. Several boys earned varsity letters and many more received B-team letters. The sophomore members of Cheerblock and Band enthusiastically supported their fellow classmates throughout the year. Many fun activities, two being the Watermelon Feed and Spring Fling, gave the sophs an opportunity to "let their hair down" and compete with upperclassmen. The sophomores are looking to their junior year—a year with increasing activities open for participation.

Junior Officers Elected In Close Race

The class of 1970 showed its spirit and enthusiasm by participating in the various clubs, musicals, speech meets and sports at Chrysler High School. Juniors have continued to maintain good academic standings; 35 juniors received honor certificates on Achievement day last fall. Several members of the class proved their acting ability by taking leading roles in Thespian productions, the spring musical, and plays given for elementary school children.

After a very close race for class officers in the fall of 1968, Rick Hoover was elected as president; Skip Kaucher as vice-president; Jill Overman as treasurer; and Donna Rush as secretary.

The long-awaited arrival of class rings, the Junior Class Dance, and the exciting Prom on May 17 were the highlights of the year. As their year came to an end, the juniors looked with anticipation and a little anxiety toward the activities which face a new senior.

Contributing to the leadership and quality of Chrysler High School is the class of 1970 with its 451 members. Officers are

Energetic Seniors Exhibit Leadership

Fun-loving Doug Owens and Rick Snell can't resist this pile of leaves.

Planning the senior procession are sponsors; Mr. Dicken and Mrs. Carithers.

Proudly wearing their forest green jackets and school crests are these eight seniors who maintained a 3.8 scholastic average. They are: Susie

Danielson, Susie Piros, Sandy Hunter, Maribeth Burton, John Griffith, Dan Norrick, Kent Sharp, and Christina McKee.

In Many Areas

The slogan, "Seniors Lead the Way," was introduced early in the school year by many enthusiastic seniors. They displayed their leadership abilities by raising money to rebuild the Trojan Horse and by starting a membership drive for a teenage fellowship center. Several other students participated in community campaigns from which they experienced numerous pressures of the adult world.

In late September, eight seniors were awarded honor jackets for their high achievement, and twenty other seniors received crests and certificates for maintaining a 3.4 or better scholastic average.

The class was well advised by four capable class officers who proudly led the class through the traditional senior activities. Class officers were Darrell York, president; Mike Barr, vice-president; Elaine Rinehart, secretary; and Alexis Bell, treasurer.

Typing her shorthand notes is good practice for senior Tena Nicholson.

Class Officers take time to discuss new projects for the 417 Seniors.

Strong Trojan warrior David Antic defends Troy against determined invaders.

Adult World

The Class of 1969 was the tenth class to graduate from Chrysler High School and the first class to finish a three year curriculum under a complete system of flexible scheduling.

Their high school life was filled with many memorable occasions. As sophomores, they were motivated by the "Trojan Spirit" and supported the Trojan team all the way to the State Basketball Finals. With their continuing enthusiasm in their junior year, they won Spring Fling and created a successful Junior-Senior Prom. In their special senior year, they worked as a united class and participated together in Honor Day, Vespers, Senior Breakfast, Baccalaureate, Commencement and Night Club Party. Early in May, Senior girls attended May Breakfast, sponsored by BPW. Faye Mark reigned as May Queen.

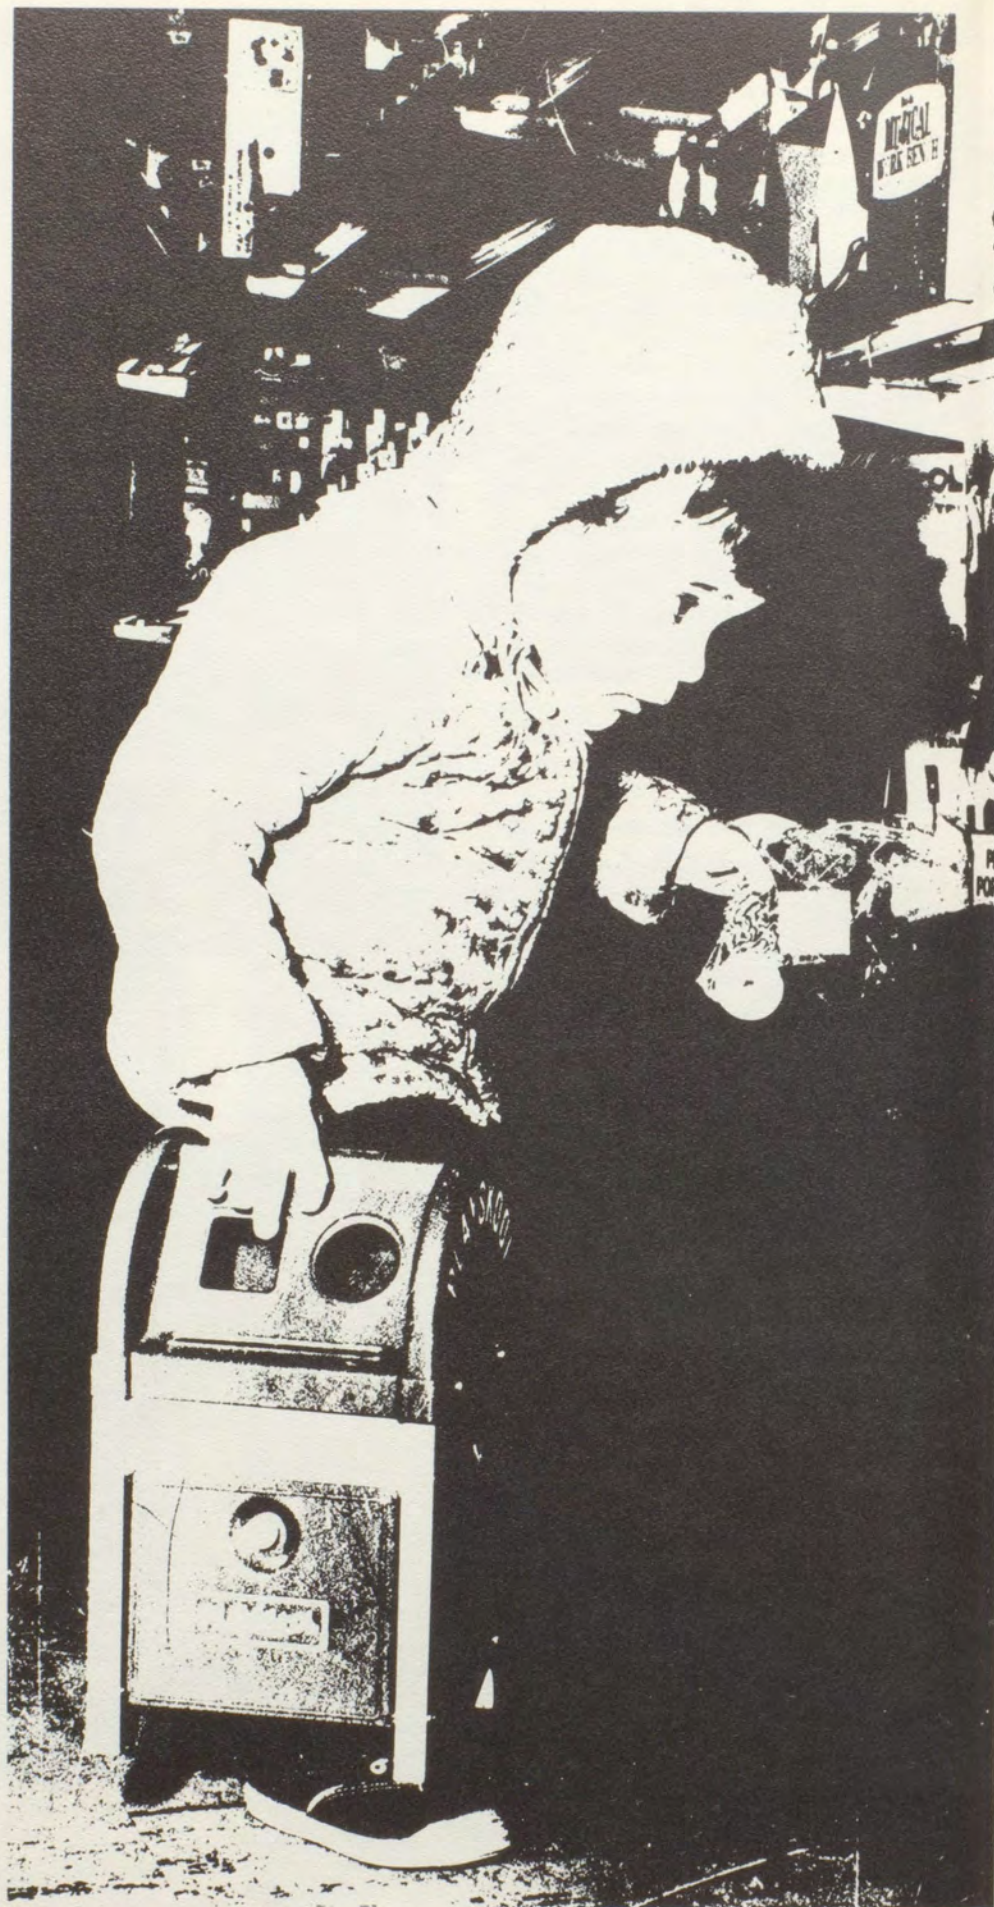

Throughout their lifetime, the members of this class have lived in a world of important discoveries and turmoil. Making progress in the next decade will involve the ability of these seniors to adjust to more discoveries and to maintain an awareness of events as they venture into the adult world.

Hungry Kathy Morrow is unable to resist the delicious cookies sold by Janet Lacey.

The sound of the Trojan victory bell is happiness for Steve Dickerson, Steve Veach, Kim Klipsch, and John Younghaus.

The influence the youth of today has on the market is a factor being weighed more and more often by manufacturer and merchandiser alike. As students gain buying power through part-time jobs and bigger allowances, their influence grows in proportion. A merchant no longer waits for the student to come to him but openly invites him to come. From mascara to Mustangs . . . values of purchases vary as widely as do student needs and wants. Student buyers are solicited by stores offering hobnailed shoes . . . neck scarves . . . satin shirts . . . and opaque hose. New Castle . . . a typical business community . . . is CHANGELESS . . . yet with "student power," demands are EVER-CHANGING.

Concern for the game is expressed in the attentive face of Glen Miller.

Right: September will bring students like Mike Smith, Judy Hayworth, and Russell Phillips back to Chrysler High School to begin the story of another year.

Far Right: One ROSENNIAL ends as another begins for 1970 staffers, Chris Foster, Terrie Judkins, Cathie Renner, Susan Smith, Fred Cheesman, David Morris, and Trudi Boyd. Not pictured is Pam Phares.

As the school year ends, feelings and thoughts are the same as always . . . seniors are sad but are eager to become a part of the world . . . juniors look forward to the magic status of "senior" . . . sophomores now become a class and are more a part of CHS. Many challenges are met in a year of school. Each day is different . . . new commitments, friendships . . . Chrysler people overcome some problems . . . lose some battles. Blue Tree Teen Center is more of a reality than before, but some obstacles remain. Unanswered questions, unknown conquests . . . these are CHANGELESS . . . YET many challenges are being met and CHS life is EVER-CHANGING.
